FARM CONVENTION HELD AT CAYCE

Directors Name Roscoe Stone President, H. J. French Vice President and J. B. McGehee Secretary - Treasurer

The Fulton County farm Convention was held at the high school building in Cayce Wednesday night, with a good crowd present despite inclement weather and bad roads. W. O. Parr, district organizer, and Ben Kilgore, executive secretary of the State Farm Bureau, were the chief speakers on the program. J. B. McGehee made a report on the activities and financial status of the county bureau.

The convention confirmed the election of the board of directors: L. N. Brown, Palestine; J. R. Elliott, Crutchfield; Buford Campbell, Cayce; A. C. Bacon, Sylvan Shade; Wayne Yates, Western; Mrs. J. W. McClanahan and Mrs. Eric Dublin, affiliated members of the Homemakers; Harvey M. Hewitt, C. M. Hornsby, directors at large. The board then met and named Roscoe Stone as president; H. J. French as vice-president and J. B. McGehee as secretary-treasurer.

W. O. Parr spoke on the subject, "Why A Farm Bureau?" in which he pointed out that farm bureau organizations were striving for a more abundant life in rural America, and for the general uplift and welfare of humanity as a whole. He praised the work that has been done by the Fulton county bureau, especially in regard to the unusually large enrollment of members, which has attracted state and national recognition.

The marketing situation was discussed at length by Rev. Parr, in which he likened that field to No. 1 man's land, which the farm organizations must enter in co-operative effort seeking parity prices and parity opportunities.

Mr. Kilgore gave a resume of activities by the state and national farm organizations at the state capitol and in Washington. He pointed out that the national administration recently deducted about 51 per cent from the farm appropriation as a result of the economy bloc. This move is disastrous to agriculture, and farm leaders are endeavoring to show our state and national governments that this policy is wrong. Agriculture should be balanced in economy with labor and industry, and when it is there will not be widespread unemployment, but general prosperity, Mr. Kilgore said. Taxes must be based on ability to pay, and tax programs overburdening the farmer and ordinary man must be defeated.

Mr. Kilgore discussed at length the legislative program of the farm bureau, including equalized taxation, marketing, vocational agriculture, and a program to expand markets and find new uses for farm products.

Following is the secretary-treasurer's report: Membership each year since the county bureau was organized—1934, 108; 1935, 219; 1936, 255; 1937, 404; 1938, 452; 1939, 918. Number members secured in 1940 to date, 12. Sponsored Project Activity Receipts and Disbursements—Premiums received on membership contest (both state and national) $90; Expenses paid out for delegates to state and national convention $279.45; Purchased 3 lime spreaders for rental to farmers $116.61; Received for rental of lime spreaders $23.50; Purchased sewing machine for Home Demonstration Agent for use with 4-H Club girls $60.00; 4-H Club appropriations for Junior Week $50; 4-H Club premiums paid at annual 4-H Club show, $213; Appropriation for expenses to 4-H Club Congress, Marjorie McGehee $15; Total cost of annual barbecue, feeding over 1000, $127.78; Bought and stamped 360 farm bureau gate signs $27.75; Total cost of banquets for membership drives, $254.78. Cash on hand $665.12; Office and other equipment $550.00; Bills receivable $880; Bills payable $27.50; Present worth $2,067.62.

C. OF C. OFFICERS NAMED AT MEETING

The annual get together meeting of the Fulton Chapter of Commerce was held Monday evening and about sixty persons were present. C. B. Dement, president of the Union City Chapter of Commerce and publisher of the Union City Daily Messenger, was the guest speaker and delivered an inspiring talk.

He spoke of the advantages of the American government over that of the foreign nations, explaining the courses that are open to the citizens if they are not pleased with the work of the officials. He also stated that he believed more real happiness could be found in small towns than in large cities.

Four other members of the board of directors of the Union City club were present and made brief talks. They were Harry Harper, secretary, Cecil Moss, B. F. Howard and Dave Shatz.

After much discussion, members of the local club voted to continue the advertising control board, agreeing that much money had been saved during the past year. Several bills that are before the State legislature were discussed and a committee will be named to file a protest, if necessary, with the representative in Frankfort.

Annual election of officers was held and the following board of directors was chosen by the members: R. E. Sanford, Leon Browder, J. E. Fall Sr., Frank Beadles, A. G. Baldridge, Hoyt Moore, Maxwell McDade, Louis Kasnow and Joe Davis.

