Burial was held in Fairview in charge of Hornbeak Funeral Home.

L. Walker of Hickman, Ky.; Roy Shelbourne of Paducah, O. C. Henry of Hickman, Judge Maiden of Dresden, Tenn.; J. P. Cochran, John R. McGee, F. H. Riddle and Dr. Seldon Cohn. Active pallbearers were the following representatives of the Busy Men's Bible Class, J. E. Fall, B. B. Henderson, Irvin Grimes, Smith Atkins, Leon Browder and W. H. Purcell.

Mr. Smith was born in Fannon County Texas, the oldest son of Peter Catron Smith and Louise Thompson Smith. He attended the county schools and was graduated from the Texas Wesleyan University at Fort Worth, where he won honors in literary studies and oratory. He began the practice of law in the office of John D. Templeton and later was elected City Judge of Fort Worth for two terms.

He came to Fulton in 1900 and soon became outstanding in his profession. He was formerly a member of the Presbyterian church, but after coming to Fulton he joined the First Methodist Church. He served as steward in the church and for twenty-five years he was teacher of the Busy Men's Bible Class.

WATER VALLEY MAY LOSE R. R. STATION

L. C.'s Plea To Drop Depot Brings Hearing Before Webb, Stanfill

Mayfield, Ky.—Railroad Commissioners Robert E. Webb and Stanfill said Tuesday following a hearing on the Illinois Central Railroad Company's petition to abolish the railroad station at Water Valley, that they would render their decision a few days after it had been taken up by the railroad commission at Frankfort.

In the hearing held at Water Valley Monday afternoon Webb and Stanfill sat in the case with the City of Water Valley represented by Mayor Charles Haskell and with Farland Robbins, Mayfield, as general counsel. County Judge W. H. Crowder, Jr., represented the county and Attorney Tom Moore, Louisville, represented the railroad.

Reasons why the station and station agent at Water Valley should be retained were pointed out by counsel for the Water Valley citizens. They asserted that the station grossed $9,353 annually and that the station agent, Sonnie Williams, received only $1,745 per year. The counsel also claimed that $125,000 had been spent in building and maintaining roads leading to Water Valley, enabling the farmers of that vicinity to ship produce via railroad from that point.

Many years ago when citizens of Feliciana, now a cross roads with a little white church, and once a thriving city, the largest in Western Kentucky, declined to let the railroad tracks be laid through that town, the railroad company laid what is now the Illinois Central tracks through Water Valley and from a short time after that Feliciana began declining until today it is marked by a cross roads and the little white church. Today, the Water Valley citizens, who have been joined by Graves county officials in their fight to keep their railroad station, say that they can support the station and railroad and are making every effort to have the company's effort to abolish the station nullified.

Railroad officials claim that the station has been losing money for some time.

C. OF COMMERCE IN GOOD MEETING

Dr. Don P. Hawkins, pastor of the First Christian Church, was the principal speaker at the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, held Monday night at the Rainbow Room. About forty members were present. Dr. Hawkins gave an interesting talk on the famous personalities with whom he has come in contact.

Thomas Goldsmith, commander of the local American Legion, spoke on a plan to put uniformed school boy patrols on duty near the schools. Fourteen boys are to be sworn in as safety patrol officers and about $75 is needed to outfit these boys. The Chamber of Commerce voted to aid in this movement, which is sponsored by the American Legion and is supported by the Kentucky Highway Patrol.

Rev. Woodrow Fuller, pastor of the First Baptist Church, told of efforts being made to establish an emergency landing field for planes in Fulton. A field has been secured for temporary private flying, and Rev. Fuller said that, if a new route were established between Memphis and Paducah, federal aid might be secured in building a regular emergency field in Fulton. The Chamber of Commerce voted unanimously to support this effort and named a committee.

Bertes Pigue, representative of the Young Men's Business Club, reported that the Y. M. B. C. had agreed to work with the Chamber of Commerce on Christmas decorations, and a committee was appointed, headed by A. G. Baldrige. John Earle stated that a party of visitors from Meridian, Miss., would be in Fulton Thursday, Oct. 19, enroute to Chicago and urged that as many business men as possible be in town to greet the visitors.

