FULTON, KY., FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1939.

NUMBER FORTY-ONE.

10,000 EXPECTED AT RACES HERE SUNDAY

The Elks of Fulton are staging one of the finest shows ever to be held in Fulton when they have their second annual Elk's Races next Sunday. Midget cars from Missouri, Illinois, Arkansas, and Tennessee will participate in this event. You will see some of the fastest race drivers in the central west when you see them in their fast little cars speeding around the half mile track from 60 to 70 miles an hour. Thousands who did not get to see these little speed demons when they were here on October 15th will have another opportunity this season to see these fast little cars run.

Dare-Devil Joe, The Man With the Iron Nerve

Dare-devil Joe, the man with the iron nerve will again duplicate his hair-raising stunt of driving 99 miles an hour around the track blindfolded, in his ride with death. This event alone is worth the price of admission. Every one should see this mental test so perfectly performed.

Hobo Race

In the Hobo Race you will see some real speed for you will see some of Fulton's finest and fastest drivers. Such popular drivers as Johnnie Owens, John Thompson, Jack Davania, Edward Hewitt, Lee Earl, Coy Wilson, Sonnie Madden, and "Shorty" Long. Entries are not in so far on all of these cars and there may be other entries of other cars from Union City and other towns. You can expect to see one of the best big car races ever held here as the age of the cars has been raised this time to include the 1933 models.

Special Added Attraction—Mickey Martin and His Hell-Riders

Mickey Martin, known the world over as "King of the Dare Devils" with his troupe of stunt drivers will appear on the program and will offer to the crowds the most sensational, fearless, reckless, Dare-Devils-Hell-Riders to be seen anywhere. Mr. Martin and his company like all other show people are on their way south for the winter and the Elks are fortunate indeed to secure them for this event. Not only is Mickey Martin a world-famous Dare-Devil but he carries a crew of reckless Dare-Devs that will thrill the audience beyond your expectation, when they perform such stunts as jumping a stock automobile over the tops of two large trucks and two parked sedans. Mickey Martin holds the world's record for broad jumping an automobile, having sent his car hurdling a distance of 94 feet and 7 inches in Atlanta, Ga., this spring. Mickey and his troupe of world renowned "Hell Riders" will present several other acts of dare-devilry during the afternoon when you will see Miss Ann Terry matching her nerve and daring against that of seasoned race drivers and veteran stunt men. She will present one of the most sensational, thrilling, and spectacular stunts ever attempted when she drives her car over an elevated platform at a mile a minute speed and crash through a solid board wall while it is a raging mass of flames. Miss Terry is said to be the only lady board wall crasher alive today. The only other member of her sex to attempt the act having been instantly killed several years ago.

WILL CRASH CAR INTO SOLID STONE WALL HERE SUNDAY

Positively the newest and most daring stunt known to thrilldom (shown above) that of crashing an automobile into a huge stone wall at a mile-a-minute with the driver staying in the car during the impact, will be another death-defying feature of the Elk's combination auto race and thrill show programs at Fulton Fair grounds Sunday afternoon. "Doggie" Artrip, member of Mickey Martin's "Hell Riders," will be the pilot in this stunt. The wall will be some twelve feet long, four feet high, and four feet thick. It will be constructed from concrete blocks and building stone and will weigh around twenty tons. Artrip will also do his famous "suicide slide" off the rear bumper of an automobile traveling 60 miles an hour without the use of pads on any part of his body.

John Earle Speaks At Rotary Club

John Earle, local Chevrolet dealer, presented a vocational program at the Rotary Club Tuesday. He told of the problems that pertain to the retailing of automobiles. He explained that the automobile industry is expanding annually. In 1912 there were 289 Chevrolets sold. In 1928, sixteen years later, there were 1,250,000 cars sold.

He said that Chevrolet dealers must use a standard set of books, and must turn in a monthly report. He also stated that the dealer must make a monthly parts report, requiring a monthly inventory covering 2500 parts. This report is due the third Thursday in each month. Next week Clyde Williams will speak on "Money Mysteries."