The board of directors then named the following officers to serve for the coming year, Hoyt Moore, president, reelected; R. E. Sanford, vice president, Joe Davis, secretary, Mrs. Mary Boyd, assistant secretary and Louis Kasnow, treasurer. Joe Davis gave a financial report, stating that at the close of the year the club had about $450 in the treasury.

Silver Tea Given Today At Christian Church

The Woman's Council of the First Christian Church will give a silver tea today at 2:30 o'clock at the church. Special feature of the program will be a book review by Dr. Don P. Hawkins, minister of the church, on the present most popular novel, "The Nazarene," by Sholem Asch, well-known international writer. Members of the church and the Council extend a cordial invitation to both men and women to hear this review.

"The Nazarene," according to critics, is one of the most wonderful presentations of the Jerusalem of twenty centuries ago that has ever been written, and is becoming popular all over the world. Dr. Hawkins, in his review of the book of six hundred and ninety-eight pages, will make it as realistic as possible, dramatizing part of the work.

Asch, the author, is recognized as perhaps the only man alive who possesses the talent and ability to prepare such a masterpiece, and he holds a high place in the field of literature. It is believed that "The Nazarene" is his masterpiece, though he has written "Three Cities" and many other books that have been good sellers. Dr. Hawkins, a former college English professor, is very enthusiastic over the book and its writer and will give in vivid word pictures the high spots of the book that is "most talked about" today in the field of modern literature, including a short background sketch of the writer.

NEGRO CONFESSES TO STABBING OF OMAR

John Henry Bledsaw, negro, 32 years of age, of Lexington, Ky., confessed Sunday to the fatal stabbing on January 28 of James Coffman Omar, Fulton, freshman in engineering at the University of Kentucky. He is being held on a charge of murder, without bond. Bledsaw was arrested Saturday night and confessed Sunday after being questioned several times.

Police credited Mary Phelps, 11-year-old stepdaughter of Bledsaw, with furnishing the tip that led to his arrest and said the girl would share in the $100 reward offered by Gov. Keen Johnson for apprehension of the knife-wielder.

Omar was stabbed as he and Gilbert Cheniae, also of Fulton, were returning to their room at Breckenridge Hall from a restaurant nearby. Cheniae told police that they met a negro man who started an argument with Omar and then struck him on the neck. Cheniae said he did not see a weapon.

Bledsaw, in a notarized statement, said he started home that night about midnight. As he was walking on the north side of Euclid Avenue, the smaller of two white men walking on the opposite side called him across the street and an argument began.

The "taller" of the two youths, Bledsaw said, then "walked back and passed at me and I struck him in the neck with my knife."

Four Months of War Deepens Farm Crisis

Farm Exports Decline Sharply
Prices Fail to Move Upward

What will be the effect of the war upon the American farmers? Will exports increase? Will farm prices rise? These are some of the questions which farmers are now asking and which Farm Research has sought to analyze in terms of the first four months of the war.

Though heavy orders for airplanes and war supplies have been streaming in, the only war order for foodstuffs placed in this country by England and France since the outbreak of hostilities has been for $11,000 worth of dried beans to be used for army consumption. Even if the American farmer desired to share in the "war boom" it seems evident that he cannot.

England and France have already informed the United States that they will use their dollar exchange for industrial products and that they will buy foodstuffs primarily from their own colonies and secondarily from countries on a silver standard. And, of course, the blockade eliminates the possibility of any sizeable purchases of farm commodities by Germany.

After four months of war, U. S. exports of wheat and fresh fruits show sharp declines. Exports of pork products have also dropped, and tobacco growers who formerly sold one-third of their crop to England have been hard hit by the switch to Turkish tobacco.

Despite optimism expressed in some quarters that the war will raise farm prices, they have not advanced since September when the war started but have even slid downward. The December level is 27 points below the 1937 average and 52 points below the 1929 average.

Even the heavy wheat purchases just placed in Canada and Australia by Great Britain brought no advance in U. S. wheat prices. Britain reported the purchase of 61,000,000 bushels of wheat in Australia and refused to disclose the size of her Canadian order, which the New York Journal of Commerce esti-

MOVE FOR LABOR PEACE

Constructive suggestions for ending present chaotic labor conditions are made in a recent article by Spencer D. Corlett, legislative counsel for the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce, who proposes the following simple laws which he states would reasonably assure peace in industry and tend to bring about a sound recovery:

"Define Coercion and outlaw it, whether it be coercion by an employer, an employee or by a labor organization.

