Markham Funeral Services Today

At Holy Name Cathedral in Chicago at 10 O'clock

The death of Mr. Markham, Chairman of the Board of the Illinois Central System, Monday morning at his winter residence in Altadena, Calif., is sincerely regretted by all who knew him.

Mr. Markham was born May 22, 1861, at Clarksville, Tenn., of immigrant parentage. When he was very small his family moved to Addison, N. Y., where he attended the public school until he was 14. At that time he left school to earn his own way, and for a while he worked as a clerk in the village grocery store by day and as a watchman in the bank at night.

When he was 17 Mr. Markham and two other young men from his home town started West. At Kansas City his companions turned back, but he stayed on. His funds exhausted, he obtained employment there as a common laborer in a packing-house.

In 1881, at the age of 20, Mr. Markham began his first railway work as a section laborer on the Santa Fe at Dodge City, Kansas. A few months later, in the same year, he went to work for the Southern Pacific at Deming, N. M., as a station helper. His first job there was shoveling coal for locomotives. Mr. Markham stayed at Deming for six years, holding various positions in station service and finally becoming baggage-master. For the next ten years he served as agent for the Southern Pacific successively at Lordsburg, N. M., Benson, Ariz., Reno, Nev., and Fresno, Cal. At Fresno he was also in charge of the solicitation of freight and passenger traffic for a district.

While he was at Fresno Mr. Markham worked out an effective carloading plan which attracted the attention of Julius Kruttschnitt, then general manager of the road, and he was given other efficiency problems to solve. In 1897 he was sent to the Willamette Valley of Oregon as general freight and passenger agent of the Oregon lines of the Southern Pacific with the particular assignment of agricultural development. He launched a surveying campaign which met with great success. In 1901 he was transferred to San Francisco as assistant freight traffic manager. Three months later, in the same year, he was elected vice-president of the Houston & Texas Central Railway at Houston, in which position he was executive head of the Harrisman lines in Texas.

Early in 1904 Mr. Markham returned to San Francisco to become general manager of the Southern Pacific Company, and three months later he was elected vice-president and general manager. Near the end of that year he resigned to go into the oil business. He had been with the Southern Pacific and affiliated lines twenty-three years, advancing from common laborer to vice-president and general manager. Mr. Markham was then out of railway work for six years. As general manager of the Guffey Petroleum Company, his office was at Beaumont, Texas. In 1910 he became president of the Gulf Refining Company, the Gulf Pipe Line Company and other properties embraced in the Mellon oil interests in Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana. His office then was in Pittsburgh.

It was from this position that Mr. Markham was called back into railway work by his election as president of the Illinois Central Railroad Company, effective January 12, 1911. In February of that year he was also elected president of the Central of Georgia Railway Company and of the Ocean Steamship Company of Savannah, both subsidiaries of the Illinois Central. In April, 1914, he became chairman of the two subsidiary companies.

Mr. Markham was chosen to play a prominent part in the United States Railroad Administration of 1918-19. He was regional director of the railroads comprising the Southern Region, with headquarters at Atlanta, Ga., from January 1 to June 1, 1918, and regional director of the railroads comprising the Alleghany Region, with headquarters at Philadelphia, from June 1, 1918, to October 1, 1919.

Mr. Markham was so seriously ill in 1926 that it became imperative for him to relinquish the strenuous engagements of the presidency of the Illinois Central, and on September 15 of that year he was elected chairman of the board.

Mr. Markham was responsible for many notable undertakings, but he was perhaps best known for his leadership in developing improved relations between the railroads and the public. In this field his influence was nation-wide, and his pioneering work has been widely followed not only by other railroads but in many other industries. His aim was to take the mystery out of railroading, and under his direction the Illinois Central System used newspaper advertising, pamphlets and correspondence to lay its case before the public as no other railroad had ever done before. The officers of the road were encouraged to accept speaking engagements, and Mr. Markham, although himself untrained in the art of public speaking, set them such a good example that he speedily won renown as a public speaker.

