Every young man in Fulton should begin to save while his salary is small, because he will find it almost impossible to do so after it is large.

FIRE-PREVENTION WEEK

Citizens of Fulton might as well join the procession. The week of Oct. 5 to 12 has been designated as "Fire-Prevention Week" all over the U. S. Of course it doesn't mean that everybody is to guard against fire during that one week alone and then take chances on getting through the other 51 weeks without loss. This special week is more for the purpose of acquainting property owners with the necessity for making every week one of fire-prevention.

Possibly no other one thing causes more fires in this neighborhood than defective flues. Yet every season scores of residents go right ahead and reset cracked stoves and put up rusty, defective stovepipe even without so much as an inspection of it. Flues are not thoroughly cleaned out. Dead leaves that have been blown into the chimney during the summer are lying ready to burst into flame with the first fire lighted in the stove below. And one tiny spark carried beneath a shingle on the roof does the rest. It is an old story, and yet it is repeated in almost every community year after year.

Join hands in protecting the community from unnecessary fires. Take a few hours to thoroughly examine everything about the house that will in any way come in contact with live coals, flames or hot ashes during the winter season. There is nothing for granted; the one rusted piece of stovepipe you should throw away, but neglect to may be the very thing to burn you out of house and home. Every section of the United States is safeguarding against unnecessary fires. Our property means as much to us. Then let's protect it by observing "Fire-Prevention Week."

WHERE $4 GOES

It is now estimated by the government that rats are so numerous and eat so much food that they destroy property worth at least $500,000,000 each year. Of this sum, $200,000,000 goes to feed this dangerous pest, and the balance, $300,000,000 is made up of ravages with packages of produce, marred and cut buildings and fouled materials of many classes. The rat, it is estimated, costs each and every American citizen $4 a year. Although it defies eradication, it would appear that Fulton people who want to save this sum annually could do so by starting out on a rat-killing campaign. Because the rat can reproduce faster than most animals it gets the run of the place before the owner realizes it. But they can be wiped out; there's no question about that. In view of the fact that they cost the country a half-billion dollars a year, there appears to be no good reason for not making warfare on them.

PARRISH-ELLEGE

Friday evening at 6:30 a wedding of unusual interest was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ellege, 411 Fourth street, when their daughter, Forest Rachel, became the bride of William Harmon Parrish of Union City, Tenn. The ceremony was said by the Rev. C. H. Warren. Immediately after the ceremony the bride and groom left for a southern bridal tour. On their return they will be at home to their friends in Union City.

It's all foolishness to think that women dress to please the men. They dress to displease other women.

Factories Are Smoking Again

October brings the beginning of the end of a business depression we have all felt keenly. Factories are smoking again, harvests are being marketed, money has commenced to circulate more freely. The public has taken invoice of its affairs, and has again started to buy with confidence in the future.

In the pickup we want our town to march right along with the rest. We want our community to move forward along with the others. But to do so it will be necessary for every individual citizen to take a hand in the business revival. This can be done by everyone in a way that everyone will feel it.

The one best way to put money in circulation, and to keep it circulating, is to settle past-due obligations to the fullest extent of your ability. Pay in full this month every bill that you possibly can pay. Make a payment on every one that you cannot pay in full. No matter if it is but a dollar, that will help to bring about the healthy condition, the better times, the freer circulation of money and the general community happiness and welfare we all desire.

PRETTY WEDDING AT CLINTON

Clinton, Ky.—The marriage of Miss Carrie Elizabeth Campbell and Mr. Virgil Mayes Grimsley of Greenville, Miss., was solemnized at the home of the bride's mother on North Jefferson street Thursday, Sept. 25.

The nuptial music was played by Miss Ruth Fields of Fulton, Ky. The ring ceremony was read by the Rev. J. V. Freeman in the presence of relatives and close friends.

The bride, who is the charming daughter of Mrs. Thomas W. Campbell, wore an early fall model in shades of brown, with a corsage of orchids and roses.

Mr. Grimsley is route agent for the American Express company with headquarters in Greenville, Miss. They will make their home in Greenville, after October 1.

