NOTE FOR NOSEY:

Those weren't barked catfish, they were barking dogfish. A specialty for the growlers.

Since we started running the column "When the Children Make Us Smile" we seem to be getting a little more conscious of the antics of the small fry. It may be possible, even, that having a couple of very small fries in our household may be having some effect on our general frame of mind, but this past week we were amused with the tales we heard and saw concerning the tots.

For instance, on Wednesday we were returning from the Lake Street band stand where Governor Clements and other dignitaries had just made speeches. As we passed Gilbert DeMyer's Grocery we saw his wife Mary and the two charming DeMyer lassies sitting in front of the store. We stopped to pass the time of day and to tell them that all the activity was on Lake Street, but they took a dim view of our information. Mary told me that she had to sit in front of the store about three more minutes because the girls just loved to see the fascinating view when the little red "violation" sign pops up after the money runs out of the parking meter.

Who asked why mothers get gray?

Mildred Anderson is having some difficulty with her precocious and unpredictable son Bob. Bob has been the inspiration of an untold amount of hair-raising experiences in the Anderson, Huddleston and Binford households. There was the time when he just up and disappeared from home for nearly a whole day. When Mildred put out the distress signal in the neighborhood for his safe return, she learned from many reliable sources that Bob had secured a three-dollar fortune and was going to stay out as long as it took to spend it. His talk being a little bigger than he is, he returned at sun-down. But his latest request is going to be something to contend with. Bob wants a "earring age" because several of the neighbors in his block have one. If you see a little fellow with a "earring age" take no pity, it's only Bob Anderson, with perfectly good hearing but an uncontrollable amount of imagination.

Linda, the precocious darling in the Jack Snow household has had her parents in something of a swivet these last few weeks. She's so tiny and dainty you'd hardly expect her to do anything but coo, but she really gives with the lingo. One day recently she walked into the room after a good night's sleep and commented to the grown folks that "I slept like a hog". Then on driving with her parents on their way home, Linda kept up a constant chatter, incessant we might say. Papa Jack was getting a little weary of the conversation, as all of us do with the infant prattle, and said to her, "Linda, please shut up, you've done nothing but talk since we left home." To which Linda replied, "I know it Daddy, I talk just like a dope." And she isn't as big as a minute.

The other day when we talked to a group of High School seniors on National Newspaper Week, we thought we'd ask the boys and girls what a live-wire newspaper could do to help them. We didn't get a very enthusiastic response, in fact no response at all, until we commented on the fact that there were only four boys in the class... and twelve girls. Then came the outburst, "find more boys for Fulton." We hadn't realized the situation was so critical, especially with most of the fellows "going steady." And with war scares and boys going off to the Army... gosh, things are tough everywhere.

Fulton Homecoming Game and Queen Coronation Here

All the fanfare of homecoming will take place in Fulton tonight... parade, music and the coronation of the homecoming queen. The thus far unbeaten Fulton Bulldogs will meet their all-time foe in the Murray Tigers tonight (Friday) at the Memorial Stadium. Beateous Miss Betty Gordon Buckingham, selected by the football squad to reign over the festivities will be crowned by Wendell Norman, and Jimmy Sisson, football captains for the game. Her attendants will be the cheering department of Fulton High.

Tonight's full schedule of events will start off with a big parade led by Fulton's crack band.

The parade will form at the Methodist church at 7 o'clock and will proceed down Carr to the stop light on Lake Street, down Lake, and around to the Seigel factory and up Third Street, to the football field.

For the first time this season Fulton's Band will perform on the field, as will the band of the Murray school. Coronation ceremonies will begin at 7:45 p. m. when the football captains will present the queen with flowers and escort her to and from her regal position on the fifty-yard line.

A huge crowd is expected to be in the cheering section tonight to help the Bulldogs along in their attempts to remain the unbeaten eleven of this section.

Fulton's Radio Station Plea To Get FCC Study

Fulton's proposed radio station, dropped from sight in the past two months, is very much alive, according to reports reaching here this week. The application is on the desk of the Federal Communications Commission in Washington now, and will slide under its all-powerful magnifying glass within the next month.

An authority advised, however, that it will be next Spring before any air waves start vibrating.

Editors Tell Students Of Newspaper Functions

To acquaint students with the functions of a county newspaper, four classes in journalism were taught this week at Fulton High School. The classes were taught in observance of National Newspaper Week, which is this week.

On Monday morning, Mrs. Paul Westpheling taught the senior English class and on Tuesday, Mr. Westpheling taught a senior class. Two other classes were taught by Vyrion Mitchell, general manager of the Fulton Daily Leader.

The program was arranged by William Bentley, new English teacher at the school.

LEGION TO SURVEY OPINION ON BY-PASS

The Fulton Post of the American Legion is currently undertaking a survey to determine public sentiment for or against the proposed U.S. Highway 45 by-pass through the middle of the fairgrounds. The YMBC-Legion petition circulators hope to gain enough sentiment against the proposed route that, when presented to the Department of Highways, might influence them to either abandon the idea or survey it elsewhere.

The Fulton County News has been advised that it is the plan of the Department to route the by-pass through Stephens Street in the Highlands. The project has been on the agenda of the Highway Department for several months and strongly figured in the postponement of the West Kentucky-Tennessee Fair this year. A delaying order was granted fair officials however and the event was held as planned.

COUNCIL HEARS PLAN FOR RAT CAMPAIGN

A delegation representing the Fulton Rotary Club appeared before the Fulton City Council Wednesday night and suggested that the corporations of Fulton and South Fulton jointly undertake a rat-poisoning campaign later this fall.