In his relations with newspaper men Mr. Markham's attitude was the antithesis of the "public-be-damned" attitude that was once ascribed to an earlier day. He welcomed interviewers and won their confidence.

Two Fulton Banks Suspend Business

Fulton was thrown into a near panic Wednesday morning when it became generally known that the Farmers Bank and First National Bank had failed to open for business. Notices posted on the doors of both banks stated that "due to unsettled conditions in banking circles, the directors had ordered a temporary suspension of business for the protection of depositors."

President R. H. Wade of the First National Bank, and President Arch Huddleston of the Farmers Bank, both have stated that their institutions are solvent and the temporary closing was merely a matter of precaution to prevent depletion of cash reserve.

The general belief is that both banks will soon open again and may merge into one institution. We have no authority to say this but we do know that the high type of men connected with both banks can be relied on to take care of their depositors to the utmost.

Thanksgiving Day

City National Bank Flooded With Money

The City National Bank opened its doors the same as usual Wednesday morning with plenty of cash in sight to meet every demand and then some. In fact, some old timers say they never did see so much money at one time. If a run on the bank was expected it failed to materialize. A few may have withdrawn their accounts, but we venture to say that more new accounts were opened than withdrawn, and many thousands of dollars were added to the large amount of money stored in the vaults.

It would be very unwise for depositors to lose their heads and make a run on this bank. If there is a stronger bank in this end of the state we fail to know about it.

ROAD TO PADUCAH OPEN

Highway 45 between Fulton and Paducah—paved all the way except a six-mile stretch of good gravel—will be thrown open to travel today.

This provides a paved highway from Memphis to Paducah and points north and east.

The biggest disappointment in talking pictures is the discovery that those mysterious things screen lovers whisper to their sweethearts is the same sort of mush and appeasement other sweethearts dish out.

BREATH OF WINTER WHISTLES ACROSS VARIOUS SECTIONS

Mores Than Score of Deaths Have Been Reported as Result of Cold

The weatherman, after beaming unseasonably long upon the land, growled Tuesday, shook snow from his long locks and sent a zero breath whistling across the country.

More than a score of deaths have been reported to date in various sections of the country.

Blizzards swept Manitoba. Snow whirled down upon the middlewest. Mercury that only a few days ago flirted with the eighties shivered down to the cipher. A man froze to death in Kentucky—the winter's first victim in the south.

Sleet-slain pheasants were picked up in South Dakota by the wagon load. Wires sagged and snapped under the weight of snow in the middlewest. Trees, signs and small buildings were blown down and windows wrecked by a 51-mile-an-hour gale that howled across Nebraska.

ASK FOR CREDENTIALS

No matter what the agent at the front door wants to sell you, or asks you to sign your name to—ask for credentials, especially if it happens to be a book agent or magazine solicitor. Reports are being made by numerous magazine publishers that fake solicitors are canvassing for subscriptions, getting a down-payment, and then never turning in the names. Book publishers also complain of the same thing. They refuse to part with the books until they get their money, of course, and if the agent has appropriated it to his own use you are out just that much. Make them show their credentials, and even then make sure that the credentials are genuine. Buying from agents and peddlers who are here today and gone tomorrow is a poor enough plan at best. But if you will insist on doing so, then be sure you are dealing with a reputable party instead of a traveling crook.

BAPTIST REVIVAL TO BE HELD BY DR. M. E. DODD

Well Known Shreveport, La., Pastor Coming for January Revival

(Union City Commercial) The First Baptist Church of this city will hold a two weeks revival meeting beginning on January 18, 1931. Dr. M. E. Dodd, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Shreveport, La., will do the preaching. Arrangements are being made to have a singer present to direct the music during the revival. The local church feels itself very fortunate to be able to get Dr. Dodd to come to the meeting. He is not only one of the outstanding preachers and leaders in his denomination, but is widely known as a lecturer and writer. He is pastor of one of the largest churches of the South and is heard regularly over Radio Station KWKH of Shreveport, on Sunday nights. He is a native Gibson Countian and was at one time pastor at Fulton, Ky.