It is estimated that over 10,000 blind read the All Story Braille Magazine each month. Last year over 1,700 white canes were given. Any blind not having received white canes may apply to the local Lions Club.

Baldrige; third, pair of silk hose given by Miller-Jones Shoe Store; fourth, one pound box of candy; fifth, a box of Old Spice dusting powder. PLANS FOR PUTTING FULTON ON AIR ROUTE

For several weeks interest in aviation has been increasing in Fulton and vicinity, since Chas. Miller, located here with his planes and has been giving private instructions to student flyers residing here and in adjoining cities. A landing field has been opened on the Thompson farm on the Middle Road one mile from the city limits. A plot of the field has been made by Hunter Whitesel and efforts are now being made to lease it for private and commercial use. A group of local aviation enthusiasts plan to form a club and purchase a plane, and trips have been made to Memphis and other points seeking to tie-in with the proposed commercial route from Memphis to Paducah, Evansville, etc.

Much interest is being taken in the project, which has already been endorsed by the Chamber of Commerce and will probably have the support of the Young Men's Business Club at its next regular meeting.

SOLDIER AMERICAN REVOLUTION IS BURIED NEAR FULTON

There may be older graves in Fulton county, but up to the present none are recorded, than that of Captain Isham Browder, soldier of the American Revolution. This grave is located on the farm of Rupert Browder, three miles west of Fulton on the State Line Road, according to Hugh Alvey, supervisor of the veterans' grave registration project in this county.

Captain Browder enlisted in June, 1776, as a private and was with Captain Bullied Clayburn's company of the Second Virginia Regiment commanded by Colonel Alexander Spotswood. He came to this section long before Fulton county was formed in 1845, having died in 1830. This is the first grave of a Revolutionary soldier located in the county by those conducting the registration.

The captain was a great great grandfather of Rupert Browder and Justin Attebery, circuit court clerk of Fulton county.

CAPTAIN SAMS TELLS STORY ABOUT PERSHING

Captain Robert Sams, 62, veteran of the Spanish-American War, visiting here Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Herman Sams, told some interesting episodes about the time when he was in service with the United States army.

There was the time when he was sergeant of the guard in the Philippine Islands and his colonel called upon him to quiet a disturbance being made by some of the "boys" which was bothering his commander. In the group taken into custody by the military police was John J. Pershing who later became General Pershing of the American forces in the last World's War.

Several years later, Mr. Sams having been promoted to the rank of major, was serving on the border between Mexico and the United States during Villa's insurrection. There he again met General Pershing. Walking up to him he saluted and said: "Howdy, General. Remember me? I'm the guy who arrested you in the Philippines." After relating the incident, they had a big laugh about it, and the general invited Major Sams group to join him at dinner in the cafeteria where they had met by accident.

COUNTY AGENT

Inquiries concerning the "weevil" in corn and small grains are now reaching the Agricultural Experiment office. Weevil is a term often used loosely to include all stored-grain pests, but in all of these present cases it refers to the Angoumois grain moth. This insect is widely distributed and is present here in small numbers every year. In some years the population is unusually large due, perhaps, to a preceding mild winter and the presence of two year-old grain in the region.

The small buff colored moths lay their eggs in grain in the field and in the case of wheat a high percentage of infestation may be built up if threshing is delayed until late September. After the wheat is threshed and stored the infestation is restricted to the surface grain.

If not already there the infestation is brought into the corn crib with the newly harvested corn. There the insect breeds during the warm season. Under cool weather conditions, its activities are much reduced and when exposed to extreme cold weather, the insects are killed.

The eggs which are laid on or near the grain hatch into minute white larvae that bore into kernels of grain and begin to feed on the contents. When full grown, each larva cuts out a channel to the outside of the seed, leaving a thin layer of seed coat intact. It then changes to a pupa and later the moth emerges, pushing aside the thin cover over the channel. The development from egg to adult may be completed in five weeks and there may be as many as six generations per year in this locality.