"Make unions responsible for their acts, as employers now are.

"Outlaw the check-off, that enslaves the worker and makes selfish leaders rich and powerful.

"Forbid the sit-down and slow down, but permit employees proper and prompt redress in the courts for actual grievances.

"Force questions of jurisdiction to arbitration, and permit Federal courts to enforce rights of employer-employee. Allow no agency of government except the courts to meddle in labor relations."

Mr. Corlett declares that with the weapon of the legitimate strike in its hands, labor is on more than an equal footing with management. He advocates outright repeal of the Wagner Act, which he says has done more than any other law to prevent a peaceful relationship between employees and employers.

LINCOLN'S BIG FEE

During his career as a lawyer, Abraham Lincoln's biggest fee was received from the Illinois Central Railroad, which paid him $5,000 for his services in winning a case, which if it had been lost might have ruined the road, then in its infancy.

When the railroad was granted a charter by the state of Illinois in 1851, it was stipulated that the road should pay 7 per cent of its gross revenues into the state treasury, but be exempt from other taxes.

Shortly afterward, one of the counties assessed the road for taxes, and the latter took the matter to court. Lincoln was the railroad's attorney, and lost the case in the lower court, but on appeal to the state Supreme Court he won.

If the final decision had been unfavorable to the railroad, other counties naturally would have taxed it also, and the millions the Illinois Central would have had to pay in such local taxes no doubt would have bankrupted the company. It seems, therefore, that Lincoln's fee, big for those days, was well earned.

He also acted as attorney for several other railroads up until 1860, when he was elected to the Presidency. It is related that he once was offered the position of general counsel for the New York Central at $10,000 a year, but he declined, saying he wouldn't know what to do with so much money.

CAPITOL COMMENTS

Since the Constitutional Congress first met in the beginning of our civilization on this continent, Constitutions have been changed and amended. There are at the present time 21 amendments to the Constitution of the United States, and since 1891 when the third Constitution of Kentucky was adopted, there have been six amendments to the State Constitution.

At the present time John M. Hunnicutt from Ludlow is planning on a resolution that will drastically change procedure in the Legislature of Kentucky. In the early days when there were no modern means of transportation or communication it was necessary for the Representatives and Senators to meet for two months to talk over, decide, and vote the laws that governed their constituents. In the present day this is unnecessary. It will no longer require 100 representatives and 38 senators to leave their businesses or their farms in their home communities and waste needless hours and days and weeks coming back and forth to Frankfort to pass on the necessary laws if Representative Hunnicutt's resolution is carried. At the present time Representatives and Senators come to Frankfort, each one with his pet bill, many of them unconstitutional, and a number of them along the same lines, and bring them up in the House and Senate to be voted on.

The Legislative Council, created by a previous Legislature, is properly equipped to investigate and check on all prospective bills that the legislature might plan. It is Hunnicutt's idea, which we think is a good one, to recommend to all legislators after they are elected in November to send any bills they might bring up to the Legislative Council. The Legislative Council will be required to check on these bills as to their constitutionality, to see that they are not similar with other bills sent in, and if they believe these bills are good and necessary, to send out mimeographed copies of the proposed bills to all the Representatives and Senators that have been elected and give them a chance to study them. If they are unconstitutional or similar to other bills, the Legislative Council shall so state to the legislator who sent it in. If the Representative or Senator still wants to bring this up, he may; and it will in no way limit or prohibit any Representative or Senator from bringing up any bill he desires. It will, however, allow the legislator to know in advance of the important bills to be brought up and give them a chance to study them.

Under the proposed plan the time of the sessions will be shortened to 30 days and the Representatives and Senators will be paid a flat salary, regardless of how long or how short the session is. We believe this is a good idea, because it will permit a number of persons who are capable and fitted for representing their section to take the shorter time off from their business to do this. The additional salary will create more interest in the job and compensate business men for taking it. This is a unique resolution, but from the aspect of the businessman, it should be passed and put into effect for better government.

The tobacco bill planned and coordinated by the Department of Agriculture headed by William May is ready to be presented to the Legislature. It limits the number of baskets sold in an hour, the number of hours and days a week the warehouse may operate, and the farmers and warehousemen both seem to like it.

Bill May, Commissioner, has taken an attitude since his election of representing the people, and his Department has become a clearing house for ideas and suggestions. This is the kind of public servant we would have in office to represent the people.

