THE LISTENING POST

● The afternoon had been extremely hot. There was little breeze and when it did come it burned the face. The sun shone with a brassy glare, an intense heat, and I wondered as I turned down the last fairway at the Country Club if I had enough energy to carry me in. It had been a sapping round, perhaps the most uncomfortable round of golf I ever played. I noticed as I faced the north that dark clouds had rolled up, and seemed unnaturally black against the background of sun.

● Ordinarily I loaf around the golf course after a round, for it is usually cool there, but Friday it was not cool and I hurried home. By the time I reached there the dark clouds had rolled nearer, but there was still a great stillness over the earth and a stifling heat. I sat down on the porch in an effort to find some coolness.

● There came a faint puff of wind and it was delightfully cool. Another puff and then the trees began to stir softly. The blessed coolness flowed over me with such a delicious touch that I forgot to be alarmed at the stormy appearance of the sky. I relaxed and let that breeze bathe me with utter coolness. The dark clouds came nearer and nearer, the wind grew stronger and in a few minutes the trees were bending and tossing with the gusty winds. Birds soared and dived about. I wondered if they were frightened or whether they were playing. Like dive bombers, they would come swooping down from great heights and then soar upward as if blown by an unseen power. Leaves on the trees turned inside out, revealing a silvery color that is rarely seen. Rabbits came tearing out of the fields as if seeking refuge and disappeared in the grove across the way. Spike the dog came in from one of his many rabbit chases, whining and crying, and understanding hands opened the door to the basement and Spike scooted in to take refuge behind the brick walls of the cellar. Thunder and gunfire are the things which bring fear to Spike and his refuge is always the basement.

● Thunder was now rolling from those black clouds and jagged shafts of lightning tore through them constantly. I held my place on the porch watching the approach of the storm. By this time I was scared, but I decided long ago that precautions are useless against storms and lightning. I wanted to see the rain come, for nothing is more beautiful than to see a storm cloud roll in and begin its attack on a waiting, yearning world.

● The yard looked quite green, I thought with its thick, luxuriant grass, for it still shows the effect of the last rain. But I was to see in a few minutes the miraculous effect of rain. The rain came in fitful gusts, driven by the steady wind and then came harder and harder. Looking at the grass I could actually see it change in appearance. Before my eyes it became greener and greener and I am almost willing to swear that it also grew in length and texture as I looked. It drank up the rain greedily, it glistened under the steady downpour and minute by minute it grew greener and greener.

● For a few minutes the rain continued, then ceased and the sun tore through the massed clouds to make a gigantic rainbow in the east. A wonderful coolness fell upon the earth as dusk came, and a great moon crept into view. Trees were thicker, greener, dust had disappeared, the grass was soft and lush under foot and what a delight to crawl into bed and feel that splendid coolness creeping in from outside; what a joy to pull up a bit of cover and drop off to sleep cool and refreshed.

● It is a wonderful world we have to enjoy.

Improvements Will Be Made At State Capitol

Terrace And Front Approach Soon To Be Reconstructed

Frankfort, Ky. — The terrace and front approach to the state capitol will be reconstructed soon to recondition them in keeping with the new dome and roof.

Bids asked for the terrace and approach also included other extensive work, such as reconditioning the interior marble work, repair of skylights and repointing the exterior stone work.

The dome and roofing job, which included repointing, or replacing mortar, in the stonework on the roof, at a total cost of $60,000, is expected to be completed in a month. The work outlined in today's call for bids was estimated at around $75,000. The bids are to be opened July 29.

Concrete walks around the spacious grounds have been replaced this summer, with many squares replaced by convict labor, in keeping with Gov. Keen Johnson's decision to add to the natural beauty of the building and grounds by repairing the wear and tear of its 30-odd years.

The Governor declared the structure and its lawns already looked "better than in many years" and attributed much of its condition to John Kouns, who became capitol custodian last year.

"He has certainly carried out orders to keep the inside clean, too," added the Governor, referring to the regular dusting and washings given the interior walls and columns by trustees assigned here from the state reformatory.

Lodgston Road Will Be Started

The Works Projects Administration has just notified The Leader that a project has just been released to grade, drain and surface the Lodgston road near Cayce for a distance of almost five miles. Work will start as soon as practicable and the road will be surfaced with bank gravel.

About 100 men will be employed on the project for the next eight months. Total cost is estimated at about $44,000, with a total to the Fulton County Fiscal Court of $12,000.

