Santa Claus Arrives In Fulton Saturday

Santa Claus arrives in Fulton Saturday afternoon. As in the past several years he will arrive by train, and this year through the efforts of Mary Alice Coleman, Clerk in the General Foreman's office who contacted officials of the Illinois Central railroad, jolly St. Nick will arrive on a special train from the North Pole, which arrives in Fulton at 1:30 p. m. Saturday, December 9. At the train to greet Santa Claus will be the Fulton High School band and members and officers of the Young Men's Business Club, who have made arrangements for Santa's arrival here.

Upon arrival at the passenger depot of the Illinois Central, Santa Claus will be boarded on the city fire truck and paraded through the down-town business district. From his lofty perch on the fire truck he will throw candy kisses and other goodies to the little boys and girls who have been good all through the year.

What's more Santa Claus will come back to town on Saturday afternoon December 16, and Saturday afternoon December 23, to get last minute reports from all the kids to be sure they get what they want for Christmas.

Saturday's parade will start at the station and come down Fourth Street to Lake, down Lake to Main, and up Main to the Post-office then across Washington to Walnut, where he will get in his sleigh and fly back to the North Pole by way of Dukedom.

Although Santa won't be able to see them since he arrives in the day time, the new Christmas decorations are up on down-town streets and the blue lights, entwined with holly are an inviting sight to the late afternoon and Saturday night shopper.

Come to Fulton these busy days before Christmas and see what the overflowing stores have in stock for you.

COURT TO HEAR RAILROAD CASE

Announcement was received here today that the Interstate Commerce Commission will hold a hearing at the court house in Union City on Monday, Dec. 18th at 9:30 a. m. on the application of the N. C. & St. L. railroad to abandon its lines extending from Union City to Hickman.

The proposed abandonment is being opposed by the Chamber of Commerce and Corporation of Union City and by business interests of Woodland Mills and of Hickman.

The group is not opposing the elimination of passenger train service on the line between Union City and Hickman, but is asking that freight service be continued when necessary to serve shippers in Union City, Woodland and at Hickman.

It is understood that the railroad desires to take up the track.

COTTON SUPPORT 90% OF PARITY

Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan today announced that the Commodity Credit Corporation will support the price of 1951-crop upland cotton at 90 percent of the parity price as of August 1, 1951.

The price support will be carried out through loans to farmers. With no marketing quotas or acreage allotments in effect for the 1951 cotton crop, price support will obviously not be dependent upon producer compliance with quotas or allotments.

The Agricultural Act of 1949 makes price support mandatory for 1951-crop cotton at from 75 to 90 percent of parity, when no allotments and quotas are in effect. The secretary has put the support for 1951 at 90 percent the maximum of the permissive range.

Commenting on the price support announcement, Secretary Brannan said, "With our supply relatively short in relation to the very high domestic and foreign demand for cotton, it is advisable to put the price support level for next year at the top of the permissive range, 90 percent of parity. This is in line with the supply-demand and other factors which are spelled out as guides in the controlling legislation."

War Condition May Hold up Natural Gas

War conditions have cast a bit of a gloomy light on the prospects for natural gas here. Mayor Smith Atkins announced this week that although Texas Gas Transmission has promised a supply of natural gas for this area, the fulfillment of that promise hinges upon the ability of the company to get materials to lay the system.

In a letter from Herman Horstman, director of Sales and Customer Relations for the Texas Gas Co. to Mayor Atkins, Mr. Horstman advised that the company will soon apply to the Federal Power Commission for a certificate of public convenience and necessity to construct additional facilities to serve new customers and the increased demand of our present customers.

Your request for service will be included in the market forecasts to be considered in our application. We will advise you as to data to be supplied to the Federal Power Commission in event the data which you have provided should require some supplementary information.

Yours very truly,

COLUMBIA CONCERT TRIO, TAKES OVER FULTON WITH ITS SUPERB PERFORMANCE

For the second time this concert season a Fulton audience has had the privilege of enjoying outstanding musical presentations by talented artists of the concert stage. On Monday night when the Columbia Concert trio appeared at the High School auditorium more than 400 music lovers were kept highly entertained during the two-hour long concert of classical, semi-classical and modern music composition.

The trio, composed of Ariana Bronne, violinist, Adryth Walker, cellist and Richard Gregor, pianist was the second of the three concerts to be held here this year under the auspices of the Fulton Community Concert Association, which has had the extreme privilege of securing the best of Columbia Artists presentation was of Miss Alice Howland, concert mezzo-soprano, whose ability and personality captured the hearts of all Fulton concert-goers.

Each of the artists in the trio were outstanding in their fields. Miss Bronne, a striking brunette, contributed her artistry to the efficiency of the trio, but displayed her own sole ability in the presentation of a group of delightful violin solos. She further convinced the audience of her amazing ability when she played Gershwin's "It Ain't Necessarily So", not so much for its difficulty in presenting, but because it was modern, they understood it, and thoroughly enjoyed it. The same was true of Mr. Gregor's ability in the Chopin numbers, which he presented solo. In spite of his difficulty in mastering the strangeness of the High School piano, his Polishness was super. Miss Walker's presentation of "The Swan" by Saint-Saens was as perfect a rendition of this soothing, beautiful classical as has ever been heard by this reviewer, and we might add, Fulton music lovers.

