THE LISTENING POST

● I have had plenty to worry over during the past few weeks and now another thing has come along to take up any slack that might occur. For the past three months I have been trying to find some hope in the news stories that have been written from Washington regarding the new economy which is being set up. It seems to me, and recently I found several other small town newspapers publishers who agree with me, that there is no place and no need for newspapers in the new setup. From all I can gather in the various government plans for the future, there will be no need for any business except those which work on defense orders and those which deal in the necessities of life. Such business enterprises as newspapers seem to be unwanted and unneeded, and step by step all the revenue which a newspaper might obtain from advertising is being eliminated. There will be no manufacture of automobiles or refrigerators and these two items have been the steady advertisers in recent years. There will be no installment buying, and this cuts deeply into furniture advertising. So you see, a newspaper publisher does have things to worry over as he faces the future and I have been working more than forty hours a week at this job.

● That is another thing that worries me. I never have time to print a newspaper in the time limit, and in recent months have been feeling like a squirrel in a cage as I went through the motions of getting out a newspaper. I work like seven devils were after me in the morning and after one o'clock have nothing whatever to do. I'd rather stretch it out, but the only plan that will work is the plan I have adopted of getting out the paper by noon. A few years ago we started printing at noon on Saturdays and it seemed impossible to do that. Now we print all the issues by noon, or by one o'clock. But it keeps a fellow moving and when one o'clock comes I feel like locking the door and walking out never to return.

● Then I found the other day I had to make a change in the force, and this always means a lot of trouble and annoyance. Breaking in a new man is always a trying and vexing job and one never knows what he is getting until after the tryout period comes. Plenty can be found who say they do the job; sometimes the first man does, at other times it means trying six or eight.

● Another of my perpetual and eternal and daily and weekly and monthly worries is the metal supply. For the past three or four years as metal prices have advanced, I have had increasing difficulty in retaining metal. In theory there is little waste of the stuff and for many years I had no trouble with it. Recently, it has seemed to me that about fifty pounds are lost each week. At one time I unearthed some illicit traffic in metal and stopped that. For a time it seemed there was more metal than had been, but now it is disappearing again. I find no evidence thus far of the illicit traffic, but metal keeps on going on the journey from which it never returns. Every day about ten o'clock I start on a search for metal and by noon when the paper is set, I defy anybody to find as much as fourteen ounces which is not in use. That very day, when I may have used three or four hundred pounds, will see fifty

U. S. Offers To Buy Goods From Reds

Transportation Problem Is Chief Difficulty; Soviet Has Much Cash

Washington, — Jesse H. Jones, federal loan administrator, said today he had offered to buy any strategic materials which Russia might want to sell to the United States to help pay for purchases of war supplies here.

Jones told a press conference that he made the offer to Constantine Oumansky, Russian ambassador, about a week ago, but did not know when a deal was likely.

The only difficulty, he explained, was the problem of getting the materials particularly manganese and chromium from Western Russia to the Far East port of Vladivostok and then getting ships to carry the materials to the United States.

The purchases, he added, would not necessarily be balanced by an equivalent amount of war materials purchased here.

"The Russians," Jones said "have a good supply of cash gold. They haven't asked for a loan."

Washington, — The State and Commerce Departments have undertaken a survey of raw materials which may be imported from Russia to aid national defense, stimulate trade and help the Soviet Union pay for war supplies ordered here.

Russian products which defense agencies would like to have imported in increasing quantities, it was learned today, include strategic metals and minerals, drugs, and other materials.

Imports of goods from Russia would not further strain present shipping facilities, informed persons said, since they would be carried in 10 to 12 Soviet vessels expected to be put in trans-Pacific service primarily to carry American war supplies to Russia.

Mechanized Army Is Forced To Yield To Farm Mechanic

Fort Sheridan, Ill. — Farmers around Azalia, Mich., have borrowed Pvt. John V. Prochaska from the United States for thirty days. Sixth Corps Area Headquarters received a letter from fifty-seven of his neighbors reading:

"Please permit Private Prochaska to return home. The grain now is ripening and he is the only one in these parts who can run a threshing machine."