Farm Exports Decline

mates however as between 40 and 100 million bushels. For five consecutive days, during which these orders were being placed, prices on the U. S. market continued to drop.

Index of Farm Prices & Buying Power

Secretary Wallace states: "It now appears that our exports in the current marketing year will be smaller than they would have been had the world remained at peace." Instead of the war being a reason for government abandonment of farm aid programs, Wallace says, "On the contrary, it is a reason for strengthening our machinery to accomplish these ends."

Under Secretary of Agriculture, M. L. Wilson, says of the farmers, "They have found already that the fighting nations work against exports of our farm products. The blockade shuts our products out of central Europe. Belligerents want to save their dollars to buy military goods; in their buying, they want to favor their own colonial possessions, and the neutrals whose goods may go to enemies."

TRADE ISSUE MADE POLITICAL FOOTBALL

By mutual consent of both parties, the heavy political oratory is agreements at this session of Congress. A continuous and heavy drum barrage is expected to continue throughout this pre-election session, to be interrupted only if farm pressure for the income certificate plan or for other changes in present program forces a revision of plans.

The farmers of the United States get 93% of their income from the domestic market and only 7% from the world market. Yet, paradoxically enough, Congress is now devoting 93% or more of its farm oratory to reciprocal trade agreements and 7% or less to domestic problems.

The Republican chieftains are still unable to formulate an agricultural program, though four separate committees have been working on this task. In the Democratic camp, Wallace has endorsed the income certificate plan, originated and developed by the National Farmers Union, but the rest of the party's high command has yet to reach a decision.

W. C. T. U. PROGRAM TO BE PLANNED MARCH 1-2

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 22—Intensive campaigns aimed at correcting local conditions considered "injurious to the American home" will be planned March 1-2 in the Kentucky Hotel, Louisville, at a two-state conference of local and state W. C. T. U. officers of Kentucky and Tennessee.

Mrs. Ludie Day Pickett of Wilmore, Kentucky, W. C. T. U. president, in announcing the conference said that the campaigns in local Kentucky communities would be part of a National W. C. T. U. program. Meeting with the two state's leaders will be two national officers Mrs. Nelle G. Burger, Springfield, Mo., W. C. T. U. recording secretary, and Miss Martha Cooper, Evanston, Ill., national secretary, Youth's Temperance Council.

"This conference will inaugurate programs of research and of increased local union activity in local communities," Mrs. Pickett declared.

In research, the W. C. T. U. will sponsor local committees of temperance, church, parent-teacher, and other groups to study conditions which have an unfavorable influence on social welfare.

ONE-MINUTE SERMON

Sermon by W. H. Jarrett, Pastor of Church of the Nazarene

Subject: The Three Withouts in Bible. Text: Heb. 11:6, 9-22, 12:14. 1. "Without Faith it is impossible to please God"

This is the first text or the first without I will mention. As the text implies, we will see that this quality or characteristic is very important and necessary to vital Salvation. If it is so important that without it we cannot please God, then it is worth our giving it our attention and consideration.

Next we will notice what Faith is. We can find no better definition than the Bible definition. "Faith is the substance of things hoped for and the evidence of things not seen."

It is no trouble for us to believe the things that we see with our eyes, but to believe something that we have not seen is real Faith. You believe in George Washington and Abraham Lincoln, but you never have seen them. Have you?

Noah had real Faith when he worked and labored for one hundred and twenty years and preached building the Ark and obeying the command of his God.

Abraham had real faith when he left the Er of the Chaldees, his own country, to go to a country he knew not feeling that it was the will of God. His faith was also tried when he offered up his own son as a sacrifice, but the Lord happened on the scene to save the day, as he always does, when we trust Him.

By faith Moses, when he was born, was hid three months by his parents. When he was come to years, refused to be called the son of Pharaoh's daughter; choosing rather to suffer affliction with the people of God, than to enjoy the pleasure of sin for a season.

2. "Without the shedding of BLOOD there is no remission for sin." This is a fundamental Gospel truth that many persons have tried to modify and have stumbled over, simply because they try to make themselves believe that there isn't anything, or merit in the Shed Blood of Jesus Christ. As a matter of fact, the Blood has been a very important factor all along in the religious services and it runs like a scarlet thread through the Bible. Before Christ shed His blood for the remission of sins, there were bulls, goats, doves and such like brought to be offered on the altar of sacrifice. The blood of Jesus Christ was sufficient for all and it cleanses from all sin. I John 1:7. "But if we walk in the light as he is in the light we have fellowship one with another and the blood of Jesus Christ cleanseth from all sin."