Another project sponsored by the Fiscal Court is the Wilson Hill road near Brownsville, about one and a half miles to be graded, drained and surfaced with bank gravel. 48 men will be given employment here for six months, and the total cost is estimated at $18,000, of which the county will pay $5,000.

Throw Away White Collar And Get Overalls If You Want Money

Louisville, Ky. — "Throw away that white collar, get into overalls and make some money."

So advises Richard Bean, retired business man who heads the Louisville Board of Trade's "training within industry committee."

The committee is helping the government place men in defense industries and at the same time "helping the men find places where they can learn and practice a trade which pays top money and at the same time enable them to help their country," Bean said in an interview.

"The proposition is this simple," Bean explained. "The dollars go to the man who learns to handle tools and machines...the dimes to the fellow whose two-bit ambition is to wear a white collar even if he doesn't make enough to have it laundered."

"The white collar man without specialized training," he emphasized, "is making from $15 to $25 a week; the fellow in overalls is making $30 to $50."

Utah Governor Visits Old Home At Paintsville

Paintsville, Ky. — Gov. Herbert V. Maw of Utah, on his first visit to Kentucky and the district of which his mother is a native, drank water from the old well at his mother's birthplace, and before leaving today, promised to return soon for a longer visit.

Maw was accompanied by his mother and father, his wife and a son and daughter. They visited at the home of Mrs. J. B. Wheatly, a family friend, and later made a trip to the farm where the elder Mrs. Maw was born and reared.

The Governor is making a leisurely tour homeward after attending the Governor's conference in Boston. He also visited President Roosevelt while in Washington.

He said he would stop over in Louisville before driving on to Salt Lake City.

London. — British naval forces have intercepted the 7,200-ton German ship Hermes en route from Rio de Janeiro to Hamburg, the Admiralty announced today.

A communiqué said: "The German ship Hermes has been intercepted. Her captain, officers and crew have been taken prisoners. The Hermes left Rio de Janeiro June 28 in an attempt to reach Hamburg."

The Hermes arrived in Rio de Janeiro April 9 after a twenty-day voyage from Bordeaux, occupied France, with a cargo of pharmaceutical supplies and a plane.

United States Dry Law Drive Is Urged By Group Of Youth

Atlantic City, N. J. — A campaign for return of prohibition was proposed to the International Christian Endeavor Society in biennial convention today.

"The present national emergency makes even more imperative prompt and decisive action," Dr. Daniel A. Polling of Philadelphia, president of the society, which claims 2,000,000 members in the United States and Canada told 6,000 delegates last night. "Alcohol has less than nothing to contribute to the national defense."

Asserting the society faced "a greater task" than it did more than two decades ago before the last World War, Dr. Polling said: "For every person of 1911 there are now at least three similar, or worse, places of liquor sale. There is work for us to do. Here and now we renew our pledge, rededicate ourselves to solution of the liquor problem and here we shall make our plans to contribute our maximum service in the interests of a sober America."

Delegates loudly applauded these statements, as well as Dr. Polling's proposal that Christian Endeavor youth campaign for establishment of a world-wide governmental authority, backed by military forces, with power to maintain "peace and justice" among nations.

Lions Club In First Meeting Under New Head

The Lions Club held its first meeting yesterday since it passed under the presidency of F. H. Riddle. No meeting was held last week because the meeting date fell on the Fourth of July, and the meeting yesterday was held in the dining room of the First Methodist Church. Secretary Putnam announced the appointment of various committees, and Billie Whitnell had charge of the program. He held a sort of round table discussion of current events, calling on various members to express their views on aspects of the present war. Among those who talked were Earl Taylor, Dr. B. Cravens, Louis Kananow, Aaron Butts, Harold Thomas, Ernest Fall, Dr. J. L. Jones.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. James Boaz and little son, Sam Wade, who are spending this week with his mother, Mrs. Sam Winston, Green street, will leave Monday for Humboldt, Tenn., for a visit with Mrs. Boaz's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Tan Hart, Mrs. Ed Willingham, Mrs. Carl Puckett, Mrs. J. T. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Butts, Miss Mary Miller, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Speight, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Varden attended the ice cream supper at Cayce last evening.

ENGLAND MOVES TO STANDARDIZE MEN'S CLOTHING

London. — Standardized men's clothes will be on sale in Britain this fall and standardized women's and children's clothing are expected later, Metford-Watkins, director-general of civilian clothing announced today.

