THE LISTENING POST

● I had an opportunity of watching a small unit of the new American Army at close range the other day. Particularly I saw what sort of food they had while on the march, and it seemed to me that great care has gone into plans for seeing that the soldiers are well fed. The meal which I saw being prepared was probably not the equal of those served in permanent camps, but I can testify that the food seemed appetizing and the equipment for preparing it was first class.

● A detachment of more than 50 trucks, with about 70 men, pulled into Fulton late in the afternoon, traveling from Montgomery, Alabama, to Saint Louis. It was more or less an expedition to deliver trucks from one post to the other, and appeared to be airfield equipment for the most part, traveling from Maxwell Field to Lambert Field. The trucks, for the most part, were parked inside the Fair Grounds proper, but the Quarter-master trucks, containing the cooking equipment and supplies, pulled into the baseball park and set up for business immediately. I was out there watching the Bulldogs in their practice session, but when the trucks pulled in I at once began to examine the equipment and watch the preparation for a meal.

● The trucks carried fine looking gasoline stoves, tables to be set up outside where the food was prepared and one truck was well loaded with standard supplies, such as canned meats, bread, potatoes and such things. Large milk cans were carried and shortly a small truck drove off with these things to secure a supply of milk for the one meal. It is evident that the traveling units purchase considerable stuff at various places, and they have the equipment to handle anything. As soon as the trucks pulled up at the parking place, one boy pulled out a big sack of potatoes and soon had a great pile of these ready for cooking. Shortly they began taking out huge cans of meat. The corned beef comes in a can that would strain an ordinary man's belief, so large are they, and when they began hacking open these cans with a huge cleaver, the food looked quite attractive. It was placed in a big container which fitted into one of the big stoves on the trucks and sent out the most attractive odor a fellow ever sniffed. I noticed several of the football players sniffing the atmosphere shortly afterwards, and Coach Giles wisely moved all his team downfield. He knew there could be no practice with all those tantalizing odors floating about the end zone, and I was getting pretty hungry myself.

● Then came the crowning odor of all. The lads opened up huge cans of ham and began slicing off big thick slices. The ham appeared to be unusually tender, and when it hit those cooking places the most heavenly odor in the world began drifting about in Fairfield. There was the odor of potatoes, the odor of corned beef, all mixed and mingled with the heavenly odor of ham and in the twilight there was a faint coolness which brought on sudden hunger. K. P. Dalton, who came out to see that the boys were taken care of, sampled the food and left at once. "The longer I stay here the hungrier I get," he said. By this time the odor of that cooking food had spread all over the field, and Coach Giles gave up the practice session completely. He knew his boys could not keep on running spinners and reverses, and blocking and tackling, when they were smelling that divine odor of

43,000 Miners Will Go On Strike Sunday

Board Recommendation Only Thing To Stop Walkout

Pittsburg. —Orders to strike at midnight Saturday today went to 43,000 coal miners employed in "captive" operations. And acceptance of a recommendation promised by the national defense mediation board appeared to be the only means of preventing a walkout.

William H. Davis, chairman of the mediation board, said at Washington "by Saturday" on the knotty problem of a union shop requested by the CIO miners in Western Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Kentucky and Illinois.

District leaders of the United Mine Workers of America sent out formal strike notices last night. Following up an announcement by Union President John L. Lewis that a truce period arranged by the mediation board would be terminated Saturday.

The miners' seven-day walk-out last month ended with their return to work under a 30-day truce during which the board tried to effect an agreement between Lewis and officials of large steel companies operating the "captive" mines, so-called because all their coal is used exclusively by the owner companies.

Under a union shop, the UMW's sole demand, all employees would be required to join the union. As far as other issues are concerned, including wages and working conditions, the "captive" mines have been operating under terms of the Appalachian agreement reached with commercial coal producers last spring.

N. G. COOKE ABLE TO BE OUT IN TOWN

N. G. Cooke, who received painful injuries several weeks ago in an automobile crash, is now able to be out, and was downtown yesterday shaking hands with his many friends. He was confined in the Fulton hospital for some time, and for the past three weeks has been in his home on Third street. He has not yet fully recovered, but is making splendid progress.

cooking food there in the great open field. Those boys get tremendously hungry during practice, and it was too much to expect them to keep right on practicing when they were constantly swept by waves of appetizing odors.