Brig. Gen. John L. Homer, commandant of this post, granted a 30-day furlough so he could work in the fields.

Talmadge Threatens To Shut Off News To Newspaper In Georgia

Atlanta, — Gov. Eugene Talmadge Monday threatened to cut off news to The Atlanta Journal and The Atlanta Constitution unless "they correct their attitude."

In what he called a parting shot, the Governor added:

"If they don't correct their attitude, there's going to be another paper in Atlanta."

He declined to say whether this would be his own personal newspaper, The Statesman.

Accusing the two Atlanta newspapers of "being willing to penalize Georgia in any way to hit Talmadge," the Governor said: "They are doing the State of Georgia an injustice. They have gone beyond the pale of decency."

The Governor said he objected to the newspapers' reports of the recent hearings for Dean Walter D.

Man Outsews Women In Making Diapers

Hopkinsville, Ky. — A man who knows the art of making triangular pants for babies has done his bit in the national defense program.

The Red Cross chapter reported today that the man, whose name was not disclosed, had made a dozen diapers and did the best piece of work of any of the volunteers—all women—taking part in the chapter's production of clothing, knitting sweaters and making surgical dressings.

C. C. Good-Will Meeting Friday

The second in the series of Chamber of Commerce good-will meetings will be held Friday night, August 25, at 7:00 o'clock at Ebenezer church, located northwest of town, and plans for the occasion are progressing rapidly.

The committee on arrangements reported today that fifty men in the Ebenezer church community will attend and a good number of Fulton men will be expected to attend.

DONALDSON MAY NAME ADMINISTRATIVE AIDE

Frankfort, Ky. — State Highway Commissioner J. Lyter Donaldson said today he was considering the appointment of an administrative assistant because of the increased pressure of work in his department due to the expanded road program.

Eugene Mosley, Jr., 33-year-old Louisville attorney and Democratic leader, was reported in line for the position but Donaldson said no appointment had been made and the job's salary, title and duties had not been worked out.

The commissioner said no definite steps would be taken until after August 1. Donaldson has not had an administrative assistant since he was appointed in 1939.

U. S.-BRITISH PLANE PRODUCTION ESTIMATED ABOVE GERMAN OUTPUT

New York, — The authoritative magazine, American Machinist, estimated today the United States and Great Britain were producing 32 per cent more airplanes a month than Germany and the Russia was running close to the German production mark.

"Word production of planes, according to best available estimates," said the magazine, "is around 8,000 planes a month, divided thus:

"Germany, 2,500; Russia, 2,000; Britain, 1,800; United States, 1,500; Japan, 300; Italy, none except parts; and small amounts in British dominions and non-German Europe."

QUALIFIES FOR VACATION TOUR

Rev. Paul E. Cates of this city left last night for the Summer Vacation tour sponsored by the Courier-Journal for its representatives who qualify by obtaining a certain amount of new business.

The tour includes Cincinnati and nearby points of interest.

Talmadge Threatens To Shut Off News To Newspaper In Georgia

Cooking of the University of Georgia's school of education, and Dr. Marvin S. Pittman, president of Georgia Teachers College. The board of regents, reshuffled by Talmadge, voted not to renew the educators' contracts.

Talmadge charged both men with advocating racial co-education and said the papers here were "trying to put up a smoke screen to hide the fact that I put my foot down on this interracial business in Georgia."

The Governor added "there ain't but one paper as bad as The Atlanta Journal and The Atlanta Constitution, and that's The Macon News."

At Macon, Frank Hawkins, managing editor of The Evening News, said:

"We feel highly complimented."

Kentucky To Fight Back If Georgia Acts Against Trucks

Frankfort, Ky. — Formal notice that if Georgia starts taking action against Kentucky motor vehicle drivers in that state, Kentucky will do the same to Georgia drivers who cross its boundaries was given today.