Men's ready-made tweed suits will sell at 85 shillings ($13) and worsted suits at 75 shillings ($15) and will be guaranteed to meet a minimum standard of quality.

(The standardization evidently will mean turning out of garments by the hundreds with a minimum of patterns and perhaps a restricted cloth selection.)

SENATOR NORRIS, 60, AT WORK IN OFFICE

Washington. — It was "just an ordinary working day" for Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska today on his eightieth birthday.

The white-haired Independent, erect and looking physically fit, planned to work as usual at his office, where, as one of his aids put it, "there are always plenty of things the Senator insists on attending to personally."

Charles Gregory Is Candidate For City Council Post

In this issue it is a pleasure for The Leader to be authorized to make the announcement that Charles Gregory, well-known young business man, is a candidate for the City Council, subject to the action of the Democratic primary next month. Mr. Gregory will sincerely appreciate the support of the voters and pledges his best efforts, if elected, to serve the community to the best of his ability.

For several weeks it has been known that Mr. Gregory was being urged by his many friends to allow his name to be used. He is a busy young man, being in the oil distributing business, and was somewhat averse to making such a campaign. "However, I soon saw that my friends were determined for me to get into the campaign," Mr. Gregory said. "I could not gracefully refuse their request and I finally gave in to this continued pressure. While I know that the office will take some time, if I am elected to it, I also know that any citizen should be willing to give his time for community work, and I will be glad to do this if the voters see fit to put me in the office."

Mr. Gregory is a successful young business man, level headed, clear thinking, industrious and is well qualified in every way to make this city a good Councilman. The Leader is glad to carry this announcement and to recommend Mr. Gregory to the voters. He can really render distinguished service in the post, for he has the qualifications for it.

Peace Suspends Hopper Manager Indefinitely

Hopkinsville, Ky. — President Shelby Peace of the Kitty League announced tonight he has suspended Manager Chet Wilburn of Hopkinsville indefinitely pending further investigation of charges Wilburn kicked Umpire Howard Murff on the shin during an argument at Fulton Wednesday night.

The Kitty president said the length of the suspension will depend upon the information obtained from some eye-witnesses to the argument at Fulton, which occurred in the seventh inning of the second game of a doubleheader after Murff had called Hopkinsville's Tony Kvedar out at third base while the Hoppers were trailing 1-0.

Roy Lee, southpaw pitcher, is scheduled to serve as acting manager for the Hoppers when they play Mayfield in a doubleheader Saturday. Games are scheduled for 3 and 8:30 p. m. as a result of the postponement of the opening game of the series tonight because of rain.

United States May Blacklist German Purchasing Firms

Washington — United States defense officials, determined to end leakage of American goods to Germany, were reported giving serious consideration today to the compilation of a world-wide list of firms which serve as Nazi purchasing agents.

The British are known to have a "blacklist," as such listings are called when prepared by belligerent governments, and presumably this blacklist has been made available to American officials for such use as they desire.

Other sources of information understood to be at the disposal of Brig. Gen. Russell L. Maxwell, export control chief, include an inventory being made by the treasury of foreign assets frozen in this country and data on Nazi activities in South America gathered by the office of commercial and cultural relations between the American Republics.

Tax Load Heavier Than Anticipated

State Income Levies May Be Added To Those Of Federal Government

Washington. — Treasury experts, giving a thought to the many state taxes, warned today that the jolt of next year's income taxes is going to be heavier than many people anticipated.

For instance, assuming enactment of the new federal income tax program along the lines planned by the House ways and means committee, a married man with one child and a $10,000 taxable income will owe Uncle Sam $1,116.

But if the man lived in New York, he would have to add on about $260 for the New York income tax, and his total tax bill for income taxes would be $1,376. In California, he'd add $92, in Missouri $165 and in North Carolina $348.

If the examples were tested on married men with one child and an income of only $2,500, his federal tax would be $5.50, plus state taxes of $3 in Missouri and $9 in North Carolina. His personal and family exemptions would be enough to escape the New York and California taxes.

These figures are not necessarily typical, but 31 states have individual income taxes similar to the federal levy. Besides income taxes, of course, both state and federal government have a multiplicity of tobacco, liquor, sales, estate, and other taxes.