SOIL LIMING PAYS

Much has been said and volumes written about the reasons why soils need lime. That activated land, through years of cropping and leaching becomes acid and requires a liming material to neutralize that acidity, is a fact well known to all. The inability of valuable legumes, such as the clovers and alfalfa, to grow on acid soils is also a point which is usually emphasized. These and several other reasons are generally set forth, but in the final analysis, one reason, only, justifies the extra labor and investment necessary to lime the land, and that reason is—LIMING PAYS.

Recently, the National Lime Association collected data on liming experiments conducted by 11 State Experiment Stations. These figures cover 60 tests on 16 different field crops. On summarizing and averaging this information it was found that the application of a liming material increased crop yields an average of $10.86 per acre each year at a cost of $3.40 per year. Thus each dollar invested returned that same dollar and $2.02 besides. This represents a return on the investment of 202 per cent.

Almost without exception the more prosperous and progressive farmers consider soil liming an important part of their program. These men know that in order to make money in the highly competitive agricultural industry, they must use every means to increase the production on each acre and thereby produce each ton or bushel of farm produce at a lower cost than the other fellow. Lower production costs mean more profits. For this reason every acre of acid soil should be limed whenever needed.

RYE ACREAGE IS LARGE

The greatest sowing of rye in history is aiding dairy farmers in solving the feed problem. Already more than 7,500 acres of rye have been sown and the acreage is expected to reach 10,000 by the middle of October, in this part of the country.

MURRAY COLLEGE BUILDING TO BE READY IN FEBRUARY

Work Is Being Done on Men's Dormitory and Library Building

Murray, Ky.—The $125,000 men's dormitory and the $250,000 library building, which are under construction on the campus of Murray State Teachers College, will be completed by February, 1931, according to information released by the W. M. Hill Construction company of Fulton, and the Raymond Construction company of Bowling Green.

The walls of the dormitory have been completed and work on the roof has been begun. It will probably be completed by the middle of December. Although construction of the new library building is not so far forward as that of the dormitory, this structure should be ready for occupancy when the second semester opens in February.

When the dormitory for the men is completed, it will be one of the most modern homes for college men in the South. Built at a cost of approximately $125,000, it will accommodate 100 men. Most of the exterior of the building has been completed with the exception of the windows. The supports for the floors, necessary plumbing and wiring, and stairways constitute the interior work already finished.

The dormitory, a 3-story, white stone trimmed brick building, is being erected by the W. M. Hill Construction company, of Fulton. The rooms will be arranged in suites of three rooms each, rather than in single rooms as in most dormitories. Each suite will have a bath and will accommodate four students.

CROPS IMPROVE

Late crops and pastures have improved materially since recent rains and prospects are better as harvest time is nearing. Much of the tobacco grown in this area is being cut and housed, while firing has started in many communities.

Better No Spinach For Them Than A Battle At Mealtime

By E. V. McCollum, Ph.D., Sc.D.

Professor of Biochemistry, Johns Hopkins University.
Author of "The New Knowledge of Nutrition," etc.

THERE is one type of war which neither disarmament nor naval limitation treaties will ever affect. Its battles are numberless and are fought daily in the nation's dining rooms by conscientious mothers seeking to make their children eat needed portions of spinach or other leafy vegetables.

This type of war deserves serious consideration. Its effects, while neither immediate nor fatal, are important to the future of the race. For they concern the physical and mental health of our children. And this kind of war must cease.

No child should ever be disciplined at mealtime because of the unfavorable effect on digestion. Urging the child to eat something it does not like produces a run of unpleasant emotion, which has an equally bad effect.

Psychologists and physicians are all agreed upon this point. Few adults have escaped the experience of suffering from a digestive upset as the result of an emotional crisis at mealtime. Fear, pain and anger interfere both with the secretion of digestive juices and with the mechanical functioning of the digestive tract.

The speaker who frequently pauses to take a sip of water is moistening his mouth because it feels dry. It is dry because he is not at ease before his audience, especially if he is conscious that his debate, sermon, oration or lecture is not going greatly to his credit. Under such conditions, the salivary glands do not produce much, if any, saliva. The stomach and other digestive glands also are affected in a comparable manner. For digestion cannot proceed until the proper secretions are poured out.