Grant & Company Features Fast Selling Event In This Issue

Grant & Company is featuring a fall selling event in a special section of THE NEWS this week, and it will be worth your while to turn to it, read the message from the manager, A. R. Roam. He declares that the entire stock of fall and winter merchandise will be placed on sale at ridiculously low prices, and that profits have been forgotten in order to clear the stock and make room for holiday merchandise.

Mr. Roam summed up the situation as follows: "We must sell as much merchandise in November as we ordinarily sell in both October and November due to a late fall. And in order to sell twice as much goods we realize that we are going to have to cut prices, so we have done just that, regardless of previous selling price. Those who take advantage of this sale will be able to buy seasonal merchandise at unusually low cost."

ALL IS READY FOR ROLLCALL OF RED CROSS IN STATE

Campaign to Enroll Every Adult as Member Probably Better Organized than Any Previous Drive, With Chapters Over Kentucky Actively Aiding in Sign-Up.

The 1939 Rollcall of the American Red Cross in Kentucky will start on Armistice Day, November 11, with the rollcall workers probably more thoroughly organized and the chapters of the Red Cross themselves doing more to make certain the success of the campaign than ever before in the history of Red Cross rollcalls in the state.

District or county chairmen have seen to it that their territories have been organized down to the precinct and school district. In most of the cities the campaign has been planned that it is not believed a single person will be overlooked in the effort to enroll every adult in the 1939 rollcall. If any should be overlooked, however, they may enroll by calling at Red Cross headquarters in the county or by communicating with any of the workers.

Committees have been functioning in some of the counties for two and even three weeks. The newspapers, as usual, have given generously of their space to all Red Cross news and news of what the organization is planning to do to help the stricken refugees in Poland and other European countries is read with interest. The American Red Cross now has a delegation in Europe surveying immediate and probable needs as a result of recent happenings there. Items included in the former are 220,000 articles of men's clothing, 83,000 heavy dresses for women and 137,000 sweaters.

There also is a demand for soap to aid the refugees in keeping clean and thus warding off epidemics, besides medicines and foods for those who are ill.

Money Talks

By Frederick Stamm, Economist
Director of Adult Education
UNIVERSITY OF LOUISVILLE

The first nine weeks of the present European war have seen a sensational rise in prices for the things most of us buy. A good many commodities have gone up as much as twenty per cent.

This rise in prices is not due to the scarcity of goods in the United States. The rise is caused by your fear and my fear that the normal production and distribution of goods in the United States will be disrupted.

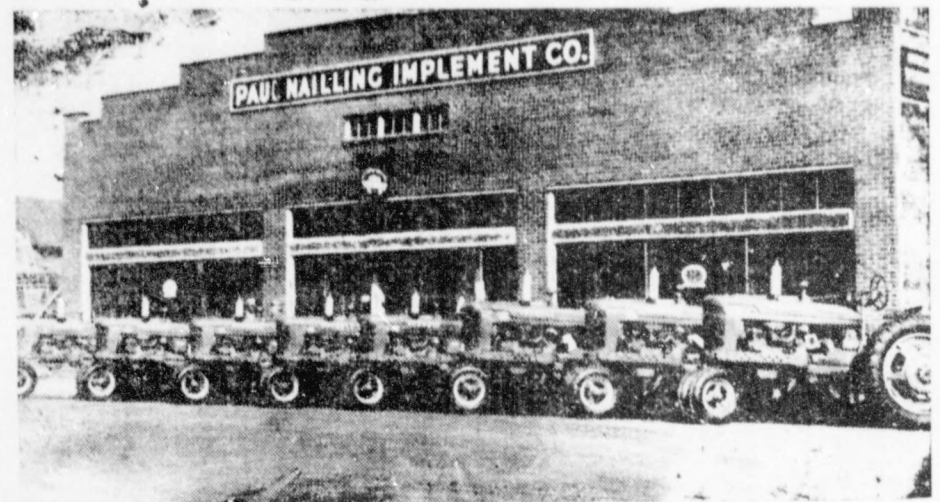

But with our granaries bulging with wheat and corn; with our warehouses filled with cotton; with estimates of inspected hog slaughter for the next twelve months at 47,000,000 as compared with 30,000,000 for the preceding twelve months it is difficult to forecast a violent upturn in prices.