One reason the state income taxes will make a heavy addition to the federal tax in many cases is that some states do not permit their citizens to make deductions for their federal taxes, although the federal government gives a credit for state income taxes. Of the four states used as examples in this article, only Missouri gives a credit for federal income tax.

At present the proposed federal income tax would be a 4 per cent "normal" tax plus an immediate "surtax" of from 5 to 75 per cent, plus a defensive tax equal to 10 per cent of the normal and surtax rates.

Lear Denies Punishment Unjust For Members Of Troop Convoy

Memphis, Tenn. — Stern-visaged Lieut. Gen. Ben Lear has replied to Congressional criticism of the penance march he ordered for the yoo-hooing troops with a declaration that as long as he remains Second Army commander "soldierly standards of conduct will be demanded of all individuals in uniform."

General Lear telegraphed Representative Kilday (D., Texas), member of a special House subcommittee investigating personnel matters in the defense program, who yesterday wired Lear he contemplated a resolution to investigate Lear's "severe punishment" of some 350 soldiers for yelling at golfers as they passed through Memphis Sunday. The General said his action was "neither unjust nor severe."

Contrast Cited
Lear's response was released last night by Second Army headquarters here. It said, in part: "I am responsible for the training of all elements of this (Second) Army and for raising all elements to the highest attainable standards of conduct and combat efficiency. Nothing less will secure this country's successful defense against the soldiers."

Representative Kilday's message made reference to "strong evidence of your personal displeasure and desire for revenge." General Lear pointed out to reporters that he was in civilian clothes at the time and apparently unrecognized by the soldiers.

Editorial

LET'S HAVE THE INVESTIGATION

It is quite an interesting story which is coming out of Frankfort these days. The people of the Commonwealth are entitled to hear the story in its full details. It involves the spending of public money. It involves the action of men who are hired to do the necessary work of the state and who are fully responsible to the people. There is no need in covering up any of the details.

It appears that charges have been made that unnecessary things have been bought, that certain sellers have been favored over other sellers, or would-be sellers, and the state attorney general is asking a full investigation. Mr. Meredith, the Attorney general, has always been a fighter for such things, and is usually in conflict with the Administration. His opposition usually centers on J. Dan Talbott, and this incident is only another in a long series. Mr. Talbott, following his usual custom, is denying that any irregularities exist, and thus far Governor Johnson has tried to steer a neutral course and avoid lining up with either side. He has asked that an investigation be made, and now various critics of the Administration, including Howard Henderson, the most persistent critic of all, are saying that what is needed is an investigation and not an audit. Henderson says that Mr. Talbott is insisting on a mere audit. An audit will show, Henderson says, that the books are in order; and an investigation will show the condition which really exists.

This newspaper does not know, of course, whether there is any basis for the charges which have been made. However, even if the charges are without foundation, the public is entitled to a full and complete investigation. It is the business of the people; they furnish the money and hire the men who spend the money and they are fully entitled to know where the money goes, for what purpose and what was received in return. They are also entitled to the knowledge that the money was spent for the best offer, all things considered, and not spent with some person who happened to be such a friend of the man who was spending that he got the money without giving full value for it.

The entire matter may be tempest in a teapot. General Meredith had done some tilting at windmills in the past and may be doing some more. On the other hand, he may have a good case against Mr. Talbott. Mr. Talbott does not like investigations, and Mr. Meredith does. Surely by this time the charges have been developed sufficiently for the Governor to know whether there is anything in them or not. If there appears to be any basis for the charges there should be a rigid and sweeping investigation. If there is any favoritism being shown certain men or groups of men by the purchasing division, these things should be brought into the light and dealt with. There should be no effort made to cover up or whitewash such things.

In many states it has been quite common for such things to exist. They should not exist anywhere, for the people are entitled to all the facts of their state government. Mr. Talbott is simply a hired man who works for the state. There is nothing sacred about him. There is nothing sacred about any

Fifteen Years Ago

(July 12, 1926)

Selected Feature

VITAMINS TRIUMPHANT

The dope's out now that we're going to get Vitamin B1 in soft drinks. That seems to have located it in everything but family water faucet and it may be there soon. For a staid profession the ranks of materia medica—certainly get up some quickies, and there have been a lot of them in between since appendicitis was as important as knowing the right people, but the Vitamin whirl casts them all in the shade.

There is still a sturdy old fashioned element that is insisting that the right kind of food, which broken down seems to mean the good old meat and vegetables Grandma cooked, has all the Vitamins we need, but they are lost in the Vitamin gale.

