THE LISTENING POST

During recent weeks I have been more or less keeping up with the torrid race that has been underway between the Fleas and Apes, and while I have not seen any of the games I have kept up with things through the news stories brought in by various members of the two teams. These teams are made up of boys who are from thirteen to sixteen years of age, and the games are played in the morning at the Kitty Kat park. It will be remembered that the Fleas ran off about sixteen or eighteen games in a row without suffering a single setback, and I believe Jimmy Lowe, a pitcher, won about fifteen straight games. Then the Apes finally found the winning combination and rattled the Fleas for a couple victories.

I have noticed one peculiar thing about their news stories. If the Fleas win Jimmy Lowe comes into the office and writes the story. If the Fleas lose—well, Jimmy does not come and another boy from the Ape team will bring the story. It seems to be an unwritten law that a defeat is to be ignored, and only a victory should be written. I feel that way a lot of times in writing yarns about the Tigers, and after a prolonged losing streak I wish that I might ignore the games and write nothing about them. But when the Tigers win three or four in a row it is a pleasure to write about those games. I guess Jimmy and his Fleas have about the same feelings. I have. I learned another thing, too, about Jimmy's reticence the other night at a ball game. I sat right behind Jimmy's grandfather, J. H. Lowe, at the ball games and told him one night the Fleas had had their winning streak broken. Mr. Lowe laughed a lot when I told him, and then said: "Jimmy didn't tell me a word about it. He came in and did not even mention baseball." So I guess, Jimmy ignores all games which are on the wrong side of the ledger.

I notice another peculiarity of the Fleas-Apes games, too. The scores always run rather high in these games average. I imagine, about twenty-five runs per game for the two teams, and at times may go as high as sixty for the two teams. I have noticed that when the score is under forty for both teams, say 15 to 14, the game is referred to as a pitcher's duel. If the score goes beyond that, say 25 to 21, it is then a slugging match.

Well, it is rather a hopeful sign to see these games being played. It shows that interest in baseball is still high. I can well remember when every small town had its own amateur team and some rather good teams were to be found in this section. I have seen hometown teams which were almost as good as present Kitty League teams, except that they usually had no more than two pitchers. I have seen pretty good ball players go from these small town teams into organized baseball and do pretty well at it. I have seen good crowds attend these games, too, and interest and rivalry were always keen at such meetings. There used to be tremendous rivalry between Martin and McKenzie, for example, and I have seen those two towns field some pretty good ball clubs. Later it became fashionable to hire certain key players, such as pitchers and catchers, and finally semi-pro baseball practically replaced the strictly amateur sort.

These kids who go out to the baseball park in the hot morning hours are doing something worth while, and it is quite probable that one or two baseball players will be started on a career from those games. For the Apes and Fleas are quite serious in their play, and some of them have the qualifications to become real baseball players. Some of the boys on the two teams may yet appear in the box scores of the big leagues in future years.

House Vote May Change Income Tax

Roosevelt's Plea For Change May Influence Members

Washington.—The House will get its one chance to revise the $3,529,200,000 Tax Bill Monday, and predictions were voiced on Capitol Hill Sunday that the membership would override its Ways and Means Committee and knock out a provision requiring married couples to file joint income tax returns.

Those who made the prediction, and they included Speaker Rayburn, (D., Texas), based it on a last minute recommendation to the committee by President Roosevelt. Mr. Roosevelt wrote Chairman Doughton (D., N. C.) in a letter made public Saturday, suggesting three changes in the committee's draft of the legislation. One of these was that the joint return provision be modified to exempt earned incomes of husbands and wives.

Only One Exception

Under the iron-clad procedure adopted by the House, the joint-return provision is the only item in the bill upon which the members may vote separately. Otherwise, they must accept or reject the legislation in toto. Already three days have been devoted to discussion of the measure, and the chamber has set aside two hours Monday for consideration of the joint return issue. Leaders expect that the legislation as a whole will be voted on before the day is over.

All three of Mr. Roosevelt's proposals were rejected by the committee, but many members who had been undecided on that joint return provision were expected to vote in accordance with the President's recommendation.

GIRL LOSES DAMAGE SUIT AGAINST CULT DISCIPLE

Los Angeles.—Irma Weber, 19, who asserted she was mistreated by Henry Sarge, a disciple of the Mazdaznan cult, when she was 11 years old, lost her suit for $1,000,000 damages.

A Superior Court jury of seven men and five women refused her plea for damages from Sarge and the Reorganized Mazdaznan Temple Association of Associates of God after deliberating seven hours last night.