3. "Without Holiness no man shall see the Lord." Hebrews 12:14 This is another truth of the Bible which has caused much confusion, backsliding, and criticism. Many preachers have failed to say more about it. Because if a question comes in a person's mind it is the preacher's business to help keep his members in the straight and narrow path and to help solve any problem, if it is within his power.

If this statement is in the Bible, and there isn't any doubt but what it is, then why shouldn't people know and understand it.

It is essential first, because it says so.

It is essential second, because of the power that comes with it. It is essential third, because if we see God we must have it.

How can we get it? First, tarry until you be endued with power. Second, The witness comes by the act of faith like in your conversion. You believe the altar sanctifies the gift and your offering is received. Luke 11:13. "If ye then, being evil, know how to give good gifts unto your children: how much more shall your heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to them that ask Him?" Do you have to shout, No. Do you have to speak in an unknown tongue? No. Then, what do you have to do when you get the experience? Go and live the life that Jesus would lead and direct you.

Farm-unit demonstrators in the Tennessee Valley are proving that the productivity of land can be built up and farm returns increased with the use of lime, phosphate and cover crops.

Hospital patients sometimes fail to realize that an Intern is actually a Doctor, who has passed his Medical School tests and been through from 6 to 8 years of preparation. From 2 to 4 years is the average Internship.

INTERNSHIP TWO TO FOUR YEARS

During Internship the Doctor visits patients between calls of attending Physician, acts in emergencies, keeps patients comfortable and assists in operations or wherever a second Physician is needed, but does nothing on his own initiative.

This very valuable training under order and more experienced Doctors is highly concentrated practice. Each two years of Internship is about equivalent in experience to five years of private practice.

Niven Is Cast

As Suave Hero Of "Raffles"

Samuel Goldwyn's newest production, "Raffles," which will have a gala premiere at the Fulton Theatre on Sunday thru United Artists release, stars David Niven as a suave and dapper gentleman crook. Pictured as a society favorite and a champion on the cricket field, Raffles, however, cannot resist the lure of living the life of an adventurer in crime.

But when he falls in love and becomes engaged to Gwen Manders, played by lovely Olivia de Havilland, Raffles decides to give up his secret life of crime. Unexpected events intervene, however, and Raffles is forced to focus his attentions on the famous emerald necklace of Lady Melrose, an eccentric dowager, who invites him to her country estate for a weekend.

Niven and Miss de Havilland are supported in this exciting mystery-melodrama by such expert troupeurs as Dame May Whitty, Dudley Digges, E. E. Clive, Peter Godfrey, Douglas Walton, Keith Hitchcock, and Lionel Pape. The production was staged by Sam Wood from the screenplay written by John Van Druten and the late Sidney Howard.

BURDOCK, JIMSON WEEDS, AND COCKLEBURS

Robert Burns, eager to give everybody his dues, has written an "Address to the Devil," which contains an eloquent plea for one so universally condemned and maligned. If the devil is worthy of an ode, then why not a brief essay on the three weeds that mean to most of us in this part of America neglected barnyards or other areas that man is supposed to keep clean?

Now burdock is a good place to start. Broad of leaf, tenacious of life, sticky and pestiferous of burr, it asks little of its invertebrate enemy, man, and patiently bides its time. Left alone for a single season it soon replenishes the earth and is well on its way to subdue it, as Biblically as the pioneers sent out their large families to subdue the wilderness and the Indians. Not wholly lost is the plant, for in spring, when the blood needs thinning, there is a mighty digging in unsightly corners of the horse lot; burdock roots, washed and sliced, find their way into large necked bottles, where they mingle their bitterness with the sweetness of rock candy and the bite of corn whiskey. Health and thin blood result. And thus nothing is wasted, even burdock.

Jamestown weeds they used to be named, for their appearance at our first English settlement, though scientists think they ultimately came from Asia. If they were not weeds, they would be highly regarded for their trumpet-shaped flowers, beloved of the long-tongued night-flying moths. In fact, a perennial "datura," as this weed is called scientifically, is grown for its flowers in many an old-fashioned garden. The leaves are medicinal and were once used extensively as a poultice for sprained or broken bones. Old-fashioned doctors talked learnedly of stramonium, the drug made from the plant.

