THE LISTENING POST

● By and large, I take it that the inner feeling which people have for conflict is what cause ordinary fights and great wars. Without doubt there is a raw and elemental something in every person which causes a desire to take part in or witness people in conflict, and nothing seems to interest crowds more than a fight or a threat of a fight. This may explain the popularity of prize fighting, too, for it is a well established fact that many of meekest men and women who ever lived go completely crazy when two men get in a ring and begin hitting each other.

● At the last baseball game here Fulton people saw the nearest approach to a fight that had taken place all season. The games were tight and well played, the tension was high and the umpires kept running into close decisions. Both teams were battling savagely for the verdict and the night was hot and two games were being played and all told, the setting was good for a free-for-all.

● In the ninth inning of the game Fulton had a chance to win the game. The umpires made a ruling for interference on the part of a local player and this broke up a local rally. The Tigers argued loud and lustily, but only words were used and finally they took the decision—not in good grace, to be sure, but they took it. Finally the luck turned and a Tiger scooped in with what turned out to be the winning run. The play at the plate was close—I guess the umpire might have called it either way—but he did call it for the Tigers, and at once the Hopkinsville manager went into action. I thought then that things were going to happen, but the play happened to end the game and there was not much the visiting manager could do about it. If that play had not ended the game trouble might have come. Big, good natured K. P. Dalton, chief of police and baseball head here, strolled out and took his seat on the dugout. K. P. laughed about it later.

● "I always feel like an utter fool at such times," he said later. "It seems so silly for a man to go out there when it is just a gang of kids quarreling. But it's pretty good to be ready. A fight, an attack on an umpire, goes against the home club and it's well to show that I tried to do all I could." That's pretty level thinking, if you ask me.

● Well, the next game started and it also developed a tight affair. Fulton finally took a lead and in the last inning Hopkinsville seemed certain to tie the score. But just as the dice had rolled for the Tigers in the first game, they rolled again. The enemy runner tried to make third on a bad throw and found the ball waiting for him at the station. Again the Hopper manager went into action. All the pent-up anger that had boiled and simmered since the first game culminated in his stride as he marched across the diamond towards the distant umpire who had retreated all the way to first base. Fire and brimstone seemed to come from him in showers as he strode along and how the crowd ate it up: They whooped and yelled, they catcalled and they hissed as Mr. Wilburn strode on. The umpire met him on the base line and they began to talk at the same time.

● Mr. Wilburn began kicking dirt and I have been told he finally planted a kick against the umpire's shins. I do not know; I merely know I heard that he kicked the umpire in the shins and the umpire set him down for a long suspension. I do know that the umpire finally gave Wilburn the grand gesture which in all baseball parks means "get out," and then Wilburn began talking again—with gestures. The game was halted while the umpire saw that Mr. Wilburn did leave the playing enclosure, and all the time the crowd was having a grand time. I guess all of us would have been thrilled with a regular knock down and

U. S. Building British Irish Base—Taft

Arms Program May Soon Increase To 60 Billions

Washington. — An angry charge by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) that the U. S. was building a naval air base for Great Britain in Northern Ireland led Senator Barkley, Kentucky, the Democratic leader, to say today that he had no knowledge of such a development.

The discussion was prompted by the recent occupation of Iceland, which Taft denounced as "exactly equivalent to aggressive war." After he said that he had reliable information that a base was being built in Northern Ireland, Senator Danaher (R-Conn.) entered the debate to complain that the administration was too secretive.

The discussion recalled an announcement recently that Merritt, Chapman & Scott, New York contracting firm, had been engaged by the British to do some construction work in the British Isles. British officials at the time described it as purely an arrangement between the British government and a private American firm. Whether this contract was what Taft and Danaher had in mind was not disclosed.

W. P. A. Will Intensify Work

Naturalization In Coming Months

Washington. — A vast expansion of the Americanization instruction program, to facilitate naturalization of an estimated 5,000,000 aliens, was announced Wednesday by Howard O. Hunter, Works Projects Administrator.

"So large a block of non-citizens who, in theory at least, owe allegiance to foreign countries," he said, "is a potential menace in a time of national emergency. Those who do not understand our language, our constitution and our form of government are most easily made the dupes of foreign propaganda."

Didn't Know Procedure

Hunter said he believed a great majority of the aliens in this country want to become citizens but have procrastinated or failed to take the necessary steps because they did not know the procedure.

