COMMITTEE MEETS TOMORROW NIGHT

Sun's Exclusive Forecast of Democratic Action

Chairman Berry Issues Official Call
to Consider Time for City Primary.

THOMAS HARRISON FOR MAYOR

In accordance with the exclusive announcement in THE SUN that the Democratic committee would meet this week, W. A. Berry, chairman of the city Democratic committee, has issued a call for a meeting of the committee tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock at the city hall for the purpose of naming a date for a primary and arranging details. Candidates are numerous and it is the general idea that a primary will be called on the first Thursday in May. This will give candidates plenty of time to make a canvass.

Candidate for Mayor.

With the announcement of City Attorney Thomas Harrison's candidacy for the Democratic nomination for mayor, the municipal campaign, which will end with the general election next fall, has fairly started. So far Mr. Harrison is the only avowed candidate.

Although he has just formally announced, it has been known for months that Mr. Harrison would be a candidate, so he has had a good start, secured many pledges to himself and perfected a personal organization that will be hard to beat.

Mr. Harrison is perhaps the youngest man who has ever run for mayor of the city, but his association with public, and especially local, affairs, has been so long and continuous that he is perhaps as well posted on the needs of the municipality as any man the Democrats could present.

It is understood that the city Democratic primary will be in May, and Mr. Harrison is working to have his vote lined up by that time.

Others May Enter.

Col. Charles Reed said this morning that he had not decided definitely whether he will run for the Democratic nomination for mayor, but that he would express himself to his friends in a week or ten days. It is stated from an authentic source that Col. Reed will be a candidate in the primary.

Attorney W. V. Eaton has not made up his mind in the race for representative from McCracken county. Eugene Graves has stated positively that he will not be a candidate and J. W. Skelton is the only active candidate.

Popular Henry Bailey, the present city clerk, will have no opposition for the nomination.

Col. Sutherland's Ambition.

Col. Dick Sutherland, the popular fire and police commissioner, may announce himself a candidate for the Democratic nomination for city assessor.

"My friends have been urging me to run, and I am considering," he stated. "I have a great many friends who I feel will work for me, and will definitely make up my mind in a few days."

Col. Sutherland is a staunch Democrat and served four years as a congressman.

TOM GOODMAN BOTHERED ABOUT COUSIN'S AFFAIR

J. H. Goodman, of Cuba Landing, Tenn., who was robbed of his watch, knife, pistol and $300 in cash, has returned home. He is a cousin, not a brother, of Mr. Tom Goodman, the Mechanicsburg barber.

Ordinance Committee.

The joint ordinance committee met yesterday afternoon and decided to draft an ordinance providing for concrete sidewalks curb and gutters on both sides of Farley street in Mechanicsburg. The matter of drafting an ordinance creating the office of "building inspector" was deferred; also the matter of increasing the commission of back tax collector from 10 to 25 per cent.

May Be No Papers.

Butte, Mont., Feb. 15.—According to a statement of the Butte Publishers' association, printers and stereotypers hereafter will have to work for fifty cents a day less than the present scale. Unless the union agrees to this publishers say no paper will be printed in Butte or Anaconda.

CRACKSMEN.
Peoria, Ill., Feb. 15.—Expert cracksmen blew the Ellsleyville bank this morning and made their escape with $300.

HANGED IN PEN.
Eddyville, Ky., Feb. 15.—Ben Huffaker, a negro, was executed in the penitentiary today. He was convicted of murdering a fellow convict while serving a term for murder.

DISASTROUS FIRE.
Glasgow, Ky., Feb. 15.—Fire this morning practically destroyed Berry Hughes' dry goods store. The firm estimates the loss in the wholesale and retail departments and stock in an adjoining building at $95,000.

FIRST DEGREE.
Washington, Feb. 15.—The grand jury today indicted for murder in the first degree Mrs. Anna K. Bradley, who shot ex-Senator Arthur Brown, of Utah, at the Raleigh hotel here December 8.

PARDEU CAPTURED.
Caracas, Feb. 15.—General Pardeu, who recently landed in Bermudas with 20 followers and collected a small revolutionary army, is captured and two of his officers also are said to be in the hands of government troops.

BAD FIRE.
Cape Charles, Va., Feb. 15.—A livery stable with 25 horses, and three adjoining residents were destroyed by fire this morning. Tugboats came to the rescue or probably the entire town would have been destroyed.

CUBAN SITUATION.
Washington, Feb. 15.—Brigadier General Thomas Barry, assistant chief of staff, is assigned to command troops in Cuba, vice Brig.-Gen. Theodore Wint, recalled. It is said the change is made because the situation is becoming more critical in Cuba.

DIES GAME.
Bainbridge, Ky., Feb. 15.—Jesse Fitzgerald, a negro, was hanged this morning for almost beheading Mrs. Robert Broughton. The time was changed from noon to 7 o'clock to avoid a demonstration. Fitzgerald asked that the black cap be not put on him and he was executed with his eyes free. He met his fate calmly. His neck was broken by the fall.

HORRIBLE SCENE.
Farmville, Va., Feb. 15.—A sensational scene was witnessed today at the execution of Moses Hill and William Ruffin, negroes, for the murder of Postmaster John Grubbs. Hill weighed 275 pounds. The rope broke. He walked calmly back to the scaffold. It broke a second time. He died in agony on the ground.

PRESIDENT'S THREAT.
Washington, D. C., Feb. 15.—President Roosevelt informed his friends in the senate he would call an extra session of congress to pass the immigration law if the present objection to a conference report on that measure which contains provisions for the exclusion of Japanese labor, should prevent the enactment of such legislation.

PADUCAH LEAVES MOBILE FOR DUTY

Mobile, Ala., Feb. 15.—The United States gunboat Paducah took her departure from the city last night, passing out through the bay for Pensacola. At Pensacola the Paducah will take on coal and proceed immediately to Guantanamo under orders. The vessel before leaving was presented with a handsome loving cup by Mobile Lodge of Elks.

There is only one kind of a newspaper circulation statement that is worth any consideration and that is the daily detailed statement. The Sun is the only Paducah paper printing such a statement.

ROAD BOND ISSUE IN FISCAL COURT

Special Session February 20 Will Consider It

Judge Lightfoot Calls Magistrates to Decide Whether to Hold Election.

COMMISSION TO SPEND MONEY

County Judge R. T. Lightfoot has authorized a call for a special session of fiscal court on February 20 to settle with Sheriff John Ogilvie for 1906 tax collections and other important matters demanding immediate consideration will be taken up. The matter of placing the issue of bonds for county road improvements before the people will doubtless be suggested, and various expressions may be heard from members of the board.

"There is only one way that I will vote for the bond issue," Magistrate Charles W. Emery stated, "and that is that the money derived from the sale of bonds, if the issue carries, be placed in the hands of a commission and the commission charged with the entire responsibility of county road improvements. I get my idea from the Panama canal commission, and think it the best way to eliminate graft and assure a most economical expenditure of the money."

The question of submitting the bond issue to a vote of the people will doubtless cause much discussion in the board. County Attorney Alben Barkley's decision, that two-thirds of those voting in McCracken county must authorize the bond issue.

IRISH MEASURE.

Liberals Force Adoption of Some New Policies.

London, Feb. 15.—Augustin Birrell, chief secretary for Ireland, gave formal notice today that the bill "to establish an Irish council and for other purposes connected therewith," will be introduced soon. Thus is the Liberal government keeping its promise to the Nationalists to place Irish legislation to the forefront of the present session of parliament.

The bill will provide for a council in which the elective element will predominate. A number of nominative members are retained in order to placate the Liberals, who are opposed to an entirely representative body. It is understood also that this council will have extensive administrative powers, but its rights to legislate will be limited.