The girl and her mother, Mrs. Ida Weber, testified that Sarge harmed the girl at the instigation of Dr. Otoman Zar-Adusht Ha Nish, late leader of the cult.

Sarge denied the charge.

It was the second meeting between Hopkins and Stalin in a continued discussion on the question of U. S. supplies and equipment to the Soviets.

KING BARN IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

A barn, located on the farm of Weldon King on East State Line, was completely destroyed by fire of unknown origin early Sunday morning. The local fire department was called about 5:30 a.m., and the other buildings were saved, but the fire had such a headway that the barn could not be saved.

A large quantity of wheat, barley and baled hay, as well as tools, was destroyed. The loss was partially covered by insurance.

Mrs. King Injured

Mrs. King was painfully injured during the fire, when she turned her ankle on a brick in the yard and pulled the ligaments in the ankle.

POLICE COURT

James Ethridge, Parn Owens, Jim Ammons, and William Sampson, all white, were fined five dollars and costs each on charges of public drunkenness by the South Fulton Court.

Lee Roach was fined five dollars and costs by the South Fulton Police Court on a charge of public profanity.

Eccles Offers Seven-Point Plan To Avoid Threat Of Inflation

New York.—Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the board of governors of the Federal Reserve System, proposed yesterday a program of fiscal and credit policies by which the United States might be able to avoid the economic ills of inflation.

Eccles outlined his recommendations in the August issue of Fortune Magazine and listed seven specific points of his program.

In order that the Government might capture a large part of defense expenditures and reduce consumer demand for goods where the supply is inadequate he said, four types of taxation would have to be relied upon:

Corporation income and excess-profits taxes; greatly increased normal and steeply graduated surtaxes on individual incomes; high excise taxes on durable consumer goods, and inheritance and gift taxes.

Other proposals advanced were: Greater variety and more widespread sale of U. S. securities to attract both large and small accumulations of savings into the Treasury.

Giving the Federal Reserve System authority to deal with excess bank reserves when necessary.

Credit Restrictions

Restriction of all types of consumer installment credit.

More widespread and higher employment and old-age payroll taxes. A ceiling on agricultural prices and restraint against wage increases which tend to start the spiral of wage-price-cost-of-living advances.

Selective direct price controls in certain fields.

Said Eccles: "If we will do whatever is needful, even though we may have to abandon for the time being some of our cherished economic freedom, we shall bequeath to posterity a country that is strong and sound, and an economic system that has vindicated itself."

Bombed Out Teeth Make Alf Madder Than 3 Torpedoes

Philadelphia.—Alf Dalton is bloomin' well fed up with Herr Hitler.

Three times ships were torpedoed from under the Australian merchant marine cook. Once he spent twenty-four hours in the Atlantic Ocean before being fished out and once he drifted for four days in a life boat.

But what made Alf really mad was a bomb dropped near him at Clydebank, England, a couple of weeks ago. The explosion knocked out his teeth—an upper plate. Now he can eat only mush, soups and puddings.

States Spend Millions This Year On Publicity

Chicago.—State governments are expending nearly $6,000,000 on advertising this year—plugging everything from Idaho baked potatoes to choice sites for Army arsenals.

And many state treasuries are recouping the money from the tills of their favored state products. The Council of State Governments reported Sunday after a national survey.

Florida, with the largest advertising budget of $325,000, raises $750,000 through an excise tax on citrus fruits. The $109,000 worth of publicity for Idaho potatoes comes from a levy on the crop. Washington apples and Iowa butter likewise provide their state advertising budgets.

The advertising bureaus, originally designed to attract tourists, have reaped a bumper crop of visitors this year, one of the largest in history.

Unexpected Needs Hamper Output "Steel Reports

Cleveland.—Frequent revisions of rolling schedules and new, unexpected demands from Britain are handicapping steel production, the magazine "Steel" reported Sunday.

While noting that the rapidly changing world situation made these handicaps unavoidable, the weekly review observed:

"Makers barely get launched on one course of action when a new ruling by a government body, or a flood of new priorities, causes revisions of order books and schedules and makes for loss of time."

American Fliers In R. A. F. Down First Bomber

London.—The American Eagle Squadron of the R. A. F. destroyed its first German bomber Sunday, a Dornier-17 over the English Channel.

It was the sixth plane credited to the squadron, however, the Air Ministry said. The others were fighters.

Gregory Augustus Daymond, 20, of Los Angeles, the "baby" of the squadron, added the bomber to a previous bag of two fighting planes.

Vote Counting Continues Slow In County Races

With fifteen out of the 22 precincts counted it appears that the following are winners in their various races in the democratic primary held in this county Saturday, Harry Waterfield, Homer Roberts, Mike Johnson, G. P. McDade, Elmer Murchison and Clardy Holland.