The Mayor and council gave a favorable nod to the idea and agreed to meet with the South Fulton body to see if joint financing can be agreed. Under the plan, the two cities would purchase and distribute the bait themselves.

WOMAN'S CLUB IN OPEN MEET TODAY

Mrs. Jack Carter, president of the Fulton Woman's Club announced today that the first meeting of the new club year will be held Friday afternoon (today) and that Tom Elam, prominent Union City attorney and Army Colonel will be the principal speaker. Mr. Elam's talk will follow the theme of the international relations program, of which Miss Mary Martin is chairman. The Army man will touch on the situation in Korea.

Natural Gas Is Profitable, Engin Council

University of Ky. Lexington, Ky.

Separate natural gas systems for both Fulton and South Fulton can be operated successfully, with favorable rates, the engineering firm of Russell and Axon announced to a joint meeting of the Fulton-South Fulton city councils here Wednesday night.

The firm had been engaged in a comprehensive survey for each community to determine installation and operation costs, potential revenue and other data involved. The results of the survey were announced to the councilmen in joint meeting because the firm found that a considerable saving in initial installation cost could be made if a jointly-owned supply line and regulator station could legally be set up.

REV. STILL CALLED TO PASTORATE HERE

His call to the church had the unanimous approval of the board and the congregation. He was a visitor in the city on September 27 and 28, at which time he preached before the congregation.

Rev. Still has an engaging personality and has been a minister for nearly eight years. He and his interesting family will live in the Christian Church parsonage on Eddings Street.

LAST GOODWILL OF CC' OCTOBER 17

In the last of the goodwill meetings of the Chamber of Commerce for this year an important road event will be noted at the meeting to be held at Fulham, Tuesday evening October 17.

The farmers along this road and the people of Fulham have been looking forward to this meeting since the surfacing program began in the summer. The meeting has been delayed until the surfacing was done. This should be the best meeting of the entire year.

The ladies of Salem Methodist Church, just north of Fulham, will serve the meal and the price will be $1.50 per plate. Each member of the Chamber of Commerce is asked to provide a meal for one guest besides himself.

Commenting on the work of the Chamber of Commerce, C. H. Warren, secretary said:

"We now have ninety-one members; if every one can find it possible to co-operate in this undertaking it will mean a great deal to both groups. We must have, at least, fifty sponsors, and more if possible."

Community Concert To Meet Next Tuesday

A meeting of the Board of Directors of the Community Concert Association will be held Tuesday night, October 10 at the Woman's Club, Mrs. David Sundwick, president said today. The meeting will be held following the meeting of the Music Department.

Several important items of business are scheduled and a full attendance is urged.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Exum spent Monday in Memphis on business.

The supply line bringing gas to town from the Texas Gas main transmission line about three miles east of Fulton, and the regulating station "stepping down" the pressure to usable volume could well serve both communities, the engineers pointed out, adding that gas to the respective community systems could be delivered to each from the regulator station. An estimated $26,000 could be saved in building the one facility, instead of duplicating.

For Fulton, the engineers estimate the system will cost $200,000 and will supply gas to approximately 437 customers with an estimated revenue the first year of around $34,000, increasing at the rate of about $1100 yearly. Total cost of operation for the first year was estimated at around $15,750., increasing about $650 each year as the line load grows. Estimated profits from the Fulton system, around $12,000 yearly, would be adequate to retire indebtedness and build a comfortable margin for future use.

For South Fulton, the engineers estimate the system will cost $145,000, and will supply gas to approximately 341 customers with an estimated revenue the first year of around $22,000, against operating expense of around $10,430.

The councils will meet separately next week to discuss plans and to examine blueprints, and the following week will meet together to again examine the possibility of the joint supply line question.

The survey is being submitted to the Texas Gas Transmission Corporation for their approval and the signing of a contract with the respective cities; following that, the Gas Corporation must secure approval of the project from the Federal Power Commission. The project, revenue bonds are sold to finance it and money is obtained, a contract can be let to begin construction of the line.

ROTARIANS HEAR MRS. PATTERSON

Mrs. J. H. Patterson, Jr., presented Fulton Rotarians with a splendid review of Mildred S. Topp's current best-seller, "Smile Please" as a feature of the regular luncheon Tuesday.

Assuming the first person in her narration of the story, Mrs. Patterson held her audience spellbound as she related passages from the Greenwood, Miss. story.

In a brief business session before the program, Rotarians re-elected Hubert Jacob to membership and again initiated its popular "student" Rotarian plan of the last two years. Each month during the school year a student is chosen from each of the local high schools to attend club meetings.

Newspaper Mirrors History In This Passing Parade

Mary-Nelle Wright

This is National Newspaper Week. In years past the week set aside to honor the newspaper folks who turn out your newspaper has meant little to me except that here was another period taken out of the calendar to pay special tribute to some particular group or other. What with the News editors flitting here and there making speeches telling of the part the newspaper plays in the daily lives of Kentuckians I often wondered how such a profession had come so far in preserving the Constitution given right of "freedom of the press."

What a hearty lot the early editors must have been! The chance to get a glimpse of the work of an early editor was given the News editors by Harry Murphy, who trusted them with the care of a copy of the Weekly Fultonian, published on December 11, 1880. This issue is Vol. 1, No. 48, and published long before the City of Fulton was incorporated as a municipality. Yes, it was a year before President James A. Garfield was assassinated by Charles G. Guiteau.