This feature has been accepted by the Irish leaders. Nothing definite is known as to the amount of financial control to be entrusted to the council, but to satisfy Irishmen this will have to be large. There is no doubt that the powers now centered in numerous boards controlling the administration of Ireland will be handed over to the council.

Will Probably Run for Mayor.

Ex-Mayor Rampendahl will almost surely be a candidate at the coming election. The Herald is an admirer of Mr. Rampendahl because of his push and enterprise and his great usefulness as a business man. After a severe struggle lasting for years Mr. Rampendahl has emerged triumphantly from his financial troubles and is now on firm ground. The firm has property, stock and a manufacturing plant worth near $75,000 if not more. They employ more than a hundred hands and he is the only large concern in Metropolis which has willingly unionized its working force. If Mr. Rampendahl runs of this he assured he will make a strong race—Metropolis Herald.

FLOWER COMMITTEE OF WOMAN'S CLUB ASKS PARENTS TO ENCOURAGE THE DISTRIBUTION OF PENNY SEED PACKAGES

Mrs. George A. Flournoy, chairman of the flower and home mission work of the Woman's club, has made all arrangements to begin the distribution of seeds to the school children next Monday morning. Mrs. Flournoy has secured the assistance of a great number of flower lovers of the city to assist her in her work, and the plan of operation is broad in its scope.

A thousand order envelopes will be distributed this year and as the interest increases each year, it is expected more will be required. There are fourteen varieties of flower, and eight of vegetable seeds in each envelope, and they will be sold to the children at a cent each. The name of the pupil, and address, the grade and the school are to be written on the envelope. The envelopes are to be distributed and the pupils are to take the envelopes and have their parents assist them in selecting the seeds they want, when the envelopes and the money are to be returned to the teacher. When the seeds are distributed, direction cards, which are explicit, will be given the pupils, but in the event any other information is desired, Mrs. Flournoy, or Mrs. Hal Corbett, who is chairman of the school committee, will be glad to furnish it, and give any assistance that may be desired.

In a great many of the eastern and southern cities this work has become one of the great features of the schools. The children have taken to the idea with enthusiasm, and are proving quite expert as flower and vegetable growers. The effect and the benefits of having a great chain of flower beds and gardens scattered through the city can hardly be appreciated. The children are taught at an early age the beauties of such things and derive a practical experience from the work that is beneficial in after years.

Attractive prizes will be given for the prettiest flower beds and gardens, and for the best plant or flowers raised by the pupils, and the decisions will be made on the last school day of the year, which will be called Flower Show day, and which, it is expected, will be made a feature of the school year.

Mrs. Flournoy and the members of her committee are anxious for the parents to encourage the children to take an interest in the work, and they offer to assist in any way they can.

HEAD WILL FIGHT SHORTAGE CHARGE

Cincinnati, O., Feb. 15.—(Special)—Louis P. Head, of Paducah, Ky., who is charged with being short in his accounts at the Kentucky branch prison, at Eddyville, was in Cincinnati today and says the statement contained in the morning papers is erroneous. He declines, however, to make a statement for publication until a conference with friends and attorneys. He has retained Attorneys Zeb A. Stewart, of Corbin, and L. W. Arnett, of Covington, to act with Hon. Hal S. Corbett, of Paducah. Mr. Head returns to Eddyville this afternoon. He has been dismissed from the prison service, a shortage of $500 being charged, which he denies.

JOE WURTH'S LOSS IS ABOUT FIFTEEN HUNDRED

It is estimated that the loss occasioned by Joe Wirth, farmer on the Mayfield road, 12 miles from Paducah, whose barn with its contents was destroyed yesterday, will be about $1,500, without any insurance. No motive for incendiarism is known as he seemed to have no enemies. Mr. Wirth said when he entered the barn early in the morning he had no lantern nor matches. It is his inability to account for the blaze that makes Mr. Wirth suspect some one.

LUCIEN ROGERS INJURED AND MAY NEVER RECOVER.

Mr. Lucien Rogers, of the Mayfield road, is in a critical condition, the result of a fall ten days ago. He broke his hip and has been confined to his bed since, growing gradually worse. His advanced age, 76 years, makes recovery doubtful. Drs. R. C. Gore and Johnston Bass are attending the patient.

CHIEF PUTS O. K. ON FIRST WARD

Chief of Police James Collins, in a letter sent to the "Frontier committee" reported that he had investigated the houses the committee had requested should be investigated in the First ward to ascertain the character of the residents. He found no suspicious conditions in any of the houses designated in the letter received by him from the committee and usually no more than one or two persons in any of the houses.

Chief Collins received the letter requesting the investigation last Friday morning, and before Saturday night most of the houses had been investigated. The policemen entered not only the houses designated by the committee but several others in the First ward. In closing his letter to the committee, Chief Collins invited the committee at all times to feel at liberty to call on him for aid.

FIRST WHITE MEN TO PAY PENALTY

Russellville, Ky., Feb. 15.—W. R. Fletcher and Guy Lyons were hanged this morning for criminal assault on Mary Gladder. Fletcher's neck was broken and he died instantly. Lyons died from strangulation in eight minutes. Both declared on the gallows they did not commit the crime which merited death. At 3 o'clock blood was discovered flowing from Lyons. Physicians hastily summoned found him almost dead from loss of blood from a wound inflicted by cutting an artery with a tin spoon. He was revived and given stimulants, but had to be carried to the gallows in a chair by deputies while the noose was being adjusted. Fletcher's nerve did not desert him. They are the first white men executed in Kentucky for criminal assault.

Castro Better—Police Busy.

Caracas, Venezuela, Feb. 15.—Wholesale arrests of revolutionary suspects have marked the returning health of President Castro. The police everywhere are busy except in the western border states, where the government is not strong. In Caracas alone, it is said, 50 arrests have been made within the week. The prisoners apparently have committed no offense except that they are friends of Vice President Gomez who, it is said, may be arrested at any time.

THOMAS CHAMBERS CUTS HIS THROAT

McCracken County Farmer, Mentally Unbalanced, Commits Suicide

SENDS WIFE ON AN ERRAND

Dies in Agony in Presence of Members of Immediate Family—
Coroner Goes.

WAS WRITHING ON THE FLOOR

Sending his wife to his brother's residence to summon a physician, Thomas Chambers, known among his associates as "Tot" Chambers, cut his throat from ear to ear with a razor this morning at 9 o'clock and died a few minutes later in the presence of his aged father, his wife and brothers. No note was left giving reasons for the suicide, and it is presumed that Chambers was mentally unbalanced.

Chambers resided on his father's farm back of Olivet church on the Cairo road, four miles from the city limits. He had been ill several days of the grip, but today was able to be up. This morning shortly after breakfast he complained of aching pains and requested his wife to go to his brother's, Jack Chambers, and summon a physician. She left her husband and nine-months-old son in the same room, visited the brother's and returned to witness a scene too horrible to depict.

On the floor writhing in the agonies of death her husband was found with the infant in bed a short distance away holding out his little arms to the mother. A razor lay under the husband, brought to view as he rolled from side to side, and his throat was gaping open, blood spurting from "he wound in streams."

Mrs. Chambers' screams summoned other members of the family who resided in the homestead a short distance away. They picked the body up and laid it on the bed, and after a few gasps Chambers died. He was never able to speak after discovery.

Chambers was 32 years old and born and raised in this county. He married Miss Katie Smith, of Ballard county, two years ago. He was a man of unquestionable character and was generally popular. His friends say that for more than a year he has not been acting himself and fear had been entertained for several weeks as to his mental soundness. He leaves a father, three sisters and two brothers. The latter are Messrs. Jack and William Chambers, residing on the farm, and Mesdames Henry Hazzott, Ed Broyles and John Williams, all of this city. Mr. Hazzott is the wife of the well known stock man in B. Wellie & Son's store.