All three of the artists have appeared as soloists and have been appearing as a trio for nearly four years. They will have presented 94 concerts at the end of this concert season... that's an awful lot of concerts, but infinitesimal compared to the thousands of persons they will have made happy by their talented presentations... and we can say that for all of the people who had the privilege of hearing them in Fulton.

CROWDS THROG FULTON STREETS

The crowds are certainly thronging the streets of Fulton these Saturdays.

Last week, around three thousand visitors and shoppers were observed around 3:30 p. m. the largest crowd of the current season. The frigid weather of the Saturday before last cut shoppers to around 2000. With fair weather, Saturday's Santa Claus parade and other attractions, this Saturday's crowd is expected to break all current records.

Three Fulton Seniors Get UK Scholarships

Three Fulton High School students, senior members of the football team have been awarded four-year athletic scholarships to the University of Kentucky, W. L. Holland, superintendent announced today. The students are: Billy Browning, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Browning, Bobby Clifton, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Clifton and Bobby Sam Copeland, son of Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Copeland of Water Valley, Ky.

The selection of three students from one team is a record never before achieved in the local school. All three have accepted the offers and signed the waivers prohibiting them from going to any other Southeastern Conference school. The three boys have given school patrons and football fans many an exciting evening with their outstanding playing and team cooperation. Billy is a back and both Bobby and Bobby Sam are tackles.

Mr. Holland said that only five other Fulton High boys in the past twenty years have accepted athletic scholarships and all made exceptional records in their college football careers.

Daron Grissom, '30 and Julian Henderson '32 accepted scholarships to Murray and later became captains of the respective team. James Thomas Nanney '37 accepted a scholarship to Murray and Billy Mac Bone '43 after having accepted a scholarship to Murray became the only freshman of that year's team to play in the Tangerine Bowl in Tampa. Billy Joe Forrest '47 accepted a scholarship to University of Louisville and received many rave notices from the sports writers.

Many other students have been offered scholarships but refused them. Among these was Dr. Jack Tosh, '42 who refused to play college football so he could devote all his time to studying. He has been rated as the best tackle to ever graduate from Fulton High and was invited to play in the all-star game at Lexington and did a creditable job. Dr. Tosh was offered a scholarship to University of Kentucky and to Murray, but refused them both. He is now practicing optometry in Fulton.

MURCHISON PLANS ASSESSMENT SOON

Elmer Murchison, Fulton County Tax Commissioner, stated today that his office will begin taking information for the 1951 assessment on December 15, 1951. The new assessment law enacted by the 1949 General Assembly requires that property owned on January 1, 1951, and each January 1 thereafter be listed for ad valorem taxes during the months of January and February of the same year.

Commissioner Murchison pointed out that the new law allows only a short time after the assessment period to prepare the tax rolls and submit them for approval by the Department of Revenue and action by the County Board of Supervisors. For this reason, there can be no late additions to the regular roll.

In order to avoid an undue rush in the months of January and February, Commissioner Murchison will take information beginning at the earlier date, with the understanding that anyone who lists property prior to January 1 and finds that he has disposed of some of the property listed or has acquired property prior to January 1 will return during January or February and correct his listing.

The assessment must show property owned as of January 1, 1951.

Oh My Achin' Back... Three Cheers for Charleyhorse

By Mary-Nelle Wright

On the player's bench at the Fulton High Gym last Thursday night a dark haired registered nurse nervously fingered a stethoscope which hung from her neck... a "water-boy" stood by with the traditional water bucket (which, in this case was a watering can, complete with sprinkler) and towel. Both were ready, at a moment's notice, to do their job—for this was the night when ANYTHING might happen. This night of nights when the Mamas vs the Lady Teachers and the Papas vs the Men Teachers played two hair-raising, heart-attacking, breath-taking, back-breaking games of basketball.

To those of you who failed to see these games sponsored by the West Fulton P. T. A. for the benefit of the Youth Center—let us say that you missed seeing two games loaded with masterful exponents of basketball!

Many are the men around these parts (since that memorable night) who are known to have charley horses, back aches, head aches, palpitations of the heart or what have you and we sincerely wish them a speedy recovery—but this reporter is primarily concerned with the members of her own sex.

It has been told around by way of the grapevine that some of those gals found out that they AIN'T rawhide tough OR wild horse strong. Aileen Bennett, who played on the Mamma team is said to have called her former coach, Doc Hughes after her first day of PRACTICE and asked him WHAT she should have done to have avoided all her aches and pains. This is what Doc told her. "My dear, the thing you SHOULD have done was to have AVOIDED that first day of practice!" Sara Campbell is just beginning to be able to "get around" again after several hard falls during the game... scrappy little Nell Newton proved to be able to hold her own... It kept us pretty busy watching that couple, Mavis Moore and Mary Latta as they were in the game and out of the game displaying plenty of "school spirit"...