Europe in this war need not depend on the United States for raw materials as she did in the last world war. This should cushion the shock of violent price rises in this country. Wise buying of sugar, canned goods, and such may help you budget some, but if you are buying recklessly and in large quantities, look out! You may wake up some morning to find prices have actually gone down because we are living in a land of plenty where rationing, and therefore higher prices, is unnecessary.

There are a few things in the world worth quarrelling about.

"It is my earnest conviction," remarks Mahatma Gandhi, "that no man loses his freedom, except through his own weakness." That may be so, but it seems hardly gallant to call her that.

STATE LAND USE PROJECTS ATTRACT MANY VISITORS

Four land use projects developed in Tennessee by the United States Department of Agriculture, and turned over to the State Department of Conservation for Maintenance and operation, have attracted large numbers of visitors during the current outdoor season.

The four land use projects, Chickasaw and Henderson, Standing Stone at Livingston, Cedars of Lebanon at Lebanon, and Natchez Trace at Lexington, are now a part of the State park system. Approximately 130,000 persons took advantage of the recreational facilities at these parks during July.

Not only are the land use projects of value to the State from a recreational standpoint, conservationists point out, but they are of benefit to agriculture. These areas, unsuited to farming, have been converted to forest production. The projects aggregate nearly 70,000 acres. The forests will provide cover for the eroded lands and eventually will be the source of steady revenue to the State by regular timber cutting.

All phases of recreation are available to the general public. Group camps were constructed at Henderson and Livingston for the use of 4-H clubs, Future Farmers, Boy and Girl Scouts, church organizations, and other youth groups.

LAUGH AWHILE

The proud mother visited the furniture store to make the final payment on a baby carriage. The ambitious clerk, ever alert for the customer's welfare, inquired:

"And how is the baby?"

"Oh, just fine," answered the mother. He's getting married next week."

She was only a road worker's daughter, but, oh, how she made the grade!

"And is that big, handsome director outspoken?"

"Yes, by his wife."

COP: "You're under arrest, sister."

DANCER: "My goodness."

COP: "Now, your naughtiness."

PRESS AGENT, raving: Well, you're a star now! A star out of the blue!"

ACTRESS: "Yes, and now that I'm a star I'm also out of the red!"

"I played two bit parts while I was in Hollywood."

"Goodness, you didn't make much money at those rates, did you?"

NED: "Is it true that a double feature killed that star?"

TED: "Sure, her two chins."

"The boys are getting fed up with Sally, the salesgirl."

"Why's that?"

"Well, whenever they kill her, she says, 'will that be all?'"

SHE: "It's too warm to go to the movies, but I'll go on one condition."

HE: "What's that, my dear?"

SHE: "Air condition."

"That new actress I hired has hidden talent."

"You said it. She hides it from me and from the audience."

In fact, it's dangerous to have your child's shoes fitted in any other way. The tender child foot with its soft bones and pliant muscle can be compressed into almost any type of shoe. The child, feeling no pain, cannot tell if the shoe fits properly or not.

That's why we insist upon fitting children's shoes by X-Ray. That's the only way we, and you, can be sure that your child's shoes will help to develop normal, healthy feet for a lifetime of foot health and comfort.

THE FORUM

November 6, 1939

Mr. Paul Bushart, Editor Fulton County News, Fulton, Ky.

Dear Mr. Bushart:

After the race that was held in Fulton, Ky., on Sunday, October 15, sponsored by the Elks, together with the promotion being done by that able and square shooter, Mr. Ciasna, several of the race drivers of Midget cars held a meeting in the pits and discussed the race in general and also the fair treatment we as strangers and drivers received in your fair city.

It was the opinion of all present that we had received the very fairest of treatment. That the fans in the Grandstand had done their part by their patronage and by their splendid support by applause, which after all is the cake and honey of the show business. We most certainly enjoyed the hospitality of your wonderful little city and also feel that Fulton has one of the finest one-half mile tracks for racing anywhere in the central west.

The Elks Club and Mr. Ciasna and the press of Fulton are to be congratulated on the splendid shows that you have staged there.

I am advised that the next show will be on Sunday, November 12th, and that the good people of Fulton wish me to come back with my mental test Blindfold driving act. Nothing would please me more and I feel sure that many of my admirers and friends will be there to see this act again. All of the drivers that I have contacted are elated over the fact that we are returning to Fulton for another race of midgets and another good meal at Sizzling Steaks Smiths.