Most troublesome of the Vitamin arguments is now between the two schools of dispensers. One claims taken by the mouth they will work all right, whereas the other insists, they must be pushed into the veins by the needle route because too much of their contents is lost in the slow process of digestion and absorption. This is just a side issue, however, for one way or another we're bound to get them.

Some people claim magical results and it has been noted that their intense application has been known to induce an effort similar to that begot by three double whiskies in a row. In fact one husband has sued for divorce on the grounds his wife got so vitaminized she thought she was a baseball pitcher and used a flat-iron for a ball and his skull for some plate.

At any rate they're bound to be hot stuff while they last, and the Man from Mars is pretty fast being run out of ideas.—Sun-Democrat.

AMONG THE COUNTY AGENTS

Raising of vetch has increased in Perry County during the past two years, with prospects of its being the leading fall cover crop.

Wayne county farmers last month bought several purebred bulls to place as heads of herds.

Daviess county farmers used Vitamin B-1 on their tobacco plant beds, with good results.

state employee. There should be no secrecy about any financial matters in Frankfort. Common folks furnish the money and they have the right to know what is done with all public funds. If we have any state officials who believe otherwise this is just as good a time as any to let them know they are wrong in such beliefs.

Governor Johnson should throw the entire matter wide open for full investigation.

Rain Causes Postponement Of Three Games In Kitty League

Only one game was played in the Kitty loop last night as rain fell over a large section of the circuit. Jackson managed to get in a game at Lakeview Park, defeating Owensboro, but all other teams were idle. Fulton was in Bowling Green to open a three game series, and the rained out game will probably be played in a double bill Sunday afternoon.

It has been announced that Manager Wilburn of Hopkinsville has been suspended pending an investigation of his ruin with Umpire Murff here recently. Wilburn, so it is said, denies that he kicked the umpire, claiming he merely kicked dirt on him. The umpire says that he was kicked in the shins, and President Peace is expecting to take some eye-witness testimony here in Fulton. The incident occurred in the last inning of the final Hopkinsville game here, Manager Wilburn following the umpire down to the first base line after a close play at third which stopped a Hopkinsville rally.

Independents To Play Here Sunday

College Given Right To Pay $10,000 In Bills

Frankfort, Ky. — Assistant Attorney General W. Owen Keller gave approval Friday to a proposal by the Kentucky State College for Negroes to apply approximately $10,000 from its revolving fund to unpaid bills accumulated in the fiscal years ended in 1938, 1939 and 1940.

George L. Evans, finance director in the State Education Department,

FULTON STARTING SUNDAY

Dorothy Lamour has two sweethearts to whom she's true—Bob Hope and the rest of the army. Her three khaki knights, Lynne Overman, Eddie Bracken and Hope make life interesting for her in "Caught in the Draft," Paramount's merry military hilarity which comes to the FULTON THEATRE on Sunday. She's the colonel's daughter and there's little these boys haven't taught her—especially when it comes to keeping them out of the clink.

said the debts amounted to about $18,000. They resulted, he said, and other education officials have said, through "poor business management" by the boarding department of the school, which was followed by replacement of the individual held responsible.

offer of July 9 and suggesting that a lease be prepared and sent here for signing.

Secretary Patterson wrote that the Army intended to use the institution for treatment of mental cases developing among soldiers. The hospital, started during the administration of Gov. A. B.

Chandler, has cost an estimated $1,200,000, according to State Welfare Commissioner W. A. Frost. He said the state furnished $856,000 and the WPA the remainder. The hospital, consisting of a main building with a 250-bed capacity and a service building, housing the light, water and garbage disposal plant, never has been equipped by the state. In welfare circles it has been estimated it would require from $300,000 to $400,000 to equip it.

FULL-FLOATING RIDE
and
ALL-FLUID DRIVE

There aren't any sails, or masts, or sea-rigging on Dodge—but she's got mighty propellers amidships. She's the smoothest thing afloat—on the highway. Her power ebbs and flows without the jerks or jolts that go with shifting when you don't want to shift, or clutching when you don't choose to clutch. Dodges float, all right—but they'll float at terrific speed; they're steady and sturdy and low to the ground—they steer a true course.

They are full of features made famous by time. They lead in buoyant riding ease all their own—as you'll find for yourself when you call back your first joys of driving in these cars that almost drive themselves.