In replying to a letter from Walter R. McDonald of the Georgia Public Service Commission advising that unless a proposed reciprocal agreement was signed by July 25 that Georgia would be compelled to withdraw all present existing reciprocal privileges for motor vehicles, H. Clyde Reeves, Kentucky state revenue commissioner, explained Kentucky officials were prohibited by law from granting Georgia's request that permits to exceed this state's weight and length truck regulations be given without fees or bonds to haul perishable products, Reeves added:

"All Kentucky officials and citizens would be extremely reluctant to have a war of this kind precipitated. However, we do feel that it is only proper and in conformity with our statutes that we should not accord any such reciprocal citizens of your state which you are unwilling to accord citizens of this state who may be operating motor vehicles properly licensed in Kentucky into Georgia."

Reeves letter said Georgia's proposed reciprocal agreement whereby each state would recognize the other's licenses on trucks used for hire, was satisfactory except that part which would bind Kentucky to issue the special permits without fees and bond. The fees are $2 per permit and the bond $500.

Fear Curtailment Of Car Output To Dislocate Workers

Detroit, — Sources close to the automobile industry's production division said today that the approximately 250,000 persons throughout the nation who would be made idle by the latest proposal for curtailment of motor vehicle output could not be absorbed by expanding defense activities until next spring.

Leon Henderson, in a press release last Saturday, announced that the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Control, which he heads, had decided a reduction of approximately 50 per cent from last year's car and light truck production would be necessary.

The industry's reaction to the latest proposal which supplemented an original 20.15 per cent curtailment order, issued by the Office of Production Management, was indicated to be as follows:

Determination of what is needed for the national defense is wholly a governmental responsibility; when that decision has been made, the motor car industry will do all it can to carry out that decision."

Rosco Stone Made President Of Farm Bureau

Louisville, Ky. — The Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation today announced the elevation of Rosco Stone of Hickman, Fulton county, to its presidency.

Stone, who was first vice-president, moved up in accord with provisions of the bureau's constitution after the death of President Ben E. Niles of Henderson on July 8.

W. C. Dale of Shelbyville, second vice president, fills Stone's place as first vice president. Redemption Of Cotton Stamps Is Explained

Merchants selling 100 pct. American grown, processed, and manufactured cotton products in Fulton County will shortly be in line for increased business from farmers participating in the Supplementary Cotton Program of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. In pointing this out, L. H. Weeks, Chairman of the Cotton Industry Committee, added that all merchants should be thoroughly familiar with the rules and regulations governing the operation of the Program before accepting or redeeming Cotton Stamps.

"All retail merchants handling new cotton products in Fulton County who have registered with, and received acknowledgment from the Surplus Marketing Administration, are eligible to take part in the Program and benefit from this additional business," he said.

Government Redeems Stamps From Retailers

Mr. Weeks said that "after the merchant accepts the Cotton Stamps in the prescribed manner for 100 pct. American Cotton products, he pastes them on Stamp Cards supplied by the Surplus Marketing Administration. He then signs a statement on these cards that his store has accepted the stamps in accordance with the Government rules and regulations, and forward them to the Surplus Marketing Administration for redemption. He should receive a United States Government check within a week in payment of his claim."

"Any merchant who misuses stamps," cautioned Mr. Weeks, "will be in the unfortunate position of having made a false claim against the United States Treasury. This is a serious Federal violation which, however, can be easily avoided by simply adhering to the regulations. The main thing is to accept Cotton Stamps from eligible farm participants only for new cotton products made entirely from new cotton that has been grown, processed, and manufactured in the United States."

German Firm Is Fined On Charge Of Trust Violation

New York, — Fines totaling $76,500 were assessed in Federal Court today against four corporations, including one concern in Germany, and seven individuals, who pleaded nolo contendere to an indictment charging violations of the anti-trust laws in the production and sale of magnesite and magnesite bricks.

Dead burned magnesite and magnesite bricks are used for furnaces in steel and copper mills.

The indictment charged that the American companies entered into contracts with a group of foreign concerns, originally Australian and subsequently German, dividing world markets with each group being given exclusive territories in which there would be no competition for their product.