To prepare the crib or granary for the new crop, sweep it thoroughly and burn the sweepings. Do not brush them out on the ground. This debris contains insects which very soon may return to the storage bin. After sweeping, the floor should be scrubbed with an old broom using boiling lye water. Dissolve one pound of lye in one gallon of hot water and work this into the cracks and crevices of the floor. If these are flying moths, spray them with a good contact spray—one that is made with odorless, tasteless, water-white petroleum similar to that contained in commercial fly sprays for use in dwellings, and containing a small amount of pyrethrum extract.

A good portion of the corn grown in Kentucky is stored in slat cribs that cannot be fumigated. The grain moth frequently infests corn so stored, but little serious damage is done unless the corn is held over the summer following harvest. If storage of corn for more than one season is contemplated, the corn should be shelled before the end of the first year of storage, placed in tight bins and fumigated.

When the bin or fumigating box has been prepared, figure the air space occupied by the grain to determine the amount of fumigant to be used. Under favorable conditions, one pound of commercial carbon disulfid will be sufficient for 100 cubic feet of space in the bin, or about one ounce per barrel.

The gas settles to the bottom of the bin, therefore, apply the liquid by sprinkling the top of the grain mass, or gunny sacks laid on the grain. A blanket, carpet of similar covering is thrown over the grain, and the fumigation allowed to go on for twenty-four hours. (If the grain is to be used for food, continue fumigation for forty-eight hours.) At the end of the fumigation period, ventilate thoroughly. This is especially important where grain is to be used for planting. If barrels are used for fumigation of seed corn, burlap should be tied over the top and the barrel inverted for an hour or two to permit the gas to escape.

The best results with carbon disulfid will be obtained at temperatures of 75 degrees Fahrenheit to 90 degrees Fahrenheit. Do not attempt to fumigate when the temperature is below 60 degrees Fahrenheit.

When using carbon disulfid, due precaution should be taken in regard to fire. The gas is highly combustible and under certain conditions explosive, so fire in any form should be kept away from the fumigating operations.

DUCK AND GEESE SEASON OCTOBER 22 TO DECEMBER 5

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 20—Attention is called by Major James Brown, Director of the Division of Game and Fish, to a 45-day season on duck and geese beginning on October 22 and continuing through December 5, both dates inclusive.

The federal regulations state that the use of bait or live decoys is prohibited again this year. The regulations also state that hunters may shot guns 10 gauge or smaller, and with magazine capacity of not exceeding three shells. The use of bow and arrow is also permitted but NOT the rifle.

The daily bag limit on ducks is 10 in the aggregate and possession limit 20 in the aggregate.

Additional protection is extended to the Canvasback, Redhead, Bufflehead and Ruddy Ducks. Not over three of any one kind of these ducks or more than three in the aggregate are permitted in the daily limit of 10.

The possession limit is two days bag limit.

The daily bag limit on geese in the kinds that may be taken is four in the aggregate. Possession limit two days bag limit.

The daily bag limit on coots is 25. Shooting hours are from 7 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. central standard time. The Federal Officials warn that any person over 16 years of age must have in their possession an unexpired "Duck Stamp" to hunt migratory waterfowl. This must be had in addition to the state hunting license and all persons regardless of age or sex must have a license to hunt in Kentucky. The "Duck Stamp" can be purchased at the local post office and costs $1 for each stamp. Only one stamp is required by each person during the open duck season.

CHURCHES OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

"Probation after death" is the subject of the Lesson - Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world on Sunday, October 22, 1939.

The Golden Text is: "Blessed is the man that endureth temptation; for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him." (James 1:12.)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson Sermon is the following from the Bible: "I have set the Lord always before me: because he is at my right hand, I shall not be moved." (Psalm 16:8.)

Any system can be defeated by one man who places himself out of harmony with it.

Strong men can always afford to be gentle. Only the weak are intent on "giving as good as they get." The best preparation for good work tomorrow is to do good work today. The best preparation for life in the hereafter is to live now.

He has achieved success who has lived well, laughed often and loved much.

Better mend one fault in yourself than a hundred in your neighbor.

Do unto others as though you were others.