Yours for clean sports and crowds for Fulton.

WELCH HIGH SCHOOL

Welch High School coupled with the most loyal support of the P. T. A. is well under way with work on the most interesting and valuable project ever to be encountered or enjoyed by the school—the WPA hot lunch program.

Monday evening's meeting of the P. T. A. brought forth active participation of its 100 members with a great deal of enthusiasm which in turn produced lavish returns.

A resolution to install the lunch program was unanimously passed which in turn necessitated the adoption of numerous other resolutions. Among the leading resolutions were those which permitted the construction of a concrete floor in the basement, under the auspices of Mr. A. J. Byars and the appointment of a committee for the purpose of investigating the cost and work of the project in general.

An intensive study of the lunch project from all angles, including all prerequisites, presented the old problem of finance and economics. However, Mr. McGehee, secretary and treasurer of P. T. A., reported a favorable balance, approximately one hundred and eighty dollars in the treasury. This report brought about a resolution to draw on the treasury for all necessary finance used on the work of the mentioned project without causing any further and immediate cost to P. T. A.

The history of the hot lunch project reveals the fact that it was instigated for the purpose of providing a balanced diet for the children who were unable financially to bring from home the proper food and thereby were suffering from malnutrition. The project also offers opportunity to those who are financially able to participate at a very cheap rate and thereby permits them to enjoy hot lunch, which is a vital factor in the nourishment of a sound mind and sound body.

The school seeks the co-operation of all patrons and fervently hopes no one will be offended by the pursuits of the program.

We had a large crowd at our ball games Thursday night. The community enjoyed them very much because we won all three games, the scores being: Welch boys first team 26, Sidonia 23; Girls first team 42, Sidonia 32; boys second team 24, Pisgah 11.

Friday night, Nov. 17, Welch will play Panther Creek at Welch. Everyone come.

COUNTY AGENT

Poultry Still Pays a Dividend
Paul Williams of the Crutchenfield community has completed his Poultry Record on a white Leghorn flock for 1939 and has recently filed his financial summary for the year with the county agent, S. V. Foy. This financial summary shows that poultry still deserves consideration in our farm program. Below is a copy of the summary.

Average number of hens for the year 167; Average production per hen 181; Feed cost per hen $1.65; Increase in total value of stock $54.50; Total income from sales and home use $447.47; Total income for year $501.47.

Total feed cost $271.77; Total taxes and insurance $6.00; Total all other expenses $33.75; Total expenses $311.52; Net income $190.45. Interest on beginning inventory at 6% $19.32; Depreciation on equipment $7.50; Total interest and depreciation $26.82; Labor income on poultry $163.64; Labor income per hen $9.7; Total hours of labor 742; Labor income per hour $2.22.

The poultry calendar begins as of October 1 each year and Mr. Williams' summary of October beginning his new record, shows he has 281 birds and received 2591 eggs. His feed cost for the month was $37.30. His total receipts were $51.06. This gives him a profit of $13.76 for the month of October.

Mrs. I. R. Jeffress has 100 Barred Rocks and received 1015 eggs for the month of October. The total feed cost was $10.93 and total receipts were $20.78. That gives a profit of $9.85 for October, 1939.

The average profit of the demonstration flocks reporting was $9.70 for the month. I believe you will

CAPITOL COMMENTS

The political boys supposedly in the know are scratching their heads and are much perturbed over an incident last week.

The political set up in the state has been, one side, the Talbott-Chandler faction and, on the other, the Rhea-Barkley-Laffoon faction, but that seems completely changed under the new Governor.

Last week the Grand Old Man of Madisonville and the Gray Fox of Russellville, Ruby Laffoon, and Tom Rhea held a political meeting—a meeting that portended much.

Keen Johnson, 4 years ago, ran for Lieutenant Governor on the Laffoon-backed Rhea ticket. Although Rhea was beaten, Keen won the nomination for Lieutenant Governor and in the ensuing 4 years backed Chandler in all his actions and in his campaign for Senator. He told this writer that he believed the people of the state wanted Chandler to be Governor and showed it by their vote, and, because of this, he would back him in his efforts to run the State to the best of his ability.