Discipline Is Harmful

It is thus apparent that discipline at mealtime is not only ineffective but harmful. The most that should be done to cultivate a liking for necessary foods is to ask the child to taste these foods when they happen to be served to others. It should be explained that the foods in question are good for people, and that the child will later like them. Thus no offense is given and no artificial distaste aroused.

Pronounced changes in tastes will often be brought about by this method in the course of a few months. But if the child is made unhappy by being compelled to eat a food which it does not like, the distaste for that particular food may become intensified rather than overcome later in life.

When the proper amounts of milk, eggs and meats are given to children the vitamin content of their diet is pretty well satisfied. This is especially true if yellow vegetables such as carrots, tomatoes, sweet potatoes, etc., are included for their high vitamin A content. When the leafy vegetables are disliked, the cellulose content of the food may well be provided by including in the menu sufficient whole cereal foods to furnish indigestible cellulose. Whole wheat and rice furnish cellulose in more satisfactory forms normal nutrition and where the chemical substances necessary to a complete diet are to be found.

Mothers, and especially American mothers, are taking advantage of this opportunity. They are applying the established facts of the modern science of nutrition to the feeding of their families. As an evidence of this, some future historian will write of rickets and scurvy as children's diseases happily long forgotten. In describing their eradication he will point to the popularization of salads as a national characteristic of Americans, acquired during the second and third decades of the twentieth century. He will almost certainly mention, as a result of this, the heightened resistance to certain infections, the prevention of goiter, and the increase in size and sturdiness of the first generation which had the good fortune to profit by the new discoveries about foods.

Vast Improvement in Diet

He will not fail to emphasize the perfection of processes in the canning industry. A part of the race's physical gain he will trace to this, because it made possible a vast improvement in the Nation's diet through the colder months of the year, by providing in wholesome condition a wider variety of foods than were ever before available to mankind in any part of the world. This promotion of healthful vigor he will contrast with the widespread illness of the past, and the need for "Spring medicines," "blood purifiers," and "Spring tonics" which were taken by nearly everyone a generation ago.

But knowledge of the modern science of foods is one thing and its application to the needs of children quite another. Every modern mother must therefore combine her knowledge of dietetics with some of the tact of a seasoned diplomat. With this equipment she should succeed in making her children eat sufficient quantities of all the kinds of foods necessary to health.

Leafy Vegetables Valuable

The leafy vegetables are of special value in furnishing indigestible material which serves as an intestinal regulator and promotes elimination. And this problem of intestinal hygiene is especially important now when so many of our foods are highly refined and contain little or no cellulose. Milk, meat or eggs are all so completely digestible that they leave little residues in the colon and hence are constipating.

As a first step, however, in the improvement of children's diet, the dining room wars must cease. They are quite as fruitless as any other wars. If a child is properly managed it will eventually acquire the dietary habits and likings normal to adults. It will appreciate the flavors of everything it should eat. And this ideal condition can never be reached through force, but only through tact and diplomacy.

E. V. McCollum

for the diet of children than do either corn or oats. Of these grains, the cellulose of rice is the softest and least irritating.

Prevents Bad Habits

If taken in sufficient amounts, the cellulose from these sources will serve admirably to promote dismissal of waste products with sufficient promptness to insure a hygienic condition of the colon. This will prevent the formation of bad habits which may eventually injure the large intestine in ways illustrated by the enormous number of persons who have suffered too largely upon refined foods.

Parents of today have a greater opportunity than ever before to serve their children by helping them to lay the foundation for long and healthy lives. Our control over the physical basis of success in life is far more effective than ever before in human history. We know what the body requires for

ZACHARIAS AND ELISABETH:
LIFE IN A PIOUS JEWISH HOME

LESSON TEXT—Luke 1:5-8.
GOLDEN TEXT—And they were both righteous before God, walking in all the commandments and ordinances of the Lord blameless.
PRIMARILY TOPIC—Helping to Make Our Homes Good.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Helping to Make Our Homes Good.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What I Owe to My Home.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—What Makes a Home Christian?

I. A Godly Husband and Wife (Luke 1:5-7).

The name Zacharias means "Jehovah hath remembered," and the name Elisabeth means "A covenant maker."