"The overwhelming evidence is that they make good citizens once they have become naturalized," he said.

Hunter forecast that 1,000,000 would receive the Americanization instruction annually. Classes will be established in practically every community where there are sizeable groups of non-citizens. Be-

F. A. Homra Is Candidate For City Council

F. A. (Foad) Homra authorizes the Leader to announce today that he is a candidate for the office of City Councilman, subject to the action of the Democratic primary next month. Mr. Homra's name appears in the regular announcement column today and he will deeply appreciate the support of the voters.

Foad is now the Exalted Ruler of the local lodge of Elks and also president of the Young Men's Business Club. Popular among all classes, he is a citizen who is always willing to work for community projects and in the past has always been of great help in these varied community enterprises. The success of many of the Young Men's Business Club projects can be attributed in great degree to his invaluable work, for he is always willing to do his full share and a little bit more in anything which he believes will help the community.

"My only desire in making this race," Mr. Foad said this morning, "is to try in some manner to serve my community. I was born and reared here and want to see Fulton continue to grow and expand. If my services can help in this I will be glad, and many friends have told me that I can serve the community in this manner. This is my only desire in the matter, and I will deeply appreciate the support of the voters."

BISHOP WOULD GIVE PRESIDENT RIGHT TO DECLARE WAR

Washington. — President Roosevelt as commander-in-chief, rather than Congress, should decide whether and when the United States enters the war against Germany, in the opinion of Bishop Joseph P. Hurley of the Catholic diocese of St. Augustine, Fla.

Speaking over a radio network (CBS) last night, the Catholic churchman declared that the formal declaration of war, "the constitutional prerogative of Congress, is no longer in style; the Nazis have seen to that."

General Who Got Fees On Defense Jobs Surrenders His Commission

Washington. — Congress was told Wednesday that the War Department had accepted the "requested" resignation of an Army Reserve General—not on active duty—who had received consultant fees from defense contractors.

Julius L. Amberg, a special assistant to Secretary Stimson, testified before a House military subcommittee that the resignation of former Brig. Gen. R. C. Marshall had been accepted July 3.

Brig. Gen. Breton Somervell, Army construction chief, had told the committee a little earlier that records showed Marshall had accepted a total of $31,816.67 from six companies or groups of contractors engaged in defense work since the summer of 1940.

Somervell said that Marshall had told a Senate investigating committee that the money had been received for "consultant services" and had nothing to do with obtaining contracts for the concerns.

Somervell said Marshall was commissioned a Reserve Brigadier General after resigning from the Army many years ago.

House Chiefs Want One-Year

Draft Plans Kept In Effect

Washington. — Flatly opposing the stand of President Roosevelt, key Administration leaders on Capitol Hill, headed by Speaker Rayburn and Chairman May (D-Ky.), of the House Military Affairs Committee, Wednesday rejected proposals that draftees be compelled to remain in service more than one year.

This unexpected opposition to the Administration stand that the enlarged Army be kept intact for a year, in the opinion of veteran members, an early enactment of legislation extending the training period.

Both Rayburn and Chairman May, who enjoy powerful support in the House, assented to the retention of National Guardsmen

Asserts Raids On Berlin Will Dwarf London's

British Minister Says All U. S. Bombers Soon To Be Flying Ocean

London. — The British government replied today to bitter complaints of a shortage of weapons and disuse of American planes by promising to blast Berlin with the increasing flow of U. S. and British bombers until the worst Nazi raids on London seem "like child's play."

Announcement came from Lieut. Col. J. T. C. Moore-Brabazon, the new minister for aircraft production, on the second day of a debate led by soldier members of the House of Commons, back from active service.

Moore-Brabazon pledged the fullest use of the American bombers which, he said, soon would all be coming across the Atlantic by air, and declared it would not be many months before Berlin hears the sirens that will signal their attacks.

Those famous Wednesday and Saturday nights (of London raids) will be child's play, compared to the raids we will be able to make on Berlin," he declared.

Already, he said the D-24 Liberator bomber "is doing great service across the Atlantic."

Before the minister spoke, however, Artillery Captain James Henderson Stewart, a Scottish government member, had declared that in the Middle-East thousands upon thousands of British Tommies and Australians were left to die or fall into Nazi hands "because those men were denied weapons with which to defend themselves."

HEMISPHERE EXTENSION

Potentially, a recent order of President Roosevelt, in itself hardly conspicuous, has a greater significance than has been accorded it. The order imposed a ban on the shipment of oil from the Atlantic seaboard to all nations, "except the British Empire, Egypt, and Western Hemisphere."