Cockleburrs are important enough in the lore of the folk to merit a whole book. First of all, they will not grow on poor soil; finding them in the corn is not so bad, for then they show how good the soil is. The burrs always ripen before frost, so that the plant, like many others, becomes a weather sign. In the early days in America there was a beautiful parrot, the Carolina Parakeet, which came north into the very interior of what is now the Middle West. Its favorite food was the seeds from the cocklebur, just as its favorite drink was water from salt springs. Unfortunately for it, however, it was not afraid of man and would not fly away when being shot at. It was so beautiful that women desired its feathers for their hats. As a result, it is highly doubtful whether there is a single bird of this species in existence, though many times some have been, reported in the Everglades of Florida.

These three plants have another value not yet chronicled. They served as an excuse to make the small boy or hired hand work. Saturday afternoon, when we wanted to go to the store or the creek, father reminded us of the disgrace attached to the farm where such evidences of laziness were growing. We cut the things with an energy not at all related to our desire for a clean farm yard. We took out on them our own disappointment at not being allowed to be creatures of leisure. Burdock and cockleburrs also caused much labor on the farm in another direction. Horses got their manes clotted with burrs; sheep were excellent lodging places for them. When the wool was washed in the spring, we fought our way through the big basketful of it to find and remove these pesky burrs. But they brought us lots of fun in the form of neighborly visits, for everybody who came did his share in picking the wool. After all, what vegetable creatures have any more associations than these three sturdy weeds of the horse lot?

200 pounds of yellow corn meal, 100 pounds of meat scraps and 5 pounds of salt. A quart of fish oil per 100 pounds of feed is helpful. Limestone or oyster shells should be kept before the hens.

Charles Sharp, 71, of Humboldt, La., consumed 52 cakes and 29 cups of coffee to win a Pancake Day festival contest.

Convicted of selling his children's shoes, bathrobes and nightgowns to obtain money to buy liquor, Charles Klipfel was sent to jail in Rochester, N. Y.

Webster Philpott, bank teller of Springfield, Mo., yawned vigorously before getting out of bed. His jaws locked, and Webster spent the rest of the day in a hospital.

A New York City deputy, assigned the job of collecting $110 on a judgment, reported: "I pinched the defendant; he got up the dough; that being the case, I let him go."

COUNTY AGENT

The Agricultural Adjustment Administration today announced the rate of the parity payments which will be made to producers who plant within their 1940 acreage allotments.

The 1940 appropriation act provided for these payments to be made on the five basic crops in 1940, which included corn, cotton, tobacco, rice and wheat, if the 1939 average farm prices were less than 75 percent of parity. Since the estimated 1939 season average price for each kind of tobacco was above 75 percent of parity, no price adjustment payment will be made on tobacco in 1940. The payment will be made on the normal yield of each producer's acreage allotment. The rate announced which applies in Kentucky are: cotton 1.55 cents per pound; corn 5 cents per bushel; wheat 10 cents per bushel.

Besides the parity payment, farmers who cooperate in the 1940 AAA farm program, and plant within their acreage allotment, will receive agricultural conservation payments, at the following rates: corn 10 cents per bushel; cotton 1.6 cents per pound; wheat 9 cents per bushel.

Farmers having spring pigs to pasture will do well to sow an acre or two of rape in March or early April for spring hog pasture. The land should be broken and worked down to a fine seed bed. The seed should be broadcast at the rate of 10 to 12 pounds to the acre and covered lightly. It should be ready to pasture within six weeks, and should furnish pasture for 12 to 15 shoats per acre. An acre of rape sometimes saves as much as 50 bushels of corn in feeding a bunch of hogs.

The poultry department of the College of Agriculture suggests to Kentucky turkey raisers that it is time to begin feeding hens to stimulate laying for the hatching season. Any good chicken, laying mash will do. To make one at home, mix 200 pounds of wheat bran or middlings,

ECONOMIC HIGHLIGHTS

Sentiment in this country is largely in favor of Finland in her military dispute with gigantic Russia. But sentiment in favor of the proposed U. S. loan to the beleaguered little northern nation is nowhere near so strong. A considerable segment of opinion, including that of public officials, publicists and others who are as eager as anyone to see Finland saved from being absorbed by the Communists, feels that financial aid to any warring country should be extended through private sources—such as Herbert Hoover's Finnish Relief Committee—and not by the government.