1. When they lived (v. 5).
"In the days of Herod the king." They lived in a day when godlessness was rife. The priesthood was corrupt, and the ruling classes most wicked.

2. Their character (v. 6).
Both were righteous before God. Many appear to be righteous before men who are not righteous before God. They were so married that they walked in the commandments of the Lord blameless. The highest in worldly life can be attained only when both husband and wife are united in Jesus Christ. Their practical living was manifested in obedience to God's commandments.

2. They were childless (v. 7).
Though this godly couple were well mated and possessed the joy of the Lord in their souls, there was a real lack in their home. No home is quite ideal into which no child has come.

II. A Son Promised (Luke 1:8-23).
1. By whom (vv. 11, 19)?
Gabriel, a special messenger of God, appeared and made known the good news to Zacharias.

2. When (vv. 8-14)?
While officiating as priest this good news came to him. From verse 13 the implication is that Zacharias had been praying definitely about this matter. While he burned incense, which is typical of prayer, the multitudes without were praying.

3. Characteristics of the child (vv. 15-17).

(1) Shall be great in the sight of the Lord (v. 15).

Though the people did not greatly esteem him, he was highly esteemed by the Lord.

(2) Shall drink neither wine nor strong drink (v. 15).

He was to be a Nazarite, separating himself from sensuous things and dedicating himself unto the Lord (Numbers 6:1-8).

(3) Shall be filled with the Holy Ghost (v. 15).

The energy of the divine Spirit was needed to enable him to lead the people to repentance (v. 16).

(4) Shall go in the spirit and power of Elijah (v. 17).

In this power he was to prepare the people for the coming of the Savior, and the salvation which he was to bring.

4. Zacharias asking for a sign (vv. 18-23).

Although the aged priest was earnestly praying for the salvation of Israel, the gracious promise of the angel which was the beginning of that salvation staggered his faith. The angel gave him a sign. Because he refused to praise God in faith for this gracious promise, God caused his tongue to be silent until the promise was fulfilled. God wants us to believe his promises no matter how contrary to reason they may seem.

III. The Promise Fulfilled (Luke 1:57-64).

1. Neighbors and kinsfolk rejoicing with Elisabeth (vv. 57, 58).

2. The child circumcised and named (vv. 59-63).

On the eighth day they circumcised the child and named him "John" (v. 13). By means of writing Zacharias made known the name which he would have by divine instruction.

3. Zacharias praises God (v. 64).
At this time God opened the mouth of Zacharias, and he offered up praise to God.

IV. Zacharias Prophecy (Luke 1:67-80).

1. Praising God for fulfillment of the promise of salvation (vv. 67-75).
This was according to covenant promise.

2. John to be called "The Prophet of the Highest" (v. 76-79).
He was to go before the face of the Lord to prepare his ways.

3. The growth of John (v. 80).
He grew and waxed in the Spirit, and was in the deserts till the day of his showing unto Israel.

Hints For Homemakers By Jane Rogers

FOR the best toast you have ever tasted, lay the slices of bread in the open oven for a few minutes before toasting them. In addition to improving the flavor, it makes the toast more digestible, and it browns much more evenly.

In providing for your family's health during the summer, remember that food beverages are by no means a luxury; that on the contrary they are as healthful as they are delicious. The fruit juices furnish vitamins, the sugar is a much needed source of quick energy, while the beverage as a whole replenishes in the body the liquid lost in the form of perspiration.

POULTRY

(By J. T. Watkins)

Last week I was too busy to write an article for this column; don't know if it was missed or not. I was taking in the Mid South Fair at Memphis. I was superintendent in charge of the rabbits, and will say that we had a real good show for the first one. About 125 rabbits were entered and most of them were real good. I was lucky enough to win two firsts, so guess I must be satisfied.

The fair as a whole was a grand success. There were lots of fine dairy cattle, also beef cattle, while the 4-H clubs were there in force with both dairy and beef stock. Over in the hog barn there were several herds of hogs, but not quite as many as heretofore. Also a big lot of sheep, but I am poor judge of sheep; can't even tell one breed from the other.