The issue was edited by Charles M. Walker, whom I believe was typical of his day. Whether or not there was a dearth of local news in unknown to us, because Mr. Walker certainly didn't concern himself with reporting all the local happenings of that day. Some things he did publish though on the local scene and if memory serves I imagine that an advertisement headed "Cohn's Column" is one inserted by the father of the late Seldon Cohn which described his merchandise in that manner: "Everything the farmer wants can be found at Cohn's; 'Everything the merchant wants can be found at Cohn's; 'Everything the young ladies want can be found at Cohn's; 'Everything the old men want can be found at Cohn's; etc. In fact, anything that anyone could reasonably want, in the dry goods line, could be found at WM. COHN'S.

On another page we found the advertisement of H. Dunlap Murphy who owned a wholesale and retail grocery. Mr. Murphy, an uncle of Mrs. Eliza White of Fulton, built the brick residence on Carr Street next to Mrs. R. H. Wade. He also built the one in which Mrs. White now lives. The grocery which Mr. Murphy owned was probably the largest one of its kind in this section of the country.

Another ad was for Beard and Collins grocery which said, "To those who wish to make their own Mince Meat and wish a pure article of spirits to make it with, should give us a call". This grocery was located where Baldrige's store is now. The second floor of the building housed the Collins family while the third floor was called Collin's Hall where meetings of all kinds were held.

Bruce B. Eddings was agent for Hartford, Aetna Phoenix, of Hartford, Home, of New York; and the Insurance Company of North America. He was also a dealer in wheat and corn. Mrs. Frank Cole of 112 Eddings Street is a daughter of the late Mr. Eddings.

Joe Wade had a furniture factory and planning mill and his home right across from the Browder Milling Company. There are those of us who remember his house which was torn down a year or so ago for the present mill expansion.

The first ice cream parlor in Fulton belonged to Mr. Frey, the step-father of the late Si Vancil. Mr. Frey's business was where Huddleston Hardware Company is now. Adjoining the bakery and ice cream parlor was the Usher and Barry Tobacco Barn whose main office was located at the present site of the City Hall.

W. W. Meadows owned a dry goods store in the Meadows Block where Bennett's Drug Store now stands. His ad stated that the latest styles in Ladies' Cloaks and Dolmans had just been received there. (The DOLMAN had me stymied until I consulted Mr. Webster and found it to be "A Woman's cloak with cape-like pieces instead of sleeves.")

Leet's Hotel stood where the Earle Hotel is now. Mr. Leet had a daughter renowned for her knowledge in music who gave piano lessons to many Fulton Belles of that day.

Dr. J. R. Luten, Mrs. Robert Bard's grandfather was a general practitioner here who built a home where Hornbeak's Funeral Home now stands.

J. W. Boyd, Mrs. Mozelle Crafton's grandfather owned a big flour mill which covered the ground from Irby's Fashion Shop to the Kentucky Hardware Store.

J. W. Blythe's Store was said to be "crowded with very fine (Continue on page five)

Price Of Liberty

Since the Hoosier State Press Association has been such a vehement champion of a free press, it was logical that the first question put to the panel of six individuals in the Newspapers On Trial event at the recent convention should concern their conception of the term "freedom of the press." Their answers proved beyond any reasonable doubt that the price of liberty is eternal vigilance and that upon newspapers rests the chief burden of maintaining this vigilance.

Within an hour before four members of the panel gave their definition of the meaning of freedom of the press they had heard it defined by Grove Patterson, editor of the Toledo, Ohio, Blade. And yet, sixty minutes later the four signified that freedom of the press means a privilege granted to newspapers. The other two members of the panel correctly defined freedom of the press as meaning a right granted to the people, but upon questioning, admitted they had learned the answer only two days before when it was explained at a meeting they had attended.

If a group of six mature individuals, far above average in intelligence, are unaware of the real meaning of the constitutional guarantees, what can be expected of the great mass of the people who never pause to consider why they attend the church of their choice, why they may speak their minds freely, why they may assemble in meetings without a government permit, why they may resort to the courts for redress AND why they may have a press free of government domination. Those are the five rights granted in the first amendment, the five liberties which require constant vigilance to preserve. Those are the five liberties which do not exist in the iron curtain countries, much as the people might want them. To say that it cannot happen here is wishful thinking when we realize it has happened elsewhere and will happen here unless the people are informed of the real meaning of these freedoms.

Can newspapers, by accepting the burden of continuing day-by-day vigilance, save the day? The primary election in Indiana last month proved they can. Not in many years have the newspapers of Indiana carried on such a militant campaign to convince the people of their duty and obligation to vote in the primary election. The results paid off in the heaviest vote recorded in many an election. And that came when public apathy to voting in a primary was at its peak.

Yes, newspapers can do it, IF they too understand the real meaning of these constitutional freedoms and IF they realize their responsibility is greater than any agency in the maintenance of these freedoms because of their very nature. It cannot be done by an annual observance of one week in a year during which the press is glorified. It is an every day, every week project that emphasizes the need for vigilance to preserve not only one—a free press—but all the liberties. It can be done if newspapers, under such a program of vigilance, bring about understanding of the real meaning of these freedoms.—The Indiana Publisher.

Ed's Note: During National Newspaper Week, which is this week, cultivate a new awareness of the freedom that the press offers and feel free to call on us at any time we can help with your problem toward preserving these liberties.

A Dream Fulfilled

Sunday afternoon we accepted the invitation of the One and All Club to their open house, commemorating the official opening of their beautiful clubhouse.