The sad thing about the optimist is his state of mind concerning himself.

A man who's turned a lot of women's heads is the barber.

Good Tools for Good Work

It is our declared policy to make our railroad a good place to work by assuring employees both reasonable wages and fair treatment in working conditions.

To these must be added our provision of the proper tools to enable them to perform their tasks with the greatest ease and efficiency.

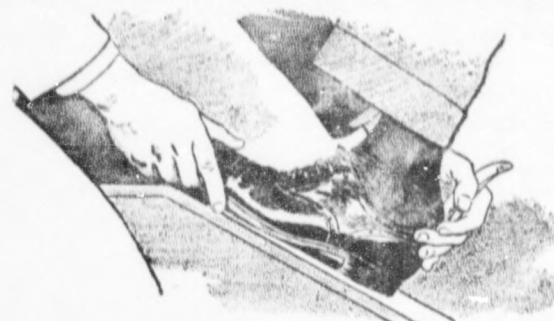

The tools which the employees of the Illinois Central System use in the transportation of freight and passengers consist of our property, mainly road and equipment. In these tools we have invested some $750,000,000, or just about $25,000 per employee.

Behind each of our workers therefore is an investment in tools equivalent to the cost of a fully equipped farm, a well stocked store or a small factory.

This investment is constantly being increased as improvements are adopted for the betterment of the service our railroad provides for its patrons.

DO YOU KNOW?

—THAT BETWEEN 1933 AND 1937, (THE LATEST FIGURE AVAILABLE) THE VALUE OF KENTUCKY MANUFACTURES ROSE FROM $298,000,000 TO $505,000,000?

—THAT A GREAT PART OF THIS RISE IN KENTUCKY'S INDUSTRIAL IMPORTANCE WAS DUE TO THE KENTUCKY DISTILLING INDUSTRY ALONE?

—THAT THERE IS NO FARMER, MERCHANT OR WORKING MAN IN THE STATE WHO DOES NOT BENEFIT FROM KENTUCKY'S NEW-FOUND INDUSTRIAL LIFE?

A GOOD PART OF KENTUCKY'S PROSPERITY HINGES ON KENTUCKY'S DISTILLING INDUSTRY

vehicle, "Fifth Avenue Girl," comes to the Fulton screen Sunday with the famous comedienne in the role of an unemployed girl who takes the job of bringing a rich and careless family to its collective senses.

The job is forced on her by the nominal head of the family, a millionaire manufacturer who is getting fed up with the selfishness and indifference of his wife and children. He brings the sidewalk Cinderella to stay as a guest in his palatial but morgue-like Fifth Avenue mansion, letting his horrified relatives believe he intends to marry the girl as soon as his wife has secured the divorce she is secretly planning.

The mother does her best to drive the intruder away; the "deb" daughter is in love with the social-conscious family chauffeur, seeks the girl's aid and advice; the son believing her to be an outright gold-digger, endeavors to break up the fancied affair between her and his father. And the father, delighted with the outcome of his scheme, finds he is once more being looked upon as a man instead of as a bank account.

How the plan works out, with its expected and unexpected results makes for the gay ending to the picture. Miss Rogers, of course, plays the role of the fixer-upper, and Walter Connolly that of the harassed millionaire. Tim Holt and Kathryn Adams are seen as the son and daughter, respectively, of the family, James Ellison as the chauffeur and Verree Teasdale as the wife, while Franklin Pangborn, Ferike Boros, Theodore Von Eltz and Louis Calhern have important supporting roles.

A column conducted for news, views and comments, in which readers of The News are invited to participate. Mail contributions care of THE FORUM, this newspaper.

Sunday; by the local Elks Club, under the direction of Chelso G. Cissna, was packed with thrills. The midget cars—midget in size, but a whirlwind of speed—gave exciting exhibitions in speed and hair-raising daredevilry. The crowd was amazed at the terrible speed that was made around in the half-mile dirt track. All the drivers were good sports and gave the finest racing program ever witnessed in this section.

