THE LISTENING POST

It seems to me, as an average American citizen, that reports of defense work are growing more encouraging these days. Now and then I read something which is positively encouraging, leading me to the belief that we are almost hitting our stride in making America the real arsenal of Democracy. The most encouraging article yet read appears in the current issue of the Saturday Evening Post, and coming from the Post it must be given due weight, for the Post is notoriously against the Administration, against the New Deal and has been all along a member of the isolationist group. So, when the Post sees a tremendous thing coming it must be true. It should be added, however, that some weeks ago the Post abandoned its belief that we could remain out of the war and pledged its full support to the Administration for whatever may lie ahead.

In the current issue of this great magazine the editor, Garret Garrett, and the most interesting writer I know anything about when it comes to writing fact articles, tells of our growing air power. He has been investigating and inspecting the various plants and says flatly that next year will see this nation really hitting mass production in warplanes. He visions the day, and that not far off, when the plane production of this nation will easily far surpass that of Germany, and he seems to believe that our planes will be the best that have ever been built. He tells of the giant bombers which are now nearing the mass production stage; huge birds that can carry twice the load of any existing bomber twice as far, and which in theory could fly the Atlantic with a bomb load and then return to bases on Long Island. That, perhaps, is stretching the facts a bit too far, but the Post editor says flatly that those things are on the way. He adds that the automobile makers have really convinced plane makers that they can make planes on a mass scale and tells of some interesting experiments which have produced some amazing results. The Post editor says that the United States is on the way to becoming the greatest air power the world has ever seen. Now, if this goal so far off, one might expect from the article.

Leland Stowe, another keen observer, tells of a dive bomber that will outperform the German Stuka by one hundred miles an hour, carry greater loads, and in short do many things that are now considered impossible by foreign nations. Many other observers are telling us the same story, and it seems that we are last coming out of the wilderness and into the brightness of a new day in the air field. It has long been known that this nation pioneered in many of the air developments; it is a known fact that our engineers made the best plane motor during the first World War, although we never managed to make any planes to go with the splendid motor. But that Liberty motor was in mass production when the other war ended, at the rate of 46,000 a year. With another year we might have literally filled the skies with American planes in that war, and now it seems that we are reaching the goal again.

And it is high time, too, for the war is forcing itself to a grim decision these days. England is tottering under the blows of the Nazis and Japan is resting in the Pacific. We may need these clouds of planes, these squadrons of bombers which can fly the sea, these new battleships which are now going into service, and the fine armies

Fears Of War Grow Swiftly In Philippines

Involvement Seems Likely To Average Filipino, Belatedly Aroused

Manila — With the Commonwealth government redoubling its efforts to prepare the Philippines for any possible emergency to be rapidly developing among all sections of the population.

Not many weeks ago, the Filipino in the street went about his daily routine with scarcely a thought of war.

Today, however, United States and Philippine involvement in the war is a foregone conclusion. The constant arrival of American soldiers and warplanes and the evacuation of army families from the Philippines have served to arouse Filipino public opinion to the belief war must be imminent.

Merchants report that many families have bought large quantities of canned food "just in case." Most of the populace, however, has done nothing. The proverbial bahala na (let us cross the bridge when we come to it) attitude describes most Filipinos.

But the commonwealth government has been suddenly aware of the tense international situation.

The National Assembly is expected to approve a bill appropriating $5,000,000 for civilian defense. The bill was partial fulfillment of Commonwealth President Manuel Quezon's recommendations for a special message, which warned that "the trend of events seems to point strongly to the possibility of America's entry into the present war." The message pointed out that in case of United States involvement, "it goes without saying that the Philippines also would be involved directly."

Additional appropriate measures designed to meet any emergency are expected to be drafted soon. Many legislators said they would be ready to approve appropriations totaling as much as $50,000,000 for national defense.

which are in the making in scores of camps. Many people seem to think the cost is excessive, but costs are never considered in war times. The only thing that is considered is the things we must have in order to fight. Sinking of the American ship off the African coast may be the incident which will plunge us into the conflict.

Let us hope that we are really hitting our stride in the defense work. It seems probable that we will need all the machines we can make before the year is over.

Greatest Pipeline Network In History Is Now Being Built

New York. — Plans for the greatest pipeline construction in history were disclosed Thursday by authoritative oil men as the Government's answer to the threat of an East Coast petroleum shortage this coming winter.

Work already has begun on portions of about 4,450 miles of pipelines which, they said, Secretary Ickes, petroleum industry co-ordinator, had under consideration.

The lines would carry a steady flow of oil and gasoline to the East Coast from Texas, Louisiana and Illinois in quantity to offset by at least 150 per cent the loss of transportation facilities caused by the transfer of fifty American tankers to British use.