We ask you to bear in mind, however, that through the years and the campaigns he still held his liking for his friend, Governor Laffoon.

In this past campaign his Campaign Chairman, Lytel Donaldson, formerly had served on Laffoon's Highway Commission. All this leads up to the political rally at Russellville last Saturday, in which Tom Rhea introduced Governor Ruby Laffoon, who pleaded for party unity and asked the people to vote for Keen Johnson. This may be extremely shrewd political strategy, leading to complete control of State politics by the Johnson-Donaldson machine, but it makes a strange setting. Although it is rumored there is little love lost between Clifford Smith and Dan Talbott, it is hard to imagine Clifford Smith and Tom Rhea in the same political roost. Lytel Donaldson may have his eye on the Senate seat of Happy Chandler. If this is true, the work last week was extremely smart. In any case, it seems that Dan Talbott's political power is definitely on the wane.

The only other solution to the Russellville meeting is that it was done to make the sessions of the Legislature harmonious for Governor Johnson's administration, as Tom Rhea and Ruby Laffoon still have many powerful friends in both bodies.

On November 21 the farmers will have the opportunity to vote on the burley tobacco referendum, which is of vital importance to their welfare. Authorities and executives of tobacco companies say that if they fail to vote for crop control, it will make the burley tobacco in this State bring from 3 to 5 cents a pound less, which would mean millions of dollars less in revenue to burley tobacco growers.

The reason for this is that the tobacco men believe that with crop control and a quota for each farmer, there will be no large surplus of tobacco raised next year and the companies will naturally pay more for the tobacco this year.

Any member who has failed to complete her score sheet is requested to do so at once and mail to Miss Tice, as all score sheets must be in the office this month to count on the final score.

The December meeting will be on the 1st. With Mrs. Frank Heflin. The Christmas program is to be given at this meeting. Each member should bring a gift.

THOUGHTS FOR ANY DAY

If some men really knew themselves, they would be ashamed of the acquaintance.

Every cock-eyed person knows there are two ways of looking at everything—love or money.

What makes a hula dancer think that money grows on trees is that she gets money when she shakes a limb.

"WE HAVE SERVED BUILDERS FOR YEARS"

CAPRA TURNS PHONE BOOTH INTO DRAMA

Hollywood, home of the dramatic climax, recently was confronted with what might well be termed the most dramatic anti-climax of all time.

The event occurred at Columbia's studios, where months of preparation had finally led up to the first day's shooting of Frank Capra's stirring "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington," now co-starring Jean Arthur and James Stewart at the Fulton Theatre. During these months of preparation, a mile or so of film had recorded the beautiful streets, monuments and buildings of Washington; intensive research had been conducted in the affairs of the government and in the manners and habits of our legislators; more than 40 settings had been constructed, including a full-size, exact duplication of the United States Senate, in which some of the more dramatic scenes of the new Capra film are set, and a cast of actors had been assembled which included some of the greatest stars in Hollywood.

In effect, "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington" was to be big, despite its warmth and humaneness; it was to be imposing, even staggering in scope, despite the down-to-earth nature of its story.

And then what happened? To Claude Rains fell the honor of playing the first scene in this dramatic story of an earnest young man suddenly catapulted into the United States Senate. Portraying a United States Senator, Rains wormed his way into a stuffy telephone booth—and production of "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington" was under way!

Other stellar figures in "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington" the overwhelming new film which begins in a telephone booth, are Edward Arnold, Guy Kibbee, Thomas Mitchell, Beulah Bondi, Eugene Pallette, Ruth Donnelly and others. Sidney Buchman penned the screenplay.

FOOD SALES SHOW

HIGH HIDDEN TAXES

Families in Fulton County pay an estimated $48,672 in hidden taxes annually although their purchases of food, a National Consumers Tax Commission survey showed today.

"Nearly eight per cent of the total food bill represents shifted taxes buried in the prices of every purchase," the report stated. "These unseen levies, for example, take 11 per cent of butter costs, 6 1-2 per cent of bread costs, 10 1-2 per cent of sliced bacon and 14 1-2 per cent of the cost of coffee."