Every indication points to deliberate suicide. The razor was lying in the dresser drawer where it could be gotten easily and Chambers had evidently seized it immediately on the departure of his wife, and, after lying down on the floor, had slashed his throats.

Coroner Frank Baker was notified at 9:30 o'clock by telephone and immediately left for the Chambers farm to hold an inquest.

No funeral arrangements have been made but it is stated the body will be buried in the Chambers' family cemetery on the farm probably tomorrow.

Chance to Make Money.

Wade Brown, deputy United States marshal, has a summons for R. S. Williams to appear before the federal grand jury at Carson City, Nev., February 27, 1907, but has been unable to find him. Witnesses summoned by the government get 10 cents the mile for every mile traveled, and $2 per day. It would mean about $450 to Williams to make the trip which would take about three weeks.

Immigration Bill Meets Opposition.

Washington, Feb. 15.—Opposition to the immediate consideration of the conference report on the immigration bill developed in the senate today, when Senator Dillingham made an effort to secure a vote on the report. Senators Bacon and Tillman objected to fixing a time for the vote, and the latter made a point of order against the passport amendment. It was overruled by the vice president.

Women's Suffragists Meet in Chicago And Discuss Means to Promote Cause

Chicago, Feb. 15.—With the light of battle in their eyes 200 women from the various states in the union, have assembled in Chicago to meet, discuss, and resolve that women should no longer be deprived of the right to the ballot. This is the thirty-ninth year the National American Woman Suffrage association has done this, but the hope of the brighter day in the near future is none the less strong.

The main features to be brought up during the convention, as decided on last night, were:

Establishing of a Susan B. Anthony woman suffrage fund of $100,000 to carry on the work.

Change of date for annual meeting from spring to fall.

Concentration of the lecturers and speakers in Oklahoma with the hope that by a referendum vote women may be included as electors.

Renewed activity in New York, West Virginia, Indiana and South Dakota, where woman suffrage bills are now pending in the legislatures.

Extend in every way the call for the submission to the people of a sixteenth amendment to the federal constitution which, if passed, would give women the same right to vote that men have.

Among the delegates are many women from the south, who advance the argument that woman suffrage will solve the race question. In support of this they declare there are 600,000 more white women in the south than there are negro men and women together, and if the franchise is extended to women the whites will have a ballot supremacy of 600,000 plus the entire white male vote.

Great things are expected of the Susan B. Anthony woman suffrage fund, providing the suggestion is adopted by the convention. It is to be $100,000, but thus far only $1,000 of this has been obtained, and that through the bequest of "mere man." The $1,000 was given the association in the will of the late Col. D. R. Anthony, the "fighting editor" of Leavenworth, Kas., who was a brother of Susan B. Anthony. An effort will be made, however, to interest Mrs. Russell Sage, Hetty Green, and other millionaire women.

It was a blow to the suffragists when their efforts to have the franchise extended to their sex in the constitution of Oklahoma were defeated. The only hope left there is the initiative and referendum clause, and by agitation it is believed the question can be placed squarely before the "men people."

funny situations constitute one of the most pleasing exhibitions that has been seen in this town for many years.

BOYS THINK OF SUMMER.

Baseball Outfits Brought to Light Again.

Healthy school boys seem to be about the only residents of Paducah untroubled of the epidemic of grip, and changeable weather, and are taking matters in their regular course. The first touch of real warm weather two days ago set them to thinking of summer, and baseball outfits were brought from their storage places, and for the past two days boys playing catch is a common sight at the schools. "Dainty in the coffee pot," is another summer game they have taken to. Three inches of broom stick is sawed off and the ends sharpened. A paddle is used as a bat. With the edge of the bat one end of the "dainty" is struck, causing it to bound into the air. It is struck with the paddle and batted yards away. A specific number of jumps is given the "pitcher" and the score is thus made.

Nightcaps in Style Again.

London, Feb. 15.—The use of nightcaps, which were discarded half a century ago, except by elderly women, is being revived by fashionable English ladies. According to Drapers' Record, headgear of that kind is becoming an indispensable part of a woman's wardrobe. The nightcap of 1907 is a dainty combination of cambric, lace and frills, with colored ribbons and rosettes. The revival is ascribed partly to doctors and partly to elaborate coiffeurs.

"Tracy the Outlaw."

Despite the fact that this is the fourth season that "Tracy the Outlaw" has been on the road, its success seems to continue without any signs of abating. Comedy is throughout the course of the performance and a number of specialties will be rendered between the acts.

Harry Beresford.

Harry Beresford, who will be seen in "The Woman Hater," next week, tells of a funny experience that he had in a western restaurant.

"I had ordered a steak," said Mr. Beresford, "but when the waiter brought and served it I noticed that it looked suspiciously like a steak that had been refused by a gentleman at the next table. So I said to the waiter, 'Are you sure that this is the steak that I ordered?'"

"Oh, yes, sir."

"Come, no lying now, isn't that the steak that was refused by the gentleman over there?"

"Well, sir, if you must know, sir, it is sir."

"What do you mean by serving it to me then?"

"Well, sir, you see, sir, we have orders, sir, to try three times before we give it up, sir."

"The College Widow."

There seems little doubt but that "The College Widow" will come to Paducah February 22, under all the markedly favorable auspices which this comedy has enjoyed at the other houses during its record engagement of this season. The thrilling football scene, the humorous lines and

FOR BROTHER

YOUNG WOMAN SAID TO HAVE ROBBED THE CHURCH.

Took Money Being Raised By Gleaners' Society to Purchase New Organ.

Bloomington, Ill., Feb. 15.—A tremendous sensation was created here this afternoon by the arrest of Miss Helen Dixon, a pretty girl who for two years has been treasurer of the Gleaners' Society of the Second Christian church, it being alleged that she had embezzled $1,300 of the church funds.

She was the custodian of money that had been earned by the society in various ways, the money to be applied upon the payment of a new organ. This organ had just arrived at an expense of $2,500. When Miss Dixon was asked for the money in her possession, she could give no reply, simply stating that she had nothing to say regarding it.

Late last night Miss Dixon broke her silence and confessed that all the money had been sent to her brother, but she could not tell where he was located. She said that he had appealed to her at various times for money, promising to pay it back and that she did not have the heart to refuse him. She believed that when he knew of her plight into which she had fallen that he would raise the money and have her released.

It finally became necessary to place her under arrest this afternoon. Miss Dixon came here from Michigan, where her parents are supposed to reside. She is also said to have a brother in Chicago.

Manila, Feb. 15.—Pulajanes attacked and burned two towns in the province of Occidental Negros yesterday and killed six members of the constabulary. Two American teachers, W. J. Bassett and Walter J. L. Lee, are reported to be missing. No cause is known for the sudden uprising. Raids were made within a radius of ten miles, and schools were first attacked and burned in both stances. The province of Occidental Negros has been free from disturbance for four years. It is believed the raiders were mountaineers venting their hereditary enmity against the coast towns.

Nashville, Tenn., Feb. 15.—For the first time this session the more rampant Prohibitionists were given a knock-out blow in the senate today. The Anti-Saloon league leaders were on hand in force and used every possible effort to whip members into line for the Holladay anti-jug bill, but when the time for voting came they were not in it. The senate also put a quietus on two other projects, when it referred the house resolution providing for a special committee to investigate the two-cent passenger fare question during the recess to the finance committee. It is not likely to be heard of until after the recess. It also referred the house resolution providing for a committee to examine into the quality of illuminating oils sold in the state.