They can be completed, it was asserted, in less than six months, provided steel for the pipes is supplied on a defense priority basis and the Government grants rights of way.

Will Get Materials
"And we haven't any worry on that score," one oil man commented.

The government plan, it was understood, envisioned not only the

Belgium Surrender NOT FAULT OF KING

London. — British jurisprudence Friday completely exonerated King Leopold of Belgium for his surrender to the forces of Nazi Germany in May, 1940.

Vindication of the oft-maligned monarch took the peculiar form of an out of court settlement of a libel suit brought against the London Daily Mirror by Sir Roger Keyes.

The King's Bench division of the High Court fully concurred in the settlement, indicating Britain's satisfaction that King Leopold was unjustly attacked by his former allies after the capitulation.

Sir Roger, World War naval hero and Britain's adviser to King Leopold before the latter's surrender, sued the Mirror for having criticized his defense of the Sovereign.

JUMPING JACK BOMB MAKES BRITONS HOP

Montreal. — The Germans have come up with a new incendiary bomb, "the jumping jack."

Herbert Scott, Eastbourne, England, special constable here on invitation of the Dominion Government, described it this way:

"It carries an explosive charge in the base that goes off every so often, like a firecracker. The bomb then jumps half a dozen or a dozen feet. That makes it difficult to deal with when it has to be smothered."

United States Tells All Rent Cougers To Cut Excessive Rates

Washington. — Federal authorities today cautioned "rent-cougers" landlords to reduce rentals to reasonable levels voluntarily or risk legal compulsion.

The Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply, disturbed by reports of rental increases ranging from 5 per cent to "extraordinary instances" of 100 per cent, stepped into the defense housing picture with a program designed to stabilize rents throughout the country.

Aimed At Defense Areas
In an address prepared for a meeting of the National Housing Inventory, Karl Borders, O. P. A. C. S. rental expert, said the program was aimed particularly at defense areas where the influx of workers

German Losses In Crete Put At Total Of 5,893

British-Greek Casualties Killed, Captured Placed At 20,700

Berlin — The German army and force seizure of Crete on Adolf Hitler's personal orders cost 5,893 officers and men in dead, wounded and missing, the high command announced today, and prove that "nothing is impossible to the German soldier."

The high command placed British and Greek losses in killed on Crete at about 5,000 officers and men, in addition to 10,700 British officers and men and 5,000 Greek officers and men taken prisoner. British losses reported do not include those at sea, it was pointed out.

Only 200 Killed
The high command admitted that attempts to land reinforcements on Crete by sea on May 21, the second day of the campaign, failed but asserted that "not thousands, as the British asserted, but barely 200 soldiers were killed."

"The next day a tremendous battle between the Eighth Flying Corps and the English fleet ended with glorious victory for the German fliers."

Also reviewing the Balkan campaign—the conquest of Yugoslavia and Greece—the high command announced that a preliminary to the final count of prisoners showed about 14,500 officers and nearly 500,000 men—Yugoslavs, British imperial troops and Greeks—in German custody.

The announcement also claimed that between Jan. 1 and May 30 thirty Allied warships were sunk in the Mediterranean, including 23 at Crete, and that "a great number of other units, including several battleships and plane carriers" were damaged.

Schoolboys Told Not To Appear In Dirty Cords

Yakima, Wash. — Not so long ago it was the height of high school style for boys to wear "cords" (corduroy trousers) until they were so dirty they would "stand in a corner."

The fad was so popular that in many cases the schoolboys aided the "breaking-in" process purposely.

For the students of Yakima High School, those days are gone as definitely as button-top shoes. Clarence Zimmerman, principal of the school, recently issued an ultimatum banning "dirty cords" as a protective measure for other students.

Principal Zimmerman ordered teachers to send to his office any boys wearing "extremely" unclean trousers. He failed to say what would happen after that.

Baptist Revival Attracts Large Crowds This Week

Dr. Smith Will Arrive Monday To Begin His Sermons

The revival which has been in progress during the past week by the First Baptist Church, with services held each night in a large tent located in Carr Park, has been attracting large crowds nightly. Pastor Autrey has been delivering some powerful sermons, with a great deal of interest manifested. Each night the tent has been filled with interested listeners and the tempo of the meeting is expected to increase for the second week.

Dr. Robert Houston Smith will arrive Monday from Bossier City, La., and will deliver his first sermon at the Monday night services. Fulton people are looking forward with eagerness to his coming and Pastor Autrey says that nobody will be disappointed. "Dr. Smith is a great preacher, a powerful evangelist, a consecrated Christian worker," the local pastor says.

Services will be held in the church at eleven o'clock tomorrow, with the regular auxiliaries meeting in their regular places. Night services will be in the tent. Everybody is cordially invited to attend.