The agricultural building was about on an average with former years. We missed the Fulton county booth, but Hickman county showed the visitors they would not starve. County Agent Edge had a very pretty booth—one that attracted lots of attention—arranged in a very neat way; not too crowded so as to look botchy (I guess you all understand what I mean), but some people, when they arrange a booth, try to get too much stuff in the booth and it spoils the effect. Edge had his arranged so that one could see at a glance Hickman county could raise all the grains and hay necessary, and also garden "sass" and fruit. One country cured ham exposed in a prominent place drew a great many remarks; it was a dandy.

Speaking of county booths, our old friend McPherson, who used to be county agent here, had a very instructive display for poultry raisers. His booth was divided into two yards, showing on one side a nice, clean, grassy yard full of baby chicks, with sanitary drinking vessels and feeders. This side was marked "SAFETY," while the other side was marked "DANGER," and showed a dirt yard with the feed scattered on the ground. The drinking vessel was an old coal scoop, with dirty water for the chicks to drink. Scattered around in this yard were old tin cans, water melon rinds, wire and pieces of automobile tires. In the back of the yard was a neat little house, but the lesson Mac wished to impress on the people was no matter how good a house you had for your chicks if the yards were not sanitary your chicks would do no good.

The free show at night in front of the grandstand was one of the finest I have witnessed in a long time. It consisted of several acts, with a ballet between each act. The costumes were the best I have ever seen and the actors were perfectly trained, a wonderful act.

One of the pay features was the captive balloon. You could go up 1,500 feet for one dollar, stay about five minutes and come down. I did not feel disposed to spend my money that quick so did not take advantage of this ride, although they done a land office business.

I did not see any of the races but my friend W. R. Hayes of DuQuoin had a horse entered in one race that broke the track record.

Well, I guess this is enough about that fair so will tell you poultry raisers that Cairo is going to have a big chicken show in November. This is a good show and Fulton should send enough chickens to win the majority of the prizes.

I was over to the bank last Monday to see how the poultry association stood, and found out we were overdrawn sixty-six cents, and as we have two other bills to pay yet, amounting to about ten dollars, I guess I will have to dig in my jeans to make up the deficiency. Hope you merchants who promised us a donation and then reneged on your promise will feel real good when you read this. Oh, well I am a first-rate "GOAT."

For a long time the loquacious man in the barber's shop had made comments on the appearance of a parrot standing on a ledge over a mirror, saying it was the worst stuffed bird he had ever seen.

"Really?" said the parrot, lazily scratching the side of its head.

NEEDS FOR RED CROSS SERVICE ON INCREASE, SAYS CHAIRMAN PAYNE

Disaster Relief and Service to War Veterans Make Heavy Demands—First Aid on Highways New Plan.

Demands upon the public services that the American Red Cross is organized to give are increasingly heavy, and will continue to be so in the future, John Barton Payne, chairman, has announced.

The two major services of the society—service to war veterans and their dependents, and relief in disasters—show each year a greater number of persons helped by the Red Cross.

Pension legislation passed recently for World War Veterans, and increased allotments to all Spanish-American War Veterans, have given to Chapters and the national society many thousands of additional cases to handle, Judge Payne said.

In the past year help was given in 105 disasters. Ninety of these were in the United States, twelve in foreign possessions and six were in foreign countries.

Health activities of the Red Cross also are being extended, especially in the rural communities where all health authorities agree the greatest need exists. Red Cross, with 794 nurses in its employ, is the greatest employer of public health nurses in rural areas in the United States.

In its campaign against accidental deaths, begun twenty years ago with its life saving and first aid programs, the Red Cross now has adopted an additional program—that of combating the huge toll of life from automobile accidents on the highways.

Expenditures of the Red Cross in the past year were $1,254,796.24, of which $1,208,151.09 was spent in disaster relief, the chairman pointed out.

"The Red Cross depends upon the public for its support, through their memberships enrolled once each year in the period from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day," Judge Payne said.

"We do not receive any support from the Government, or through other taxation, although as the President of the United States is president of the society, and one-third of its governing members are representatives of U. S. Departments, it ranks as a semi-governmental agency.

"By joining as a member, in the local Red Cross Chapter, once each year, during the annual Roll Call, every citizen will have a part in carrying on this great humanitarian task."