LAND QUESTION IS TEXT OF MESSAGE

President Urges Congress to Reform Measures

Conservation of Coal and Mineral Rights in Public Domain Is His Point.

LEASE MINING PRIVILEGES

Washington, D. C., Feb. 15.—The "urgent need of legislation affecting the different phases of the public land situation in the United States" was emphasized by President Roosevelt in a long message submitted to congress today.

In his message the president advocates the conservation of coal and other fuel resources on lands still belonging to the government, saying that henceforth the nation should retain its title to its fuel resources, urges government control of the western public land pastures, and asks for an appropriation of half a million dollars, immediately available, in addition to present estimates, to aid in detecting and preventing land frauds. He contends for a system of government leasing of its mineral lands and for treating these fuel lands as public utilities.

Other Nations Lease Lands.
Concerning the leasing of mineral lands by the government the president points out it is not an untried policy. It has been in force in Australia for 15 years, and is now in force in all coal producing countries in Europe and in Canada, India and all the British colonies.

"Mineral fuels, like the forests and navigable streams," the message says, "should be treated as public utilities. This is generally recognized abroad. In some foreign countries practical control of a large portion of the fuel resources was allowed years ago to pass into private hands, but the existing governments are endeavoring to regain this control in order that the diminishing fuel supply may be safeguarded for the common good instead of being disposed of for the benefit of the few."

Would Provide for Future.
"In our western states and territories the scarcity of both water and forests has rendered necessary their preservation as public utilities, and the preservation of the forests for the purpose of conserving both the waters and the timber supply has come to be recognized as the wise and proper policy of the federal government. The quantity of high grade mineral fuels in the west is relatively much smaller than that of the forests, and the proper conservation of these fuels is a matter of far reaching importance."

"This government should not now repeat the mistake of the past. Let us not do what the next generation cannot undo. We have a right to the proper use of both the forests and the fuel during our lifetime, but we should not dispose of the birthright of our children. If this government sells its remaining fuel lands they pass out of its future control. If it now leases them we retain control, and a future congress will be at liberty to decide whether it will continue or change the policy."

The president denies the claim that reservation of the fuel supplies still belonging to the government would raise the price of coal in the west and adds: "To secure cheapness of timber and fuel for the moment at the cost of ruin to our own children would surely be a suicidal policy."

"The necessity for care in the future management of these fuel supplies is illustrated by the rapid rate at which the use of such fuels is increasing in the United States. This remarkable development and the certain continuity of this prodigious growth compel us to recast all estimates as to the life of our 'inexhaustible' resources. We can foresee the time when the eastern industries will be much more largely taxed for supplying foreign markets. It would surely be greatly to the advantage of this country if some at least of the coal fields of the east, and especially of the anthracite field, had been left under the control of the government."

"I cannot too emphatically say that all laws which merely seek to prevent monopoly or the mismanagement of the public by forbidding combination are certain to fail of their purpose. Experience with the interstate commerce and anti-trust laws shows that what is needed is not prohibition of all combinations, but such supervision and control over combinations, and over corporations entering into them, as will prevent the evils while giving to the public the advantages of combination."

Must Stamp Out Fraud.
The president points out that it would have been better if some eastern coal lands had been left under

ARMY OF GENERALS

Democratic Senators Will Have No Leader.

Washington, Feb. 15.—Every Democratic senator is henceforth to be a "minority leader." If the present plan does not go awry.

After vainly trying to agree on some senator to take the place now held by Senator Blackburn, of Kentucky, whose term expires March 4, the minority statesmen in the upper house have about decided to adopt a suggestion of Senator Morgan and have no minority leader.

"A sort of political guerilla warfare," Mr. Morgan characterized it. This will combat the tendency toward centralization of power against which Democratic senators have been inveighing.

"That's the trouble in the senate," said one senator.

"Each member of the minority is capable of being a leader and wants to be one and we have about decided to have an army of generals with no privates."

"Scarcely anything seems impos-

OUR OPPORTUNITY.

Having settled on the date for the next Republican state convention, June 26, the members of the party have four months in which to select the best man for the ticket, with all that time and more in which to size up the Democratic entries, their weak points and the Republican strength, and arrange the ticket accordingly. And that is exactly the advantage of which the party should make the most. There are many good men in the party from whom to pick,
but some have this weakness and others that. We must pick the one that lacks all the weaknesses and possesses strength. The shifting winds of temporary issues should be ignored in the selection. The citizens of Kentucky want a man for governor, who will discharge the duties of that office honorably and well,
a man who will distinguish the commonwealth by ability and character.
Men, not issues, are wanted in politics, and the Republican party has more than a chance to win with a strong ticket. Factional breaches in the state Democracy are not healed
over, by any means; the anaemic condition of national Democracy is making itself felt to the very core of the organization; and the patchwork ticket submitted to the voters as the result of the uninteresting primary last fall is a house of cards. It is up to the Republicans of Kentucky
whether they shall fill the offices next fall. THE SUN has no ax to grind. Any good Republican and good citizen, one and the same thing,
to win, is our motto for this campaign. Casting an unprejudiced eye
over the field Judge James Breathitt, of Hopkinsville, fills the foreground
for us just now. He has the home strength, the appearance, the oratorical finish, the campaign attributes,
the integrity of character, the intellect and poise. Furthermore, Judge Breathitt has made no factional alliances. He would have no peace to make with his own party before facing the enemy. His qualification all seem to be positive and right. If he has disqualifications, we do not know them. Until some more available man of equal accomplishment is mentioned we shall cling to Judge
James Breathitt for governor.

From the noise that ascends to heaven when some weakling violates his trust, one might think that the very foundations of society had been shattered and that Christendom was tottering on the verge of chaos. Perchance, the scoundrel or unfortunate, according as the case may be, and the point of view belongs to church; then the narrow heads, whose cerebra are creased with straight, shallow lines,
scream, hypocrite, as if the church
were but a rendezvous for thieves
and rascals, and the man in business, who professes Christianity, is not to be trusted. There was a Judas Iscariot, but his wickedness only served to emphasize the fidelity of the other eleven apostles. The few churchmen who fall, should by their rarity

call attention to the host of the upright. Most of the men who go wrong are outside the church, and to draw misleading warnings on cant
and hypocrisy from the speculations of one man in a million is worse in its general effect than the criminal's conduct. It is such intemperate criticism that spoils every reform movement. Let an evil or an abuse be published for correction, and that is the cue for the moral hyenas to superinduce a reaction by the viciousness of their support. Mistaking an exception for a rule leads to most of the disasters in this life.

Lawyers in the Feist murder case at Nashville took a day apiece for arguing the case. Although a court does not feel disposed to limit counsel in a case, where the life of a man depends on their words, yet common sense should set some limit. What more, may we inquire, can a man
say in a day on any given subject, than he could say in two or three hours? Having a day, naturally he stretches his language and spreads out his points until proportion is lost, the relations of things clouded and close, consistent reasoning made out of the question. Then think of the befuddled condition of a jury after days of such prolonged agony. Imagine a dry tongued, hoarse throated, disheveled advocate, with jaw muscles weakened by continued use and his twitching mouth drooping at the corners, delivering a brain-fagged address on matters of fact with which the juryman are as well acquainted as he. What a hit a lawyer would make with a fifteen minute talk to close an argument against an adversary who had argued all day.

Progress of the conference between the president and the delegates from San Francisco and comments of the coast newspapers corroborate the president's original observation that labor troubles are at the bottom of the anti-Japanese feeling in California, and that the prohibition of coolie immigration will result in an amicable settlement of the educational question. The whole country naturally sympathizes with the Californians, and since Japan is as anxious to keep her coolies at home as we are that they should stay there, a little less indulgence in bombast along our western coast will result in a friendly arrangement that will militate to the advantage of our far western countrymen. By all means, let us have a new treaty with Japan, and some new guns.