Candidates' Say On Poll Officers Is Reduced To Their Own Precincts

Frankfort, Ky. — Candidates should be allowed to have a say as to election officers only in the precincts in which the candidates are running, Assistant Attorney General Guy H. Henderson declared Monday.

L. R. Jones, Paris, wrote that there were fifteen candidates in Bourbon County and that eight of them had petitioned the County Election Commission to name a certain set of election officers to serve on primary day, August 2.

Of the eight, Jones added, two were candidates for magistrate and four were candidates for constable in the Paris magisterial district which has ten precincts. Jones asked whether the six could in-

Nations Must Band To Keep Peace -- Welles

Post-War Association To Insure Economic Fairness Is Ideal

Washington, — Sumner Welles, acting secretary of state, said tonight that a post war association of nations, strong enough to guarantee disarmament and equal economic opportunities, was the ideal for which "peoples of good will" should strive as a foundation of permanent peace.

In an address at a cornerstone laying on a new wing of the Norwegian legation, Welles declared that free governments and peace loving people should now be preparing for the "better day" that would come with "the crushing defeat of those who are sacrificing mankind to their own lust for power and for loot."

Welles' speech constituted the most specific pronouncement yet given by a high administration official on the post war aims of the American government.

The League of Nations, as President Wilson conceived it Welles said "failed in part because of the blind selfishness of men here in the United States, as well in other parts of the world."

(The United States Senate blocked American entry into the league in 1920.)

It failed also, he continued, "because of its utilization by certain powers primarily to advance their own political and commercial ambitions."

But he declared with emphasis that the league "failed chiefly because of the fact that it was forced to operate, by those who dominated its councils, as a means of maintaining the status quo."

Law Requires Expense Lists, Candidate Told

Frankfort, Ky. — A candidate must file pre-election and post-election expenditure statements regardless of whether he spends any money on his campaign, Assistant Attorney General Guy H. Herdman said Tuesday.

Herdman said the law prescribes filing of pre-election statements fifteen days before the August 2 primary, but added that the Court of Appeals had held the time is not mandatory and the reports might be filed any time before the primary or election.

Editorial

A SIGNIFICANT CHANGE

The most insidious foreign doctrine, in our opinion, is Communism. Germany and Italy both have isms which we consider dangerous, but to our mind, Communism has always been the most deadly of all. Communism means a complete and absolute change of everything which this nation has stood for, and for many years agents from Moscow have worked steadily in this country sowing the seeds of their doctrine. This is a known fact and little was done about it until after the present war started. Even then, it was only after this nation realized with cold clarity that the war was nearing us that active and drastic steps were taken. For the past year work of uprooting Communists has been carried on steadily, although it appears certain that Communists were the cause of a majority of our great strikes.

How Russia is fighting Germany, and in a sense, is allied with England and the United States. It is a loose alliance, with neither of the democracies having any wish for a complete Communist victory. It might be fairly said that England and the United States merely hope that Russia will inflict staggering losses on Germany—and there is not much sorrow to be expected if Josef Stalin is also the victim of staggering losses. Neither of the Democracies has any illusions about Communism and both realize that a complete Russian victory would leave Europe in a state of chaos—perhaps more so than a complete German victory. Churchill and Roosevelt know what goes on under the guise of Communism and neither one of these men has any wish to see it succeed. The fact that Stalin is fighting a common enemy makes the nations more or less allies.

There has been a marked change in the tactics of Communism in the United States since Stalin went to war against Germany. Prior to that time Communists were at the root of a majority of strikes, and since this war started strikes have declined sharply. Military Intelligence agents frankly say this is caused by a new front the Communists have adopted. It seems fairly certain that orders have come from Moscow to cease all operations which will hamper defense, thus allowing the great job Uncle Sam is working on to go forward without delay. Stalin figures that he will need some of these war machines and he has no desire that his agents interfere with manufacture.