The report was made public thru Mrs. Paul Wickliffe, of Greenville, national committee member, who, with Mrs. J. E. Warren, of Mayfield, state director, leads NCTC study groups in about 144 communities in the educational crusade against "unnecessary consumer-penalizing taxes," Mrs. C. F. Wulf is chairman of the Hickman unit.

"Chief offenders, and those that fall most heavily on lower income families, are hidden taxes. These are levied originally against the producer, manufacturer, shipper and distributor. Unable to absorb the load, each must pass on a share of its taxes and the consumer ultimately pays them, usually without knowing it."

The food tax estimate was computed from NCTC averages based on last available U. S. Bureau of the Census figures which placed 1935 food sales in the county at $624,000. Government estimates of total sales in the county last year approximate the total in the 1935 study, the NCTC said.

Recently the safety department of the Wisconsin Highway Commission stated that the "man on the street" is less careful about oncoming car than the woman pedestrian. The safety department reports these findings:

"The safest place to walk on a rural highway is on the left side, facing oncoming traffic."

"The most dangerous place to walk on a rural highway is on the right side, with traffic coming from behind you."

"The safest place to cross a city street is at a marked intersection, with the traffic signals."

"The most dangerous place to cross is in the middle of a block."

Statistics prove conclusively that these are the prominent places and some of the prominent causes of automobile accidents. Laws will not abolish them. It will require the definite safety conduct of each and every one of us to help eliminate some of these causes of accidents from our highways.

"It's Smart to Drive Carefully"

UNCLE JIM SAYS

The best way to sell corn is to let hogs and cattle carry it to market. In the long run, improving land improves the people that live on land.

There is as yet no old age insurance for farmers, but building up soil fertility answers the same purpose.

The fact that few people starve to death is no sign that an inadequate diet is not responsible for many dying.

When we grow too much of crops, it's hard to get a fair price, keep up the fertility of our farms, and stop soil losses.

The long dry season this fall has increased the danger of forest fire damage and owners of woodland should exercise extra precaution to prevent outbreaks.

Many injuries to livestock can be prevented by giving them a firm footing when hauling. Strips across the truck floor, or a light covering of wet sand will help.

It's a good practice to turn land that is not subject to erosion in the fall. The freezing and thawing helps pulverize the soil, kills many injurious insects, and increases water absorption.

Roughage such as corn stover and bright straw may be made more palatable to livestock by sprinkling with a mixture of 1 gallon of blackstrap molasses dissolved on 2 to 4 gallons of water.

Government lending is a success to the citizen who gets a loan.

PARAGRAPHS

Even if you are only half as good as you think you are, somebody will find it out.

When individuals become discontented and discouraged, they are apt to accept radical ideas.

An organized minority, even in a democracy, is more powerful than an unorganized majority.

May be somebody could persuade those British scientists, after they have finally determined what diseases Shakespeare had, to inoculate some modern authors with them.

DAREDEVIL "QUEEN" TO APPEAR HERE

Miss Ann Terry

Matching her nerve and daring against that of seasoned race drivers and veteran stunt men at Fulton Fair grounds Sunday afternoon, Miss Ann Terry, (pictured above) girl daredevil and member of Mickey Martin's troupe of "Hell Riders," will present one of the most thrilling and spectacular stunts ever attempted. She will drive her car over an elevated platform at a mile-a-minute and crash through a solid board wall while it is a raging mass of flames. Miss Terry is said to be the only lady board-wall crasher alive today, the only other member of her sex to attempt the act having been instantly killed several years ago.

PATRIOTISM

PATRIOTISM isn't just marching behind a band and puffing out your chest.

PATRIOTISM isn't a flash of fireworks one day of the year and then submerging your emotions the rest of the year.

PATRIOTISM isn't always found in the whooping of the crowd or maudlin flag-waving or surface sentimentalism.

PATRIOTISM is the sum of the three cardinal virtues: Faith, Hope and Charity. Faith in the principles of our government, Hope in the future of Democracy, Charity toward all and malice toward none.

PATRIOTISM is a sincere affection for our own family, devotion to our relatives and loyalty to our friends. Faithful to the "old home town" and pride in our native state.