● Yes, I can testify that the Army is doing right by its boys in the matter of food. Naturally such diets might grow tiresome after a few days, but there in Fairfield the other night I wished they would invite me to break bread with them. I was struck, too, by the splendid equipment the cooks had to work with. Nothing was lacking and those lads threw that meal together in a hurry.

May Urges More Attention Be Paid U. S. And Cuban Relations

Washington. — As an economic and a national defense proposition, Representative Andrew J. May of Kentucky, chairman of the House Military Affairs Committee, has urged Congress to give more attention to Cuba.

In a statement inserted in the Congressional Record, May referred to Cuba as "our child of liberty because in 1898 we broke the chains of slavery which Spain had forced for these people, and ultimately we gave them their liberty."

Cities Strategic Location

The fact that Cuba is within two hours by airplane from the United States, May, said makes that country "an ideal jumping-off place for an aggressor nation which might attempt to invade the United States."

UNCERTAINTY OF BULLDOGS LINEUP FOR TONIGHT'S TILT

A cloud of uncertainty confronted the Bulldogs as they pulled out this morning for Russellville where they will face the strong Panthers in a Conference game tonight. The uncertainty hinged on the starting lineup, and Coach Giles made no statement whether Center Dan McKenzie and End Loren Nelms would start or play at all. Reports have been current that these two first stringers might not be used in the Russellville game, although it was stated that both players were eligible for the contest.

During the past few days Coach Giles has been running Shelby Davis at center and Robert Hart in the end slot. Layne Spence has been shifted to the strong side, with Hart running at end on the weak side. Hart has been showing up much better and may get the starting call. Davis, while not as polished a performer at passing the ball, has been doing pretty good work in the center slot.

The team left this morning in private cars for Russellville and the boys had high hopes of adding another Conference victory to their string. Only one more Conference game will be played after tonight, that coming on Armistice Day against Mayfield. Lexington, Tenn., plays here next Friday and the next will be an off-week, with Mayfield coming here on Tuesday, November 11.

BULLDOGS GET SIDELINE COATS

The Fulton High football team is looking forward to the arrival of sideline coats, which the Fulton Boosters Club has bought for the Bulldogs. It is hoped that they will arrive in time to be worn at the Russellville game tonight.

These coats are made of khaki and are fleeced lined with hoods. The Boosters club purchased 12 coats. These coats are quite expensive and very useful and the Fulton High school Athletic Association is pleased over the Boosters' club's gift.

O. P. M. Calls For End To Strikes In Defense Plants Of United States

Washington. —The Office of Production Management called today for uninterrupted defense production and declared in a formal statement of labor policy that "the interruption of work by strikes of slow-downs is the greatest help the aggressors can get."

Officials said the statement was the one forecast by President Roosevelt last Friday when he said the O. P. M. would soon have something to say about defense strikes.

Drafted by the O. P. M. Council, composed of Director General William S. Knudsen, Associate Director Sidney Hillman, Secretary of War Stimson and Secretary of Navy Knox, the announcement merely reiterated and emphasized President Roosevelt's statement to the A. F. L. convention at Seattle urging mediation of labor disputes.

"The defense program," the statement said, "which is growing larger every day, depends for its success on the patriotic support of labor and management. Uninterrupted production is the pressing need. The interruption of work by strikes or slow-downs is the greatest help the aggressors can get in these days when material on the battlefield is everything."

"The Office of Production Management directs attention to the fact that there is within the Government machinery for mediation of disputes before stoppages occur," the statement continues. "When any dispute arises a telephone call to the Conciliation Service of the Department of Labor and the Labor Division of the Office of Production Management will be given immediate attention. Failing settlement, the dispute can be referred to the National Defense Mediation Board for final recommendation."

"These means are provided in order to avoid breaks in production. We must have the manpower on the job. Our President has said 'This is not the time to take chances with the national safety through any stoppage of defense work or defense production.'"

"The Office of Production Management fully indorses the voluntary system set up to handle disputes and it expects all parties involved in the production of defense material to take no action which will impede production."