And speaking of "school spirit" let us not fail to mention those four cheer leaders for the Mamas and Papas, Elva Fall, Margaret Hall, Sara Johnson and "Little Willie McDade" who were strictly in the EAGER BEAVER class when it came to keeping up the PEP for their teams. (This, of course, is strictly off the record but I have been told that Margaret is STILL suffering from an attack of asthma, brought on by her constancy in yelling and that Sara and Elva have been going to Dr. Reid for treatment after all their gyrations and antics performed during the cheering.) As far as we know, Willie only suffered a sore throat.

Maree Bushart was going strong during the first quarter and her maneuvering in the game could have been likened to that of the well-known tennis star, Gussie Moran until a fan from the sidelines ran to the nurse, Mrs. Foster Link, and shouted, "Get Mamma out of the game, she looks like she is going to faint!" And sure enough, Al Bushart was right about his Mamma because when she got out of the game she said she couldn't have played a minute longer. Those gals were going too fast for "Shorty" Bushart!

"Lefty" Laverne Edwards, Mildred Anderson and "Cookie" (Mrs. Fred) Cooke seemed to sail through the game with flying colors but we have heard since that they, too suffered several ill effects... Louise Binford faked a "black-out" and time was called while the nurse and the "water boy" administered first-aid. Much concern was displayed in the audience as several were heard saying, "That game's too strenuous for Mammies to play in, Louise may really have a heart attack!"

The teachers had their troubles, too. But they were constantly encouraged to victory by a cheering squad lead by Elizabeth Payne. Mary Martin stood by in the capacity of "water-boy" and was constantly on the alert to dole out invigorating liquid to her charges. Fern Snow who was playing her first game of basketball proved to be one of the best guards ever to grace the Fulton court. She not only displayed her ability to guard Louise Binford ON the floor but followed her right OUT of bounds to throw the ball in. Uel Killebrew, the coach, had to tell her to "get back on the court that she didn't have to follow her opponent out of bounds—that was carrying the guarding business a little too far"...

There were no flies on Eddie Mitchell, Margaret Gray Myrtle Johns, Joyce Waggoner and Ann Perkins as they were all as fleet-footed as deer... but the STAR of them all was "Billie" Sullivan, wife of coach Jim, who kept things buzzing during the entire game and piled up an enormous score for her side by making a goal at almost every try. Following her as a close second was Grace Hill who probably could have played a more outstanding game had it not been for the fact that she was handicapped (Continue on page seven)

Money Raising Takes New Form

Two weeks ago, friends of the Fulton Youth center pitched in together, threw a good barn dance and party at the old gym and in one evening raised as much money as ten crews of canvassers could have done in a week.

This past week the PTA, seeking to raise funds for their contribution to the same fund, arranged and played a couple of hilarious basketball games between the school faculty and parents. The proceeds exceeded the amount the PTA needed.

Both organizations needed money, and both departed from apparently the time-honored and well-worn-out custom of appointing committees to go and solicit Fulton merchants, organizations and individuals for big chunks of cash.

We are gratified that money-raising has taken this form in Fulton, and hope that future campaigns will pursue the same course. It seems to us a painless and worthwhile method of doing the job: painless because it doesn't cost an individual more than the price of admission, and worthwhile because for a dollar or two he gets a hearty evening's entertainment, mixes it up with "crowds" from all over town and comes away feeling a little closer and on a little better terms with everybody.

The "Barn Dance" idea ought to be an annual affair... a sort of Thanksgiving party for the whole town to enjoy (and serve as an annual Youth Center benefit).

We think that somebody is missing a good bet if they don't sponsor some kind of big get-together around Christmastime as a money-raiser for their annual funds. In the three Christmas seasons we have been in Fulton we have not seen any kind of function in which the whole town got together for an evening of fun, mixing-it-up and general enjoyment. Think how much fun such a thing would be for all students, home for the holidays, getting to revisit all their friends in one big evening... of former residents, home visiting relatives, etc. etc.

Owning Home Is True Security

Four years ago, before we decided to move to Fulton, we looked at some new homes in Washington. They were high; a lot higher than the same home would have cost a few years previous before the war. "Yes, they're high," the real estate man told us, "but they're going to stay high... it may be that the cost of building a home will never return to what it was in 1940."

And so far the cost has never dropped. And we can't see that it will drop to that level in the foreseeable future. Materials and wages (your wages included) have simply ascended a higher level.

Thus, we were much interested in a report of Roger Babson, published last week, wherein Mr. Babson advises prospective home owners not to "Let high prices scare". He injects the sage advice to "look ahead rather than backward" and if one who wants to build his home can pay a quarter of the cost down, with 15 years in a payment plan on the balance, he need not be afraid.

