THE LISTENING POST

Unless the Tigers score eighteen or twenty tallies in the very first inning, I am always acutely uncomfortable at the baseball games. These tight, nerve tingling affairs, with the home team winning or losing in the seventh or ninth inning by a mere flicker always leave me wilted as a piece of last week's lettuce which has been left out in the hot sun. If we win that way, I get over it sooner than if we lose, for if we lose I practically never get over it. I go home as tired and discouraged as if I had played and directed the game; I have an intense hate for the two umpires, a general dislike for the visiting player who beat us, and, if a home player made an error that caused the debacle, I have a burning desire to feed him on molten metal and then draw and quarter him. That's how I take my baseball. In other words, I want to win—preferably by forty or fifty runs. I wish many times we could count as fast as football scores, each tally counting six points—that is, unless the enemy team happened to be doing the scoring.

All this being true, I wonder many times why I don't quit going to the datted ball games. I could exist without so much nervous strain, I know, for hating with such burning hate always take a lot out of any man, and I can't forget a game as quickly as I did when I was a player, or as quickly as the players who take part in the game these nights.

Added to all this, I am becoming uncomfortable for another reason. It is a curious reason, and I may yet manage to expel it. It seems that a lot of folks, not as deeply interested in baseball as they should be, are watching me and my reactions and getting a tremendous kick out of this curious amusement. When I first heard of it I decided it was merely one person and it meant nothing to me. Now I keep on hearing of this person or that person who is doing the same thing and I am beginning to grow decidedly uncomfortable over the matter. Any time I go to a game, I feel wild and hell bound. I have a sudden feeling that millions of people are looking at me and having a lot of fun witnessing my merry antics. That has a tendency to make me self-conscious and no person should ever be self-conscious at a baseball game. No, all persons should be as free as air, as informal as all getout, and do the things which come to mind without any thought of appearances or of being conspicuous. That is the reason that going to ball games is a lot more fun than going to a picture show, for example. All the hidden repressions, the inner feelings, the general hates and indignations can all boil out at the ball game, and anything which lessens this freedom of feeling is a hindrance.

What I am thinking about doing is twofold. One is that I may retire to the bleachers where the rough and tough will take me to their hearts and allow me to be one of them. Out in the bleachers particularly in the third base bleachers, life is always raw and elemental. If any man in the third base bleachers wishes to express his literal and unvarnished opinion of any player or both umpires, why, he just cocks his head and lets the opinions roll out. His mates thoroughly agreed with him and even aid and abet him, and the beauty of the system is that all the players can hear every word said from that area. That is why you see visiting players coming in from left and center field at a rapid rate, and scooting by the

U.S. To Take Six Danish Ships Today

Will Be First To Be Operated
Under New Law

Washington. — The Maritime Commission announced Sunday that Monday it would take over six Danish ships which have been held in protective custody by the United States.

The vessels are among eighty-four foreign ships which were taken into custody by this government some time ago. There are thirty-six Danish ships among these vessels.

Legislation authorizing the government to requisition these ships and put them into operation was enacted by Congress two weeks ago. It requires that "just compensation" be given the owners.

First Under New Laws
The six Danish ships will be the first requisitioned under this legislation. They are the motor ship Nora and the steamships Marna and Jonna, now in New York; the steamships Rita Haersk and Herta Maersk at Boston; and the steamship Jutta, at Portland, Maine.

The gross tonnage and speed of the vessels:
Nora, 2,937, 14 knots; Marna, 1,700, 12 1-2 knots; Jonna, 1,517, 12 1-2 knots; Rita Maersk, 1,889, 11 knots; Herta Maersk, 1,890, 11 1-2 knots; Jutta, 1,549, 12 knots.

All are freighters and the commission said they have been kept in "excellent condition" since they were laid up in American ports in April, 1940.

Nazi Prisoners Given Luxuries By U. S. Friends

Somewhere in Ontario, — German prison camps are amply supplied with every possible luxury from German sympathizers in the United States, according to Col. Hubert Stethem, Canadian director of internment operations.

"The amount of money that comes from the United States is enormous, far more than needed," he said. "They also receive packages delivered through the international Y. M. C. A."