Brieflets

The only thing that looks as terrible as a town after a cyclone has gone through is a bureau after a Fulton husband has hurriedly hunted up a fresh handkerchief.

President Hoover urges home-owning. But the kind of home this generation wants is one with a steering wheel so they can drive it some place.

If it's true that looking at cold things make you feel colder, then looking at a banker in the eye while asking a renewal of that note would freeze you stiff right on the spot.

Back in the good old days in Fulton the livery stable loafer could do many amazing tricks with matches, provided somebody would furnish him with the matches.

Up to a dozen years ago the only chance a man had to be run down in Fulton was by a gossip or a bill collector.

One of the first things a bride must learn is how to iron a handkerchief and fold it so the torn place won't show.

Greater love hath no man than that he obey all of his wife's back-seat driving instructions.

Probably the most fool-hardy stunt since Ajax thumbed his nose at the lightning would be for a Fulton man to wipe his shoes with one of the company towels.

It is our firm belief that, next to undergarments, nothing can scratch as much as a postoffice pen.

Wonder how many old-timers around Fulton can remember when the Mother Hubbard scandalous garment?

When the lion and the lamb lie down together the camel and the blind pig will do the same thing.

If the burnt child really did dread the fire the men who make stock tickers would soon go into bankruptcy.

A pessimist is a fellow who tries to count the chickens that come home to roost before they are hatched.

There isn't a doubt that this would be a wonderful world if minds would only swell as fast as heads.

FULTON GIRL TO APPEAR IN PLAY

Miss Elizabeth Carter, Fulton, will appear in a play presented by the students of Murray State College at the meeting of the First District Educational Association at Murray Friday evening, November 28. Approximately 2,000 teachers will attend the meeting.

Miss Carter will play the part of Marjorie Sheffield, society mate of the Breckenridge young set, in a 3-act comedy written by students of the college in an advanced production class.

Miss Carter is well known for her dramatic ability in the college, having appeared in several entertainments.

Old World Recipes By HELEN SCHAUFFLER Domestic Science Expert

ONE of the chief secrets of the best Old World cooking lies in the care which is taken that each dish on the menu shall go well with all the others. Flavors are carefully studied. Particularly in the case of those vegetable dishes which tradition causes the housewife to serve with certain meats, the most meticulous attention is paid to obtaining those nuances of flavor that will accentuate the savor of the meat itself.

Helen Schauflier

Russian Beets—(Russian)—Serve with ham. Boil eight beets until tender in one quart of water sweetened with two tablespoons of sugar. Chop, add salt, one tablespoon of butter, one teaspoon sugar, one-half cup of chopped broiled bacon or salt pork, one tablespoon vinegar and one-half cup of sour cream or milk if it is on hand. Thicken slightly with one teaspoon of flour.

Rice with Mint—(Spanish)—Serve with lamb. Boil two cups of rice in salted water until tender. Drain. Mash two tablespoons of fresh mint leaves with one tablespoon of powdered sugar. Add one teaspoon of lemon juice. Stir this into the rice with one tablespoon of melted butter. Pack in a baking dish. Brush with butter and dust with a little powdered sugar. Brown for fifteen minutes in a hot oven.

Boiled Cucumbers—(Turkish)—Serve with lamb, veal or beef. Peel and dice four medium-size cucumbers. Soak in salt water for twenty minutes. Drain and plunge into boiling salted water for fifteen minutes. Drain. Add two tablespoons melted butter, one tablespoon of sugar, one-fourth cup of vinegar and one and one-half cups of the water the cucumbers were boiled in. Bring to a boil and thicken with one tablespoon of flour. Sprinkle with chopped parsley or chives.

Lesson for November 30

ZACCHAEUS THE PUBLICAN, A BUSINESS MAN CONVERTED

LESSON TEXT—Luke 19:1-10.
GOLDEN TEXT—For the Son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost.
PRIMARY TOPIC—A Man Who Thought Jesus Would Not Care.
JUNIOR TOPIC—A Man Who Righted His Wrongs.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How Religion Changes One's Life.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Making Business Christian.