They don't feel that way for reasons of economy, but for reasons of policy. A loan to a warring nation, they argue, gives the U. S. a direct financial interest in the outcome of the war. And the next logical step beyond financial intervention, they continue, is military intervention. If we let our sentiments entice us into helping Finland or any other country, they warn, we are immensely increasing the chances of being drawn into wars which are none of our concern, and which we should stay out of.

On the other side of the fence, the advocates of government financial aid to Finland regard these arguments, to use Mr. Roosevelt's phrase, as "unadulterated twaddle." The President made a strong case for this position in his talk to the Youth Congress, in which he argued that the chance of Russia declaring war on us if we help Finland is too ridiculous to be worth considering. And the partisans of government help to the Finns have some precedent on their side—more than a year ago we loaned China $25,000,000 to help her in her undeclared war with Japan, and the Japanese didn't make an issue over it. Under the terms of another pending bill, which has been pretty much obscured in the press because of the concentration of interest on Europe, we would give the Chinese another sizable loan, through the Import-Export Bank.

At any rate, irrespective of what side of this controversy history finally proves right, there will be some hot debate when the Finnish loan proposal comes to the floor of Congress. The odds now favoring passing.

Two more events of considerable importance in the light they cast on our foreign policy, recently occurred. First of these was the President's appointment of Undersecretary of State Welles on a special mission to tour Europe's chancelleries and talk with the heads of governments about the chances for peace. This is not regarded as a prelude to a definite move for an early peace, but as groundwork for the future when the chance of effecting a peace seems brighter—it is extremely dark now, with British and French spokesmen saying they will not stop until Nazi Germany is destroyed. Mr. Welles will go to Rome, Berlin, London and Paris. It is significant that he goes first to Rome—it is felt certain that Mussolini must be an important and perhaps the most important factor in any peace negotiations. The appointment of Mr. Welles was generally well-received—he is an able career diplomat of long experience, fitted to meet Europe's wily statesmen on an even footing.

Second event was the President's denunciation of the Soviet Union in his Youth Congress talk. It was couched with terms which were startlingly strong, coming from the head of a theoretically friendly nation. Mr. Roosevelt said Russia was an absolute dictatorship which had failed to live up to its early principles of liberating a people who have lived for centuries as serfs of the Czars. Times have certainly changed since Russia was regarded as a major ally of the democratic powers.

DeMyer Drug Store Here Prepares for Large Crowd Introducing Rux Compound and Williams Formula at a Special Sale to Last Thursday, Friday and Saturday Only!

Surprise Offer to People of Fulton Who Suffer from Rheumatic Pain, Acid Stomach, Acid-Irritated Kidneys, Bloat, Constipation, Nervousness due to Lazy Bowels

The DeMyer Drug Store anticipates one of the largest sales of the year this Thursday, Friday and Saturday. "The manufacturers for two of the finest medicines, have given us the exclusive for this sale," states E. N. DeMyer, owner.

way! Ask any modern physician about the remarkable power of the salicylates, alkalizers and diuretics, which RUX contains.

MR. CLIFFORD THOMPSON
Man Tells His True Experience

"I would like to pass some good information along to my friends. I have been suffering from Rheumatic Pain attacks—a new experience for me. I had never had any sickness and didn't like to give up to any aches or pains. But when I would have a long day's work, and be on my feet, or drive my car, and would stop a few minutes, I could hardly stand my legs for the pain. I would move my legs in bed and would almost yell with pain. I have been doing the hardest work, and sleep like a baby. I want to say, if you're suffering from Rheumatic Pain, try RUX. It doesn't cost much to take, and if it helps you like it has me, you'll be thankful for it a thousand times over."

Why This Offer is Made - Way Below Cost

The manufacturers of these medicines have sold thousands of bottles of these medicines from Coast to Coast. Both medicines were so well received there and such wonderful results obtained from their use, that this prominent manufacturer feels that the best advertising in the world is to have people try their medicine. The results will speak for themselves and this will be the finest advertising that they can do. That is the reason for selling their medicines way below cost.

Everyone in Fulton and the vicinity who suffers attacks from the pain of rheumatic, neuritic or neuralgic agony can actually obtain a full trial size bottle of RUX COMPOUND for only 25c. The regular full size bottle sells for $1.50 all over the United States.

Thousands of people have vouched for the amazing power of RUX in relieving torturing Rheumatic, Neuritic and Neuralgic Pains.