We had a feeling of mixed emotions. Primarily we had a feeling of amazement that so few could do so much. With only twenty members in the organization they have built a clubhouse worthy of a group containing hundreds of members. Not only is the clubhouse a monument to their planning and vision, but a special tribute to hard work and lots of it. Not too long before the open house the women decided to spend the day at the clubhouse.....not to sit and chat, but to paint, shellac and varnish walls. They brought their lunches and their work clothes and when the day was ended, before them they had shining hand-rubbed walls, which presented a sight of beauty and security. In that clubhouse the walls represent an enclosure of social security for a group of people who love the same things, talk the same language and enjoy the same pastimes.

We cannot overestimate our pleasure in visiting that One and All Community house. We wish that hundreds more would have called to see what real ambition can do.

As it stands the reception room and the beautifully equipped kitchen would do credit to the country club of any large city and after talking to many of the members we can easily see how it was done.

To the One and All Club, and to all the thriving, compact little communities around Fulton who have built community centers we offer heartfelt congratulations. They know what they want and they go after it.

Taxes Up Again

Beginning this week withholding taxes deducted from the salaries of employees will be increased about one-fifth. To our knowledge the new ruling has never been made clear since the increase in weekly deductions does not reflect an increase in income taxes.

Recently we read where the increase was intended to eliminate paying additional taxes at the end of the year, and mainly to reduce the "take home" pay of the employee so that there would be less incentive to spend all that he makes.

It would be such a public service if somebody would let Mr. Truman in on a big secret. With the cost of living sky-rocketing as it is, a fellow can hardly buy the things he needs, much less spend a lot on things he doesn't really need.

We're living on a balloon. Management increases its products because labor got a raise... then labor comes along and asks for another raise because management increased the price of its products. We get awful amused when we look on the harried days of demobilization when free enterprise asked that all price control be lifted so that prices would level off to a normal degree. We've had five years of that "so-called leveling" and coffee is three times what it was in 1945. Black pepper, heavens knows why, is nearly six times its pre-war level... and meat... its a luxury to eat a neck-bone.

One of these days, and we can hardly see how it will be so much longer, the economy of this country is going to blow up higher than an atomic bomb. We refer you to an amazingly revealing story in last week's Time magazine.

At any rate, taxes are going up again. If you were to ask us, the difference in profit and loss these days is what we pay to the government for taxes... and they're not deductible.

You figure it out.

Beef, 1950 Model

Countless volumes of fiction have been written about the Wild West, its cowboys, Texas steers, cattle rustling and driving of herds over long trails. It makes exciting reading, especially with a little gunplay thrown in.

But how good was the meat produced in those days? If one judges by the pictures of the "critters" of fifty years ago, compared with the modern beef animals that you see today on the larger ranges as well as small farms, the difference is almost unbelievable. The long-legged rangy steer of the two-gun period looks like he would be pretty tough eating compared with the short-legged, heavy set, well fattened animals that go to the packing houses today. There is just about as much difference between them as there is between the angular automobile of the early 1900's and the slick, streamlined product of 1950.

The meat packing industry and the farmers have been as busy producing new "beef models" as automobile manufacturers have been producing new car models. The consumer of meat, however, does not realize this. He has no idea of the cooperative effort that has taken place between the cattle raiser and the meat packer and the technical advances that have been made in processing meats in order to produce uniform quality that was unknown a few short years ago.

One word, it seems to me, well summarizes the state of the nation-alarming. And passage by Congress of the anti-subversive, concentration camp bill, and its frightened over-riding of President Truman's courageous veto made it much worse.

We were on the threshold of becoming a police-state—like Hitler-Germany, like Mussolini-Italy like Stalin's Russia—before that measure which slashes ruthlessly at the life-roots of our nation became law. Time will tell if we actually leaped over the threshold when this bill was passed.

Congress deserves naught but denunciation for the fear and hysteria - - the fear of losing an election and the hysteria engendered by fear—which prompted its action.

Judge Camille Kelly of the Juvenile Court, Memphis, will deliver an address at the First Methodist Church in Fulton tonight.

Mrs. G. H. Dickey, librarian of the Fulton Library ever since it was taken over by the Woman's Club three years ago, has resigned to move to Milan, Tenn., and rejoin her husband. Her place will be taken by Miss Inez Binford.

To take up your telephone receiver and listen in to the best radio broadcast programs without the trouble of tuning in, is a new sensation... but one in which far-reaching developments have made practical. One may simply call Central and ask to be connected, then settle back in a chair and listen contentedly with the telephone receiver instead of the customary headphones.

day, December 7, 1941. But frighted. Certainly we were not.

We know, as a sort of inherited knowledge, as a fact we simply grow up understanding, that the freedoms which we cherish are things which must be defended. We have, time after time, gone to their defense.

We know that Thomas Jefferson was classically right when he said, nearly 200 years ago: "The tree of liberty must be refreshed from time to time with the blood of patriots and tyrants. It is its natural manure."

We have been willing to give freely of our blood when we knew the enemy. But we are a people who regard all of our own as friends. We are provincial, yes. There still is, in many places in the south, a feeling of antagonism and suspicion of yankees.

The west looks with quiet but indulgent scorn on the east, which is the east and south so far as the west is concerned. And, Texans, of course, look on all of us as something of an inferior bunch that they must humor.

But we have not yet learned that our most vicious enemies are those within our gates. We have not learned that there are those who shout of protecting our freedom when what they actually mean is that they would deprive us of our liberties and our freedoms under guise of safeguarding them.

It is hoped that each person who signed the Crusade-For-Freedom Scroll read carefully what it said. The declaration:

"I believe in the sacredness and dignity of the individual. I believe that all men derive the right to freedom equally from God. I pledge to resist aggression and tyranny wherever they appear on earth." The line, "resist aggression and tyranny wherever they appear" can most certainly be construed to mean here at home as well as on some far-off continent.