"The attitude of the men is pugnacious but never disrespectful. The aviators are the most arrogant. They are not allowed to converse with their guards. We get little information volunteered—perhaps because the Gestapo is undoubtedly in every camp."

Any news of the Allies is regarded as propaganda by the prisoners, the colonel said; and they look upon the kindness with which they are treated as "the sign of a decadent democracy."

Cities Must Pay County Jails Holding Option Law Breakers

Frankfort, Ky. — Cities which fine and sentence violators of the local option law must pay the expenses of convicted persons in county jails if they are incarcerated there.

Assistant Attorney General Guy H. Herdman gave this opinion today to W. Fred Hume, Providence attorney who asked whether the city could keep the fine and place the prisoner in the county jail without charge.

Violation of the law provides for a jail sentence of 30 to 60 days in addition to a fine. Webster county in which Providence is located, voted dry recently.

Replying to Crofton City Clerk M. A. Brown, Herdman said cities had authority to license outside beer distributors who send in their trucks to solicit, deliver and collect on orders. This was approved in the city of Eminence case.

He differentiated this situation from a state court of appeals de-

George S. Knox Dies In Florida

George S. Knox, well known in Fulton, died last night, June 15, at 6:30 o'clock at the home of his daughter, Mrs. W. T. Murphy in Orlando, Florida, according to a message received by relatives here.

Mr. Knox lived for many years in Martin and at one time was engaged in hardware business in Fulton. He left Martin twelve years ago and has made his home with his daughter in Orlando since that time. He was eighty-five years of age and would have been married sixty-four years this December.

Surviving him are his wife and two children, Will Boyd Knox of Martin and Mrs. Murphy of Florida, and several grand-children.

Mrs. S. A. McDade, Mrs. Jim Gibbs and Mrs. Louis Burke, all of Fulton are sisters of Mrs. Knox.

Congress Will Be Asked To Write Own Seizure Bill

Washington. — President Roosevelt will ask Congress, informed legislators said today, to write its own version of legislation permitting the government to requisition private property for defense purposes.

These legislators said the President was expected soon to address letters to the chairman of the Senate and House military affairs committees setting forth the objectives the government wished to accomplish and suggesting that Congress phase a bill as it sees it.

A property seizure bill submitted to Congress last week by the War Department, aroused a storm of controversy because of its sweeping nature. It proposed to authorize the President to requisition "temporarily or permanently" any property which he decided was needed for defense.

The President would decide the value of the property and, if the owners thought his figure was too low, they would be paid 75 per cent of his price and could sue for any additional sum.

Senator Byrnes (D-SC.), acting majority leader, told reporters that revisions would have to be made in the bill to define more clearly the powers to be exercised.

Administration men said needs of the current situation would not be met by legislation, already approved by the Senate and pending in the House, which would permit the government to take over defense plants when production is stopped or threatened.

They pointed to a War Department memorandum which said that many machine tools, "probably used in industries not manufacturing defense articles or were held by second hand dealers who demand unreasonable prices."

It also said that there were large stocks of aluminum and other critical raw materials in plants not producing for the defense program which could be taken over and sold to manufacturers of airplanes and airplane engines under the proposed law.

In addition, the department said it desired authority to commandeer some privately-owned airplanes and boats whose owners had refused to sell them to the government.

Library Drive
Starts Wednesday

The annual campaign to raise funds for the Fulton public library will begin Wednesday and it is hoped that Fulton people will answer the call cheerfully and generously. The library has done a great work in past years and today is serving more people, with more reading matter, than ever before.

As is well known, it is not self supporting and at least once each year the public must be called on for support. The money thus secured is used to purchase new books, replace those which are worn out, and in general help the library continue its function of serving the community.

No set goal has been fixed, as the library needs all that can be raised. For the past two years the sum raised has not been sufficient for the needs, and it is hoped that this year more money can be secured.

Committee workers will start out Wednesday morning and the campaign will continue for several days.

WHAT THE LIBRARY MEANS TO ME

Although I am only a little girl eleven years of age, I appreciate the fact the Woman's Club has made it possible for us to have a library. I have been reading books and magazines which have been carefully selected by the Librarian as the class of literature I should read. It has meant much to me in that it has helped me to cultivate a desire for good literature. I really do enjoy the reading of good books and I trust that children of my age and younger and older will find as much pleasure from the library as I have enjoyed during my few years of reading in the library.