If the report is true that certain school trustees are selling supplies to the schools their conduct is reprehensible. Such acts come clearly within the provision that trustees must not make contracts with the board. They may declare this charter provision unconstitutional, but they will not satisfy the minds of the people of Paducah that they are conforming strictly to the ethics of the situation. It is stated that a certain member of the High school faculty on his own motion, and without the endorsement or sanction of the superintendent, purchased a costly apparatus through a member of the school board. Last year Superintendent Lieb had the class make their own apparatus, considering the practice beneficial to the students, as well as economical.

We should be delighted if our evening contemporary would give us more detailed information concerning that meeting of western Kentucky Republicans in Paducah, about which it had an exclusive story—
names of some out-of-town delegates
in attendance, for instance.

An alienist declares that Thaw

THE KICKERS.

Lovely bunch, the kickers are:
Mark them on a trolley car.
In a playhouse, where they go just to criticize the show.
See them on a city street,
Boring everyone they meet
With complaints of this or that—
Life to them is stale and flat!

Note them on a railway train,
Harping in the same old strain
On the lack of heat or air,
Till the porter's in despair.
Watch them on the rolling deep,
Where they gnash their teeth and weep.

If the steward overlooks Them, their blankets, wraps and books.

Follow them all up and down—
Anywhere, in any town.
Still you'll find them ill at ease,
Sour-visaged, hard to please.
When they ask for heaven's grace
They'll be shown the other place.

LUNACY INQUEST
MAY END CASE

Jerome's Expert Said to Believe Thaw is Insane

Prisoner Fears Asylum Apparently
More Than Any Other Punishment.

JURYMEN TO GO UNGUARDED

New York, Feb. 15.—It is taken for granted that unless Juror Bolton has a physical breakdown there will be no mistrial of the Thaw case. It is believed Bolton will be in condition to continue his duties to the state Monday. Jerome's experts now are inclined to believe Thaw really was insane. Jerome may therefore decide to have a lunacy committee appointed to declare the defendant insane. Thaw has great fear of being sent to an asylum for the criminally insane.

Jurors Released.

Formal announcement of Mrs. Bolton's death was made in court shortly after 2 p. m. yesterday, the hour
set for the afternoon session and Justice Fitzgerald immediately ordered adjournment until next Monday. The court also ordered, with the consent of the counsel, that the other eleven jurors be given their liberty and no longer held together.

Whether Bolton will return to the jury box Monday and the trial be resumed or whether a new jury will be secured and the case gone over again, is not known.

If the trial is resumed Mrs. Thaw, will in all probability be the first witness called after the evidence of Dr. Evans is completed.

First Mrs. Thaw will retail those things concerning Stanford White's treatment of other girls, which were the subject of frequent talks between her and her husband. She will tell of those incidents hinted at by Delmas on Monday when Stanford White spoke of her husband disparagingly by the bedside of May Mc-Kenzie, when she and Mrs. Caine met White in the theater, when Thaw told her of the hired thugs who were following him and of his appeal to the Society for Suppression of Vice to arrest the course of Stanford White.

Many special details not yet revealed are said to be on the point of exposure and Delmas will bring them out to the last letter in the effort to set Harry Thaw free.

When she has said the last word in his behalf the young wife will face Jerome. It seems to be generally understood now that Jerome will not spare her. Reduced to the last analysis, the story of Evelyn Nesbit Thaw is the keystone of the defense. If it is not broken down Jerome realizes that the accused will go free.

Fastidious Pet Birds.

Birds are like human beings, dis-fering greatly in character, likes, and dislikes. They are, moreover, extremely whimsical. To train them successfully one must study their dispositions. One feathered pet of my acquaintance refused to sleep at night unless it had a cracker in its cage. This dainty was not to eat,
from his lordship's point of view,
but perch upon. The whim of another was to never bathe in the conventional white dish provided for this purpose. However, as he seemed heartily to enjoy shaking the drops
from a wet lettuce-leaf, thus making an impromptu shower bath for himself, it was not hard to see that the dish was at the root of the objection, not the water itself. One day, instead of the ordinary bath, a Japanese dish was placed in the cage.
Immediately the tiny esthetic plunged into the gaily colored dish and took a splendid bath.

To any one wishing to train a bird
I would emphasize above all the necessity of gentleness, kindness, and infinite patience. To try to force or to ill-treat your pet when beginning his education is to lay the foundation of a complete failure.—From "The Circle" for February.

Elephants Can Carry a Grudge.

A Hindu mahout was employed with a working elephant in Bangkok, Siam, and frequently used a steel goad in defiance of all warnings, says William G. Fitzgerald, in "The Circle" for February. The result was that his elephant made frequent attempts to kill him, and finally the man was discharged. Nearly four years afterward, by a most remarkable coincidence, both elephant and mahout met again in Maulmain, Burma; and no sooner was the big tusker out of sight of the saw mill and well into the forest than he curled his trunk up backward, seized his old persecutor by the neck, hurled him to the ground, and in an instant
a mighty forefoot had crushed his life out.

Silly Society Customs.

Society usually has for its small or large social exactions excellent reasons founded on good taste and consideration for others. Occasionally however there are exceptions to this rule, and a portion of the social community will take up with zeal worthy of a better cause absurd fads of conduct which not only have nothing to recommend them, but which may be positively mischievous in their effects. The present fad of dispensing almost wholly with introduction is one of these. Recently it was carried to such a degree in a New York home that not one of the guests at a large luncheon was presented to the guest of honor whom they had all been invited to meet, though all of them were strangers to her. Theoretically, being friends of her friend, they were friends of hers.

Practically, it would have added much to her enjoyment, and to theirs, had she known which of them was the author of the novel
she has just read with such pleasure, or which the bridge expert of whom she had heard so much in her western home.

The no-introduction fad has its critics and its defenders. It is questionable, however, if any sane voice will be raised in behalf of the prevailing idiotic custom of writing out in full on envelopes and engraving in full on cards and letter paper the number of one's residence. Thus 185

West 73rd street, to take an address at random, is now One Hundred and Eighty-five West Seventy-third street, unless those who live there are wise enough to take a stand against a silly habit which seems to be rapidly gaining ground among the few foolish women, and which is harrying postoffice officials and letter carriers into the hands of specialists
on nervous diseases.—Harper's Ba-

What Osteopathy Will Do.
There are but few people who have not heard of Osteopathy, also of some of its achievements. But there are far too many who have accredited it with being good for only those conditions from which they have been cured, or which have come under their observation. Not infrequently there is mutual surprise when one who was cured of rheumatism meets another who has been cured of asthma or constipation. This is a homely, but very true illustration.
Personally, I have cured chronic cases of constipation, rheumatism, asthma, nervousness, neuralgia and headaches for people whom you know well, and the value of the Osteopathic treatment is but coming generally known in Paducah, as it should be.
I should like to talk with you at any time about your particular case, and know I can cite you to some of your friends who will attest to what the treatment has done for them in similar diseases. Come to my office, 516 Broadway, or phone 1407 any time from 9 to 12 or 5 to 8 p. m.

A GREAT UTILITY.

Nowadays business men turn to want advertising as a matter of course for a hundred small services. The householder uses it as naturally and inevitably as any other convenience of daily life.

Want advertising fills the "jobs" of the world with workers. It finds tenants for houses, apartments, lodgings. It "sells things." It brings loser and finder together. It introduces people whose interests are mutual—even if their quests are diverse.

Want advertising forges links of "interest" between all classes in the community. It is, indeed, the great utilitarian force in the small affairs and has grown into one of the great utilities of today.

From a little understood and little used force in business life, "want advertising" incidents of daily life.