At noon today the votes in all precincts through the Court house precinct had been counted.

In the race for state representative, Harry Waterfield seems a sure winner with 2,247 votes in Hickman county to James Warren's 1,208. In Fulton county, Warren holds a slight edge, the votes being Waterfield, 1,125 and Warren, 1,323.

Homer Roberts holds an 850 vote lead over his nearest opponent, C. L. Walker, present county judge, who is seeking reelection. Voting in the County Judge's race is as follows, 1,359; Shaw, 155. Roberts, 1,359; Shaw, 155.

Mike Johnson looks like the winner in the sheriff's race, having polled 1,098 votes in the first 15 precincts. His opponents votes are: Rogers, 233; Rose, 578; Thompson, 609.

The jailer's race is still wide-open, with McDade, Wynn and Shanklin the present jailer, in the lead. McDade holds a 421 vote lead over Wynn, who is gaining in the Western end of the county. Votes in this race are: Shanklin, 606; Wynn 626; Roper, 193; McDade, 1,047; Darnall, 19.

Elmer Murchison appears to have the tax commissioner's race cinched holding a 800 lead over his nearest opponent. He has a total of 1,387 votes, while Prather has 588 and Moore, 382.

Clardy Holland, seeking reelection as county court clerk, is a definite winner, having 2,040 votes to Barnett's 321.

LANDLUBBER

Washington.—When a sailor settles down in his hammock for an evening's reading does he pick out a story of adventure on the briny deep? He does not. For real excitement give him a Western any time.

To the man who sails the seven seas, Moby Dick is just another whale, but Deadeye Dick, or any one of his two-gun colleagues, is an exotic inhabitant of another world.

This report of the Navy's taste came today from Miss Isabel Dubois, director of libraries in the Bureau of Navigation.

A battleship's library, she said, numbers 2,000 volumes and that of a submarine, 150 Officers and men read approximately 2,000,000 books a year. Each ship gets a change of books every three months.

Tastes range from international law to detective stories, but with the enlisted personnel fully 50 per cent of the demand is for strictly Western stuff.

Sugar Hoarding May Backfire On Many Persons Over United States

Washington.—Apparently fearful that the war may cause shortages, American consumers have engaged in another sugar-hoarding spree but it may backfire on them.

Despite government assurances that supplies were ample, officials said today that housewives, candy-makers, manufacturers of other products requiring sugar, wholesalers and retailers have bought sugar at a record-breaking rate this year to build up reserve stocks for use in case of a scarcity or stratosphere prices.

This heavy buying activity had one natural result—a sharp rise in prices. Today those prices are the highest since the war's start in 1939, when a similar epidemic of hoarding led the government to take drastic action to check to advance. Raw sugar is being quoted at

By a margin of 78 votes, and carrying all four wards in the city election, T. T. (Tom) Boaz was named Mayor of Fulton in Saturday's primary over R. C. Peoples. Mr. Boaz polled 524 votes, while Mr. Peoples trailed with a total of 446. In only one ward did either candidate establish a long lead, this being the third. Here Mr. Peoples had 142 to 190 for Mr. Boaz.

In Number One Mr. Boaz had 100, while Mr. Peoples had 92. In Number Two Mr. Boaz polled 110 to 90 for Mr. Peoples. The third was 190 to 142 for Mr. Boaz, while Number Four was a real horse race, with Mr. Boaz getting 124 and Mr. Peoples 122.

The campaign was one of the quietest ever held in the city, with little interest being manifested before the primary date. Mr. Boaz, who has been a member of the City Council for the past sixteen years, will succeed Paul DeMyer, who is now finishing out his third term and who did not qualify for reelection. Mr. Boaz is thoroughly conversant with city affairs and without doubt will give the public a good administration. During his long years of service for the city he has been known for his conservatism and his quiet determination to do right thing for the advancement of community affairs at all times.

Council Is Named

Only one member of the present city council will be on the new body to take over city affairs after this year. Only two asked reelection and one of these was defeated. R. C. Pickering was re-elected, but J. N. McNeilly was defeated. The new council will be composed of the following men:

Smith Atkins, R. C. Pickering, Frank Brady, Charles Gregory, Dr. J. L. Jones and James Meacham. These were selected by the voters from a field of eleven. The vote for the eleven was as follows:
R. C. Pickering.....636
Smith Atkins.....585
Charles Gregory.....681
James Meacham.....442
Frank Brady.....548
Dr. J. L. Jones.....610
J. N. McNeilly.....357
Clay McCollum.....358

Secretary of State Hull will end a month's vacation in the West Virginia mountains and return to Washington Sunday, his secretary said today. Agricultural Department officials, who ordinarily are able to control sugar prices effectively, consider present quotations excessive.