The Elks, the various committees which served in arranging the program, and Mr. Cissna, are to be praised for the splendid work done in providing such fine entertainment. People attended for many miles around, and racers were brought here from Illinois, Missouri, Arkansas and Memphis.

The screen play was written by Allan Scott and the film, which is Miss Rogers' first "solo" vehicle for four years, also presented a new candidate for screen honors in Miss Adams, a Minnesota schoolgirl, discovered in the "Gateway to Hollywood" talent quest.

FOR INCREASED FARM PRICES

It is interesting to observe that Secretary Wallace has announced that a twenty per cent advance in the general level of farm prices would be regarded with favor by the administration, provided the increase was based on sound consumer demand and not on "speculative activity."

Mr. Wallace points out that recent increases in the prices of farm products have not brought quotations up to the level sought by the administration under its crop control and other farm provisions.

A price advance, due to speculation, would not, in the long run, benefit producers of farm products. It would tend to upset present production programs and, when the reaction sets in, after overproduction, do the farmers much more harm than good.

The racing classic, sponsored here three times blindfolded, held the crowd spellbound. It was a marvelous exhibition of nerve, courage and showmanship.

The races held here Sunday will obtain national publicity in a racing magazine with nation-wide circulation. The local track is said to be one of the fastest half-mile tracks in the country, and it has been urged that other speed classics be held here some time in the future.

Mr. Cissna is to be commended for the splendid work that he has done in showmanship and publicizing the local fair grounds and Fulton. He's a man that knows his job, and does it. Speaker at Fulton High

Dr. Don P. Hawkins of the First Christian Church spoke to the students of the high school last Tuesday morning.

He spoke on the "Great Personalities," of men who became famous and their consideration of others. He pointed out that personality and consideration of others leads to more friends and fortune in life.

The band's fame has greatly increased since the first of last week, because of the fact that their fine performance on Murray's gridiron last Thursday night produced many praises from those of high authority. The principal of Murray High made a statement that he thought Fulton's band is the second best in West Kentucky. Undoubtedly is true, because the citizens of Fulton have given "concrete" support to the band.

The Bulldogs played a splendid game at Murray last week, when they held Murray 6 to 6. The Murray Tigers went over for a touchdown in the first quarter and James White went over for the Bulldogs in the third quarter, tying the game. The extra points for both teams were unsuccessful. During the last few minutes of the game both sides fought hard for possession of the ball.

There will be no game played tonight. But one is scheduled between Cadiz and Fulton Oct. 26.

GRAVES COUNTY SUPT. IS PRESIDENT OF FDEA

W. H. Baldree, superintendent of Graves county schools, was elected president of the First District Education Association at its annual session in Murray last Friday. He succeeds W. P. Caplinger of Murray. Mr. Baldree is teacher retirement chairman for the KEA in the First District and last year was president of the rural life conference of teachers held at Bowling Green.

Matt Sparkman, Benton, was chosen vice-president, and Ed Filbeck of Murray was chosen director.

Recommendations made by resolution included: that a state-wide teacher retirement system become mandatory; that an equalization fund be established so that teachers' salaries need not be reduced to pay transportation costs for pupils in consolidated districts; Federal support for education; "professionalization of the teaching profession, and a $15 school per capita.

Speakers during the day were: Everitt Witt, Bowling Green, president of the Kentucky Education Association, Dr. Anna D. Cordts of Rutgers University, Dr. Robert Hall of Michigan City, Ind., and Mr. Caplinger, superintendent of Murray schools and out-going president of the district association.

MENTHO-MULSION

ECONOMIC HIGHLIGHTS

As this column pointed out last week, American industrial production in many fields has shot suddenly upward, even though consumption has remained at about the same level. Obvious reason for the rise is the expectation of big war orders from Europe, plus the supposition that raw material prices are due to go up and stay up. Manufacturers have figured that they'd best buy heavy stocks at once, while prices are relatively low, and be prepared for big business when Europe begins calling for supplies.

But, going by some significant recent indications, there is a very good chance that the manufacturers who have been planning on a major war boom taking place soon will be fooled—and that the "war prosperity" balloon may be rudely deflated.