The Secret of RUX

Quickly, after you take a dose of RUX, it will begin to be absorbed into your Blood Stream. These Amazing salicylates reach your aching, inflamed muscles and give them relief. Some people have been so distressed with muscular rheumatic pain (in arms, shoulders and legs) that they could scream with pain—and RUX relieved these attacks in an almost unbelievable

Big question now is just how much farther this country will go in mixing itself up in Europe's troubles. The isolationists say we have gone too far already—the internationalists say we must go much farther. It does seem apparent that the Administration firmly believes that we must be in a position to exert a powerful guiding hand in determining the terms of the peace that some day will follow this war.

A glance at the figures on foreign trade shows the complete absence of any basis for statements charging the trade agreements with ruining our foreign trade. Moreover, no factual basis can be found for the charge that the trade agreements have caused a flood of farm import.

After the drought of 1936, our farm imports continued to decline and are now down to the level which prevailed in 1934 and 1935 before the trade agreements program had got under way.

Despite the charge that heavy cattle imports have resulted from the agreements, a check-up shows that cattle imports amount to only one per cent of four annual slaughter. In fact, they cannot amount to more than 1.5 per cent of the U. S. domestic slaughter since a quota is placed on the number admissible.

No evidence has been attempted by any Congressional debater to show that the earlier log-rolling method of fixing tariffs gave the farmers a better "break" than the present system. The high tariff walls set up by the Fordney-McCumber Tariff Act in 1922 and increased further by the Smoot-Hawley Tariff Act in 1930 succeeded only in provoking retaliatory measures against the sale of U. S. farm products in foreign markets.

Regardless of political folderol to the contrary, the records show that last year's farm imports were only one-half as large as the average annual value of farm imports during the entire decade of the Twenties.

War, and not the reciprocal trade agreements, is now the important factor affecting world trade. Thus, exports of aircraft, machine tools, metals, and petroleum products show an increase of nearly 100 million

Money Talks

By Frederick Stamm, Economist Director of Adult Education UNIVERSITY OF LOUISVILLE

Shifting industry brings prosperity to some sections of this country and hard times to other sections. Current industry shifts should make the Southerner feel pretty good.

Recently there have been great declines in the consumption of silk and a tremendous increase in the use of cotton, wool, and especially rayon. The textile economic bureau reported several days ago that U. S. silk consumption last year was the smallest since 1923. Meanwhile, the consumption of rayon products soared to a new peak in 1939. Cotton and woolen consumption increased 27% and 43% respectively over 1938.

All these figures should be especially encouraging to people in the Southern states. Many of the nation's rayon and cotton mills are located in the South where they use Southern labor and Southern raw material. But practically all our raw silk comes from Japan and is manufactured in the North and East.

Large rayon mills in Tennessee,

Virginia and West Virginia use millions of pounds of cotton and millions of board feet of lumber in the production of rayon yarn. Every Southern cotton and lumber producing community is benefited by the increase use of rayon. Instead of buying silk from Japan, we are using OUR own raw material and helping OUR own labor when we use rayon products.

The manufacture of news print from Southern pine trees is a new industry which should also greatly aid the South. Last week commercial production of Southern Pine newsprint began in a new plant in Texas. We may expect many other plants to spring up all over the South during the next decade. It now looks as if Southern newsprint may displace the present Canadian imports.

"The Benefits of Retonga Are Lasting"

None of His Former Troubles Has Returned, Declares Well-Known L. & N. Man. Was Ready to Give Up.

The record that Retonga has made for bringing lasting recoveries continues to grow. Among the latest to report its lasting benefits is Mr. Benjamin F. Allen, for thirty-two years foreman for the L. & N. at Brandenburg Station, and widely known among his fellow workers.

"Nearly everything I ate hurt me so bad that many times I didn't even go to the table," declares Mr. Allen. "My bowels were irregular and I hurt all over, especially through my back, arms, and knees. I got so weak that when I came in off the road I'd drop into a chair or go straight to bed completely fagged out. I'd be forced to get up to relieve my kidneys until I was so worn out and tired when morning came that I could hardly get my clothes on."

"Retonga turned the tide for me when I was on the point of giving up. This great medicine ended my indigestion, regulated my bowels, drove out all my pains and aches, and put me in better condition than I've been in for many years. It has been a year since Retonga did all this for me and none of my troubles has returned. I can't praise Retonga enough."