NEW SELECTEES TO BE 'INTEGRATED' AMONG
ONES NOW REGISTERED

Washington. — Selective service headquarters disclosed today that men recently turned 21 who register for military duty July 1 would be integrated with men already registered for the draft rather than placed at the bottom of the list.

The change in plans was decided on because of objections in Congress to an original intention to make the new registrants subject to the draft after those who enrolled last October 16, officials explained.

Some 750,000 are expected to enroll in the July 1 registration, which is for men who have reached 21 since last October.

Two Are Burned In Explosion

Mrs. E. W. Stephenson and daughter, Alice Joyce, both suffered painful burns yesterday afternoon about 12:45, when the oil stove exploded at their home on the corner of West and State Line street. The explosion occurred when the daughter tried to light the stove and her clothing was ignited. She was painfully burned about the shoulders and feet and her mother, who tried to extinguish the blaze, received bad burns on the arms and legs.

Both were brought to the Haws clinic for treatment.

The fire department was called to the Stephenson home to put out the stove.

EDSEL FORD'S SON IS TURNED DOWN BY ARMY DOCTOR

Detroit. — Army medical examiners Saturday rejected Benson Ford, 21-year-old son of Edsel Ford, president of the Ford Motor Company. For military service under the selective service act.

The reason for the rejection young Ford said, was a "congenital cataract of the left eye" which prevented him from distinguishing objects.

"I would have been glad to go," said Ford, "yet I'm glad it's over." His brother, Henry Ford II., is serving as an ensign in the Navy.

LAUNDRY WAGE-HOUR BOARD ASKED TO MEET

Frankfort, Ky. — The State Laundry Wage and Hour Board, first appointed for a specific industry, was asked today by Industrial Relations Commissioner W. C. Burrow to meet here Monday, June 30.

At present, the approximately 3,500 employees of the laundry, dry cleaning and dyeing establishments of Kentucky are covered by a blanket code for all women and minors in intrastate industry.

The nine-member laundry board is expected to determine whether that industry should continue to come under the general regulations or have special standards.

The June 30 session will be devoted mainly to a study of procedure Burrow said, with a public hearing to be held later on specific proposals for laundry employees.

Army Hopes Your Next Toast Will Be "Keep 'Em Flying"

Washington. — The next time you're catching a quick one in the McGillicuddy's bar and grill, "the slogan 'keep 'em flying' which is rapidly coming into national-wide use as an everyday expression by persons in all walks of life."

"Keep 'em flying" is designed as an expression of felicity and high morale and it can be used as a toast. It pertains to the whole progress of the whole national defense effort, as well as to airplanes.

The Army preference in toast, salutation and farewells was outlined today in a memorandum sent to all government employees by the Army recruiting service.

Retail Store Wage Rules Are Tightened

Exemption Denied Some Businesses

Washington. — The Wage-Hour Division issued Sunday a revised interpretation of retail and service establishments under which exemption from the act will be denied any store whose business is more than 25 per cent "non-retail" in character.

At the same time the division broadened its concept of a "retail sale" to include some dealings with industrial and commercial purchasers which previously had been regarded as "non-retail." This new definition classes as "retail" trade sales to business establishments in small quantities and at higher prices than usually charged by wholesalers or jobbers.

The changes will become effective July 1.

Officials declined to estimate how the new interpretations would affect the 6,242,000 persons employed in the distribution and selling of goods and services.

The original interpretation was issued in December, 1938, two months after the act became effective. The law exempts from the minimum wage and maximum hour standards (these are now 30 cents an hour and 40 hours a week) employees in "any retail or service establishments the greater part of whose selling or servicing is in intrastate commerce."

The term "greater part" was interpreted to mean more than 50 per cent. Under the new interpretation this phrase means more than 75 per cent.

Most Appeals From Draft Ruling Are Upheld

Washington. — A majority of a mounting number of selective service registrants who have taken appeals to President Roosevelt have been upheld and placed in deferred classes.

A compilation by selective service headquarters showed Sunday that of 107 cases appealed to the Chief Executive, 63 were decided in favor of men who had refused to accept decisions of local appeals boards.

In reporting the figures, officials said that such appeals were encouraged rather than discouraged and carried no stigma.