I. Jesus Passing Through Jericho (v. 1).

Jericho is noted as the stronghold of the Canaanites, which was miraculously delivered into the hands of Israel in response to their faith (Josh. 6), and also for the faith of Rahab which saved her from destruction with the city (Heb. 11:30,31). It was thus noted as a city where faith and unbelief played against each other. It was fitting that Jesus should pass through Jericho. Faith and unbelief again were manifested. Two notorious sinners, Rahab and Zacchaeus, were saved at Jericho.

II. Zacchaeus Seeking Jesus (vv. 2-4).

1. His object (v. 3).
He sought to see who Jesus was. Though perhaps prompted by curiosity, he eagerly sought Jesus.

2. His difficulties (vv. 2,3).
(1) His infamous business (v. 2).
He was a tax collector for the Roman government. The very fact that a Jew held such an office under the hated Romans would make him extremely unpopular. Then, since he was rich, it was evident that he had practiced extortion in collecting the taxes. Many men and women have a hard time in coming to Christ because of their questionable business relations.

(2) His shortness of stature (v. 3).
He was too small to crowd his way through to Jesus, and being hated by the people they had thrust him aside.
3. His persistence (v. 4).
He ran before the multitude and climbed up into a tree. What he lacked in stature he was determined should be made up by the height of the tree. Though Zacchaeus' legs were too short to enable him to see Jesus they were long enough to run up the tree, and enable him to climb the tree.

III. Jesus Finding Zacchaeus (vv. 5,6).

While Zacchaeus was trying to see Jesus, Jesus was looking for him. This is always the case. When desire is stirred up in a heart to see Jesus, Jesus is seeking that one. When Jesus saw him he commanded him to come down from the tree and declared his intention to go home with him. Zacchaeus got more than he expected. Jesus called him by name. He did not utter a word which would humiliate Zacchaeus. Jesus knew his heart's desire and dealt accordingly with him. All souls who earnestly seek Jesus shall be found of him. How wonderful his grace, that regardless of one's past life, Jesus will receive him as a friend and enter into fellowship with him! Zacchaeus quickly responded. He came down and with joy received Jesus.

IV. Zacchaeus' Conversion (vv. 7-10).

His conversion was sudden and thorough. He was converted before he had reached the ground.
1. What the crowd said (v. 7).
They said just what they say today when sinners come to Christ. They call to mind the man's former sins. They also reproached Christ, saying that he had gone to be a guest of this notorious extortioner, the tax collector. That for which they reproached Jesus was his glory. His supreme mission was to save sinners (v. 10).

