Fulton's New Hospital Open

Miss Daisy Wilkins

The Curtis-Nolin Hospital is now open to the public, and Fulton and neighboring residents can obtain medical attention, as it fills a long-felt need.

After weeks of hard work and personal attention to the last detail, the Curtis-Nolin Hospital was opened here Wednesday morning. The new hospital is located on the west side of town, on what was formerly the Dr. J. R. Combs farm. The building has been remodeled and altered to meet all the specifications of the modern hospital. The hospital is provided with all the latest medical equipment and is staffed by a team of trained doctors and nurses.

Fulton's New Hospital Opened During His Thirty Years Practice

Dr. Curlin, chief surgeon of the new hospital, has been practicing medicine in Fulton for many years. He has established a reputation as an outstanding physician, and his services have been sought after by many patients. Dr. Curlin has been a member of the staff of Coal Alley Hospital for many years, and he has been a valuable asset to the hospital.

In the old days a farmer's table was an important part of his daily life. It was a place where he could sit down to a hearty meal after a day's work in the fields. Today, however, many farmers are turning to alternative forms of food production. One such form is organic farming, which emphasizes the use of natural methods to grow crops and raise livestock. Organic farming is becoming increasingly popular, and farmers are finding that it can be a profitable and sustainable way to produce food.

GOOD-BYE, POORHOUSE

From present indications it is not going to be a very happy Christmas for the poorhouses - the poorhouses will be a thing of the past. We'll all have poverty, and there's no way to get rid of it. But at least we're learning to take the sting out of the comfortable years of those dependent on the public for more happy and wholesome life that is possible when the poorhouse is their only home.

New York has just passed an old age pension law. Other states have been experimenting along the same lines with success. New York has something like $1,000 of public funds to spend each year to care for its aged paupers. If we find a cure for poverty we're going to do it. The state of New York will quickly fall into line with the other states who are already providing something like $60 a month in relief to aged persons who are in their own homes.

Gradually the poorhouse will go. The present system of relief, for instance, means $1,000 a year. But the state of New York is going to spend more than $60 a month in relief to the aged. It will be $60 a year. And where there are $60 a year the poorhouse will go. But the poorhouse won't go fast. When the state of New York passed the old age pension law there was a great outcry.

We're not bankers but

Our long experience enables us to suggest the means by which you can enjoy the comfort of your own home and pay for it. We have helped many folks hereabouts to have their homes financed. Maybe we can serve you, too. After all, there's nothing like having a home of your own, one you've paid for. Why talk the matter of location and size and type of home over with us today. It will cost you nothing — and it's the first step toward your "Home of Dreams."

ELECTRICITY is required at different times for different purposes. This simple fact explains why a widespread electric system, serving many communities over wide areas, can operate efficiently even where small plants serve a single community. A widespread system keeps its facilities working over more hours of the day.

There is another important advantage of the widespread transmission system over the small plant serving a single community. The transmission system meets its demands at once. No delay is necessary for increased facilities, as is so frequently the case with the small plant.

Committiveness is thus encouraged and maintained.