"Your American vernacular is picturesque," he said, "and it should help your playwrights to build strong, racy plays. But neither vernacular nor anything else is of moment if perseverance is lacking. No playwright can succeed who is like a man I know. I said to this man one New Year's day: 'Do you keep a diary, Philip?' 'Yes,' he answered. 'I've kept one for the first two weeks in January for the last seven years.'"

Filibustering Tactics to Prevent Frisco Settlement

Tillman and Bacon Stop Insertion of Clause and Former Is Prepared for Powwow.

DISCLAIM APPARENT MOTIVE

Washington, Feb. 15.—Sudden development of a full fledged filibuster resulted today in the senate when an attempt was made to force the adoption of a conference agreement on the immigration bill, which carries a provision intended to aid in the settlement of the California-Japanese problem and on which speedy action was desired by the administration senators.

Expressing sympathy with this object, yet regarding the report with suspicion on other points, Bacon and Tillman at first endeavored to have action delayed until tomorrow that they might study the report. When this was refused filibustering began. Bacon held the floor two and a half hours. Tillman remarked that he was preparing to make a ten day fight on the floor against the report because he objected to "being run over as with an automobile."

Bacon objected that the report changed the existing law in respects to which he believed, on hurried examination would deprive the southern states from obtaining even the meagre labor supply from abroad which was available under the present immigration laws.

The administration senators in the adoption of the report were alarmed by the apparent Democratic hostility.

All Democratic leaders when questioned as to their attitude disclaimed the adoption of party policy in regard to the report, and senators making the objection insisted they were actuated wholly by resentment of what they thought was an attempt to force immediate action. They said in their statements that they had not had an opportunity to examine the report and were sincere and there were ulterior motives involved.

Party Conference Suggested.

Blackburn, chairman of the Democratic steering committee was in the Brownsville hearing when the report was called up. He said there had been no discussion of the report and he was sure there was no disposition to filibuster it beyond carrying it over until tomorrow.

Bacon and Tillman made similar statements.

NO COMMON LAW RIGHTS HAVE INDIANA SALOONS

Lebanon, Ind., Feb. 15.—Circuit Court Judge S. R. Artman today handed down a decision calculated to give saloon keepers nightmare. Judge Artman held that the legislature has no more legal right to license the sale of intoxicating liquors than it has to license gambling. If the decision is upheld by the higher courts it will close every saloon in the state.

Judge Artman held that the retail liquor business has no legal standing on the ground that it is not one of the inherent common law rights of citizenship, since the business is dangerous to public health, public morals, and public safety.

White Ribboners in Capitol.

Washington, Feb. 15.—Temperance advocates 1,000 strong, marched through the national capital in support of the bill introduced by Representative Weber, of Ohio, to rid the District of Columbia of the liquor traffic. Men, women and children, representing a score of total abstinence orders and the leading churches of the district, formed the procession which moved through the capitol for more than two hours, while Representative Weber and other prohibition advocates were speaking before the house committee on the District of Columbia in an effort to secure a favorable report on the bill.

WIFE ABDUCTED A RICH HUSBAND

Detectives Are Searching For George Rhodius

Elma Dare Agreed to Disappear for $5,000, but Rhodius Also Disappeared.

STRANGE CASE FROM INDIANA.

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 15.—The whereabouts of George Rhodius, a multi-millionaire of Indianapolis, and his wife, who was formerly Elma Dare, of Indianapolis, is being eagerly sought by Sheriff Joseph Clay, of Marion county, Ind. who has a warrant for the wife. The Pinkerton detectives have been retained by friends of Rhodius to bring him home.

Behind the affair is said to be a scandal which will result in an upheaval in Indianapolis politics. Vice President Fairbanks and his relative Delevan Smith, publisher of the Indianapolis News, are said to be trying to force the matter while Judge John C. Whalen and Attorney Cass Connaway, of Indianapolis, are working in opposition, also being the attorneys for M. S. Rhodius.

Mystery in Whereabouts.

Man and wife are now said to be either in Frankfort Ky., or Hamilton, Ont., having left here February 4. Rhodius is the possessor of a vast fortune left him by his mother, who died a year ago. Last July the woman promised for $5,000 not to see any more of Rhodius. A few weeks later they were together again and then went to Louisville, where they were married.

Werner Amst and Joseph Eminger, aged servants, who had been in the Rhodius family many years, and who were beneficiaries in a will made by Rhodius last September, employed the Pinkerton to locate the couple. At the same time a warrant was issued for the arrest of Mrs. Rhodius on a charge of abducting Rhodius.

Endorsed by the County.

"The most popular remedy in Otsego County, and the best friend of my family," writes Wm. M. Dietz, editor and publisher of the Otsego Journal, Gilbertsville, N. Y., "is Dr. Kings New Discovery. It has proven to be an infallible cure for coughs and colds, making short work of the worst of them. We always keep a bottle in the house. I believe it to be the most valuable prescription known for Lung and Throat diseases." Guaranteed to never disappoint the taker, by all druggists. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

FEE CLAIMED BY ALIENIST.

Suit Shows That Expert Testimony Comes High.

New York, Feb. 15.—A suit for services rendered as an alienist in a will contest which Dr. Allen Fitch has brought against Mrs. Emma J. Richardson, widow of Jos. Richardson, the architect, gives a fair insight into the charges for services such as are being rendered in the Shaw trial. Dr. Fitch who, with several experts, was engaged in 1902 by Mrs. Richardson to combat the evidence offered by her son, George and her daughter, Della, to show the responsibility of their father, for the balance of a bill of $23,500, which is about $1,500. Dr. Fitch was not even called to prove the sanity of the testator, as the experts of the contestants at the time did not prove their case.

Mrs. Richardson refuses to pay on the ground that the services were not worth that much.

TO BREAK UP A COLD.

An eminent authority on lung trouble, who effected many remarkable cures in his camp for consumptives in the Pine Woods of Maine, advises the use of the following formula: Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure), one-half ounce; Glycerine, two ounces; good Whisky, one-half pint. Shake well and take in teaspoonful doses every four hours. It will break up a cold in twenty-four hours and cure any cough that is curable. The ingredients are not expensive and can be secured from any good prescription druggist, but great care should be exercised to have them pure, as there are many adulterated imitations of this pine tree product, and these create nausea, and never effect the desired results.

Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure) is put up in half-ounce vials for druggists to dispense in filling prescriptions. Each vial is securely sealed in a round wooden case, with engraved wrapper, with the name "Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure)" plainly printed thereon. To avoid substitution, it is best that the ingredients be purchased separately and the mixture prepared at home.

These few packets which did arrive today had good business. Yesterday the arrivals while few in number also, had big trips and the wharf boat, has been busy. The river fell 1.6 in the last 24 hours, reducing the stage to 19.8 feet.

With 3,500 sacks of peanuts, 500 sacks of cotton seeds, 11 hogheads of tobacco, 50 head of cattle and a number of other items in like proportions, the Kentucky arrived last night from the Tennessee river. The leaving time will be Saturday evening.

More freight than could be handled in one trip awaited the Dick Fowler this morning. The passenger business was good, with the members of the Standard Opera company. The rest of the freight left this morning will go down tomorrow morning. All the packets are handling big trips for this time of the year.

When the Joe Fowler arrived a little late from Evansville yesterday the cause was found to have been big business. It was one of the biggest trips the steamer has had in months.

The John S. Hopkins arrived from Evansville today with a good trip and left immediately on the return trip.

Little time has been lost in port by the Inverness and that towboat left for Nashville again, after having arrived with a tow from that point yesterday.

Guy Walker is captain on the Fannie Wallace now, having left the Tennessee river runs.

The Royal probably will be ready to be let off the dry docks tomorrow evening.