In the first place, it is a certainty that our only major war customers will be England and France—Britannia rules the waves, and the German merchant marine has been almost entirely driven to cover. Britain has been preparing for this war for a long time. She didn't say much about it, but has been laying in abnormally heavy supplies of basic materials for many months. The result is that considerable time must go by before she will have to face a shortage of any important material asset.

In the second place, the allies must husband their slender gold possessions. They haven't any money to spend foolishly. Every penny expended must do two pennies' work, if possible. That means Britain will exhaust to the utmost the resources of that empire on which the sun never sets, before she makes any big purchases elsewhere. And the British empire (taking it for granted that her fleet will be able to keep the trade lanes open, and hold down losses from German submarine, battleship and air attack to a minimum) is exceedingly rich in almost everything that is necessary to the maintenance of a country either war or peace. To a considerably lesser extent, this is also true of the French empire. And what the French lack will, as long as possible, be supplied them by the British.

The effect of the war so far has been harmful to American business. England and her possessions normally constitute our largest single foreign customer. The outbreak of hostilities caused an immediate drop in British imports from this country. Where, for instance, we used to have a fine stable market in England for perishable fruit, that market has dwindled—and, we think in the near future it may disappear entirely.

There is one obvious exception to this—and the exception is arms. If the embargo is removed, we may confidently expect the munitions industries to boom. Britain is not able to produce adequate war materials, even though all the resources of her great manufacturing establishments are today being given to supplying her soldiers with the weapons of destruction. If you have airplanes, rifles, shells, or machine guns to sell, you have no need to worry about your future business—you will probably receive more orders than you can handle, if the war goes on. But producers of other materials on a big scale in anticipation of sustained and growing foreign demand, may be sadly disappointed. The truth is that if the war lasts long, all of Europe will be practically out of gold, and won't be able to buy here no matter how great the need, unless this government permits belligerents to obtain American credit. And the temper of Congress now is almost 100 per cent against that.

The new equipment is known as "The Sealed Beam Headlight System." No dirt, dust or moisture can penetrate the sealed unit to corrode the reflecting surfaces and lens. More light, properly distributed is thrown on the road surfaces. The new lamps throw two light beams. The lower beam is for city driving and the top beam for country driving. These lights provide more protection and greater safety after dark on the nation's streets and highways. Why does man make it a rule to take off his hat when riding in a hotel elevator carrying a woman? Why will man always pause to let a lady go first when entering or leaving a building? Why, at social functions, will man spend an entire evening bobbing up and down like a jumping jack whenever a lady enters the room? Why does man maintain a general policy of courtesy to all members of the fair sex? If you have that answer, then answer this one, too—just let a lady get behind the wheel of a motor.

A bandit who stopped Burt Morris on a street in Clarksville, Tenn., robbed him of $8 and a set of false teeth he had in his pocket.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE IN THE FULTON NEWS
"Advertising in the Fulton News sells the goods," writes the Creomulsion Company, makers of Creomulsion, one of the largest selling cough medicines on the market today, in releasing a new series of ads on their product.

Creomulsion, acknowledged by thousands of satisfied customers as a superior prescription for the relief of stubborn Coughs, heavy Chest Colds and Bronchial Irritations, is sold by all drug stores on the basis that if the desired results are not obtained the entire purchase price is refunded.

Another disadvantage of being a fat man is that it is so difficult to convince the thin fellows that he really works hard.

Many a slow thinker gets an undeserved reputation for being a conservative.

One nice thing about the old-style telephone that hung on the wall—the pest who used it had to quit talking when his leg gave out.

In view of the needless noise that assails our ears, it's a good thing that rusty brains don't squeak.

WE DELIVER

The Spirit of Pioneers

When the cry of "Westward Ho!" resounded from the wagon train a century or more ago, American milling made its way along side our pioneer forefathers. So important was milling in frontier days that the traditional name "Honest Old Miller" is to be remembered even until this day.

