Agricultural Outlook Brighter

McCRACKEN COUNTY MAKES REPORT

Majority of farmers growing corn need help. Farmers are told to improve conditions of farm homes of McCracken county as affected by a crop shortage.

The agricultural outlook in McCracken county affected by the summer's drouth is not exactly as bright as one would like to imagine. Approximately 2,000 quarts of corn, distributed among the farmers of the county have been returned to the仓 by the courts because of a chemist who could not be secured to prove the case because of a chemist who could not be secured to prove the case.

This part of the remaining stock has been sold and we are not in any better position than we were before the crop was injured. We are open to the idea that in the near future we will have to resort to such measures as these to help feed our stock. These measures are being considered by the committee composed of W. C. Minor, Thomas B. Jones, and J. B. Thompson.

The trouble with a lot of us is we have too many irons in the fire and not enough of it in the oven. It seems to take it longer to make a round trip.
