A Berlin newspaper announces there are now eight bachelor heritages in the German Empire—eight spinster Princesses of 15 upwards. The first list includes William, of Nassau; Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria; Prince Frederick, of Saxe-Weimar; Prince Ernest, of Hesse; Prince Frederick, of Saxe-Altenburg; and Prince Frederick, of Waldeck and Pyrmont. The second list is headed "The Princesses of the German Empire," and lists three young daughters of the Emperor, the Crown Princess, next to whom come the Princesses of the Royal family of Prussia.

"Another wonderful discovery has been made and that too by a lady of this county. Disease fastened its claws upon her, and for weeks she lay upon her back, her feverish tests, but her gains were undermined and death imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly and could not get up. She was told to try the New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking it, that she slept all night. She bought of us a bottle of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Her name is Mrs. Luther Latta, wife of W. C. Hamrick & Co., of N. C.—at Harry B. Garner's Pharmacy—50 cents and a $1.00

Of course it was! He died after another, and finally saved by taking Dr. Price's Medical Discovery"—the "Cure"—which employed, will soon subduing symptoms, such as breathing, night-sweats, blood, etc., and restore strength and hope, effect poor consumptive's grave-ward. Is it not All druggists.

THE TRI-WEEKLY NEW ERA

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1906

POETIC LORE

Synopsis.

I hold it a gift, rare and half divine,
This ready feeling for a fellow's woe,
Which from one heart to another goes,
In comprehensive intuition;
To such a certain charmed which have
Will straightway tell of treasures hidden fast
In the heart's heart, and softened shadows Cast.

An Unhappy Thought

An old cow, so I've heard it said,
Lived once a railway train;
It was her favorite promenade,
With only one drawback:
Whenever a train came up the road,
It shrieked as if to say:
"Come, come, old lady, step aside!
We have the right of way."

When next it gives its warning shriek

"I'll tell you my ideal,
I mean to look the other way,
Preferencing I don't hear!"
Why, yes, dear, that I think I would.
Just make them know that I am here,
And to the old cow took her stand,
Determined not to yield.

But how the new plan worked, alas!

The calf could only go, alas!
Because her mother never came
To tell of its success.
—How I've Done It, Good Cheer.

The Boarding House

Once again the boarding manson
Piled in with its motley throng,
The parlor guests are singing
Some old-fashioned ballad of song.
Now were gathered at the table:
Every body pitch in!
See the kitchen disappearing,
Droptaken vanishing from view.
Of the coffee caught but bones left,
They will make to-morrow's stew.

Metel is the golden thread

Through the balance of the account.
We must live on eggs and ham.
—Buffalo Courier.

Dinner Resort

The "wandering man" sat in his wooden chair,
Wondering what he could say,
While the grim "dinner" waited there
To carry his copy away.
He pulled his hair and frowned and scowled,
And writhed beneath his head,
While the printer below for copy howled,
And the waiting moments sped.

But many joke could he evolve

From his hard-bitten brain,
And at last he made the stern resolve
To use the shears again.
An Aching Void.
There once was a fond young traveling man
Whose current of life was slow to dry,
That taught was ever known to beguile
On his careworn face the ghost of a smile.

From his boyhood up a man desire

Had raged in his breast a coming fire;
He went through the world with a look of gloom,
And was laid to rest in an early tomb.
Do you ask what burdened his life with woe,
And laid him down so prematurely low?
Do you seek to know what question so rare
He craved with bitterness and despair?

Also for a life so sadly wasted

Because of a single joy unshared,
Nothing to him was wealth or fame;
The music that he longed to never cease,
That he had never heard.

More in her way

She never was good with the paint brush,
The scrub brush was more in her way,
And she had a habit of leaving hanging around
A tree bit of canvas all day.
She knew neither French, nor yet German,
The English was more in her way,
She could tell a person from an adverb,
And "did it" not "do it," she said.

She went to no young ladies' college

Her mother was more in her way,
And from her she imbibed all her learning
Without that innumerable pay.
She wore no extravagant dresses,
The neat, plain was more in her way,
And she looked just as well in that outfit
As those decked in plumage of gay.

Just to think, she had never a prince

The small job was more in her way,
And she hummed at her work with a light and
As happy as flowers in May.
She never had a man, as we common,
Five o'clock, say, was more in her way,
And at six the same man was in her way,
For the men who would not harvest the hay.

She had sweethearts of station and fortune

But it seems I was more in her way,
For, the poor, I was honest and loving at Heart.
So we joined hands for ever and aye.
Twenty years we have lived without quarrel,
For love's rule comes from the heart,
And as our progress in life we advance,
As onward comes our way.

—M. J. Jones, St. Paul, Minn.

OLD MAN DUNDER

He Tells the Sergeant About His Experience with a Monte Shark.

"What you here?" exclaimed Sergeant Benda the other day, as he looked up and found Carl Dunder standing by the desk.

"Well, I expect it was my duty to come down and report on some case.

Maybe I was swindled again."

"I presume so. Most anybody can swindle you. It's a wonder you have a dollar left."

"Yes, you are."

"Did I win innocent like a child?"

"About as innocent as a boy three years old. What's the matter now?"

"Sergeant, maybe you had seen a feller take three cards and throw 'em

all around of a table like lightning."

"I have."

"Did he like you to bet that you can pick out dot ace of hearts?"

"Yes, that's called three-card monte.

How much did they get out of you?"

"A man comes in my place, yesterday, and says 'vash I Carl Dunder. I has. All right, Mr. Dunder, but I like to show you a trick to play on the poys. It's called three-card monte, and every body can play it. Do you want to see it, I presume?"

"Well, he take a seat at a table and pulls out three cards and does so—and Torrey to do other work than that to which God has adapted us, is simply to break and ruin some of God's goals and leave our work undone.

Mr. Whittier is quoted as saying:

"It is a great thing to own a little bit

It is stated that out of the 27,000 inhabitants of the Samoan Islands 7,

000 are church members and 3,000 are candidates for membership. There are 200 native pastors.

There is complaint at Cornell that the townspeople find the lectures by distinguished lecturers so attractive that they take all the best seats in the hall to the exclusion of the students.

The New York Chinese mission has between 4,000 and 5,000 Celestials in its Sunday-schools. About sixty have joined the various churches. The first Sunday-school for these people was founded in New York eighteen years ago.

The total income of Oxford University last year was £24,299, against

£22,106 in 1885. A balance of £1,014 has been carried forward, as against £333 last year. The University's income from its estates decreases, but the increase of fees and the growth of the endowment fund makes the total income good.

organized, of conversions during the past year: From one school, 16; from another, 20; from another, 23; from

another, 27; from another, 27; from another, 41; making a total of 176 souls brought to accept Christ in these Sunday-schools. And yet there are those who still ask: "Do Sunday-schools pay?"