And, that is why we should be concerned about the attack on fundamental liberties by Congress. And, why we should hope the Congress that takes office in January will pass a sensible law to protect our nation and at the same time, genuinely safeguard our freedom.....

Sermonette Of The Week

So You Want Peace

By Joseph Breig

One of the most startling facts of history is that we hold the secret key to the future of the world. I mean the key that was given to us at Fatima. And one of the saddest facts is that we have not been using it as constantly and as effectively as we should.

When I say that the key is a secret key, I do not mean, of course, that anybody is hiding it. Quite the contrary. It has been cried from the housetops. It has been offered to everybody. Why, it is even popularized in a modern song.

Nevertheless, secret it remains, because most people are not interested. They are not interested because they do not believe. Nothing is so hidden as that from which we turn away our eyes and our minds. And so the human race goes on suffering, because it will not attend to the facts of Fatima.

Facts they are, proved to the hilt. The Virgin Mary, mother of our Redeemer, appeared to three shepherd children near the town of Fatima, Portugal, in 1917. She prophesied the end of World War I. She warned of the approach of World War II. She laid down a program which, if followed, would have averted it.

"If what I say is done," she said, "there will be peace. If not, Russia will spread her errors through the world." Those errors, she said would give rise to wars and other catastrophes.

The peace program laid down by Our Lady seems simple; and it is simple: prayer and sacrifice. But it is the program given to her by God; and within its simplicity is hidden the divine wisdom which sees the solution of all our apparently insoluble complexities. Peace with Russia is possible; but it must be the peace of justice and love. It must be the peace of true Christianity.

Such is the secret of Fatima; that if we want peace, we must obey God. The industrialist must obey God in his treatment of workers. The worker must obey God in giving a good day's work. The printer must obey God by ceasing to tempt millions with published sensuality.

Do we want peace? Then let us earn it.

Miss Coplen and Mr. McAskill Married In Beautiful Ceremony in Wingo Church

A wedding of much beauty was solemnized Saturday afternoon at the Wingo Baptist Church, when Miss Ava Nell Coplen, daughter of Mrs. A. T. Hale, of Fulton, Kentucky, became the bride of Leon Clark McAskill, Jr., of New York City, son of Mr. and Mrs. McAskill, Sr., of Miami, Florida. The double-ring ceremony was read at half-after three o'clock, by Rev. Scott Johnson, of Cookeville, Tennessee, before a large group of relatives and friends of the couple.

Arrangements of white gladioli and glowing candles against banked ferns smilax, and huckleberry, formed a beautiful background for the wedding.

Musical selections by Billy Luther, pianist, included "O Promise Me (deKoken)," and "Be-Cause" (d'Hardelot), and the traditional wedding marches.

A lovely picture was formed as the bride approached the altar where her attendants, her three sisters, stood to await her. Entering the church on the arm of her brother-in-law, J. D. Holmes, who gave her in marriage, the beautiful bride was attired in an exquisite gown of candlelight satin and illusion. The off-shoulder neckline was joined to the yoke of illusion by a wide illusion bertha, caught to soft gathers by tiny satin roses, centered with seed pearls, and finished on each side by a narrow ruffle of the illusion. The fitted bodice closed in the back with satin-covered buttons, and points over the hands distinguished the long fitted sleeves. A deep ruffle of illusion marked by a bias satin fold encircled the full skirt at the hemline and extended to the voluminous train.

Her satin bonnet, to which her fingertip veil of illusion was attached, was adorned with a single satin rose. The bride wore a single strand of pearls, the groom's gift, and carried a shower bouquet of gardenias and white roses.

The feminine attendants, Mrs. J. D. Holmes, matron of honor, bridesmaids, Mrs. Johnnie McClure and Miss June Coplen wore lime satin, fashioned with sweetheart necklines encircled with net, and very full skirts. They wore single strands of pearls, and the honor attendant carried Talisman roses with puffs of gold lace and satin, while the bridesmaids carried yellow chrysanthemums tied with satin ribbons.

Mr. McAskill served as his son's best man, and ushers were David Saxon, Wingo, and Paul Schreiber, New York City.

Mrs. Hale chose for her daughter's wedding a floor-length model of hunter green crepe, with a side drape on the skirt. The groom's mother wore rose lace and crepe, fashioned with a bodice and flared tunic of lace over a pencil slim crepe skirt. Both wore corsages of orchids.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at the home of

Mr. and Mrs. Holmes, on Center Street.

Mrs. David Saxon and Mrs. James Wooten assisted in the dining room.

Later in the afternoon the newlyweds left by plane for Las Vegas, Los Angeles and San Francisco, where they will honeymoon before returning to Elmhurst, New York, where they will reside. Mrs. McAskill traveled in a tailored suit of toast gabardine, with which she wore black velvet accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses.

The bride, a graduate of Wingo High School, attended Murray State College, and for the past several years had been associated with Eastern Airlines.

Mr. McAskill was graduated from Georgia Military Academy and Davidson College.

Among those who came from out-of-town for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Hale, of Fulton, Mr. and Mrs. Clark McAskill, Sr., Miami, Fla., Paul Schreiber, New York City, Jimmy Hancock and Miss Betty Lynn Johnson and Miss June Coplen, Fulton. Mayfield Messenger

Mr. Athamatten, 4731 South 32nd West Ave., Tulsa 7, Oklahoma, suffered from stomach distress for quite some time. He had spent much money trying everything possible for relief and was in bad health when he started taking HADACOL. He says, "After taking three bottles of the $3.50 size, I've gained 27 pounds and now eat anything I desire and positively have no trouble." (HADACOL gives such wonderful results because it actually relieves the REAL CAUSE of stomach distress [gas pains, heartburn, indigestion after eating] due to such deficiencies. And continued use of this great HADACOL helps prevent such distress from returning.)