Citing the already-started exodus of vital headquarters, bases and installations away from vulnerable coastal areas to sites in the interior of this country, Mr. Babson points out that "best bets for homes today are cities under 50,000 population, with preference to the smaller towns and rural areas". He points out that, should any danger become acute, people will try to move their residence from the bomb-vulnerable city... raising real estate values in the rural sections.

There are innumerable good arguments for building a home for yourself. If you don't have one, be it depression or prosperity, war or peace, we think it should be the first project on the family calendar; it is certainly the most necessary. With the home comes family solidarity and contentment; the owner is an interested and active citizen in his neighborhood and his community; his interest makes his community a better place. As a matter of fact, it is the poor man who can least afford to rent; at the end of 20 years he has paid for a home, but has only a trunkful of rent receipts.

You who want homes, think over Mr. Babson's advice and don't delay your plans any longer than you can help it.

Relax Lady

Some people are getting a bit wild-eyed over paying Social Security taxes on household workers next year. It's not so much the money they must pay as the mathematics and red tape involved.

One housewife was heard to exclaim: "I know I'd never be able to figure it out! I do believe I'll have to let my maid go!"

Now just relax, lady. A group of government officials had a press conference yesterday and explained what has to be done by all concerned. And it really isn't so bad.

If you have in your regular employ a household worker (maid, laundress, housekeeper, cook, nursemaid, gardener, furnace man, valet, chauffeur, and the like) you should do certain things.

First, send your name now—or as soon as you can—to the Collector of Internal Revenue in your district and tell him you employ a household worker.

The easiest way to do this is to visit a post office and pick up a small blue booklet entitled "Do you have a maid?" It contains a post card that you can fill out and mail. This puts you on the mailing list.

In the case of married couples it makes no difference whether the husband or wife signs up as the employer.

After you get on the mailing list, you will receive a larger pamphlet giving details of the program.

Next year, at three-month intervals, you must send to the collector an amount equal to 3 per cent of the cash wages you have paid the worker during the preceding quarter.

Half of this payment is obtained by deducting 1½ per cent from the wages every payday, starting in January. You provide the other half yourself. Or, if you want in, the law says you may provide the whole 3 per cent out of your pocket.

An example: Suppose you have a part-time maid and pay her $15 a week. You deduct 1½ per cent each week, or 22½ cents. (To take 1½ per cent of an amount, multiply it by .015). You add 22½¢ to this. That makes 45 cents a week you must pay the government. But you don't pay it until the end of the quarter.

Since there are 13 weeks in a quarter, your quarterly payment will be $5.85.

Your first payment must be made by April 30, for the January-February-March quarter.

Now, as for filling out forms. That will be easy.

If you—or your husband or wife—have any business employees on whom you are already filing Social Security Tax reports, the household worker may be simply added to those reports.

Otherwise, you will use a special household report form.

Education Is Big Industry

The Committee on Education of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce went on record today as approving more money for Kentucky schools both on the local and state levels. It also asked for a change of the State's Constitution to provide for the distribution of state school funds on a basis of membership, and to provide for an appointive rather than an elective State Superintendent of Education.

Realizing that the most important industry in Kentucky is the education of our youth, the Committee on Education unanimously adopted an eight-point program which it will recommend to the Board of Directors for official action. The program provides for the State Chamber's full support to the Kentucky Council for Education as follows:

- To appropriate a financial support to the Council.
- To urge its 2,500 individual members to support the Kentucky Council for Education.
- To assist the Council for Education in the formulation of a definite program for the improvement of education in Kentucky.

Dick Oberlin:

Oberlin's Observations

It is almost certain that the Kentucky state legislature which convenes in January, 1952, will do a complete overhauling job on our election, registration and purgation laws. And it's about time!

It's bad enough to have a half million illegally registered names on the voters' lists. It's bad enough to have antiquated laws which are burdensome and cumbersome. But when it comes to gross waste of tax money... Well, the way taxes keep mounting, that's just too much.

Did you know that in the past five years Kentucky has thrown away a million dollars ($1,000,000) on unnecessary elections. And we're going to continue to waste that tax money, not to mention hundreds of thousands of dollars spent in campaigns, and countless man-hours of wasted labor until we change the election laws.

Few states besides Kentucky have elections every year, and we can do quite well with an election every other year, in just the even-numbered years. We

J. B. Alvery, train dispatcher, died Tuesday at his home in Pearl Village at the age of 55. He had been with the Illinois Central since 1888.

What sex has a locomotive? Miss Alice R. Kellar, disclaiming the longstanding custom of calling locomotives "she", pointed out that they have no feminine attributes; that they whistle and smoke, they are "fast", they stay out late at night, and are often called "Mike" (short for Mikado, a type). "The only feminine trait they show, is that they seldom take anything stronger than water", Miss Kellar pointed out.

A tremendous Thanksgiving day cloudburst in Fulton filled Harris Fork creek and the lowlands adjacent, but, thanks to the fact that the creek had been dredged and straightened years ago, no damage was caused in downtown stores. The downpour recalled the great flood of April 1, 1912, when waist-deep water engulfed all of Lake Street and did thousands of dollars damage to merchandise and dwellings.