There has been no change, however, in another deadly work of the Communist party. Russian agents are engaged in trying to win over soldiers and sailors in the United States service. This work is being continued; indeed it has been intensified as Stalin saw a greater opportunity. With Russia fighting on the side of the United States, it seems fairly evident that propaganda work among the sailors and soldiers would be much easier, and so this work has been intensified in recent weeks. That is one policy that is never changed with communists—this hoping from within and it has paid dividends many times. It is a policy which must be combatted by the secret service of this nation, no matter whether Russia fights on our side or does not fight at all.

In this connection Military Intel-

There is no shortage of water, but continued sprinkling during the past few weeks has lowered pressure to such an extent that many water users are unable to get water. The new regulations will be strictly enforced.

Chief of Police Huddleston staged a race with a whisky car last night which saw top speeds being maintained by two cars and in which the Chief managed to crowd the other car into a ditch and take part of the cargo. A NEW WEAPON FOR NATIONAL DEFENSE

In the early years of our history, the pioneers fought their enemies with primitive weapons, sometimes falling back on their pitchforks because of lack of arms.

The American people today are being called upon to fight the enemy with a far more harmless weapon. Pots and pans and many other items are the arms which can be used in this campaign.

Through the contribution of such items made of aluminum to the campaign to be conducted this week throughout the nation, it is anticipated that millions of pounds of aluminum needed for the pounds of aluminum planes and other objects for the defense program will be made available.

The success of this campaign will bring two-fold result. It not only will provide the nation with much-needed aluminum, but it also will serve as a message to those who oppose our way of life that the American people are loyal and determined and that they will make real sacrifices to carry forward their program.

Mayor LaGuardia pointed out the possibilities of this campaign in a speech in which he called for the contribution of "pots and pans and washing machines and part of that old vacuum cleaner that doesn't work any more, toys and shakers, old aluminum in picture frames, bookends, ice trays, measuring cups, soap dishes, camera equipment, kettles and double boilers, bottles and jar caps, refrigerator plates, electric appliance parts and all things like that" which are not needed.

The collection of 20,000,000 pounds of aluminum would replace an equivalent amount which would be sufficient for the production of 2,000 fighter airplanes. LaGuardia, head of the national drive, voiced this thought: "Who knows, if the unhoped hour should come, if perchance we are attacked, if enemy planes should approach our shores and be caught and brought down by interceptor plane, perhaps it is that old percolator of yours which did the job."—Sun-Democrat.

ligence, which investigates all "accidents" in defense plants, has made a report of 26 such incidents. Evidence has been secured which indicates that of the 26, fourteen were caused by sabotage. Twelve have been listed as accidents. This percentage is higher than is comfortable, and federal agents are working steadily in efforts to prevent other such "accidents."

pounds gone. Next day I will have fifty pounds less many times. I have hunted high and low for metal and the sight of one slug, hidden away, is like finding a nugget of gold. I have bought, in the past three years, nearly three tons of the stuff and every time I buy it it is a cent a pound higher. Where it will go finally I have not the least idea, but it is a fertile field for worrying.

Then came the most crushing worry of all. I learned the other night that a newspaper publisher had been arrested, charged with being drunk and disorderly and fined, after being kept in the cooler over the week end. I do not know all the details. The publisher says it was a frameup; that he had criticised the city officials and they were sore at him, and the city officials, naturally, say the man was drunk and disorderly and got only what was coming to him.

I have never had any particular worries about getting myself thrown in the cooler, but this incident took place not far from Fulton and it seems that I had better take it with me and retire to a large juniper tree to consider the problem. If I must go ahead and work like a squirrel, worry over where business is coming from, in the future, make changes in the working force, try to dig up the money for the payroll every Saturday, this added worry gives me an idea. Perhaps a jail is not such a bad place, after all. It seems that if I could get myself locked up and realize there was nothing I could do but look out through the bars, I believe I might forget these other worries. I can leave the office for a short trip and forget about these things, although I know I am needed there. If this is true, why should not a term in the cooler have the same effect? Also if I can get K. P. to throw me in he will have to feed me. It is true that the fellows in the brig do not eat very much or very luxuriously, for usually the lunch is a ham sandwich and a piece of pie, but I am not eating many large meals anyhow these days. My dinner many times is merely a ham sandwich, but I do like a lot of stock peas, green beans, tomatoes, okra, squash, and other allied foods for the night meal. If I could get those things in the local clink I might be tempted to take a rest in this manner.