Under a sugar control law, the Agriculture department has the power to say how much sugar may be marketed in this country in any year, and to divide this quantity among various producing areas under a quota system. By increasing or reducing the quotas, it usually is able to influence prices.

When it becomes evident, through recently increasing prices and marketing reports, that consumers were buying far beyond their normal needs, the department increased the quotas. It hoped this action would at least half the advance.

MEXICO NO PLACE FOR GERMAN INTRIGUE

German diplomats in the Western Hemisphere are learning that the Good Neighbor Policy and inter-American co-operation for peace and defense are not mere catch phrases. They are also finding out that the soil of the New World is not fertile ground for Nazi plots and Nazi putsches.

Bolivia recently made quick work of cleaning up a Nazi conspiracy by arresting the leader and giving the German Minister his walking papers. Argentina rounds up a nest of German plotters and tells the German Ambassador to get rid of a radio transmitter which was discovered in his diplomatic pouches. Brazil clamps down on foreign language publications and orders that they be printed in Portuguese in the future. And Uruguay, Colombia and Chile rout out insurrectionist elements and foreign agents.

Now Mexico enters the picture—the same Mexico that was a hotbed of German intrigue in 1917—and swoops down on a Nazi-Fascist group, the Sinaquistas, and tells the Berlin Government it will not take dictation from a foreign power. The powerful semi-military organization is told in no uncertain terms that public demonstrations will not be tolerated and the German Ambassador is informed it is none of his business how Mexico deals with President Roosevelt's blacklist of Axis firms in the republic.

The Mexico of a quarter of a century ago was a very different place, however. Then President Carranza was willing to entertain German proposals as a counter-balance to Yankee imperialism. He was the recipient of the Zimmermann Note promising the return of Texas, Arizona and New Mexico if Mexico would join the Central Powers, and that note as much as any single factor caused the United States to enter the war.

Now it may be said that Mexico, with other Latin-American countries, enters the economic war against Germany and co-operates with the United States to combat German penetration of the Western Hemisphere; thanks to the Good Neighbor policy and the new ear of good will in the New World.—Courier-Journal.

T. R. WENT FARTHER

A war correspondent says members of the royal family of Great Britain eat the same food that is eaten by average British, war-rationed.

That reflects good judgment. Even in times of peace and plenty feasting is bad policy on the part of a chief of state. When Theodore Roosevelt was President a Washington correspondent filled a glittering column by presenting as fact his imagination's utmost effort at describing White House meals.

Nobody could eat such meals regularly and survive the four-year term of Presidents, but Theodore Roosevelt did not laugh it off.

He quickly presented the White House menu to the nation. He and his family lived plainly, take it from him.

They ate, for example, for breakfast, the hard-boiled eggs which were left over from another meal, and all they ate at other meals was simple and rather coarse fare.

The reasonable supposition was that they provided pudding at least for the servants, as a means of retaining them.—Exchange.

Selected Feature

OF DUBIOUS VALUE

Guarantees that the Japanese Government may give as the result of the Tutuila incident to respect lives and property of Americans in China will mean as much or as little as the Army determines. The civil government of Japan has long since lost control of the military and it may be doubted that the newest Cabinet, filled with generals and admirals, has much inclination to restrain the firebrands running wild on the mainland.

Quite aside from that, however, it would be native to put trust in any guarantees from the Government itself. Its current record is not as spectacular as the Germans' in treaty-breaking, but it is just as complete. Diplomatic usage may require some kind of promise, but that it can have any more weight than the solemnly signed treaties so willfully torn to bits during the past decade may properly be doubted.

The American and British Governments, which ten years ago couldn't agree on a common policy with respect to Japanese aggression in China, are acting in concert in the Far East now. They will know what value to put on Japanese promises. In the meantime, both are following the old formula of putting their trust in God and keeping their powder dry.—Louisville Times.

Strength In The Foundation

A business enterprise of lasting importance is somewhat like a giant bridge that spans the mighty stream. If it is to stand the test of time, it must be built upon a solid foundation.

Thirty-three years ago this month, the BROWDER MILLING COMPANY came into existence. Founded upon solid principles, this firm has enjoyed the confidence, good-will and patronage of a majority of the people in and around FULTON. We appreciate this fact and would like to offer our sincere thanks, again, for your loyalty during these thirty-three years.

BROWDER MILLING CO.

One door left unlocked—a thief comes in easily and a few minutes property which you value highly is gone, perhaps beyond recovery.