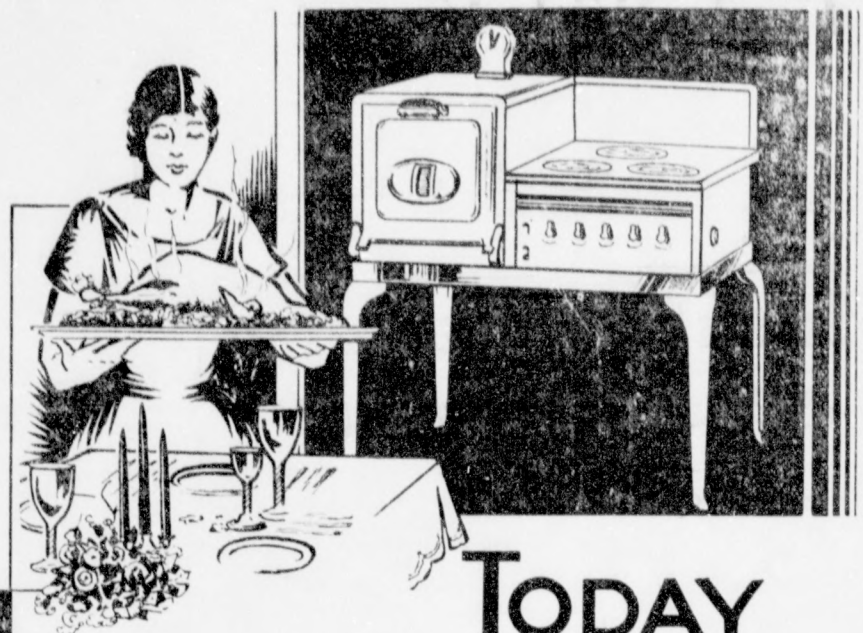

2. What Zacchaeus said (v. 8).
His conversion was thorough. It took hold upon his heart. His new life began with resolution and restitution. He dedicated half of his goods to the poor. The man who a little while ago was a grafter was now a generous giver. His conversion got hold of his pocketbook. His determination to make restitution wherein he had wrongly exacted taxes shows the genuineness of his conversion. While God forgets the past of a sinner when he comes to Christ, the sinner who is converted will seek to right all wrongs, be they unkind words or unrighteous deeds. Sorrow for sin is not enough when restitution is possible.

3. What Jesus said (vv. 9,10).
"Today is salvation come to thy house." The publican was now a child of God, a son of Abraham. Salvation is a present reality when one receives Christ.

TODAY

Preparing an Unusual Meal
Is Not Such a Difficult Task.

There was a time when preparation of a holiday dinner meant endless hours of toil over steam and broiling heat. Even the flattering comment on the quality of roast and rolls could not overcome the limp state in which the housewife emerged from the kitchen after such an ordeal.

The holiday of today means preparation of breakfast with ease and simplicity on electric appliances—and with dinner off to an early start under the watchful care of electric control, mother actually has a holiday.

Electric power, brought to farm home and urban home alike by the widespread transmission system, has provided the housewife a means, for a few cents a day, of eliminating drudgery.

He is survived by his widow, two sons, Tom Scott of McConnell, and Roy Scott of Martin, one daughter, Mrs. Laura Scott McClure of McConnell, several grandchildren and other relatives, and many friends.

The funeral service was held Monday at his late home and burial occurred at the family burying ground there.

POULTRY

(By J. T. Watkins)

Last week I attended the best poultry show I ever had the pleasure of seeing. When I say best, I don't mean the largest for I have been in shows of over 3,000 birds, but I mean the quality of the stock. There were only three chickens disqualified in the show of about 350 entered.

This is the first time I have ever seen the Buff Orpingtons lead in numbers at any show but they did at Cairo, there were 80 in the class and I mean there were some dandies. E. O. Tucker of Blue Mound, Ill., carried away the bulk of the prizes, but he didn't have clear sailing by any means. The judge spent a half day on the Orps, and after he had finished he said "the hardest job I ever had." He was standing by a young pen of Mrs. Perry, from Fulton, and said "There is a pen good enough to win in any show, but was not even placed here.

There was 12 young pens entered.

The entries in this show were mostly all of the dual-purpose fowl, White Wyandottes, White, Buff, Barred and Partridge Rocks, Rhode Island Reds, Cornish Indians comprised the bulk of the show following the Orpingtons. A Good entry of White Orpingtons finished out the meat and egg producers.

White Leghorns were conspicuous by their absence, as were the Brown Leghorns and Mottled Anconas, only a very few of each class entered.

The two pens of Pit Games I entered were the only ones in the show. Turkeys were represented by Bronze White Holland and Narragansett. One pair of Toulouse Geese comprised the water fowl.

The display of rabbits I entered made quite an attraction, not only the kids, but the grown ups hung around the rabbit coops and asked at least 1,000 questions, or maybe the same one 1,000 times.

I must say something about a string of Buff Rocks entered by an old friend of mine "Barney" Bertlesman of Mt. Carmel, Ill. Barney like myself is a railroad man, and his hobby is chickens, and he has some dandy ones. Included in his wins was the sweepstake pen of the show, also three or four single special prizes. If anyone around here wishes to secure some of his stock, I will recommend it as good as any I have ever seen. You can get his address from me.