Mrs. Mabel Kitchen, 1650 Amsterdam, Cincinnati, Ohio. "Before I started taking HADACOL I had aches and pains of neuritis in my shoulders, my back and arms. I could hardly move without having those terrible pains. Then I heard about HADACOL. After the second bottle the pains and aches were about gone. I'm now starting my fourth bottle and am on top of the world. I eat well and, best of all, the aches and pains are completely gone." (Mrs. Kitchen is a very smart woman because she relieves the REAL CAUSE of her neuritis pains due to such deficiencies. HADACOL often brings a wonderful improvement within a few days' time.)

Mrs. J. Scieszinski, 514 Kruger, Ottumwa, Iowa, writes: "My daughter, Marilyn Sue, is 5 years old and for some time lacked pep, had a poor appetite, was generally run-down. Since giving her HADACOL, we have noticed wonderful results... she has a much better appetite, eats everything on the table and doesn't seem tired like she used to. Incidentally, she likes to take HADACOL, too." (HADACOL is a great "builder-upper" for sick, nervous, puny kids whose systems lack precious Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin. A big improvement in their well-being is often noticed within a few days' time after taking the great new HADACOL.)

Mr. Henry Angel, RD No. 1, Springfield, Ohio. "I used to suffer great pain from neuritis aches in all parts of my body, especially in my legs, arms and shoulders. I never got any real relief until I tried HADACOL. After taking several bottles, my pain is all gone. And I'm working every day." (Now there's a smart man! Mr. Angel took HADACOL and relieved the REAL CAUSE of his neuritis pains because they were due to such deficiencies. HADACOL is helping thousands upon thousands of grateful men and women troubled this way. Why don't you give HADACOL a chance to help you? Start taking it today!)

ONE OF KENTUCKY'S TRADITIONS

From early September till mid-December Kentucky's many fine varieties of persimmons ripen slowly in the autumn sunshine. With the coming of the first heavy frost, it's a race to see who climbs the tree to "shake them 'simmons down". Lucky the one who finds a fat possum feasting in the tree. He'll have a succulent feast topped by persimmon pudding or pie—a traditional repast in Kentucky.

Yes, and beer is a tradition in Kentucky, too! Like persimmon gathering, BEER BELONGS in Kentucky, and often the two are served together in the last golden days before heavy winter weather begins, for beer the beverage of moderation is a friendly companion to good food.

AUXILIARY SEEKS MEMBERS

The drive for new members in the American Auxiliary is getting off to a good start. Mrs. Allen Austin, president of the local unit, Marshall, Alexander Post No. 72, has already announced that the drive is headed by chairman, Mrs. Gordon Peery and Mrs. Harold Holladay and group two is chairman, Mrs. I. M. Jones and Mrs. Earl Taylor, Sr.

Many are eligible for membership such as wives, mothers and sisters of World War I and II at this time may be enrolled for increased activity and new services in the Auxiliary. All delinquent members are asked to re-enroll that we may reach our quota.

In striving to sustain that spirit of devotion and sacrifice worthy of the many sacrifices shown every day by our soldiers in Korea, who have lost their all for us. In the days to follow there may be more, your husbands and sons so be so concerned as to enroll and support them on the home front.

SENIOR NEWS

*BC will have to learn that "no" means just that, won't he? JG doesn't have a fellow now. Better watch out, girls.

Why is your watch always so slow SAB? You better have it fixed but that wouldn't be any fun, would it?

Don't ever let your mother look at your watch when you have been out with SAB. Isn't that right, BJG.

Say, BGB what will you do when you have to make up your mind to keep just one boy. You'll have to choose between BH, TG, HG, JL, JS, WN, and GRP. That we know of and there are probably more. Give some of them to us less fortunate ones.

Who is going around looking like a "love sick puppy?" Could it be BSC looking that way over BJG.

RA whose car was that you were driving one Wednesday night? MB? Why did he let you have it? Could it be love?

Mr. B says he wants to get a date with BB. We all wonder why?

Say, MF what did Mr. B say to you about reading an article in the Reader's Digest?

What's wrong around here? The Senior girls all told a speaker the other day that there was a shortage of men. Some girls have all the luck, like NW.

DC took a little journey to Union City the other night to see a certain girl. What's wrong with the girls in your own town?

EM had another date with that old flame BW. Is she heading for another fall?

Hey, GRP and WR wake up and look around you.

Why does BT sing "Waiting for the Train to come in"? MF sings "Milkman Blues" and BB sings "I've been working on the Railroad." Why?

Congratulations to Wendell Norman, on being chosen captain of the football team and Jimmy Sisson on being chosen co-captain.

Congratulations to Betty Gordon Buckingham, football queen. This is the end of the 24th week of school and we're still not used to getting up early.

JUNIOR NEWS

We all wonder how JAL got such a black eye. How about that, JY?

It seems SAM has got a new fellow. Good luck, RB.

JMH is expecting a visit from an old boy friend in Detroit. Isn't that so, Jean?

AL was seen with BC Sunday night. Good luck you two.

Who is DM going with these days?

Who is that tall, dark and good-looking boy who has his eyes on LH these days?

The flame is still burning between PC and HS. Keep it up, kids.

BD who is that handsome boy you have been going with? Is it RP from a Tenn. town.