In addition to the boats and barges docked, the employees of the dry docks are working on several barges in the river.

Official Forecasts.

The Ohio at Evansville and Mt. Vernon will continue falling during the next two days. At Paducah and Calro will continue falling during the next several days but at a decreasing rate.

The Tennessee, from Florence to the mouth, will continue falling. The Mississippi, from below St. Louis, to slightly above Cairo, will continue rising during the next 24 to 36 hours.

The Wabash at Mt. Carmel, will remain stationary or fall slightly during the next 24 to 36 hours.

Washington, Feb. 15.—William J. Oliver and the new syndicate he has organized will get the contract for building the Panama canal after all. CHAPTER XII.

ON the night of Chilcote's return to his own Lodger tasted the loss of life poignantly for the first time. Before their curious compact had been entered upon he had been, if not content, at least apathetic; but with action the apathy had been dispersed, never again to regain its old position.

He realized with bitter certainty that his was no real home coming. On entering Chilcote's house he had experienced none of the unfamiliarity, none of the unsettled awkwardness, that assailed him now. There he had almost seemed the exile returning after many hardships; here, in the atmosphere made common by years, he felt an alien. It was illustrative of the man's character that sentimentalities found no place in his nature. Sentimentalities were not lacking, though they lay out of sight, but sentimentalities he altogether denied.

Left alone in the sitting room after Chilcote's departure, his first sensation was one of physical discomfort and unfamiliarity. His own clothes, with their worn looseness, brought no sense of friendliness such as some men find in an old garment. Lounging and the clothes that suggested lounging had no appeal for him. In his eyes the garb that implies responsibility was symbolic and even inspiring.

And as with clothes so with his actual surroundings. Each detail of his room was familiar, but not one had

"You would not desert me?" ever become intimately close. He had used the place for years, but he had used it as he might use a hotel, and whatever of his household gods had come with him remained, like himself, on sufferance. His entrance into Chilcote's surroundings had been altogether different. Unknown to himself, he had been in the position of a young artist who, having roughly modeled in clay, is brought into the studio of a sculptor. To his outward vision everything is new, but his inner sight leaps to instant understanding. And all the strangeness he recognizes the one essential: the workshop, the atmosphere, the home.

On this first night of return Loder comprehended something of his position, and, comprehending, he faced the problem and fought with it.

He had made his bargain and must pay his share. Weighing this, he had looked about his room with a quiet gaze. Then at last, as if finding the object really sought for, his eyes had come round to the mantelpiece, and rested on the pipe rack. The pipe stood precisely as he had left them. He had looked at them for a long time, then an ironic expression that was almost a smile had touched his lips, and, crossing the room, he had taken the oldest and blackest from its place and slowly filled it with tobacco.

With the first indrawn breath of smoke his attitude had unben. Without conscious determination he had chosen the one factor capable of easing his mood. A cigarette is for the trivial moments of life; a cigar for its fullness, its pleasant, comfortable retrospections; but in real distress—in the solving of a question, the fighting of difficulty—a pipe is man's eternal solace.

So he had passed the first night of his return to the actualities of life. Next day his mind was somewhat settled, and outward life was not so essential; but, though facts faced him more solidly, they were nevertheless very drab in shade. The necessity for work, that blessed antidote to ennui, no longer forced him to endeavor. He was no longer penniless, but the money he possessed brought with it no desires. When a man has lived from hand to mouth for years and suddenly finds himself with $100 in his pocket the result is sometimes curious. He finds with a vague sense of surprise that he has forgotten how to spend. That extravagance, like other artificial passions, requires cultivation.

This he realized even more fully on the days that followed the night of his first return, and with it was born a new bitterness. The man who has friends and no money and find life difficult, but the man who has money and no friend to rejoice in his fortune or benefit by his generosity is almost indeed. With the heaven of incredulity that works in all strong natures, Loder distrusted the professional beggar; therefore the charity that bestows easily and promiscuously was denied him, and of other channels of generosity he was too self contained to have learned the secret.

When depression falls upon a man of usually even temperament it descends with a double weight. The mercurial nature has a hundred counterbalancing devices to rid itself of gloom—a sudden lifting of spirit, a memory of other moods lived through, other blacknesses dispersed by time, but the man of level nature has none of these. Depression when it comes is indeed depression; no phase of mind to be superseded by another phase, but a slackening of all the chords of life.

It was through such a depression as this that he labored during three weeks, while no summons and no hint of remembrance came from Chilcote. His position was peculiarly difficult. He found no action in the present, and toward the future he dared not trust old moorings that had slipped the rendered endurable, but, having slipped them, he had found no substitute. Such was his case on the last night of the three weeks and such his frame of mind as he crossed Fleet street from Clifford's inn to Middle Temple lane.

It was scarcely 7 o'clock, but already the dusk was falling. The greater press of vehicles had ceased, and the light of the street lamps gleamed back from the spaces of dry and polished roadway, worn smooth as a mirror by wheels and hoofs. Something of the solitude of night that sits so ill on the strenuous city street was making itself felt, though the throngs of people on the pathway still streamed eastward and westward, and the taverns made a busy trade.

Having crossed the roadway, Loder paused for a moment to survey the scene. But humanity in the abstract made small appeal to him, and his glance wandered from the passersby to the buildings massed like clouds against the dark sky. As his gaze moved slowly from one to the other a clock near at hand struck 7, and an instant later the chorus was taken up by a dozen clamorous tongues. Usually these innumerable chimings, but this evening their effect was strange. Coming out of the darkness, they seemed to possess a personal note, a human declaration. The impression was fantastic, but it was strong. With a species of revolt against life and his own personality, he turned slowly and moved forward in the direction of Ludgate hill.

The Limit of Life.

The most eminent medical scientists are unanimous in the conclusion that the generally accepted limitation of human life is many years below the attainment possible with the advanced knowledge of which the race is now possessed. The critical period, that determines its duration, seems to be between 50 and 60; the proper care of the body during this decade cannot be too strongly urged; carelessness then being fatal to longevity. Nature's best helper after 50 is Electric Bitters, the scientific tonic medicine that revitalizes every organ of the body. Guaranteed by all druggists, 50c.

FARMERS CHARGE DISCRIMINATION

Assert that Country Elevators Are Being Ruined

Railroads Favor Certain Grain Dealers and Refuse to Furnish Cars.

BEFORE ILLINOIS ASSEMBLY.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 15.—A story of how independent grain dealers throughout Illinois are being driven into bankruptcy through the failure of the railroad to supply freight cars was told before the house committee on railroads by country elevator men.

They made charges that favored shippers are receiving discriminations in the allotment of cars, as a result of which the smaller dealers are being throttled, their supplies rotting in the bins and their contracts being canceled, all for lack of proper transportation.

Some of the bolder speakers further charge that the railroad companies are seeking to get control of the grain business and that already the manipulation of cars has reached such a stage of development that the farmer has fallen a prey to the mercy of the bears in "the pit" in Chicago, while the country middleman is tossed by the bulls and torn by the bears, who catch him going and coming.

Farmers Make a Protest.

The recital was made possible from the fact that the Farmers' and Grain Dealers' association is holding a convention in Springfield. The organization represents 100 branches, which own elevators the stock of which is held by from 100 to 120 farmers in each neighborhood. The delegates talked all morning about the car shortage and in the afternoon marched over to the statehouse and sought a hearing before the committee on railroads. The matter under consideration by the committee was the reciprocal demurrage bill introduced by Charles Adkins, of Platt county, himself a heavy shipper.