So, one policy improperly written or not written at all may open up your home or your business to loss by fire.

Why not check over these matters with us? We have made a long study of insurance problems and have an adequate knowledge of the subject. We are glad to talk over any insurance matter without any obligation on your part.

Homra-Hunter Wedding Is Solemnized Here Yesterday

In a beautifully solemnized ceremony at 8:30 o'clock Sunday morning, August 3, Miss Yvonne Homra, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kemlin Homra, became the bride of John Ray Hunter, son of Mrs. B. G. Huff and Mr. Huff. The marriage took place in the First Christian church auditorium with the pastor of that church, the Reverend William Woodburn, performing the single ring ceremony.

The altar, before which the vows were exchanged, was very tastefully arranged in front of a background of greenery. A tall arbor, standing at the back, was covered with southern smilax and honeysuckle topped with a wedding bell of roses and other mixed flowers and a white ribbon bow. In the center front was a huge basket of mixed summer flowers and six ferns and on each side were floor baskets of hydrangeas and ferns, arranged around four standards of white tapers. In the background were two very large palms.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Walter Voepel, pianist, played "Serenade" by Schubert, "Traumerei" by Schumann and "Ave Maria" by Cadman for the lighting of the candles. Mrs. Robert Roland, soprano, sang "At Dawn" by Cadman and "Because" by D-Hardlet. "The Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin" by Wagner was used for the procession and during the ceremony Mrs. Voepel softly played "Liebestraum" by Liszt. Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" was used for the recession.

The bride, who entered the church on the arm of her father, wore a gorgeous wedding gown of snow white satin, fashioned along princess lines with buttons down the back and long sleeves coming to a point at the hand. The V-neckline was edged with seed pearl and her finger tip veil was attached at the head to a seed pearl tiara. She wore a short head veil, covering the head and face, and carried a white orchid and a white prayer book.

Mrs. Al T. Owen, Jr., of Munfordville, Ky., attended her sister as matron-of-honor, wearing a dress of blue chiffon and a small pink hat of ruffled net. Her flowers were a nosegay of red rosebuds and tube roses, tied with streamers of pink and blue ribbon. The maid-of-honor was Miss Amaline Homra, sister, who was dressed in pink taffeta with small net hat and carried a nosegay of rosebuds and tube roses, tied with pink ribbons.

Little Miss Shirley Homra, the flower girl, wore a dress of orchid net over pink with ruffled net hat and carried a hand bouquet.

Attending the groom as best man was Jean Moon and ushers were David Homra, brother of the bride, Al T. Owens, Jr., of Munfordville, her brother-in-law, Gene Speight and Fred Homra.

Performing acolyte duties were Misses Mary and Kathryn Homra, sisters of the bride, both wearing dresses of black chiffon.

Immediately following the wedding a breakfast, including four courses, was served at the home of the bride's parents and attended by members of the families and wedding party. A huge wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, formed the centerpiece for the dining table.

After the breakfast, the bride and groom left for a honeymoon trip to Chicago and from there they will go to Minot, North Dakota to make their home. For traveling Mrs. Hunter wore a fall dress of tan with brown accessories.

Mrs. Hunter is a graduate of Fulton High school, later attending Murray State Teachers College for one year, and since that time has been employed at her father's store. Mr. Hunter is also a graduate of Fulton High. He attended Chilli-cothe Business College at Chilli-cothe, Mo., and upon graduation from that college he accepted a position as assistant clerk for Swift & Company in Fulton. He has now received a promotion to chief clerk at a plant in Minot.

Training For Defense

By Rufus T. Stroh

Dean, International Correspondence Schools

This is the 50th anniversary of the International Correspondence Schools. For half a century the institution has been co-operating with the management of industrial concerns and private individuals in training and instruction. At present we have 3,000 agreements with American firms that are using I.C.S. service as the nucleus of training programs.

Ralph E. Weeks, president, has said:

"The International Correspondence Schools aim to give more educational service in exchange for the fees received than any other educational institution, whether public or privately owned, provides for a like amount."

The urgent need of a single industry (coal mining) brought the schools at Scranton, Pa., into being in 1891; the expanding needs of many industries have tremendously enlarged the spread of its usefulness. At first, there was only the School of Mines; today, there are 26 different schools, each one staffed by a corps of highly competent instructors.

When the first student was enrolled, he had no choice of courses, because only one was offered; eight years later there were 50 established courses of instruction. There are now approximately 400 courses, providing facilities for training in a wide range of technical and engineering subjects, and in almost every field of commercial endeavor.

More than 1,500,000 students have been enrolled since the schools were founded. At present there are more than 95,000 students on the active list.