"Time is short. We need the man hours; your country needs your strength and skill. Let us have all the co-operation and help possible."

FULGHAM NEWS

By Miss Docie Jones

Rev. H. M. Southern of Wingo will begin a ten-day "Festal at Bethel Monday night, October 27, with Rev. Stephen Southern, pastor of the church, as choir leader, and Mrs. Adams as pianist. The public is invited.

Hallowe'en Program

The doors of F. H. S. will open wide Friday night, October 24, for the Hallowe'en crowd with no charges for admission. All those who will be urged to come in costume with mask if possible for the grand parade which will be the opening thrills. Ghosts, witches, clowns and "who are you" and "what are you" will be our guests. Prof. Pearl Darnell will have charge of the parade. The big drawing card of the occasion will be the American Palmist and Adviser who has been stationed in north Fulton (Riceville) for several weeks. In other words a real "fortune-teller." Who'll tell the past and present as proof of her ability to see your future. Make a list of what you want to know. Satisfaction guaranteed.

For a small fee you'll be permitted to visit the "house of horrors" with Mrs. Leslie Walker and Mrs. Jimmie Moore as directors and guides. From all accounts this will be a visit you'll have plenty of reasons to remember. Those who "come out alive" may then play bingo with a chance of winning many attractive prizes. Miss Johnny Schales and Eldred Hill will be in charge there.

Entertaining numbers were the high school chorus, piano solo by Judith Ann Bone, and the grade chorus. The organization will assist the high school in sponsoring the carnival and Hallowe'en program. Adjoined to meet the third Thursday night in November.

School Building Burns

Ray's school house in which hundreds of children and scores of teachers have at one time attended, burned down about 2 p. m. Tuesday, October 21. Some paper had been burned in the stove at the noon hour and the supposition is that burning soot, the defective flue and an old roof all contributed to the cause. After an unsuccessful attempt in trying to quench the flames, all the furniture, including a piano was removed from the building. About 50 students were in attendance with Mrs. Bill Parrott and Mrs. Otis Farmer, teachers. Future plans for the continuance of the classes have not been announced.

Store Thieves

Some hungry thieves (one or more) managed to prize one of the four windows up enough to reach through and raid a nearby ice box in M. B. Burkett's store Saturday night. They helped themselves to the drinks and cheese but left no change. Such an impolite act will cause Burkett to move the box or

Miss Johnny Schales, another new teacher, voiced her approval of the school in general and of the type of cooperation found here. Her desire is to be a real asset to the school. Both pupil and patron have already chatted her in that column.

Mrs. Leslie Walker, our efficient English teacher, headed the debating club and she's excited to go places with two equally strong teams, the offensive and negative.

The plea of all of the teachers was new books, papers and magazines. This want will soon be a reality as the school is now preparing to match dollars with the county board for an increased library. After the faculty goals were given, the following patrons and friends responded on "what we as patrons would like to see accomplished."

E. E. Armbruster, Mrs. Vernon Humphreys, Mrs. Herman Eastep, Mrs. Freeman Bone, Vadah Walker, Mrs. Sam Woodson, Docie Jones, Mrs. E. E. Armbruster, Mrs. Jack Vaden and Freeman Bone.

Various improvements were mentioned and all were unanimous in putting forth an effort to secure a school band. Our county agent, Miss Jessie Wilson, was present and gave some valuable points on the daily school lunch.

Hoover Plan For Relief Called Impractical And Unwanted Now

New York. —The plans of former President Herbert Hoover to feed persons living in the occupied zones are "impractical" and "do not have the support of the governments-in-exile," Dr. Henry P. Van Dusen, professor of systematic theology at Union Theological Seminary, declared Wednesday on his return from a three-week trip to England, where he went to study the food situation. He spoke at great length with the leaders of the Belgian government-in-exile and they share this opinion, Dr. Van Dusen said in a statement issued through Fight for Freedom.

Says Plan Not Realistic

"Mr. Herbert Hoover has again come forward as the self-appointed spokesman of the 40,000,000 children living in occupied Europe, asked food in their name," Dr. Van Dusen declared.