AND THEY ARE 10 TIMES AS DANGEROUS AT NIGHT AS THEY ARE IN THE DAY TIME! WHY? BECAUSE AVERAGE ILLUMINATION ON CITY STREETS IS LESS THAN 1/2 MINIMUM for SAFETY

PATRIOTISM is that spirit that makes us want to be heal help to our neighbors when they are in distress or meet with reverses, to extend our sympathy when they are stricken with grief.

PATRIOTISM is the deep-rooted quiet pride of fellowship with a nation of men and women who, by and large, have high ideals and who gladly and willingly respond to the demands on their time and abilities over and above their regular line of duty when our country calls.

Chamberlain's peace-at-any-price policy has changed to a peace-at-any-fair-price policy. The profit motive is good when balanced by other motives that are better. Any big job is a collection of little jobs; anybody can do a little job.

BANKER WILSON SAYS HAT IS OFF TO RETONGA

C. C. WILSON

Tried Other Treatments In Vain For Five Years. Could Hardly Walk From Home to Bank.

"Nobody is more thankful for the health Retonga brought them than I am. This wonderful medicine deserves the strongest public endorsement I can give it."

This grateful tribute to Retonga is from Mr. C. C. Wilson, Cashier of the Morgantown Deposit Bank, of Morgantown, Ky., and one of Kentucky's best known bankers.

"My health started breaking five years ago," continued Mr. Wilson. "My whole body became clogged with poisons from sluggish elimination, and I felt sore in every muscle and joint. I had terrible attacks of biliousness and dizziness and was so miserable from acid indigestion that many days I was afraid to eat anything at all. Often I was so bloated and short of breath I could hardly walk from my home to the bank. I lost fifty pounds and my nervous system seemed to stay on the verge of going to pieces. The best special treatments did me no good.

"Retonga completely rid me of these many troubles and built me up twenty pounds. That was a year ago and I have never felt better in my life than I have this entire year. My hat is gratefully off to Retonga; and I will gladly confirm this statement to anyone who cares to look me up."

RUSTIC SCHOLARS

It is a mistake to assume that education is wholly a matter of degrees and formal schooling, as valuable as these are. In other times, when the general level of formal education was quite low, every community had one or more men or women who represented a species of scholarship. Some of these prided themselves on their skill in arithmetic and were the ones constantly consulted when some baffling problem arose, in the school books or in practical life. Books were used by these local scholars, but more often they relied on certain tricks of the trade that they had learned, in true Biblical fashion, "here a little, there a little." They knew how to measure corn on the ear, with or without the shuck; how to estimate the number of board feet in a tree; how to lay off foundations for houses; how to cut rafters for barns or houses. Some of them could estimate the weight of a hog astonishingly well. So much did we respect them that we seldom appealed from the decision of the chair.

Another kind of scholar knew the tricks of the language and was the court of last resort when we got into a dispute about usages. I fear

ILLINOIS CENTRAL

To Make Some Money

Everybody understands that railroads exist to provide transportation for the benefit of patrons, employment for the benefit of workers, purchasing power for the benefit of farmers, merchants and manufacturers, taxes for the benefit of governmental employees.

Amid this welter of confusing claims, let us never forget there is another benefit that lies at the foundation of all—the benefit which is conferred upon the railway owner as the result of being permitted to make some money.

Far, far too many railway owners are making no money today; some of them are lucky to keep their property out of the hands of the sheriff. Yet the investment represented in railway ownership is the one thing that provided the plant and stimulated the enterprise upon which all railway progress has been based.

Under private ownership the future of the railroads depends most closely upon adequate earnings—earnings that will maintain their credit and attract new capital for the further improvements that traffic will demand.