By the time the last speaker had got through relating his experience the lawmakers were sitting up in astonishment. They were told of empty freight trains being hauled to and fro on the railroads, of empties littering the switch yards, and still the shipper being unable to get an allotment except by "tipping" a conductor or yardmaster a dollar a car, of consignments moving so slowly that by the time they reach their destination they were too moldy for delivery; of farmers who sold their corn and wheat at high prices, and then, being unable to deliver, were forced to settle their contracts at a low market price, meaning a heavy loss. All this, so the delegates said, was the outcome of a car "shortage."

Elevator Forced to Close.

L. H. Perry, manager of the farmers' elevator at Ransom, Ill., said that his plant had been closed for two weeks on account of lack of cars. "I have 93,000 bushels of grain in stock," he said, "and last month I was able to get only eighteen cars. This month I have had three. My contracts are expiring all the time. Last year, in one instance, I lost $785. We went to the managers of the road and asked for cars, but could not get them. A conductor then told us he would give us cars at $1 each. We took them from him for a time, and then the managers of the road learned of it.

"The managers said: 'When the under-shippers undertake to run this road it is time to get rid of them.' 'Yes,' said I, 'but seeing the under-shippers make a better job of it than you do, then why don't you resign and put the under-shippers in charge?'"

Grain Spoils on Road.

"We've had continual trouble in getting cars," said F. B. Huffman, of St. Louis, "and when we do get a shipment on the road it travels so slowly that it often spoils. Why, one of our cars was fourteen days in transit to Hammond, Ind., a distance of 120 miles. We have lost $803 to $1,000 through delays in shipments." "Our shipments last year were 200,000 less than those of the former year," said John Natheinger, of Anchor. "Since Jan. 22 we have had only two cars. Our elevator is full and the farmers are trying to sell their property to move to Iowa, but they cannot because we cannot get out their grain."

Contracts for 20,000 bushels of grain were canceled in December by C. A. Prasher, of Mahomet, on the Big Four, who used the fact as the text for a brief speech to the committee.

Empties Block Yard.

"I'll tell you one reason for the condition," he said. "The roads are being managed for dividends and not for service. The local train that goes through our town runs a hobnob nearly every day, an engine, a few cars and a caboose. A trainman at Danville told me that the yards there are so full of empties that they have much trouble in doing the switching, and that trains of empties are hauled from one end of the line to the other, while the shippers are not getting a car except through the favor of some understrapper.

"We shippers are between two fires—the roads that won't give us cars and the farmers who want to ship. Why, the farmers never can ship when the market is at a high figure."

"Three weeks ago I ordered twenty-five cars," testified G. H. Gray, of Illinois, "but so far I have got only three. For three weeks we have done no business and neither have the farmers. Last year we lost over $3,000 and the farmers lost much more. The farmers lose because they cannot sell when the market is high. If they make contracts—the market perhaps goes up, and because they cannot deliver they lose the difference."

Goos 16 Miles in 5 Days.

"ell them about the Decatur shipments," suggested a man in the back of the room.

"Yes," rejoined Mr. Gray, "Decatur is sixteen miles from our elevator. A car we recently shipped took from Monday to Saturday to travel the sixteen miles."

Elephants as Laborers.

Most amusing is it to see one of these working elephants tackling a huge squared log and placing it on the stack, says William G. Fitzgerald, in the February "Circle." First of all he estimates its length and weight as it lies on the ground. Then he digs his tusks under it at one end, curls his trunk over and tries to drag one end of the log on to his tusks. Should he find the task beyond him, he will give a queer little trumpet note, and up comes a colleague to help him at the other end. In a moment the two elephants have swung the big log between them, walk in step to the pile, and then one of them, apparently by preconcerted agreement, places his end in position on the stack, while the other rams home the log.

I thought at the time I was taken down with this trouble that it would be a week before I could get about, but on applying your Liniment several times during the night I was about in 48 hours and well in three days."

"Is your husband keeping his promise to abstain from drinking?" asked Mrs. Wise. "Oh, yes, faithfully," replied Mrs. Newlied. "Are you sure? It's pretty hard for a man to resist temptation." "Yes, but he tells me he's found a substitute which he eats whenever he feels tempted to take a drink; and what do you suppose it is? Cloves!"—Philadelphia Press.

"Now tell me what is the name of this animal?"
"That is an hippopotamus."
"All wrong, my son. First of all, it's not 'an,' but 'a' hippopotamus; secondly, it's hippopotamus, and not 'hippo,' and, thirdly, it's not hippopotamus at all; it's an elephant."

State Documents Stolen.

Budapest, Feb. 15.—Important documents have been stolen from the ministry of commerce, of which Francis Kossuth is the head, and it is alleged that they have fallen into the hands of Deputy Lengyel, whose allegations, combined with those of ex-Mayor Halmos of Budapest, caused the resignation of Herr Polonyi.

BARBER CUTS UP

And Woman of Red Light Says He Abused Her.

Police are investigating a disgraceful disturbance which aroused residents in the neighborhood of Thirtieth and Clay streets last evening. Flossie Doyle telephoned for policemen saying that a well known barber had visited a house, where she was staying, and mistreated her, carrying away a cloak with him. The police were unable to find the man until late in the night, and as no warrant was issued he was not arrested. This morning summonses were issued for both him and the Doyle woman to appear in police court this afternoon. The Doyle woman is well known in the underworld, and it is said he has been paying constant attention to her for more than a year.

A Unique Alarm Clock.

"I've got the best alarm clock in the business, and Uncle Sam provides it for me," said a Brooklyn business man of irregular hours. "Two or three days of each week I have to rise early. Our postman has a remarkably piercing whistle, and also always rings the doorbell when he leaves my mail. But although he comes regularly as clockwork at 7 a. m., he does not always leave mail for me, and consequently his whistle does not always blow and the doorbell ring. So I just buy a postcard the afternoon before and mail it myself. It has never failed to arrive in the early mail, accompanied by the whistle and bell."—New York Sun.

TWO LIVES LOST.

About 1,000 People Are Homeless in Pine Bluff.

Pine Bluff, Ark., Feb. 15.—Notwithstanding many wild rumors as to the loss of life, as a result of the fire, which last night destroyed nine cottages and residences, three hotels, the Carr Memorial church and fully 200 homes and outhouses, estimating a loss of $20,000, so far as can be learned today, only two persons lost their lives.

Wing Shooting.

Wing shooting can no more be theoretically taught than can riding, skating, sailing a boat, milking a cow or playing the violin. Practice and perseverance in this, as in all field sports, can alone make perfect, while the most persistent effort, even then, often fails to make a "crackshot." Certain rules, however, must govern the beginner, which, if observed, will materially aid him in becoming an expert.

When a novice takes the field for game he is very apt to become flustered, or "rattled," at the critical moment when the bird is flushed, and then he will stare, open-mouthed, and wonder how it happened. This often occurs in the field, and the tyro invariably has some plausible excuse to offer. His "gun was not cocked," he "stubbed his toe just as the bird rose," or some equally weak explanation is made; or else he lays all the blame on his dogs, whose thoughts, could they but express them, it would be interesting to interpret.

The best wing shooters do not close one eye in aiming, nor do they follow the bird in its flight with the muzzle of the gun; but closing one eye is admittedly better than tightly shutting both, as many young would-be sportsmen have been known to do.—James W. Dixon in Kentucky Recreation.

Frankish Elephantine Intelligence.

Every lumber-yard has its own particular show elephant, more intelligent than the rest, says William G. Fitzgerald, in the February "Circle," and one belonging to Messrs. MacGregor & Co., of Bangun, was in the habit of turning on a water-tap and helping himself to a big drink, though he could never be induced to turn the water off again. Similar obstinacy and occasionally bad temper is often shown, and the mahouts are very highly paid, for they live always in the risk that the huge brute may turn upon them and kill them, particularly if the mahout has at any time shown cruelty or unkindness.