NB's heart throb had a big surprise Tuesday night. Could TS tell us about it?

We hear the mailman is paying regular visits to AP's house. Is that an old flame, A?

BM is still waiting for that cute sailor BJS. Keep waiting and good luck, B.

Who has DPB been seen with lately? It couldn't be that cute BN could it?

Still goes for the Sophomore boys. I mean that one and only JP.

SS's one and only is BW. RB and JS are still going strong.

JV why don't you give the girls a chance? P Mc don't keep it from us. Who is your girl?

Everyone is excited about the Homecoming game since there's going to be a big parade and also a dance after the game. We have several of the football players in our class and we say to them—Good Luck Friday night and LETS BEAT MURRAY!

SOPHOMORE NEWS

It seems that NS is really lonely since BMJ has enrolled in college. How about that, Nancy?

Hey, kids, have you seen what we've seen or have our eyes been playing tricks. Has DG been flirting with VF?

BRP is still the classes' most eligible bachelor. Come on, Billy, give some of us girls a chance.

Say, JS what has Union City got that Fulton High hasn't? Could it be GP?

VF how about that dentine smile?

Could CV still be carrying a torch for the girl he wrote notes to in Latin class last year? How about this, Calvin?

DK where did you get that beautiful red hair?

Does RC and BBC have a flame? Come on boys give us a clue.

Has DH's heart quit beating for FG. How about that, Dawson?

SH wouldn't you like to go with RL. He seems to be wandering around after you.

DGG does your heart still beat for that certain boy from two years ago? How about it, Donna.

FRESHMAN NEWS

When is GB going to give the Freshman boys a chance? It seems that her only interest is JS.

We don't know for sure who is BSG's one and only, but his initials are TG.

BC is sure happy because her brother and his wife moved next door to a certain boy. I wonder where DK lives.

CJ and GL both have a crush on a certain Junior boy. It couldn't be DM, could it?

BB didn't seem very heart broken since he broke up with WV. GL seems to be the lucky one now.

On all of SA's books all you see is DMS and all she ever says lately is "Speight". I wonder why?

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Are Sin, Disease and Death Real?" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, October 8, 1950.

The Golden Text is: "Salvation belongeth unto the Lord: blessing is upon thy people." (Ps. 3:8).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Know therefore this day, and consider it in thine heart, that the Lord he is God in heaven above, and upon the earth beneath: there is none else." (Deut. 4:39).

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Bushart attended the Kentucky Ole Miss football game Saturday in Lexington, Ky.

and elegant goods." Mr. Blythe's home was on Second Street where H. H. Murphy and Milton Exum's homes now stand. Across the street was the home of Mrs. Ada Paschall where her daughter, Mrs. Maud Stone and her niece, Mrs. Gordon Baird now live.

In the Lost and Found column I found "LOST-In this city about October 10th, a blue talmar overcoat. The finder will be paid a liberal reward by calling at this office, or upon BILLIE CARR." The name of Mr. Billie Carr who lost the overcoat is the same name to which Carr Park, and a host of other landmarks owe their name.

Wm. Nolen ran this ad, "PLEASE RETURN—Anyone in possession of a fourteen foot ladder (with holes in the top) not belonging to them, will please let the undersigned know of its whereabouts." The late Mrs. Adie Paschall Nolen was a daughter-in-law of Wm. Nolen. The Nolens built a home where Mrs. R. H. Wade's home now stands.

Much, much more could be written about old citizens, old businesses and old homes of Fulton's early life. To do so would require many more sheets of paper than could be printed in Fulton in months. As a resident who has sometimes overlooked the value of the newspaper in this passing parade, we are grateful for the flashback into the past via the Weekly Fultonian of 1950. We are convinced that old newspapers contain the real history of one's own community and to them, during this week and every week, we offer a salute from a grateful community.

Better Eating

QUICK LUNCHEON AND SUPPER DISHES

"Hey, Mom, I got play practice at seven. How soon do we eat?" This familiar question calls for some fast thinking and action. It's a real change from the lazy summer meals.

Hurry-up Chili Con Carne
1 pound hamburger
1 onion, chopped
2 tablespoons fat
1-1/3 cups cooked tomatoes
1-1/2 cups cooked kidney beans
1 tablespoon chili powder
2 teaspoons vinegar
2 teaspoons salt
Pepper
2/3 cup water

Crumble hamburger and fry with onion in fat, stirring to cook evenly. Add remaining ingredients. Heat 15 to 20 minutes. Yield: 6 servings.

While the Chili Con Carne is simmering, slip open faced cheese sandwiches under the broiler long enough to melt the cheese.

"Quick" Salad
Head lettuce salad with 1000 Island Dressing is easy to prepare. One-third cup chili sauce and one teaspoon lemon juice added to two-thirds cup sandwich spread makes dressing in a hurry.

Serve fresh fruit for dessert. Or try open-faced hamburgers instead of the Chili. Sliced tomatoes and buttered green beans will complete this menu.

Open-Faced Hamburgers
1 pound hamburger
1 tablespoon minced onion
1 tablespoon minced green pepper
Salt and pepper
3 tablespoons evaporated milk
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Combine all ingredients and mix thoroughly. Toast 8 slices of bread on one side. This can be done in the broiler. Turn and spread with meat mixture. Be sure the meat covers the bread completely. Broil.

Yield: 4 servings (8 sandwiches). Faithfully

Customers' Corner

Packing your order may sound like a little thing, but our trained employees give it a lot of thought. They know that it isn't right to place five pounds of flour on top of a quarter pound of butter... or to place soap next to cheese.