Rules were revised recently to authorize State selective service directors of Brig. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, acting national director, to initiate appeals.

Editorial

SENATE TAKES CUE

Moving drastically and swiftly to keep pace with public thinking, the Senate has taken the long overdue action through which it is intended that obstructive and sometimes subversive industry strikes be brought to an end.

By amendments to the Selective Service Act the Senate:

Imposed a 30-day cooling-off period before strikes can be called.

Authorized the President to seize strike-bound plants.

Condemned defense industry strikes or lockouts in which mediation or negotiation is not recognized as being "contrary to sound public policy."

Reaffirmed its belief in the principles of collective bargaining.

Thus the Senate not only took the necessary steps to strengthen the whole defense effort but also comforted honest, decent labor by not abrogating the right to honestly bargain and negotiate.

Some elements of labor had made a tremendous effort to prevent the passage of the Draft Act amendments, but it is quite obvious that the majority who voted in the Senate had their best ear turned to the general public voice.

The bill in which the amendments are included now goes to the House. If that body is as conscious as the Senate of public indignation and determination it will not seek to weaken the measure as it stands.

This is not a victory for industry, for the rights of honest labor are protected. It is a victory for and of the people and for national security.

If a few dissident factions of Labor have had their noses put out of joint by it, they have only themselves to blame, for they set themselves up as bigger than Government, and whenever and wherever that is done, somebody inevitably gets hurt.

The cause of honest labor means as much as any, and, taking the long-range view, The Commercial Appeal believes that respectable labor has been strengthened by the Senate's action. — Commercial Appeal.

SHARING THE COMMON TASK

The House Ways and Means Committee has decided to retain in the new Tax Bill the existing schedule of personal exemptions of $800 for a single person and $2000 for married couples. In this it has followed the specific recommendations of the Treasury Department, while abandoning the principles enunciated by the Treasury's head, Secretary Morgenthau. In this testimony before the committee some weeks ago Mr. Morgenthau declared that the job before us was so big that "all the American people must help to carry it out," and he added that it would be unsound to proceed on the assumption "that any section should be exempted from sharing the common task."

Yet under the existing schedule of exemptions only 6,500,000 persons pay a Federal income tax. Nearly 8,000,000 additional persons file returns but pay no tax. Those with incomes of less than $2000 comprise 82 per cent of all the consumer units (families and individuals) in the country and they account for 60 per cent of all consumption expenditures. Yet under the scale of exemptions that has been approved by the Ways and Means Committee this large section of our people is virtually excluded from direct Federal income taxes. This is not to say that the lower-income groups are not

THE FARM AND HOME

Market eggs should be kept in a moist, cool room. A cellar is good. The temperature should not exceed 68 degrees. After cooling for 8 to 10 hours, they may be packed in cases, placing the small end of the egg down.

Good nutrition means that every person should have two fruits and two vegetables every day to supplement the meat, bread, potatoes and dried beans or other foods. Home canning is one way to have this variety.

Cook meat slowly, using moderate temperature. Meat is a protein food and, like white of egg, is toughened by prolonged heating at high temperature. Meat may be browned to develop a rich flavor, but then should be cooked at a moderate temperature.

Instead of selling cull hens, it may be well to can a few of them. Plump two-year-old hens are considered best for canning. Young birds may be canned, but the texture and flavor of the meat is not so good as that from mature birds.

SHORT COURSE FOR POULTRY KEEPERS

A short course in practical poultry keeping will be given at the College of Agriculture and Home Economics of the University of Kentucky June 23-27. Consideration will be given to all of the many problems confronting poultry raisers, whether on a large or a small scale.

Assisting members of the college's poultry section will be Melvin E. Buster and R. B. Jones of the United Adams Siler, a hatchery operator at Henderson, Ky.; C. W. Suller, poultry raiser of Lexington, and A. J. Brown, economist of the university.

taxed. They paid indirectly through the toll that taxation takes upon their costs of living and through the many excise levies which cut into their earnings in a roundabout way.

The new Tax Bill should be more than a mere attempt to raise money. It is the central feature of any program to maintain our economy in a sound state during the period of great rearmament spending. This program must include the limitation of consumer spending which complete with the needs of defense, and it should include the restraint of unnecessary Government spending which has nothing to do with defense. Both these objectives call for a broadening of the basis of direct taxation. — The New York Times.

