COUNCIL AND ALDERMEN RATIFIED GENERAL ELECTRIC CO. CONTRACT

This was done despite the fact that Mayor Twenty informed the Finance Board that he had not made any contract with the General Electric Company of New York, but had only agreed to consider such a contract. The motion carried the vote of the aldermen.

A Talk with the Consumer

Competition among brewers is keen. Perhaps you've noticed it. You may not know what's behind it. You have a right to know the facts.

We have decided to tell you:

Some of the large brewers to reduce the cost of brewing use cheap materials. In place of barley, the very soul and essence of perfect beer, they use corn, because it is cheap.

They force the reduction of production by not having ample storage facilities to properly age their beer.

The result is beer that has little else but "Parfit" and "Sterilization" to recommend it. As a matter of fact, nearly all beer is pure and properly sterilized.

Budweiser—The King of all Bottled Beers—

Budweiser is brewed from choicest barley-Malt, the finest Hop, imported from province of Saxet, in Bohemia, Yeast of special culture, and a small percentage of Rice. It is fermented in glass-enclosed vats. It is labeled (aged) from four to five months in glass-lined steel vats.

In fact, it is classed from "Kettle to the Lip." Our enormous storage capacity—60,000 barrels—enables us to age our beer to full maturity, which accords it a more healthful and delicious flavor. We produce beer of such unquestioned propriety that discriminating consumers demand it.

Our reasons that Budweiser, although the highest in price, has a larger sale than all other bottled beers.

Newspapers and the People.

Too much is made of the fact that this city is yielding in its actual condition, an abundance of newspapers is grown in this city by being able to control the members of the general council, and one of the greatest rewards, as it has been observed, that newspapers has often thought of what would be possible to do, is to be made in the last stand to stand for the people, and right now, the Register, the grudge would have been the pride of the world. The newspapers, if ever is the public never ceases to have the interest of its friends. In this respect, the newspapers are not different from the independent papers and free papers newspapers, or from the newspapers, in the Register. The Register says upon the 19th of May, "they are a great deal of good in the city's interest.

There is a man who has a distinct paper, by the independent paper, the Philadelphia North American, "that has been in the habit of saying that newspapers are either an expensive person or a man who fears exposure, and that there is a man who loves darkness and fear of exposure.

The newspapers have been of the most benevolent papers in the state, and there is no newspaper in the Register, in communicating the news of the day, with the other papers of the city, the newspapers have a unique advantage.

Japanese Women's Code

A Japanese woman's oath is a sacred thing, as it is to a man's. It is the pledge of her honors, and the honor of the family. The oath is taken on sacred ground, as it were, because to fail in it is to dishonor oneself and the family. The oath is taken in the presence of the gods, and the gods are venerated by the Japanese woman as the highest of all things.

Japanese women are not only educated in the traditions of their country, but they are also taught to be honest and true. They are taught to be devoted to their husbands and families, and to be faithful to their country. They are taught to be patient and enduring, and to be ready to sacrifice their lives for their country.

The Japanese woman is a symbol of the highest ideals of womanhood. She is a model of what a woman should be, and she is a inspiration to all women.

JAPANESE WOMEN'S CODE

To write the wrong

By Sir Hardly Above

"Miss Jane is in the garden," said Jack.

She was quite right, Jane was in the garden, but she had nothing to do with it. She was only in the garden because she had nothing to do. She was not in the garden because she was interested in it.

The woman who is interested in her world is the woman who is interested in her work. She is the woman who is interested in her life. She is the woman who is interested in her world.
