Act To Curb Strikes In Defense Work

Bill Would Give President Power To Send Defense Workers to Camps

Washington.--In a threat to labor of national emergency, Mr. Roosevelt today announced that a bill will be introduced in Congress tomorrow which would give him power to send all defense workers to camp in case of a strike.

Under the proposed measure, the President would have the authority to order any defense workers in any state to report to camp, to be held in a certain state, and to remain there until the situation has been satisfactorily disposed of.

The measure is designed to prevent a strike by defense workers which might interfere with the war effort, and to ensure that no labor stoppage would occur at any time during the war.

Opposition of the labor leaders was not expected to be strong, and there was no opposition to the proposal in the house of representatives, where it was introduced.

This is the first time that Congress has ever considered a bill providing for the compulsory operation of a labor strike.

TACTIC

The querulous tones of Donut aus-marched briskly in the regent of yesterday's fighting is more eloquent of the real situation on the far-fangled battlefronts than all the Berlin and Moscow commentaries combined. British Russian resistance in general, and Russian permanent warfare in particular, are getting on the nerves of the official German Government. Theafternoon of Nazi Biatkuleg on all fronts is too much for the British Government of GermanDominance and German victories and we get up a youp of youl and tired and tricked. Roman

"crappen" shows along the Mass search runs to attach the flanks of the invaders. Russian rescues are in the wake up only after the Nazi invaders have passed and our monstrous fire into their rear. Crews of armored car soup down in the wheat beds where their vehicles are upended and turn up suddenly to sniper upon German columns. For once D. N. B. is dealing with facts and not fiction. For once the German tactic of warfare—concentration and encirclement—a meeting with difficulties, the invaders are too far out in front and the encirc-men process fails to cut out commission the opposing forces behind them.

It was this kind of warfare that Stalin urged in his broadcast to the Russian people last week. He called for the formation of units "mounted and foot" in areas occupied by the enemy. He also urged that cattle, grain and rolling moh be removed from the area and a scorched-earth policy be carried out. The invaders are now in the rear and the rearward forces are to continue the advance of the invaders.