The state will begin work on a large armory in Cairo within the next 30 days, and next year the state poultry show will be held in this armory, and it would be a good thing to drive up and spend the day at the show. Would be a good lesson for poultry raisers.

During the first week in December, the largest poultry show in the west will be held in the Chicago coliseum. This show is under new management and promises to be a dandy. The show will house not only the poultry, but also rabbits and canines, fur foxes and other fur bearing animals, pigeons, a large water fowl display, a bantam village, and several other features. This with a real good premium list insures this to be one big show. Guess I will have to go.

During the middle part of January in the municipal auditorium at Memphis, we will give the largest rabbit show ever held in the Mississippi valley. We expect to have rabbits entered from all over the United States. If I can make this show a success, I'll be some pleased booster.

Now is a good time to go through your flock, and pick out all sickly, weak fowls. Kill them and burn the carcasses. It has been proven that a bird can't enter the winter months out of condition and ever amount to anything. So get rid of them, save on your feed bills and also eliminate a source for the future disease in your flock.

If the following named persons will call at the Chamber of Commerce, they will receive an order for the baby chicks they won at the fair last fall. Alice Peoples, Mrs. T. Nabors, Mrs. Arthur Matheny, Mrs. D. J. Perry, Billie Stephenson, J. H. Payne, Route 6, Union City. These orders can be presented to the Fulton Hatchery any time after they start up, next spring.

Route 4, Fulton Ky. (New Hope Community)

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Moore of Detroit arrived Friday for a week's visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Moore.

The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Surges has been brought home from the Fuller-Gilliam hospital but remains in a quite serious condition.

The Homemaker's Club met at the home of Miss Willie Everett Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Edwards of Ruthville, Tenn., and Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Watkins of Crutchfield were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Watkins.

The P. T. A. program given at New Hope Saturday night was enjoyed by all very much. The main features were a play, "Sweetheart for Two," and blackface sketch, "Doctor Cut-up," supplemented by readings, drill and songs.

PROTEST ROAD ROUTING

Hickman Club Aroused Over Possible Change in Survey

Hickman, Ky., Nov. 24.—The western half of Fulton County is agitated today over the location of the Hickman-Union City highway, after it became known that engineers of the state highway department had surveyed two routes. One route follows the old road several miles, turning off at the farm of C. C. Bondurant, to straighten it out, and following the N. C. & St. L. Railroad tracks from just the other side of Poplar Grove Church to the Tennessee state line, near Woodland Mills.

The other route follows the railroad tracks all the way to Dodd's Crossing, two miles east of Hickman, where it connects with State Highway No. 94, going from Hickman to Fulton. This latter route does not serve a single farm, church or school and would not take a foot of road off the county, so the Hickman Lions' Club appointed a committee composed of County Judge W. J. McMurry, C. P. Mabry, former mayor T. T. Swayne and City Judge C. K. Davis, to take the matter up and have the direct route into Hickman, along the present road adopted. It is understood the state favors the other way because it is shorter and would be cheaper to build.

FUNERAL SERVICES TODAY FOR MR. CHARLES H. MARKHAM

fidence, and through them he spread his message of friendliness, frankness and partnership with the public.

The appeal to the public which Mr. Markham made for the railroads was backed up by a vigorous program of expansion and improvement on the Illinois Central System. New track was laid. Extensive grade reductions were effected. Equipment was added. Service was remarkably improved. A 169-mile cut-off was built between Edgewood, Ill., and Fulton, Ky., shortening the distance between the North and the South by 22 miles and providing easier grades. One of the world's finest railway shop plants was constructed at Paducah, Ky. The Gulf & Ship Island Railroad was purchased and rehabilitated, giving the Illinois Central System a direct line to the Mississippi Gulf Coast. The Alabama and Vicksburg and the Vicksburg, Shreveport and Pacific Railways, extending between Meridian, Miss., and Shreveport, La., were incorporated into the Illinois Central System by lease. The electrification and modernization of the Chicago Terminal were begun, and the movement was started to develop the valuable air rights over Illinois Central property in downtown Chicago. This terminal improvement program includes a great classification and transfer yard just south of Chicago which now bears Mr. Markham's name.