Laughing Around the World

With IRVIN S. COBB

Not That He Gave a Hoot

By IRVIN S. COBB

A COCKNEY, newly arrived in Tasmania, was making his first trip into the wilderness. Night was falling about the camp when from the adjacent forest came a weird sound, thrice repeated. The cockney sat up with a start. "Wat's that?" he asked in a nervous tone. "That?" answered one of his more seasoned companions. "That's only an owl." "I know it's an 'owl,'" said the cockney. "But who's 'owling?'" (American News Features, Inc.)

that many of the decisions were rendered without sufficient evidence, but it is remarkable how often these grammarians were at the best of the scholarship of the times. One such scholar was Bill Maddox, who lived up the creek some four miles and who was seldom seen except at church and on election days. Bill looked the part that he played in our little world: he wore a Van Dyke beard, one of the few men of that kind in a community where flowing beards were the rule. I had not seen any New Englanders then, but I know now that he looked like a professor of literature or fine arts in a New England exclusive academy or college. There was a certain aloofness about him that we came to associate with scholarship, an aloofness that he was the last one to minimize. Away up the creek he lived, in a fine old mansion, one of the few in our neighborhood, but Bill's mind was in contact, though the weekly newspapers and the Methodist church paper, with the whole outside world.

Though I grew up in such an environment, I thought that everything worth knowing was to be found in books. When I was eighteen years old, I applied for the Fidelity school, as we said in those days. The trustee, one of our neighbors, had no formal education worth mentioning; he could read his Bible and could sing all the Old Southern Harmony tunes from memory. When I sought him out and presented my claims, which were certainly meager, he did not give me any direct answer. Instead, he asked me, as if by accident, how many bushels of corn he had in his crib, stating the dimensions. Naturally I went for this, for I knew how many cubic inches make a bushel. I did not take shucks and cobs into account, though, as I had probably never thought of that before; the books said nothing about this. My answer was right and also wrong; I did not get the school. To this day I do not know whether my figuring had anything to do with his decision, but his practical common sense certainly struck a blow at my rather cocky book-learning. And that was where the average neighborhood scholar had the inside track on us book-trained young squirts.

WHAT ARE SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICTS?

This question, according to T. C. Mason, technician of the camp at Mayfield, Kentucky, is being asked by many local people.

"The best answer," Mr. Mason said, "is that soil conservation districts are local erosion control cooperatives, organized and managed by groups of farmers who have a common land problem. These farmers assume the activities of all agricultural agencies—drainage, erosion control, agricultural adjustment, farm credit, submarginal land purchase—into a program specifically designed to meet the common ills of the lands within the district."

The camp technician pointed out that farmers in 27 states are organizing soil conservation districts and that nine additional states, making a total of 36, have passed laws that permit the formation of erosion control associations. "Nearly 200 soil conservation districts have been organized in the country to date, and as many more are in process of being formed."

Legislation that will permit the formation of soil conservation districts in Kentucky has been proposed for the consideration of the next state legislature, and this is probably the reason Kentucky farmers are asking questions.

Once a state passes enabling legislation, any group of 25 or more farmers may start to organize a district. Once their petition to organize is approved by the state soil conservation committee, which is composed of representatives of agricultural agencies in the state, the farmers hold a referendum.

All farmers, Mason pointed out, are eligible to vote, and if the vote is favorable, a district can be organized. A district may include several magisterial districts, a watershed, or parts of more than one county. Once a district is voted, the state committee appoints two supervisors, and three supervisors are then elected by the farmers within the district boundaries.

Another question often asked is: What are the advantages of soil conservation districts, and why are they being organized rapidly all over the county?

Districts, Mr. Mason said, permit farmers to receive the assistance of state and federal agricultural agencies in working out an erosion control program that the farmers, themselves, have planned and will direct. This assistance may be in the form of furnishing trained experts, CCC camp labor, such materials and equipment as may be available.

How To Relieve Bronchitis

Bronchitis, acute or chronic, is an inflammatory condition of the mucous membranes lining the bronchial tubes. Creomulsion goes right to the seat of the trouble to loosen germ laden phlegm, increase secretion and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. Tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding that you are to like the way it quickly always the cough or you are to have your money back.

CREOMULSION

able, and even financial grants. "Assistance like this," Mr. Mason said, "is available now, under the demonstration program, to only those farmers who live in work areas of erosion control camps or demonstration projects." This limits the benefits of federal and state help to relatively few farmers since these work units are scattered rather widely and moved every few years, he pointed out.

Unimproved opportunities will rebuke us when we attempt to claim the benefits of an experience we have not made our own, try to reap the harvest we have not sown, and wish to enter unlawfully into the labors of others.—Mary Baker Eddy.