A Thanksgiving Chapel program was given last Monday by the students of Miss Lucille Hicks at Beeleron. The program included a reading of Louise Livingston; a reading "Thankful Jimmie", by Harry Bushart; a piano solo by Carrie Hicks; piano solo by Loudean Bryan and a one-act playlet by Margaret Foy, Hazel Morris and Homer Weatherpoon.

Harold Hampton, Cecil Cruce and Paul N. Pewitt entertained Cayce seniors Tuesday night with a "bagging" party. Guests were masked in paper bags.

can because others do and they save a goodly number of pennies in doing so.

To change the law will not be easy. Political jobs are cherished, for one thing. And, another reason—it will take a lot of planning and work. Although the next General Assembly will not be meeting for more than a year, it is still not one minute too early to begin this work and planning.

In 1947, the primary and general elections cost Kentucky taxpayers a total of $363,000. In 1948, the cost of both was $348,000. In 1949, $391,000. And, this year, the bill for the privilege of voting was just over $460,000.

The cost has gone up since 1947, and it is highly likely that it will continue to rise. The cost of just plain living being high, it is no surprise that the cost of elections is mounting.

Other examples: That unnecessary election of 1947 cost the people of Jefferson County $36,000. The '49 election (also unnecessary) $49,000. The '47 and '49 elections cost Campbell County an even $50,000; $6,500 for little Franklin County, which has a lot of absentee voters; almost $10,000 in the two years in Henderson County; and in Pike, $8,500 in '47 and $10,000 last year.

These are just a few examples of how tax-payers' good dollars are thrown down the drain because of gross inadequacy in the law. That's however, is just tax money.

What about the other items which either directly or indirectly also cost us dollars. There is the fact that those countless man-hours are lost every other year in campaigning. It is no secret that employees on public payrolls go out electioneering when they should be working.

There is the very great and unnecessary expense of maintaining a headquarters the year around; the very heavy expense of the campaigns themselves—with radio, and now television time to be bought and paid-for, newspaper advertising, speakers' bureaus to operate, traveling expenses.

And, of course, in some previous years, the expense of outright buying of votes. None of it comes cheap.

In 1949 we elected mayors, aldermen and councilmen and minor city officials; county judges, clerks, attorneys, sheriffs and other minor county officers; holders; and members of the General Assembly, some for two-year terms, others for longer ones.

Why? What reason—sensible reason—is there why these same people could not have been elected this year? This year the ballot was a light one with Senator, Congressmen, bond issues, school boards and some local officers in some communities. That was all.

Next year we again have a heavy election cost. We will elect a Governor and all other state officers. Why not rid ourselves of this bug-a-boo of off-year elections—or elections in the odd-numbered years. We certainly should be interested in a change. It would be profitable, a saving of $100,000 every five-years. That is a lot of money.

Why not rid ourselves of this bug-a-boo of off-year elections—or elections in the odd-numbered years. We certainly should be interested in a change. It would be profitable, a saving of $100,000 every five-years. That is a lot of money.

The issue is clear and narrows down to what is truth with regard to the human being. If he is not a creature of God and the noblest act of God, with rights from Him, then he is just a clod of earth or the merest tool of the almighty State. He must be one or the other. He cannot be both.

Marx and Hitler

Karl Marx, the archprophet of Communism, in his Das Kapital expressed this fundamental point most clearly. "The deocratic concept of man is false because it is Christian," he wrote. "The deocratic concept holds that... each man is a sovereign being. This is the illusion, dream, and postulate of Christianity." (First ed., ME, I, 1. 590)

In this Marx was one with Adolf Hitler. In fact, Hitler took much of the Marxian philosophy and integrated it into his Nazi doctrine, voicing the same complete disregard for the sacred worth of the individual. As quoted in The Voice of Destruction, by Hermann Rauschning, here are Hitler's own words:

"To the Christian doctrine of the infinite significance of the

SOUTH FULTON WSCS HAS XMAS PARTY AT WALNUT GROVE CHURCH

The WSCS of South Fulton Circuit met Monday night, December 4th at 6:30 in Walnut Grove Church for a pot-luck supper and Christmas Party, with Mrs. Gaylon Malray, Miss Lena Roberts, Mrs. Marshall Rogers and Mrs. Herman St. John as hostesses.

The church and tables were artistically decorated in keeping with the Holiday spirit.

Mrs. Thomas Smithmier offered Thanks before the bountiful supper was enjoyed.

Following the supper the regular meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Glenn Walker. The opening hymn "Silent Night" was sung by the group, accompanied at the piano by Nancy Counce. Mrs. Irene Boaz gave the opening prayer. Minutes of the last two meetings and roll call was submitted by Mrs. Milburn Conner, recording secretary, and Mrs. Billy Fry gave a splendid treasurers report.