Fleas Defeat Riceville 31 To 6

The Fleas defeated the Riceville Tigers 31-6 yesterday. The Tigers were held hitless by Lowe for 7 innings but in the 8th and 9th collected 5 hits. Cummings led the hitting with 6 for 8. Travis played a good game behind the plate while "Popeye" Davis made some good catches on first base. Byassee engineered two sparkling double plays. Lowe was the winning pitcher and Hawks the losing pitcher.

5 Car Firms Told To Drop Price Boosts

Washington. — The Government Thursday night asked five leading automobile manufacturers to withdraw "immediately" their recently announced price increases on new models and asked thirteen producers of sheet steel to curtail non-defense production, which also would affect the auto industry.

The steel request also applies to manufacturers of other non-defense products such as refrigerators and oil burners.

The pinch is likely to be felt most, however, by the automobile industry which already is under mandatory orders to cut production of 1942 models by 20 per cent. This output probably will be reduced further if, as indicated, the Office of Production Management invokes new steel priorities.

The O. P. M. asked the thirteen sheet steel producers to curtail non-defense production so their capacities can be released for plates for shipbuilding, railway car construction and other defense needs.

Pacific Powers Of U. S. Ranked 2-1 Over Japan

Naval Strategist's Book Reveals Key Factors In Area

New York — If the two great sea powers of the Pacific should clash in battle, the odds favoring the United States over Japan would be approximately 2 to 1, believes the naval historian and strategist, Capt. W. D. Puleston, U. S. N., retired.

The theoretical mathematical chances are reached by assuming 14 U. S. ships of the line were opposed by 10 Japanese dreadnoughts. The squares of these numbers are 196-100. Those figures, representing the odds at the start of an engagement, rise to the cube of the number of ships involved as the battle reaches its closing phase. Thus, the chances favoring the numerically superior fleet would rise to 2,744 to 1,000, or nearly 3 to 1.

The foregoing formula is offered by Capt. Puleston in a book he has written which appraises the military and naval power of the United States and Japan. In this study, "The Armed Forces of the Pacific" (Yale University Press), the author is not resigned to the belief that war is inevitable between the two countries.

Past Crises Solved
"Sober second thoughts," he says, on the part of Japanese and American leaders and people have helped them through dangerous crises in the past.

Capt. Puleston believes, however, that at the moment neither country understands the other. As a "satisfied power," he reasons that the United States has slight understanding of nations which are dissatisfied with the boundaries, Japan, on the other hand, has shown indications of subscribing to the theories of the German military strategist, von Clausewitz, who wrote: "War is nothing but the continuation of politics by other means."

Independents Win Over McConnell

The Fulton Independents defeated McConnell 4-3 in a 11-inning thriller. Hassell, local pitcher, dazzled the McConnell batters and aided by Ray who played a swell game behind the plate held them to one earned run. Hornsby led the hitting by getting 3 for 4. The Independents will play Clinton Sunday at Clinton.

Members of the Fulton Independents are: Hassell, P.; Ray, C.; Greer, I.; Hornsby, second; Greer, as; Gambill, 3rd; Forrest, 1st; Jones, rf; Lee cf.

SPLENDID RESULTS

Action of the Army in forcing a strike-bound airplane factory to reopen is now showing magnificent results in many different fields. First and foremost, of course, is that the plant, which manufactured a large proportion of all planes in this country, is now operating at normal capacity. This clearly proves that a vast majority of workers really did not want to strike and desired, above all things, to be allowed to work at their regular jobs. If there was really a strike in the plant, with a majority of the workers desiring to be out on strike, Army action would not have brought them back to work so quickly. This merely proves that a small minority had called and engineered the strike in an effort to tie up production.

Army action is also having some wide ramifications which will prove quite beneficial to our all-out defense effort. National leaders of the C. I. O. were quick to repudiate the aviation strike as an outlaw move and had already called on the men to return to work. Those labor leaders had no desire whatever to face the wrath and might of the Federal government and they took swift action to clear their skirts when they realized the government actually meant business. It is not likely that they will permit any other similar situations to develop.

Now comes the best news of all, and it also is linked with the firm stand taken by the government. It is more or less openly stated the C. I. O., as well as several other labor organizations, will now move drastically to get rid of all Communist influences which may exist in these organizations. It has been common knowledge that the C. I. O. was a hot-bed of Communism, and for months there has been no doubt of this. Some rather highly placed officers of the C. I. O. have been open and avowed Communists, and to date John L. Lewis, former C. I. O. head, has never taken an open stand against Communism and its works. Perhaps he does not endorse the doctrine, but it is a fact that he has been willing to make use of Reds while directing the C. I. O. In his own coal miners' union he will not tolerate Communists, but in the C. I. O. he not only tolerated them, but used them quite openly. It is said that if he would speak out plainly on the subject Communists could be driven from the C. I. O. in a few days, but he seems satisfied to go on his way without expressing an opinion.