"The fact is that no one who officially represents these countries has asked Mr. Hoover to do anything."

TEMPORARY ROOMS NEAR COMPLETION AT HIGH SCHOOL

Students Will Evacuate Carr Institute By November 1st For New Rooms

The temporary class rooms now under construction at the High school and Science Hall for the purpose of housing Carr Institute students during the construction of the new elementary school building, are nearing completion. The rooms in Science hall are practically finished. The wiring has been done and the doors have been installed. The rooms will be painted as soon as the ceiling is put in.

The four classrooms, which are being built in the basement of the high school, in the old gymnasium, are not so near done, as the partitions have not been put up. Workmen are now engaged in putting in the floors. The floors will be sanded before the partitions are set up.

When these rooms are completed, which will probably be next week, the students of Carr Institute will move into these temporary quarters until the new building is completed.

There has been some talk of Fulton being unable to get materials for the new building on account of priority rulings. Supt. Lewis received a letter from George H. Goodman, State administrator of the Works Progress Administration, this morning, assuring him that the materials would be available.

In part Mr. Goodman's letter stated: "According to our records, work under the building project was started on October 3rd and we trust that we will be in a position to satisfactorily complete the project without serious delays."

"Regretting we are unable to give you more definite information and assuring you we will give you every possible consideration to the completion of this project, we are....."

Senate Gives Approval To Lend Measure

Food Purchases Are Limited To U. S. Products

Washington. —The Senate stamped its approval, 59 to 13, on a $5,985,000,000 lend-lease appropriation today, after writing into the measure a provision restricting food purchases under the program to United States-grown products.

With a little more than four hours of debate, the chamber passed and sent back to the House a revised measure containing total appropriations of $6,160,039,000, including $175,039,000 in miscellaneous funds for government departments.

Overriding a protest that it was "putting the seal of approval of an undeclared war," the chamber approved the major operation without change in the form adopted previously by the House.

The vote on final passage compared with the 67 to 9 majority for the original $7,000,000,000 lend-lease appropriation last March 27.

Much of the rebate revolved about the $1,000,000,000 allocation for the Agriculture Department to purchase pork, dairy and poultry products, most of which presumably will be shipped to Great Britain.

Senator McNary of Oregon, the Republican leader, called this appropriation too large, asserting that Congress was supplying $500,000,000 a year to curtail production of certain crops and now was asked to make $1,000,000,000 available to increase yields.

UNDECLARED WAR IN THE ATLANTIC

The rattlesnakes of the Atlantic have never demonstrated more clearly the mortal danger of the delusion that inspired the Neutrality Act than when one of them sank the freighter Lehigh. The theory behind the shipping provisions of the Act was that if we kept our merchant vessels unarmed and out of combat zones, no foe could conceivably want to harm them, thus there could be no provocative "incidents" and we could stay out of war. The Lehigh was unarmed, she was outside the combat zone even as defined by Hitler, she had taken a cargo to Bilbao, Spain, and was proceeding without cargo to the West African Gold Coast to pick up ore consigned to this country. Yet she was torpedoed and her crew left adrift in lifeboats.

If those men had perished, the Neutrality Act might actually have been an accomplice in their murder. For their ship's lack of suitable guns made her easy prey. If she had been armed, her chances for escape from either U-boat or bomber plane would have been considerably greater. Submarines must submerge when attacking an armed ship and a submerged submarine is at disadvantage both in speed and in the accuracy of its torpedoes and also on account of its inability to employ the alternative of shell fire which is possible on the surface. The armed ship compels the bomber plane to fly at high altitudes and reduces the likelihood of a hit. All this is very obvious. The reason so few people thought of it when the neutrality legislation of the 1930's was framed was that few people dreamed that this country was even then the prospective victim of a scheme of world conquest and revolution, seeking dominion of the seven seas.

The sinking of the Lehigh shows that our merchantmen will be in peril wherever they are, that we are morally bound to give them guns and that by refusing to send them to the ports where the goods they can carry would do most good against Hitler we are playing into his hands without getting any sort of ignoble immunity from him. This flagrant attack, the torpedoing of the destroyer Kearny with its tragic loss of American sailors' lives, the sinking of the American-operated freighter Bold Venture between our coast and Iceland—these are the latest proofs that the Neutrality Act has failed of its purpose because its purpose was impossible and that the only purpose it can conceivably serve now or has served is the purpose of the deadliest enemy the United States ever had.