The highlights of the meeting was the presentation of two special memberships, Mrs. Glenn Walker presented Susan Kathleen Fry, baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Fry, with a Special Baby Membership Certificate for the incredible work Joyce has performed in the work of the WSCS and the Church.

Then Mrs. Lula Sellers was made an Adult Life Member, this being the culmination of Mrs. Sellers' life long desire to be registered in the Book of Honorary Women, who have served so sacrificially for Gods Kingdom Building. No one could have been more enthusiastic to present this Life Certificate to Mrs. Sellers than Mrs. Irene Boaz, who did so in her unique and charming manner. Mrs. Boaz having been Mrs. Sellers first school teacher and a life-long companion in their church work, their social activities and being just neighbors.

A report was then heard from the different officers present. The Bible Study was conducted by Mrs. Floyd Dedmon, who gave the chapter on "Guidance" from the study book "Newness of Life". This was very capably given and much thought and timely suggestions were given, concluded with prayer by Mrs. Dedmon.

Mrs. Albert McClain had charge of the program, the topic being "Spiritual Resources for Health". She was assisted by Mrs. J. H. Stubblefield, who gave "The Force that Makes for Health". Miss Mattie Rice gave "Why We Become Sick" and Mrs. Aubrey Taylor concluded with "How We Can Stay Well". The meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. Maud Williams.

Each one gathered around the beautifully lighted Christmas tree and as Nancy Counce played Christmas Carols on the piano, the gifts were exchanged.

In keeping with the Christmas Spirit, each one brought food or clothing for the basket for a needy family, which was filled to overflowing. In the place of waiting until Christmas to present this basket it was decided to deliver it immediately.

There were 26 regular members and 14 visitors in attendance.

The next meeting will be Monday night 7:30, January 1st, at Walnut Grove Church. The hostesses will be Mrs. Dee Fry, Mrs. Glenn Walker and Mrs. Billy Fry.

WHO'S Crippled?
SUCCESS STORY OF THE MONTH

In spite of being crippled since he was 7 years old, Edward Monroe of Akron, O., is nearing the realization of his life-long ambition—to become a high school science teacher. He will graduate next June from Akron University with degrees in both elementary and secondary education, and will then become eligible to pursue a career in teaching.

Because of his courage and determination in not allowing his handicap to stand in his way, the 23-year-old prospective teacher has received the "Who's Crippled?" citation from the Ohio Society for Crippled Children. This award was presented to him at a special dinner ceremony marking the first annual meeting of the year-old Summit County Society for Crippled Children at the Akron Women's City Club.

The "Who's Crippled?" citation is conferred every month by the National Society for Crippled Children, the Easter Seal Agency, through its state affiliates, to persons like Monroe who have overcome severe physical handicaps to live happy, useful lives.

Monroe was suddenly stricken with polio in 1934 and lost the use of his legs. As the result of a long program of surgery and therapy, he now walks to his classes on crutches which he hopes soon to discard.

Ever since he can remember, Monroe has wanted to become a teacher. After graduating from Akron West High School with high scholastic honors, he enrolled at Kent State University where he began to study for his teaching career. He was within two semesters of finishing his courses when his money ran out. The Ohio State Bureau of Vocational Rehabilitation had paid for his tuition up until that time, but could not finance the extra semesters he needed.

Then, the Summit County Society for Crippled Children, an affiliate of the Ohio Society, came to the rescue. The Society's board approved a loan of $349, enough to see Monroe through his final two semesters. He received one of the Society's first character loans from a $1,000 fund set up for loans to "disabled and handicapped persons for the purpose of rehabilitation."

According to Walter B. Underwood, executive director of the Ohio Society, "The case history of Edward Monroe is a good example of how a severely handicapped individual can be assisted in his fight to lead a useful, happy life through the combined efforts of health and welfare agencies. The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, the Ohio State Bureau of Vocational Rehabilitation, and the Summit County Society for Crippled Children have all done their share to see that Monroe gets his teaching opportunity."

USDA CHANGES BEEF GRADE STANDARDS

The Production and Marketing Administration of the U. S. Department of Agriculture announced today that Federal grade standards for steer, heifer, and cow carcasses will be revised, effective on December 29.

The change includes combining the present "Prime" and "Choice" beef grades under the name

"Prime", renaming the present "Good" grade as "Choice" and setting up a new grade to be called "Good" which will consist of beef from the higher quality young cattle now graded "Commercial". Beef from older cattle will continue to be graded "Commercial".

This revision in the standards will make the grades more useful in reflecting beef production practices and consumer preferences. The higher quality young beef now in the present "Commercial" grade is popular with a large segment of the population and its identification as a separate grade will be beneficial to both the producers and the consumers. By combining "Prime" and "Choice" grades, the grades name "Prime" will become a more important factor in meat grading, as less than 1/2 of one percent of our total beef production qualifies for the present "Prime" grade.

This shift in beef grade names should have no effect on price, the U. S. Department of Agriculture emphasizes. Beef prices are determined by relative demand for different kinds of beef rather than by grade designation. Grades provide home-makers, retailers, packers and others a uniform guide for use in trading in meats.