The implication of this move was not realized until someone scanned the complete list of the countries affected by the exception. In it were Greenland and Iceland, Greenland was placed formally under the protection of the United States last April. Although the American public was surprised at the time, events soon showed why the step was taken.

But Iceland is in a different category. It is a Danish island and hence supposedly within the sphere of Nazi control. Germany has officially included Iceland and its territorial water in her counter-blockade zone.

Now the oil ban indicates that the administration has included Iceland in the Western Hemisphere, subject henceforth to the benevolent protection of the United States. But there is a secondary implication more important than this. Whenever President Roosevelt orders conveying of shipments of American goods, he may restrict operations to waters of the Western Hemisphere. And if Iceland is included, American protection can be provided for merchant vessels to within about 500 miles of the British Isles.

In authorizing the inclusion of Iceland and the Western Hemisphere, the President doubtless gives greater weight to the needs of hemisphere security than to more geographical location. Should the Nazis occupy Iceland, it would be only a short hop to Greenland. And if Greenland ever became a Nazi base the United States would be gravely menaced.

When Germany invaded Denmark, the people of Iceland immediately declared their independence. The United States is now according them the same right to American protection against aggressors that is given to states in this hemisphere.

One of the great crises of the war is at hand. If Britain can take advantage of Germany's pre-occupation with Russia, continuing to hammer Nazi invasion bases, industrial plants, transportation lines, and troop concentrations, the people of Germany may well ask where their fuhrer is leading them. It is by providing British pilots with planes and bombs that the United States can deliver the all-out aid she has promised.

It wouldn't be surprising if convoys by way of Iceland were the means selected to accomplish this end.

NOT ENTIRELY TO BLAME

A little incident of military conduct or, better yet, misconduct, has projected the matter of military discipline to the fore in this area. So far as the incident itself is involved, amends were commanded and have been made, and that is the end of it. There are tied into it, however, some circumstances which demand most thoughtful consideration.

Those offending and punished happened to be members of the National Guard. In some respect they have no reason to believe that their tour of service is other than an extended vacation from civil life to which the majority thinks they will soon be returning.

Fifteen Years Ago

(July 11, 1926)

Mr. and Mrs. George Hester have returned from a visit to relatives in Iowa. Ralph McDade of Troy is the guest of friends here.

Misses Virginia and Helen Rucker have returned from a visit to friends in Paducah. Miss Katie McDaniel came home with them and will remain here for several days.

Mrs. Clem Morris and son, John Craig, are the guests of Mrs. Hattie Fields.

Capt. Curtis Ledford has gone to the officers' training camp at Fort Thomas.

Murray Creedle of Memphis is spending several days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Turner Creedle.

Misses Myrtle and Sammie Holt have returned from Detroit, where they have been for the past few weeks with their sister, Mrs. Daws Johnson.

Dick Hastings has returned to his work in Detroit after visiting relatives here for the past week.

W. A. Boyd is in Chicago on business.

David Holloway has returned from Paducah, where he underwent an operation a few days ago. He is improving.

That being true, they are not apt to have the same regard for military regulations and superior authority which they would if they knew that their service was to be indefinite.

Most think that they'll be going home soon. The first Guard regiments are due to be released in October. When they get home they think they'll be staying there for some time—that they'll not be recalled to service.

In justice to the Army, in justice to the men, and to meet the requirements of discipline, it seems to us to be imperative that the Congress decide now what it intends doing about General Marshall's appeal to extend the tour of the Guard, the Reserve, and the selectees. The question is before the Congress. So long as uncertainty exists, those responsible for Army training cannot expect the maximum results from their efforts.

It is up to the Congress to decide what the answer shall be. We do insist that further delay with the decision is inimical to military discipline. Men are being trained for the purpose of protecting this Nation and themselves. This is no picnic. As a people we may have to go up against the toughest, most terrible military element history has produced, and only completely trained men will have a chance to survive.

The Army has a right to know what it can depend on tomorrow. If the congressional decision retains the Guard, Reservists and selectees in service, then let all know that playtime is over and that the hour for intensive training and complete disciplinary control has arrived. Maybe a little more "Butt's Manual" calisthenics in the early morning and less dancing at night will turn the trick. There'll be no percentage in paying with lives for the coddling now being done.—Courier-Journal.