Such proofs, however, cannot be taken as simply reinforcing arguments that already have been made over and over again against the Neutrality Act. The case against that Act has actually been too clear to need reinforcement. The latest news from the Atlantic has wider application. It torpedoes not the Neutrality Act alone but the last pretext that some virtue lies in technical neutrality itself. The United States is in undeclared war with Hitler. By their very nature, the totalitarian state can wage undeclared war with effectiveness, the democracy cannot. We ought to be beginning to see this by now.—Courier-Journal.

MEXICO HAILS BRITISH BOND

Will Exchange Ministers As Break Is Healed

Mexico City.—Another link between Great Britain and the Western Hemisphere was restored today by the decision of Britain and Mexico to resume diplomatic relations after a lapse of more than three years.

Bridging of the break resulted from the Cardenas administration's expropriation of foreign-owned oil properties was acclaimed by Mexican authorities as symbolizing "the united front of our two democracies in the present crisis."

A joint agreement to exchange Ministers was announced by Foreign Minister Ezequiel Padilla following negotiations initiated by President Manuel Avila Camacho.

Row Not Mentioned
The announcement made no reference to the oil expropriation issue, and authoritative sources said the decision to exchange Ministers was reached without any commitments in regard to that problem.

SOVIET DEPENDENCY ON U. S. FOOD IS SEEN

DETECTIVES TRACE OWNERSHIP OF GUNS

Guns Were Found Buried In Louisville Park

Lexington, Ky.—Fayette Circuit Judge Chester D. Adams Tuesday announced he would call a special three-day session of a new grand jury to begin at 9 a. m. next Monday.

The new grand jury is expected to consider the case of Raymond "Skeeter" Baxter, 27, alleged "inside man" in the robbery-slays of golf star Marion Miley and her mother, Mrs. Elsie Ego Miley.

The grand jury which last week indicted Tom Penney, 32, confessed participant in the slayings, and Robert H. Anderson, 36, Louisville night club operator, named by Penney as his partner in the crime, Tuesday completed its session and was discharged.

Judge Adams said that the new grand jury would be called to investigate further "matters which were not completed by the jury which has just been discharged."

Meanwhile, two Lexington detectives went to Louisville to attempt to trace pistols used in the robbery-slays at the Lexington Country Club September 28.

The guns were found buried in Fontaine Ferry Park at Louisville last week when Penney led police to their hiding place.

ROOSEVELT HINTS JOINT USE OF PORTS

Washington.—President Roosevelt indicated to a press conference Tuesday that the American and Canadian navies, in event of an attack on this hemisphere, probably would use Atlantic ports jointly.

Asked specifically whether the American navy had taken command of the Canadian port of Halifax, Mr. Roosevelt said he had seen something to that effect in a Canadian paper but that there was nothing to it.

Joint Use Considered
While there is no prospect of anything being done immediately, Mr. Roosevelt said that of course the Joint Canadian-American Defense Board had been considering joint use of defense facilities in the event of an attack. He said he supposed the board had mentioned Halifax and Toronto and he knew they had discussed Chicago.

He avoided a direct reply to a question as to whether the United States would take over protection of the Canadian seaboard, if the Canadian fleet moved east of Iceland, he merely commented that it would be rather rough east of Iceland, and he did not know what bases could be used.

"The United States is already in the war," he added. "I think there is a possibility that there will be some naval and perhaps aeronautical engagements between the United States and Germany before long."

In regard to differences of opinion in the Republican party on foreign policy, Willkie said:

"If this is not true, the Republican party as we know it today will die, and some new party will arise and take its place."

BIG CURRENCY FAILS TO FAZE GASOLINE MAN

Birmingham, N. J.—Rival dealers today were convinced that Gasoline Station Proprietor Milton F. Champion is a hard man to discourage. Champion, who asserts there is no gasoline shortage, has refused to observe the 7 p. m. curfew.