Motor Injuries Treated By Red Cross First Aid

In line with its work for the preservation of life and prevention of accidental death, the American Red Cross has adopted a new program of emergency first aid stations on the highways of the nation, where victims of automobile injuries will be helped.

In the last year 21,000 persons were killed as the result of automobile accidents and more than 1,000,000 were injured. As its contribution to the nation wide safety campaigns of other organizations, the Red Cross will aid through the emergency stations. A number already are in operation by Chapters on such important traffic arteries as the Westchester County, N. Y., park system, the Valley Forge and Gettysburg highways in Pennsylvania and the White Horse Pike in New Jersey, connecting with Atlantic City.

Saving Mothers and Babies Is Important Red Cross Task

Saving mothers' lives and better babies were important features during the past year of the Public Health Nursing Service of the American Red Cross. About four-fifths of the 794 nurses in the Red Cross work made more than 100,000 prenatal and maternity visits, in addition to assisting doctors in the examination of 1,209,493 school children.

Statistics reveal that the lives of two out of three American women who die in maternity cases could be saved if they received proper medical and nursing care. As more than 15,000 women die in the United States each year from various diseases of the maternal state, this means that more than 10,000 of these deaths are preventable.

Comfort Kits Sent 40,000 Service Men by Red Cross

Gay patterned crotone bags, or comfort kits, containing articles useful and amusing, are sent by the Red Cross to 40,000 soldiers, sailors and Marines, on foreign service, as Christmas remembrances.

The little gift bags are donated and packed by women in Red Cross Chapters all over the country. They are despatched by Army transport in the early autumn in order to reach the foreign ports and posts of the U. S. services in time to be hung on the Christmas trees. Giving the remembrances from home is the outgrowth of a plan adopted by the Red Cross prior to the World War when so many National Guard regiments were on the Mexican border.

NINETY DISASTERS CALL FOR RED CROSS RELIEF, AT COST OF $1,200,000

Vice Chairman Fieser Cites Readiness to Act of National Society, Which Lessens Loss of Life—3,500 Chapters Aid in Work.

Readiness to act in an emergency, should a disaster strike, has become part of the Red Cross Chapter program in thousands of communities. The need for this training of local committees was revealed last year, when more than ninety communities required disaster relief work by the Red Cross.

As in former years, tornadoes brought the greatest damage. Twenty-four serious tornadoes occurred. Fire also took toll of life and property in twenty-four communities. Seven forest fires did great damage; eighteen areas were affected by floods, and nine storms caused heavy losses. Other disasters were cloudbursts, cyclones, epidemics, mine explosions and shipwrecks. In the insular possessions of the United States the Red Cross gave relief in twelve disasters, chiefly from hurricanes. In foreign countries relief was given by the American Red Cross in six instances of earthquakes, floods and to refugees.

The disaster relief work of the Red Cross cost $1,208,151 last year. Statistics showed an approximate death rate of 790 persons in these disasters; buildings destroyed or damaged, 19,578; persons injured, 1,487, and persons assisted by the Red Cross, 96,872.

Through disaster preparedness of Red Cross Chapters, undoubtedly great numbers of lives were saved, and much distress and grief following the calamities was prevented, according to James L. Fieser, vice chairman in charge of domestic operations of the Red Cross.

"This type of work is supported by the memberships of citizens of the United States, their volunteer contributions, and their devoted work," Mr. Fieser said.

"Every man and woman is urged to join as a member of the local Red Cross Chapter, not only to be a partner in supporting the work through its membership, but also to serve should an emergency occur."

Life Savers Numerous

More than a quarter of a million persons are entitled to wear the American Red Cross Insignia, denoting they have been taught the expert life saving methods of the organization. The number enrolled to date is 273,202.

"Join Red Cross," Urges Vice President Curtis

America's prominent citizens join in urging all men and women to become members of the Red Cross during the period of the annual roll call from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day.

The Honorable Charles Curtis, Vice President of the United States, says: "The American Red Cross is in a position to and does more to relieve those stricken by misfortune than any other organization in the world. Its splendid work has done much to bring a friendly feeling in all parts of the world for the people of our country because they sustain the American Red Cross. This wonderful organization is entitled to the liberal support of our people."