Mr. Fanning, who set a new high in indignation here on his first visit for the season, was goaded into this, not by adverse decisions, but by raucous and jeering words from the bleachers. This stuff works a good deal like on the order of putting a burr under a saddle and then watching the horse finally begin to buck. At first the horse pays no attention to it, but finally he becomes acutely aware of the burr—just as Mr. Wise did at third base line.

Or, to be more material, I may just begin charging admission for all those who wish to see me become deeply and acutely miserable when the tide at baseball begins to show against me. I don't know just how much I could collect, but I might buy my drinks very night.

THIS STORY ENDS WITH A 'BANG'

We repeat a timely little story that reads like this: Once upon a time a promising young man carried his bride over the threshold, just as tradition says he should. He was the world's best husband, she the world's best cook. They would have lived happily ever after only Hubby became penny-wise and brought home that cheap brand of flour. He couldn't eat her biscuits—asked for an ax with which to cut the cake. So the sad little story ended with a "bang"—right in the middle of Hubby's forehead.

MISS CHRISTINE CARDWELL AND THEODORE J. KRAMER, JR.
MARRIED YESTERDAY P. M.

On Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock the marriage of Miss Christine Cardwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arch Cardwell, and Theodore J. Kramer, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore J. Kramer, was solemnized in the home of the bride's parents, amid a setting of summer flowers. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. A. Autrey, pastor of the First Baptist church, in the presence of Malcolm Hendley of Birmingham, Alabama, who served the groom as best man, the bride's parents, her sister, Helen Fay, and brother, Marvin, the groom's parents, and Misses Marie and Elizabeth Ferguson, friends of the bride.

The bride, who was beautiful in an ensemble of lilac, with which were a corsage of summer blossoms and a white feather toque, was graduated from South Fulton High school in 1940 and attended Murray State Teachers college the past year, where she was very popular in all campus activities. She was pictured as one of the "Campus Favorites" in the college's year book.

The groom was graduated from Fulton High in 1933, attended the University of Alabama one year and Bowling Green Business University for two years. For the past three years he has been associated with his father in lumber business and during this time he has been active in business and social circles of Fulton, serving as president of the local Rotary Club at the time of his enlistment in the army last November. He is now a Corporal and in the personnel section of the Hq. Hq. & Service Company, Armored Force School Detachment, Fort Knox, Kentucky.

Mr. Kramer left last night for Fort Knox. The bride is at the home of her parents where they will reside temporarily. The good wishes of their many friends are extended to them.

Tigers Beat Hoppers In First Game There Yesterday 11 To 7

Continuing their winning streak the Tigers swept through Hopkinsville on the Hopper field yesterday afternoon, piling up fifteen hits for eleven runs, while the Hoppers were turning eleven hits into seven runs. Although the Tigers took a big lead in the first inning with five runs, the Hoppers came back and tied the score at seven-all in the seventh inning, and Frankie Faudem then poked a mighty triple in the eighth, with the bases loaded, to put the Tigers far ahead again. An extra run was picked up in the ninth to wind up the scoring.

Lake, Sprute and Emrich all toed the rubber in the game, and Emrich finally received credit for the game. The Hoppers used a pair of pitchers, with Surges being charged with the loss.

Walker had a pair of doubles and a single and Faudem and Ivy had three hits each. The Hoppers had three home runs in the game.

The second game of the series is being played in Hopkinsville tonight and the third game tomorrow night. After that the Tigers invade Mayfield for two games, returning here Friday and Saturday nights with Mayfield. This will be the second series with Mayfield this season, each team having won and lost two in the first four games.

Score

Sweep Baron Series

By whipping the Bowling Green Barons Saturday night 8 to 0, the Tigers made a clean sweep of the three game series and registered the first shutout victory of the present season. The Tigers played errorless baseball and the infield turned in three sparkling double plays to help Emrich who needed very little help at that. The big fireballer pitched a five hitter, this being his first starting game for the season. Bob seemed to have plenty of stuff all the way, and turned the Barons back without trouble.

The Barons made five errors, all of which figured in the scoring more or less, and the Tigers gathered eleven hits off a couple of Barons hurlers.