Other labor leaders, however, see the handwriting on the wall and read it plainly. They have at last seen the temper of the American people and of the Administration. They have come to a belated realization that Communism is not going to be tolerated in the United States—either as a doctrine or as a labor organization. They have come to the full realization that this country is really determined to put the pressure on when it comes to dealing with anything that remotely smells of Moscow and Stalin. The United States is going to remain the same sort of nation it has been and is going

CONGRESS REFLECTS THE POPULAR VIEW

It is a mark of our national tendency to snap judgment that we, the most generous people in the world where a dramatic need is made evident, can so cheerfully ignore our own needy simply because the very drabness of their plight makes them so easy to forget.

The reasoning by which we arrive at the conclusion that, because he is quiet, because he has ceased to stand in breadlines and march on city halls, our particular forgotten man has ceased to exist, is simple. It goes something like this: Up to 1940 many men in America were unemployed. But in 1940 we began building many new factories for defense. Therefore the unemployment problem is now solved and what do we need W. P. A. for any more?

The result is shown in the new Congressional appropriation for W. P. A. which for the year beginning in July will be barely sufficient to maintain 1,000,000 men. This in spite of the fact that 2,800,000 still are eligible for W. P. A., and thus, presumably, are still unable to fit themselves into the patterns of expanding private employment.

These men represent what is left after every workman remotely useful in private industry has been taken away. They are the unhappy misfits of a technological age, men without skills, and for the most part too old or too inept to learn them. But on W. P. A. they have given and still could give valuable service to the Nation. They have built, schools, bridges throughout the length and breadth of America, and America still needs these things, still can well afford to pay for their building by men who cannot earn a living elsewhere.

Congress, however, has spoken. And in speaking it has reflected the popular view, cheery, optimistic and tragically untrue, that "nowadays anybody can get a job who wants one."—Courier-Journal.

to deal with a hard hand against those who long for some of the foreignisms which have been spreading in this country during the past two or three years.

It seems entirely probable that America is going to handle its labor situation in the good old American way, without allowing any of the modern tricks cooked up in Moscow to be used. If so, it will be a grand day for the nation, for we can go ahead and really get somewhere. We are facing a period of gravest emergency, and the sooner we get rid of these Red influences the better off we will be.

Training For Defense

By Rufus T. Strohm

Dean, International Correspondence Schools

TWO industries, aviation and shipbuilding, are pushing ahead with increasing speed to meet the pressing demands of a national emergency. Orders and more orders have piled up as plant expansion and tooling problems have received the major consideration. Another problem concerns the shortage of trained men.

B. H. shipbuilding and airplane construction might be considered romantic occupations by the young man starting his first job. However, the actual fabrication of ships and airplanes calls for the most exacting, skilful type of workmen. Shipments there may be when the finished products are in the air or on the sea, but before a ship or an airplane is placed in service it must be as near perfect as man can fashion it.

New building techniques have been developed for both industries. Twenty years ago shipyards roared with the sound of riveting guns. Today these yards are less clamorous, for the flash of the welding arc and the sound of the gas torch indicate the voice of the "all-welded" ship. Revolutionary changes have been developed also for the aircraft industry.

Ships of the sea and ships of the air are put together by the most skilled men. To train such men takes time, more time than may be granted us to prepare for defense. To shorten the training period, management has adapted various types of instruction. Much studying must be done by the apprentice in his spare time. Never before has he had such a great moral responsibility. Here is the real test. It rests with every individual. Opportunity is here for the man who is trained and willing.

THIS STORY ENDS WITH A 'BANG'

We repeat a timely little story that reads like this: Once upon a time a promising young man carried his bride over the threshold, just as tradition says he should. He was the world's best husband, she the world's best cook. They would have lived happily ever after only Hubby became penny-wise and brought home that cheap brand of flour. He couldn't eat her biscuits—asked for an ax with which to cut the cake. So the sad little story ended with a "bang"—right in the middle of Hubby's forehead.

couraging report was made from the Poppy Day sale.

The meeting then was turned over to Mrs. R. L. Harris, leader of the program for the afternoon. She gave a very interesting article on "For Tomorrow We Live," by Callen Pallock. Following the program she conducted an appropriate flag contest. Mrs. Roberts was the winner of this contest.

At the conclusion of the meeting a social hour was enjoyed during which time Mrs. Fowkes and Mrs. Parker served sandwiches and led tea to eleven members and one visitor, Mrs. D. R. Speight.