Publisher's Tip May Lead To Oldest Known Tree

A tip from a Kentucky newspaper publisher led to the discovery of what may be the oldest and biggest tree east of the Mississippi River.

The cypress tree—reported to be about 140 feet high, 68.3 feet in circumference, and perhaps 1,000 years old—was discovered by State conservation agents yesterday in a remote section of Tennessee near Tiptonville in the Reelfoot Lake area.

State Forester J. O. Hazard, informed of the discovery today, said he never had heard of a tree as big and said he plans to go take a look at it soon and plan whatever is necessary to preserve it.

Tree In Remote Section
Hazard said he was informed there was a tree of the kind last July by James M. Thomas, publisher of The Model Star, a newspaper published at Hazel, Ky., a few miles north of Paris, Tenn.

Thomas, who enclosed a picture of the tree in his letter, said he believed it was the "largest east of the Rockies," but that it was in such a remote section few ever had seen it. He offered to help locate the tree, which he himself had seen in September, 1949.

Hazard enlisted the aid of State Game and Fish Director John D. Findlay, who told his men at the Reelfoot Lake Game Management Area to hunt for the tree, following Thomas' directions.

Thomas thought something ought to be done to preserve the tree because water from a nearby canal was inundating its base at the time he saw it. Hazard said, "I hope I can go down there with John Findlay in a few days and take a look at it," Hazard said. "A tree like that ought to be preserved and I want to see if anything needs to be done to save it."

ILLINOIS CENTRAL TO UNVEIL CENTENNIAL

The Illinois Central System unveiled plans for its elaborate centennial celebration in 1951 at a meeting of the I. C. Supervisors Club Monday night at Hotel Irvin Cobb in Paducah.

The railroad will complete 100 years of service next February 10, and the celebration will move into high gear.

The meeting was attended by 161 supervisors of the Kentucky Division. Walter E. Davis, division superintendent, presided at the session and he and others explained the broad centennial plan.

The year-long celebration will be designed to tell the story of the Illinois Central System to millions of people.

Features will be the centennial medallion, bronze memento for distribution to employees, ship-pers, friends of the railroad and others; centennial markers, slabs and boulders to be placed at 150 places on station grounds, other railroad property and on other sites to mark the year of the 100th anniversary; the centennial history, a 464-page book, "Main Line of Mid-America," by Carlton J. Corliss; a centennial booklet highlighting the history of the railroad; speaking engagements with speakers ranging far and wide telling the story of the line; wide-spread advertising in national magazines, on-line newspapers and other publications; a financial report covering operations of the railroad for 100 years; special editions of the Illinois Central Magazine; a centennial flag to be flown from all flagstaves on Illinois Central property; a centennial placard utilizing the over-lay medallion in bronze on a field of blue; a centennial calendar; an essay contest; promotion and publicity, and dinners commemorating the birthday celebration.

"The story of the I. C. is a dramatic story," Mr. Davis said, "and one of which every Illinois Central man and woman can be proud."

During 1951, the railroad will do more than observe the fact that it is 100 years old, Mr. Davis said.

"It will pay recognition to the men who gave so much in untiring energy to bring the railroad into existence. It will pay tribute

It was a happy and profitable

PUBLIC HEALTH TOPICS

Annual reports of births and causes of deaths have been compiled in Kentucky since January 1, 1911. More than three million births and deaths have been registered. This represents something more than just statistics. Whenever a baby is born in Fulton County or somebody's grandfather dies—those people become a part of the vital statistics of our state. Each of us, therefore at some time appears anonymously in those long tables of figures which are the work of statisticians. Maybe if more people would think of vital statistics in that way they would understand more clearly the need for prompt registration of births and deaths.

There are many important reasons for registering births. Some of the most important include proving the date of birth for entrance to school, for an automobile license, the right of vote, the right to marry and social security benefits. It is also necessary to prove the fact of birth in order to inherit property, establish identity and for the settlement of insurance.

Death certificates should be filed in order to prove among other things, the circumstances of death and the time and date of death. In a broader sense, these statistics help to establish the cause of death which enable health departments to prevent disease and to plan a health program. Life insurance companies also use these statistics to determine premium rates.

The actual mechanics of vital statistics registration may differ somewhat from county to county but, in general, the Vital Statistics Law, which was enacted by the General Assembly in 1910, provides a penalty for any physician or midwife who attends a birth and refuses or neglects to file a complete birth certificate within ten days of the birth.

The law also provides a penalty for any undertaker, or person acting as such, who conducts a funeral without filing a death certificate and securing burial permit before burial is made. Physicians and undertakers have a legal as well as a moral and professional obligation to fulfill. Every county in Kentucky—regardless of whether or not the county has a fully staffed health department—has a vital statistics registrar. In many counties this registrar is the clerk. She is the one to whom the local physician, midwife or undertaker turns in the record of births and deaths occurring in the community and in the county.