Tigers Slaughter Bowling Green In Final Game Of Series Here

Piling up seventeen safe hits, and giving Burgess magnificent backing until the final inning, the Tigers took the odd game of the Bowling Green series by burying the Barons here last night under a 13 to 2 score. Until the ninth inning Burgess, big right hander, had a shutout in his hands, but the ninth proved a trifle disastrous to the Tigers. Malattia smacked the first pitch over the right field for a homer to spoil a shutout, and then the Tigers kicked the ball around a little to allow Simons to score another run and ruin an otherwise perfect night. The Barons first sacker and Manager Simons were the only ones who gave Burgess any trouble, and these two trouble makers accounted for six of the nine Barons blows.

The game started out in tight fashion, but in the third the Tigers began to find the hit slot on Walters and, with one gone, Burgess rapped a single to center. This was followed by five straight hits, including a double and a triple, sending in five runs. It was one of the best exhibitions of straight hitting seen here this season, and put the Tigers into a safe lead.

Reese led the Tigers attack with a single, double and triple, and Jim Walker seemed to regain his old time batting eye. He rammed out three hits and twice drove to the fence on hard hit balls which were pulled down. He was hitting solidly. Peterson also had three hits. Frank Faudem had a fine night in center and Reese sparked at second. Derrick also fielded sensationally, with a couple of snap shots to first to nail a runner going down.

The Tigers are in Hopkinsville for a crucial series for the next three nights, returning here Saturday night with Mayfield. Mayfield will also play here Sunday afternoon.

U. S. SEEKS TANKERS FOR BRITISH SERVICE
Washington, — The Maritime Commission sought ways today to divert additional oil tankers to the British supply service without aggravating a threatened petroleum shortage in the Eastern United States.

Secretary of the Interior Ickes, who has asked consumers to cut gasoline consumption on the Eastern seaboard by one-third, requested major oil companies yesterday to furnish him with weekly reports on retail sales which would disclose whether he was getting any response. If not, compulsory rationing might become necessary, he warned.

DOUBLE REENLISTMENT BOUNTIES OFFERED TO NAVY ENLISTED MEN

Washington, —The House naval committee voted today to give double reenlistment bounties, ranging from $200 to $600, to regular enlisted men of the Navy who reenlist voluntarily within 24 hours after expiration of present enlistments.

The provision was made part of a Senate-approval measure providing that all men enlisting hereafter for naval service may be retained after expiration of the enlistment period for such period as the Secretary of the Navy may deem necessary in time of war or national emergency declared by the President.

Training For Defense

By Rufus T. Stroh

Dean, International Correspondence Schools

Rufus T. Stroh

TWO industries, aviation and shipbuilding, are pushing ahead with increasing speed to meet the pressing demands of a national emergency. Orders and more orders have piled up as plant expansion and tooling problems have received the major consideration. Another problem concerns the shortage of trained men.

Both shipbuilding and airplane construction might be considered romantic occupations by the young man starting his first job. However, the actual fabrication of ships and airplanes calls for the most exacting, skillful type of workmen. Romance there may be when the finished products are in the air or on the sea, but before a ship or an airplane is placed in service it must be as near perfect as man can fashion it.

New building techniques have been developed for both industries. Twenty years ago shipyards roared with the sound of riveting guns. Today these yards are less glamorous, for the flash of the welding arc and the sound of the gas torch indicate the vogue of the "all-welded" ship. Revolutionary changes have been developed also for the aircraft industry.

Ships of the sea and ships of the air are put together by the most skilled men. To train such men takes time, more time than may be granted us to prepare for defense. To shorten the training period, management has adopted various types of instruction. Much studying must be done by the apprentice in his spare time. Never before has he had such a great moral responsibility. Here is the real test. It rests with every individual. Opportunity is here for the man who is trained and willing.