WHITNEY PAROLE PROBABLY NOT INCOMPATIBLE WITH SOCIETY'S WELFARE

New York's parole board probably is right in believing parole of Richard Whitney is not incompatible with welfare of society. However a question will remain in minds of many observers.

If Whitney's former friends and social set should take him up; if he should return to his former business honors, as a producer of girl shows did when he finished his term of service in Atlanta prison for perjury, the lesson will be that anyone who is prominent in any social sphere can get by with anything, in so far as his social relations may be concerned, although he may not get by the penitentiary.

The probability is, however, that Whitney's life will not be what it was before it was discovered that, despite aid extended by his brother when he was in financial straits, prominent and popular Dick Whitney resorted to crime.

The socially prominent may be more sensitive than the social world which the girl show magazine knew before he went to Atlanta as the result of false swearing in an effort to meet a charge growing out of an allegation that he had been host at an indecent social affair.—Louisville Times.

This and That
We are indeed grateful for our neighbor, Mrs. Cliff Hopkins our church school, Homemakers Club and the WPA volunteer fray-ent all lose an ardent supporter. Our S. S. attendance at Mt. Pleasant thru April, May and June was 94. At the beginning of a new quarter last Sunday we counted 100, Salem reported 63, Jackson Chapel 58 and Mt. Moriah 26. Five years ago July Fourth Mrs. Anna Humphreys wife of P. R. Humphreys and mother of Dr. M. J. McNeely died suddenly. Willie Crenshaw answered the Masters final call 23 years ago July 7.

Salem church cleared $25.00 at the chicken supper Wednesday night. James H. Warren of Fulton and several from Clinton were in attendance.

Tiger Trio Help All-Stars In Beating League Leaders 7 to 2

Jackson, Tenn. —Pounding Jess Webb for six runs in the first three innings, the Kitty League All-Stars tonight defeated the league-leading Jackson Generals 7 to 2.

In the first inning Jerry Nemitz, Mayfield, went to first when Mel Merkle, Jackson first baseman, muffed a grounder. Murphy Mallatia, Bowling Green, walked and Litzinger, Mayfield, singled to load the bases. Coleman, of Mayfield, grounded out to second, forcing Litzinger and scoring Nemitz. Mallatia scored on Kvedar's (Hopkinsville) fly to center field.

In the third Litzinger doubled to the left field fence and Coleman tripled, scoring the Mayfieldian. Kvedar gained first on a fielder's choice and Mullen, Fulton, singled to left field, scoring Coleman, Ivy, of Fulton, sacrificed, advancing Mullen and Kvedar. Webb was taken out and Derrick, Fulton shortstop, got a single off Carl Gaiser to score Kvedar and Mullen.

Kvedar homered in the fifth over right field fence for the final All-Star tally. Gaiser held the dream team to four hits and the homer in the four innings he pitched. Kinder hurled the last two innings, striking out four of the six who faced him.

Heft, Owensboro, hurled the first three innings for the All-Stars, granting no hits, no runs.

Herr, Union City, relieved Heft in the fourth. Reist doubled to left field. Scarbola flied out to short, and Ankrom doubled to left field, scoring Reist.

Wilburn, Hopkinsville, hurled the seventh and eighth without granting a run. Tommy Tucker, of Mayfield, was wild in the ninth-inning trick. He granted two walks and was charged with a wild pitch. He walked Roy Haines, who made second on the wild pitch and scored from there on Southard's single through second.

It's there with an Extra Wallop in reserve

SOMETIMES in your automobile you want zip and ginger, sometimes thrift.

Just name your choice. In this high-stepping Buick straight-eight with Compound Carburetion† you can have either, each in its proper place.

You can go about your business in easy, ordinary, everyday travel—and this frugal, two-carburetor system will keep you rolling smoothly with only the forward, thrift-size mixer on the job.

Yet any time you want life, lift, super-power it's there with an extra wallop in reserve—just step down on the throttle and you've got it.

That simple move sends the second carburetor into action; steps up not only fuel supply but the air supply as well.

Thus you have your fun—and frugality too. Owners report mileage figures as much as 10% to 15% higher than on previous Buicks of the same size.

Which means, better go look at the engine that's both thrill-packed and thrifty too. You'll find it in a bigger, roomier, smarter-looking automobile that gives you more value per dollar than anything else you can buy.

†Available at slight extra cost on Buick Special models, standard on all other Series.
