SIGNS ARE MULTIPLYING

When a high ranking officer of the United States Government makes a public address and advocates open warfare against another nation the public may know there is deep significance in such an address. It might be in the nature of a trial balloon, although it is difficult to see how such words could be retracted, but in this particular case it seems an announcement of almost certain import.

Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox made such an address the other day. In a public meeting he stated the time was at hand for the American fleet to take the offensive against the German submarine menace and sweep it from the seas. He said that while Germany is occupied with Russia should be the time selected. "Right now we can be certain of victory," he said. "Later it may be too late. We should strike right now."

Those are highly significant words and apparently were uttered with full knowledge of the Administration. A statement of this nature cannot be made without a certainty that there will be support from the President. Nor should such a statement be made unless there is a sound belief that the Navy is ready for action. Mr. Knox, head of the Navy Department, should know better than any person whether the Navy is ready. Probably he does know that the fleet is ready. Reports have been current for some weeks that there has been a quiet shifting of naval units from the Far East to the Atlantic in recent months. One report has said that the fleet in the Atlantic now has thirty-five per cent or perhaps forty per cent of the total naval strength, with the remainder of sixty or sixty-five per cent held in the Far East. Perhaps some of the new ships which have gone into service recently have entered the Atlantic service without weakening the Far Eastern fleet. Those things are kept under cover nowadays, and the general public is hardly aware of the location of naval units any more. In a broad sense it is known that the bulk of the fleet is held in far Eastern waters, but there is a considerable tendency to believe that Japan is not going to move against the United States. This may be a dangerous belief to entertain and may be encouraged by the Japanese. The chief thing to remember in this connection is that Japan will strike at any time she believes victory can be won over the United States. Presumably our intelligence service keeps this information before him when he deliberately called for a shooting war in the Atlantic.

Germany is not going to be long occupied in Russia. The first few days seemed to indicate that Stalin's forces were putting up a fight, but for the past two days the signs are certain that Hitler's panzer troops are pushing deep into Russian territory. Military experts did not believe Russia could hold; there was only a faint hope that Stalin's troops might slow up the German advance and finally check it in the vast reaches of Russia until winter came along. That hope seems dim now, for under the surface, even admitting that some of the Russian statements are true, there are signs that Germany is winning steadily. When Hitler gains control of the Russian storehouse of raw materials he will be prepared for

MORE NEW CITIZENS

The Bureau of the Census reports the nation's births for the first five months were 20,000 ahead of the same period the year before, reversing all trends and official predictions. If the rate is maintained, the U. S. will gain at least 500,000 more citizens in the present decade than it did during the last—provided the immigration rate in unchanged. This would raise the current estimate for 1950 by more than 2,000,000, for a decline was expected.

The Bureau offered no explanation of the change. Some amateurs vouchsafed the opinion that the gain is the result of two factors, both related to war; the decision of childless couples to have children in preference to the husband's being drafted for training, and the increased marriage rate traceable to the expectancy of U. S. involvement in war.

Others suggested a third war factor: the old saw that nature sees to it births—especially of boy babies—increase when the race anticipates catastrophes which will surely cause numerous deaths.

Still others merely credit the increase to better times, booming payrolls and farm income having made it possible for many couples now to "afford" children.

A dispatch from Ohio relates another instance of increase in the number of U. S. citizens, which is apparently general and should have long-term effects. Of a total of 18,000 aliens in Ohio who are attending naturalization classes, it is related, 12,000 are expected to receive their citizenship papers in the next six months.

The country had more than 5,000,000 resident aliens when the nation-wide registration was made last fall. This figure is now being whittled down. For hundreds of thousands who had resided here for years without ever thinking of giving up their foreign citizenship, to be an American is now the greatest wish in life. Only here does it appear that reasonable personal freedom and opportunity can long survive.—Sun-Democrat.

a long war. There is plenty of food in Russia, plenty of raw materials, and Germany can begin to produce once command of the country is obtained.

Secretary Knox's frank statement seems to indicate that this nation is preparing to intervene—possible before many weeks. The sudden roundup of suspected German spies by the FBI is another clear indication of impending action.

el Ivy Hits Homer In Ninth To Sweep Series In Owensboro

With the score tied at seven-all in the ninth inning Mel Ivy crashed a long home run to put the Tigers ahead in Owensboro and give them a sweep of the two game series. The Tigers come home today to start a four game series with the Jackson Generals which may decide the location of the All-Star game. Jackson is now in front and Mayfield is hard on the heels of the Generals. If the Tigers should upset Jackson in three out of four it might result in Mayfield nosing to the front by July 4, for the Browns are going to entertain the Paducah Indians beginning today and should win over this opposition.

In the game at Owensboro last night the Tigers used four pitchers and Harry Sprute, who won the first game there, was given credit for this one, although he pitched less than two innings. Emrich started, was relieved by Yeager, who traveled seven innings. Sprute relieved him and Lake finished the game. The Tigers were out by the Ollers, 13 to 10, but the Ollers left seventeen men stranded on the bases. Both teams started scoring early, with the Tigers plating five men in the first inning. The Ollers finally took a one run lead in the sixth, saw it tied in the eighth and go glimmering in the ninth when Ivy drove a fast ball over the left field fence.

ing for extra bases. The Tigers did not give Long, losing pitcher, much support, making many errors in outfield and infield. Lynch led in hitting for the Fleas, getting six for six. Cummings robbed the Tigers of several hits by his dazzling game at shortfield and Ayres made some remarkable stops at second. "Pop-eye" Davis covered the entire area around first base and the Tigers had only six safeties off Lowe, scoring only in the first and eighth frames. Bone, who is replacing Travis behind the plate, turned in a good game.

Edison Vetoes Bill Curbing Subversive Acts

Trenton, N. J.—A legislature-approved measure aimed at suppression of un-American activities in New Jersey was vetoed last night by Gov. Charles Edison, who said he was "apprehensive that it could be used to impair civil rights of true American citizens."

Edison said he was "sympathetic with the purpose" of the bill sponsored by Assemblyman Littell but declared:

"In our zeal to halt subversive activities we should take care lest we curtail the liberties we are seeking to preserve."
It was in Littell's county, Sussex, that the German-American bund auxiliary until recently held meetings at former Camp Nordland, which was closed by Sheriff Denton J. Quick. The bill would have made subversive activities subject to a prison term up to seven years and a fine of $2,000 or both.

Now is the time to renew your subscription to the FULTON DAILY LEADER.