So for two nights operators of thirty-five rival stations and hundreds of their friends jammed Champion's station. Each bought one gallon of gas and offered a $20 bill in payment.

They repeated the procedure last night bringing $50 bills. But this didn't faze Champion, for he was well prepared with change. "Business is swell," he chortled. "It's good money isn't it?"

MINNESOTA'S FARMERS PRAY FOR TURKEYS

Minneapolis.—More than 3,000,000 turkeys worth possibly $3 each have Minnesota's farmers prayerfully watching the weather reports—last year an Armistice Day storm cost them about a million birds.

Chief turkey-raising States are California, Minnesota and Texas, in that order this year. California has an indicated production of 3,726,000 birds this year, compared with 3,543,000 last year, Texas has 3,190,000 turkeys this year and Minnesota 3,454,000 birds. Turkey growing is a multi-million-dollar industry.

Photographers won consent from her and Senator Guffey for the kissing scene but Senator Hill suggested that might not be in keeping with the "dignity of the Senate."

GOTHAM RACE IS REAL SHOW

New York Voters Enjoy Colorful Race For Mayor

New York, —In a city where picturesque personalities are as much a part of the scene as the skyline, two Grade-A performers of opposite temperament are giving the people a run for their votes in the current mayoralty campaign.

On this rostrum you have the bustling, bouncing, everywhere-at-once F. H. LaGuardia, the town's effervescent Mayor who is seeking a third term as the candidate of the Republicans, the American Labor Party, City Fusion and United City Parties.

On this platform, you have the smasher of the infamous Brooklyn murder ring, William O'Dwyer, the serious, placid Irish immigrant boy who rose from common laborer to District Attorney of Kings County (Brooklyn), the city's most populous borough.

Licked Tammany Twice
The people will make their choice November 4.

LaGuardia, who served fourteen years in the House of Representatives, became a political figure of substance when, in 1937, he was re-elected Mayor, giving Tammany Hall a historic second successive beating which was unprecedented in a century and a half.

His activities are manifold, bewildering and exhausting. In season and out he denounces politicians, meaning politicians in the unflattering sense, although he unquestionably is a politician, and an able one, himself.

STATE INCOME NEAR 49 MILLION

Marked Increase In Tax Receipts Reported In Capital

Frankfort, Ky. — Revised revenue estimates, indicating Kentucky's income for the current fiscal year will be greater than previously forecast were issued by the Revenue Department Monday.

The revisions calculated that this year would bring $29,930,346 from general taxation, of $2,985,821 more than was predicted last June.

The Highway Department income, chiefly from state gasoline taxes, was put at $19,679,045, up $1,439,695 from the estimate made last March.

The previous fiscal year income, largest in the state's history, saw $31,065,598 flow into the general tax fund and $21,614,112 into the road fund.

State Revenue Commissioner H. Clyde Reeves, in making the new estimates for the finance department, said the previous calculations had been purposely conservative because the effects of federal fiscal and economic policies could not be determined then.

Now, Reeves continued, "on the entire economic front there has occurred through 1941 an unprecedented acceleration in activities," and all indices in recent months have pointed to a continuation of the upward trend and a marked increase in tax receipts.

ROOKIE WANTS VALET SERVICE FROM OFFICERS

Des Moines, Iowa, —A young Iowa man whose uniform just had been issued to him after his induction into the Army at Fort Des Moines approached the officer in charge with his tie, undraped, around his neck.

"Sir, will you please tie this for me?" he asked, explaining: "I don't know how—my mother always tied it for me."

FLIES CARRY VIRUS OF CRIPPLING POLIO

Discovery that flies carry the virus of infantile paralysis was reported to the American Public Health Association by Dr. John L. Paul and Dr. James D. Trask of the University School of Medicine.

This may explain some of the mysteries of the disease which cripples about 10,000 persons annually and causes the death of from 500 to 1000.

Previous to the work of Dr. Trask and Dr. Paul, investigators had found that the virus of poliomyelitis was carried in sewage.

"This indicated that, as poliomyelitis is a disease of Summer and in its most severe form a disease of the rural areas, the virus in an open sewer or privy must come in
