The Register's Reply

Mr. L. A. Jopling, Manager.

East Tennessee Telephone Co.,

Pigeon Forge, Tenn.

May 16, 1906.

Dear Sir:

I trust this reply will find you in good health and spirits.

The Register, which this year celebrates its fifty-second year, has always been the recognized exponent of the public interest and the champion of the people. It has maintained and will always maintain that the people should be the masters of the government and that the service of the chief officers of the State and of the public officials should be the service of the people.

The Register, as one of the foremost newspapers of the State, has always been in the forefront in the expression of the public sentiment and the public opinion. Its policy has always been determined by its own views, and not by the views of any other paper, and it has always been independent of all political parties.

The Register has always been a朋友 of the people, and has always been ready to stand up for the rights of the people.

Very truly yours,

A. L. JOYNES, Manager.