The attention which Mr. Markham caused to be centered upon the Illinois Central System brought opportunities for substantial rewards to many of his lieutenants, and numerous Illinois Central men who worked with him have been given substantial recognition in various fields. Among the presidents of railroads are those men who were associated with Mr. Markham on the Illinois Central: L. A. Downs, president of the Illinois Central System, who succeeded Mr. Markham when the latter relinquished that post in 1926; L. W. Baldwin, president of the Missouri Pacific Lines; J. J. Pelley, president of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad; A. E. Clift, president of the Central of Georgia Railway, and V. V. Boatner, president of the Chicago Great Western Railroad. Another notable lieutenant of Mr. Markham's was the late C. M. Kittle, who left the Illinois Central to become president of Sears, Roebuck & Company.

Mr. Markham also was responsible for a vigorous program of economic development along the lines of the Illinois Central System. His thought that the railroad's interest and the public interest are inseparably linked together had its reflection in a determined effort to build up the territory in which the Illinois Central operates. This program has been particularly effective in the realm of agriculture and especially in the South. The great advance made in dairying and other modes of diversified farming in Illinois Central areas in the South is a memorial to the vision and leadership of Mr. Markham.

CLINTON MARSHAL FATALLY INJURED

Joe Evans Falls to Curb When Leaving Car

Clinton, Ky.—Joe Evans, 64, city marshal, while stepping from a car Tuesday night fell and struck his head against the curb, resulting in the fracture of the skull at the base of the brain, from which he died three hours later in a hospital at Paducah.

Mr. Evans leaves two daughters, Mrs. Wood Jones, Clinton, and Mrs. Aaron Bragg, Memphis.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the Methodist church here. Burial followed in the Spring Hill cemetery.

FREED OF ARSON CHARGE

Mayfield, Ky.—Burley Farmer, 26, South Graves farmer, was acquitted by a jury in Graves circuit court Saturday on a charge of attempted arson. Farmer was charged with an attempt to set fire to the home of his brother-in-law, Luther Seay, near Cuba, in the southern part of Graves County last May.

Seay was aroused from bed in time for three occupants of the home to escape the fire. An unidentified man had sprinkled oil around the residence and attached a string to the gas tank of Seay's automobile.

ANOTHER BLESSING

The day of the old-time political stump-speaker is past, so far as ranting and raving from a soap-box or at the crossroads school house is concerned. Yet that doesn't mean his methods have disappeared. Fact is, he has only changed to meet new conditions. Now he uses the radio to tell how his election, or the success of his party, will save the nation. Fulton owners of radio sets can attest to the change, and most of them approve of it. It used to be that if you got caught in a crowd you almost had to remain and listen to the harangue whether you wanted to or not. But it's different now. Sitting at the radio you can listen if you like, and if you don't like you can, with one simple little turn of the wrist, silence the spell-binder insofar as your own ears are concerned. Thus in this age of inventions are our blessings multiplied.

"Since moving near the river 2 years ago, we've always used RAT-SNAP. Watched a vicious water rat, nibbling at RAT-SNAP outside the house. ## Are You Sure You Are Always Welcome?

"May I use your telephone for a moment, please?"

Neighbors may borrow any one of a hundred things the best housewives run short of, and still remain friendly, but "may I use your telephone?" is very likely to be considered an imposition by your neighbors. If you had a neighbor who persisted in borrowing things and never returning them, you'd probably at least become impatient with that neighbor. When you borrow your neighbor's telephone, you are borrowing something you cannot repay when you haven't a telephone of your own.

Avoid embarrassment of this kind by having a telephone of your own. Find out, now, how little it costs. Just call the Business Office, or ask any telephone employee.