The men and women of A&P will appreciate it if you will let them have any suggestions as to how they can make a handier package for you to take home.

WHAT TO DO IN A-BOMB ATTACK IS ON AMERICA'S BEST SELLER LISTS

By Jay Breen
Judging by what's happening to S. A. Anthony, Jr., the next book on the best seller list is going to be entitled "What To Do In An Atom Bomb Attack."

It's published by the Army through the Government Printing Office and costs five-cents.

"It's not very good escape literature," he said, "but it's the best thing I can recommend to the people who keep calling me."

His phone rings almost constantly and the callers come to the point at once.

One asked: "How far down should an air raid cellar be?"

A woman wanted to know, "Where's the nearest air raid shelter to Times Square?" Another suggested it was time air raid wardens dragged their iron hats out of the trunk and asked, "What's holding things up?"

As president of a national organization called the Civilian Protection Group, Anthony would like to be able to snap out the answers.

"The truth is we don't know the answers to most of the things I get asked," he said. "Somebody called me the other day and wanted to know the best protection for a direct hit by an A-bomb."

Anthony smiled and rubbed a hand across his thinning hair.

"I told them the best thing I knew was having led a saintly life beforehand."

Anthony's group is the die hard element from civilian defense organizations of World War Two. They established a loose federation at the end of the war and have kept chapters in such cities as Seattle, San Francisco, Chicago, Cambridge, Mass., and Detroit.

"It isn't too long ago that we were treated with a sort of kindly indifference," he said. "We were a trifle daft."

The overnight switch hasn't relieved Anthony's anxiety of what the country should do to prepare its civilian defense.

In my opinion, we're exactly six months behind schedule," he said.

Anthony said his group was fighting for a civilian program that would avoid some of the confusion and waste which was mildly funny last time but might not be so humorous if World War Three broke out.

"For instance, we had hundreds of thousands of air raid wardens last time who didn't have enough brains to put their own hats on," he said. "Once they were in, you couldn't get 'em out. This time, we'd like to see a more selective process worked out."

STORM COATS SWEEP NATION

There's a need and place in every man's wardrobe for a winter raincoat or cold-weather coat that saves costlier woolen garments. Alpaca-lined, mouton-collared double breasted coats have been widely accepted for sport and casual wear, but most men feel that they are much too informal for business and street wear.

To answer the demand for a similar coat with a dressier look, leading men's coat manufacturers have presented a smart, neat-in-line storm coat that boasts all the warmth and comfort of the stadium coats but with single-breasted styling.

Though the top color is natural tan... navy, other blues, green, brown and oxford greys are in keeping with all occasions. The cotton shell is a thing of the past and newer coats stress cavalry twills, meltons and gabardines.

These single-breasted storm coats are perfect for city-business-street wear! They go to dining and pleasure-time places smartly... take you comfortably to outdoor activities and round out the average male wardrobe... with a practical flair.

PLAN COON SUPPER

The Fulton County Sportsman's Club will have a coon supper at their next meeting, which will be held in Fulton on November 28th. Around 60 attended the last meeting in Hickman, and enjoyed a fish fry.

Mississippi Plantation Life: The Writings Of Mattie Dear

Oh, yes I'm on my job again thank the Lord. I am not feeling so well this morning. My left hand at times seems like it is sleep but it don't hurt and I have some kind of misery in my back but yet that don't stop me from going to church.

I went to the Masadonie MBBC pastored by the Rev. G. O. Robinson. Text: Gen. 40th chapter, 14th verse. Subject: "When Times Going Well with Thee think of Me." Do you know he first explain that subject so a baby could understand it and he sure preached a good soul reviving sermon and its a fine thing to read the Bible and if you do can't no preacher lead you wrong. I do love good service. I can get more kick out of that than anything else.

On the fourth of this month is my birthday. I won't tell my age I might want to marry again and if they know my age they might say that I am too old for them.

I am going along fine gathering so now my sister and I are trying to finish my fourth bale of cotton. I has fine chance of corn, peanuts, potatoes and a garden of greens. The Lord sure has blessed me but the Lord said in His Holy Word: "Seek first the Kingdom of God and His righteousness and all things will be added."

I sure likes to go to church. I don't want to miss a single Sunday in the year from going to church so it is a fine thing to put your trust in God. So I will say, in my distress I cried unto the Lord and He heard me.

Mrs. Phyllis Goff, 1902 Park Ave., Indianapolis, Indiana, is now able to go about her housework in less than it takes to talk about it. That is, of course, since Mrs. Goff has been taking wonderful HADACOL. Mrs. Goff had been suffering from a deficiency of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Niacin, and Iron, which HADACOL contains.

Now full of pep and energy, Mrs. Goff is able to give this fine statement: "It's pretty bad when you are in a run-down condition when you are only 32. That includes headaches, loss of sleep... I was also terribly nervous all the time. Then I heard about the wonderful results other folks were getting from HADACOL. After taking a few bottles my nerves were calmed. I got a good night's sleep, and I gained five pounds. I think HADACOL is wonderful. I recommend it to all my friends."

This is another one of the statements the fine folks who have been taking HADACOL gave us. Yes, there are thousands and thousands of people all over the country who are getting blessed relief from wonderful HADACOL when they needed Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron, and Niacin.

Let HADACOL Help You
... if you are suffering from stomach distress, nervousness, insomnia, constipation, aches and pains of neuritis, or a general run-down condition, caused by such deficiencies. Remember, it will cost you nothing if HADACOL doesn't help you. Buy either the trial size for $1.25 or the large family or hospital size for $3.50 and if you are not completely satisfied—return the bottle and your money will be refunded.