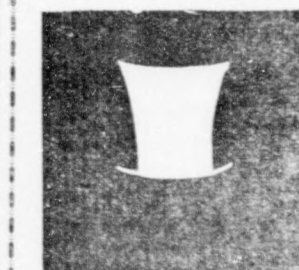

Though we are not pioneers in the making, yet we cling to some of the traditions of the "Honest Old Miller." We contribute liberally toward the advancement of our town and community; we practice honesty and fair dealing in our transactions; we strive at all times to merit the good will and patronage of those who are in the market for our products.

Plenty for all at a fair price is equally beneficial to agriculture and industry.

People who attack the farm program on the ground of scarcity, must not know that AAA insures adequate supplies of food.

A lot more farm families need to form the habit of canning food and producing meat, milk, and eggs for home consumption.

Now is the time to apply lime and phosphate to pastures, while other farm work is slack and roads and fields are easy to haul over.

With the development of community locker refrigeration projects country folks can now have fresh meats at other than "hog-killing" time at a reasonable cost.

Chickens can't stand crowding—provide at least 4 square feet of floor space per hen and about one-third of this should be used for roosting quarters.

The intentional burner who sets the woods on fire to make better grazing range for cattle, or for other selfish reasons, is forest enemy number one in Tennessee.

It costs no more than two and one-fourth cents per bushel to treat small grain seed with "New Improved Ceresan" dust, which is cheap insurance against losses from smut.

Crimson clover may be planted on lespedeza stubble or in mixtures with small grains as late as October 10. Vetch and winter peas may still be sown in cotton and corn middles, but the earlier the better.

SPARKS OF WISDOM

A friend is nature's masterpiece. There are three kinds of friends: those who love you; those who are indifferent to you; and next friend, these being the people who want something that is yours.

Cashier to Relief Cashier; "Jane pretends she doesn't like petting." "But she does anyway?" "You said it, dearie, any way!"

Then there was the male shop-lifter who lifted a skirt and got slapped.

Janet: "I'm free and easy." Jessie: "How dull! I'm expensive and hard to get."

"But my dear Mrs. Van Snitch-witch, you distinctly told me to put an outdoor theatre on your Glen Head estate and not a bird bath," said the wide-eyed landscape architect into the telephone.

Producer: "Buddy, I've got a real part for you. You're going to play a stool-pigeon."

Actor: "Nothing doing. I can't do bird imitations."

"Aren't you afraid, Your Excellency, that somebody will send you a package containing a time bomb?" asked the king.

And the King replied: "Oh, no, my secretary has a face that would stop any clock!"

On a signboard which read, "Don't mix gasoline and liquor," a staggering gentleman scribbled, "OK, I wouldn't like it anyway."

A wise man reflects before he speaks. A fool speaks and then reflects on what he uttered.

RED CROSS ASKS EVERY ADULT IN KENTUCKY TO JOIN

Annual Rollcall from November 11 to November 30 Expected to Result in Considerable Increase in Membership—Past Service or Organization Recalled

The American Red Cross, in its 1939 Roll call Campaign in Kentucky, has no fixed goal this year, but every effort is to be made to enroll every person in the state before the close of the rollcall November 30.

Starting on Armistice Day this gives the workers in Kentucky nineteen days, or nearly three full weeks, to put into effect the 1939 slogan: "Every Adult a Member."

Prospects for success are enhanced by recent work of the Red Cross in relieving distress due to floods, which was, as usual, first to come to the rescue in early 1937 along the Ohio river and first on the scene with help for the sufferers in the "flash" floods in 1939.

Heaviest losses were caused by the "flash" floods in Eastern Kentucky, caused by cloudbursts which turned small creeks into raging torrents which swept houses from their foundations and washed away gardens and crops, as well as drowning many who were caught like rats in a trap. Even livestock in the fields was drowned and the Red Cross had to replace furniture in many homes in the stricken area. Red Cross workers all over Kentucky are preparing for the campaign which is to give every adult in the state an opportunity to join the organization. By November 11 everything will be in readiness to start the actual work of "signing up" the people. The Junior Red Cross, in which many young Kentuckians are enrolled, is not to be neglected and the work of the Red Cross in every department will go on as usual.

Be thankful that we live in a country where they carve up a turkey instead of the map.—Eddie Cantor.