The Honorable Charles Curtis, Secretary of the Treasury, says: "No one can predict when or where disaster may occur or acute emergency arise. The American Red Cross represents our community insurance against such misfortunes. The organization stands ready at all times to render speedy relief to any stricken area in our own country or to assist in the relief of disaster in foreign countries. The Red Cross is the agency which carries on when emergency has disrupted customary modes and means of life in a community."

Six Foreign Countries Receive Red Cross Aid

Relief was given by the American Red Cross during the year in six foreign nations in disasters ranging from a tidal wave in Newfoundland, an earthquake in Persia, floods in France to help for refugees from Russia and prevention of a smallpox epidemic in Costa Rica.

The $5,000 Red Cross contribution to Newfoundland, following the tidal wave, which took twenty-six lives and destroyed many homes and fishing boats, was the first from an outside country to reach the distressed people.

The sum of $5,000 was given to the fund for the relief of the Mennonite refugees of German descent, who had determined to leave Russia for new lands. About 13,000 passed through Germany, where the German Red Cross, aided by Red Cross societies of other nations, helped them. The majority are being transported to new countries in the western world and the American Red Cross has transmitted contributions from individuals in this country.

When Costa Rica was menaced by a smallpox epidemic, the American Red Cross sent fifty thousand tubes of vaccine, in two airplane loads, undoubtedly saving the country from a serious outbreak of the dread disease.

How the Railroads Help Every Farmer

A Message from L. A. Downs, President, Illinois Central System.

Dependable for 79 Years

Every farmer has a helpful ally in the railroads of the country. They work with him and for him in many ways.

They carry his products to markets.

They make large investments in terminal elevators and warehouses, stockpens, refrigerator cars and other special facilities to handle these products.

They add to his markets by employing and enabling other industries to employ millions of consumers.

They are in the forefront of agricultural development, working to diversify crops, fertilize soils, improve production and marketing.

They pay taxes which build highways, support rural schools and lighten the tax burden of the entire farm population.

The farmer may well regard the railroads as his railroads. They serve him constantly and effectively.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

L. A. Downs

Chicago, October 1, 1930.

THE ILLINOIS CENTRAL SYSTEM

Employees of the Illinois Central System and their families spend in the neighborhood of $50,000,000 annually for food and other goods manufactured from farm products.

HOW THE RAILROAD HELPS EVERY FARMER

In five ways the railroads prove that they are helpful allies of the farmer, according to L. A. Downs, president of the Illinois Central System, who discusses farm aid in his October letter to the public.

As carriers, they transport his product to market. As investors, they provide the special facilities needed for such handling. As employers, they give work, directly and indirectly, to millions of consumers of farm products. As development organizations, they teach better farming methods, both by precept and by example. As taxpayers, they contribute to highways and schools and lighten the farm tax burden.

"The farmer may well regard the railroads as his railroads," concludes President Downs. "Employees of the Illinois Central System and their families alone spend in the neighborhood of $50,000,000 annually for food and other goods manufactured from farm products."

ABOUT PRICE BOOSTING

Now that the country is getting around to where something like correct estimates can be made of the damage done by the drought, it is interesting to learn from late government bulletins that conditions are not going to total up as bad as predicted in late August. In one bulletin this significant statement appears, and Fulton residents should find a lot of consolation in it: "There is no danger of a food shortage, despite the fact that crops are wiped out in some sections. Some reports of price increases on foodstuffs are coming in, but such increases are not justified. The greatest need is for food for livestock. There is no shortage of food for the human family and, for that reason, no excuse for raising prices on it." It is well to keep that in mind and to present it as a protest in the event you should encounter an attempt at price-boosting. It is to be hoped, however, that such protests will not be necessary.

LAWYERS HONOR THOMAS

The Fulton circuit court session on Friday was suspended to permit the holding of a meeting by representatives of the bar of the First Judicial District in honor of the memory of the late Ed Thomas. Judge J. E. Warren was elected chairman of the meeting, and appointed a committee composed of Frank Carr, H. T. Smith, W. J. Webb, W. B. Amberg and L. L. Hindman to draft resolutions respecting the death of Mr. Thomas.

Talks dealing with the life and character of Mr. Thomas were made by various members of the bar. The committee reported resolutions which were adopted and ordered spread upon a page of the order book of the Fulton circuit court.

MARVIN J. WRIGHT BURIED AT MAYFIELD

Mayfield, Ky.—Funeral services for Marvin J. Wright, 56, one of the most prominent citizens in Mayfield, who died at his home on Backsburg avenue in this city Saturday afternoon, were held at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the family home. The Rev. W. F. Maxedon, pastor of the First Methodist church, conducted the services.

Mr. Wright was general manager of the Mayfield Woolen Mills for many years. He was forced to resign in 1929 because of ill health. He began work with the old Mayfield Woolen Mills in 1903 and from a laborer's job worked to the management of the large corporation. He was known as one of the best wool buyers in the country and the growth of the mills was in a large part attributed to his work.

TEACH THEM SAFETY

Rural teachers should realize that since each year sees more and more autos on the highways that it becomes more necessary to warn school children against them. City and town teachers are commencing to make safety lessons a part of their daily routine. They find that it is impossible to warn the children too frequently. They must be constantly reminded to be careful, and that the auto is a dangerous machine. But a few moments daily are required to instill into them the safety lesson that will safeguard them while they are on their way to and from school, or using the highway at any other time for walking purposes. There is no special text-book on the subject, for none is needed. Common sense is the best text-book, and every teacher has a full measure of that, else he or she would not be teaching. Use common sense in your safety lessons—but use it often. Even then there will be some children killed or injured. But the number will be constantly reduced.

HEAVY FLOW OF TRAFFIC PASSES OVER NEW ROAD

Surfaced Highway Opened From Paducah-Mayfield On Sunday

A heavy volume of traffic passed over the new Paducah-Mayfield highway Sunday with the population of Paducah apparently bent on going to Mayfield and that of the Graves capital on going to Paducah.

Barricades at the end of the newly surfaced stretch were removed, and the highway, a section of U. S. Route 45, concreted from Lone Oak to the Graves county line at Leader Bottom, was opened by order of the district office of the state highway department.

From the Graves line into Mayfield, the stretch of road has been given re-tread treatment. It is in fairly good travel condition at the present time but will be improved within the next week or so as the oil and rock top becomes more firmly packed.

The highway department expects soon to start surfacing a section of the road from Wingo to Fulton.

DR. SEBASTIAN IS DEAD

Rites for Pioneer West Tennessee Physician Held Monday

Martin, Tenn., Sept. 29.—Funeral services for Dr. C. M. Sebastian, pioneer West Tennessee physician, who died at his home here Sunday, were held at the Methodist Church this morning at 10:30 o'clock and interment was made in East Side Cemetery. Dr. Sebastian was 80 years of age and death followed an illness of several weeks. He was born in Centerville, Tenn., the son of Dr. John Paul Sebastian, a physician. After his marriage he came to Ralston, Tenn., near Martin, where he practiced his profession about a year, moving here in 1884, two years before the town was incorporated, and practiced his profession here for over 54 years.

NEW PLAN FOR BILLING

A new plan for billing charges for telephone service will be introduced by the Southern Bell Telephone Company starting with charges for November local service.

Under the new plan telephone subscribers here will receive bills dated the 11th of each month.

Instead of all subscribers' bills going out on the 1st of the month they will be divided into six groups each with a different date. These dates will be spread equally throughout the month and each group of bills will be mailed shortly after that date. Coincident with this change in billing date, entries on the bills will be made by machines instead of in long-hand as at present. This is expected to result in a more satisfactory bill to the subscriber, since items will be more legible and the possibility of errors greatly reduced.

It is stated that because the new plan permits the work of preparing bills to be spread throughout the month it will be possible for the Company to improve its billing and business office service. Long distance charges on each bill will hereafter include items up to the date of the bill instead of such times appearing on bills only up to the 20th of the preceding month, as has been the practice.

During the transition from the present method of billing to the new plan, it will be necessary to issue one bill which will include long distance and local service charges for other than normal periods. Thereafter bills will cover regular periods, namely, the month preceding the date of the bill for long distance (and additional message) items, and the month following the date of the bill for local service charges.

The Company is sending each subscriber a notice with his October 1st bill explaining the plan and indicating the period to be covered by the charges on future bills.