After the birth certificates are filed with the local registrar, she makes a copy of each one for use in the county. Then, twice each month, the original certificates mailed to the State Department of Health in Louisville. This is done by registrars throughout the state. A notification of the birth is sent out to the parents by the registrar after the certificate has been filed. In that way, errors in the certificate may be discovered and corrections made before they are put on permanent file.

When the certificates have been received in Louisville they are arranged by city and county.

The birth certificates are then photographed with a microfilm camera and the film is sent once each month to the National Office of Vital Statistics in Washington, where statistical reports are prepared for the nation. The original records are stored in fireproof vaults at the State Department of Health for permanent preservation.

The death certificates too, are sent to the State Department of Health by the local registrar and tabulated and recorded. By using statistical machines, tabulations of different causes of death can be made and the various factors related to each cause can be studied. These tabulations are very helpful to public health workers. In fact, you might almost call them the backbone of the present public health program, because in this way the incidence of disease may be inferred and programs for controlling communicable diseases, cancer and other important health problems may be revised to be more effective.

epithetic said all that could be said on the subject. Epithets are often very pleasant as to sound but rarely mean much if they are analyzed. I know of no term that is any less apt than "gay" as applied at the eighteen nineties.

In the first place, people were, in general, very serious-minded. A new generation had grown up since the Civil War, a generation that had been indoctrinated with the glories and achievements of that terrible conflict. America had been saved in one piece, not two. Those who had had a part of this epochal struggle had begun to grow old and had acquired some of the greatness that we associate with the age of people who have lived in great times. Even privates had by then acquired local designations as high in rank as captain; actual officers went up the scale even more rapidly. A few people could really see the importance of our having survived as one country and, therefore, could feel the dignity of living in a time when our country was ours once more, as Lowell said so eloquently in his famous "Harvard Ode." You could not have convinced any such people as these survivors of the war and their immediate descendants that the age could be called gay.

Then there was the religious angle. The eighteen nineties saw a great spread of evangelism all over the country, following the emotional upheavals of the war itself and its rather horrible aftermath. Self-satisfied religionists were decidedly in the minority; to achieve the good life was not a mere holiday trick; it took years of hard work and self-abnegation. If your ancestors who were church-minded had been told that they lived in a gay, and therefore frivolous, age, they would probably have exploded. Imagine the scene in Fidelity, for example, if some outside high-brow had told us we were frivolous, when we were seeking the hereafter in such dead earnest!

The census of 1890 announced that the frontier as such had disappeared. The most primitive forms of pioneering, that is, on huge fronts, had come to an end, after its long-ago start at James town. But pioneering itself was far from over, and the pioneers were far from being gay. Life was hard out on the frontier, humor was coarse at best, and there was none of that gaiety that we associate with the happy, free-from-care world suggested in the well-worn epithet. Forests had to be felled, houses to be built, roads to be laid out, institutions to be started in some fashion. These acts are far from gay.

Now, of course, there were populous towns on the sea coast that had a measure of freedom and gaiety, but society was so hedged round about with restrictions that even the superficial gaiety must have been rather lamentable. Clothes had a dominance rarely found in our long history; social ease was so rare that it seemed incapable of attainment. Those who represented best the horribly ill at ease, stiff in manners, stiffer in dress, and stiffest of all in language. Clothes were as far removed as it is thinkable from comfort or, often, be it said, from common sense. When I think of the stiff collars and cuffs and cast-iron shirt bosoms of the time, I wonder whether some sort of pension should not be voted the survivors of these stiff and starched styles. As cool summer underwear had not been invented, and as summery clothes were also rare, the task of keeping alive and pretending to be comfortable was almost more than should be expected of ordinary yuhnam beings. Talk about gay, I wish you who think it was so care-free had to wear some of these clothes we suffered in, back in those days.

It is dead easy to imagine that a time before our own had all the virtues and none of the vices, especially if Grandpa said so; it is equally easy to imagine a naive folk that did not dread the problems that life brings, that laughed away their youth like Aesop's grasshopper. My father, born in 1847, was one of the grown, mature people of the time; yours was another. I wonder how gay you have pictured them in their hand-to-mouth struggle to keep alive in the depressing days that were still upon many of our people, even though the Great Depression of the seventies was over technically.

The Fulton News
Friday, Dec. 8, 1950

Name Kentucky 4-H'er To Compete for National Honors in Recreation

THE National 4-H Recreation and Rural Arts program provides boys and girls with an opportunity to make new friends, have fun, learn new skills, share talent and become leaders. It also provides a medium for home and community participation in sports, dancing, dramatics, singing, arts and crafts, and other activities.

Mary Riley

Mary Riley, 17, of Grayson, was selected by the State Club Office for outstanding recreational leadership and achievement. Learning that all work and no play will make anyone dull, she charted a carefully planned course to bring recreation into the lives of fellow club members as well as to grown-ups in the community. Selected by State 4-H Club Office to direct music and recreational activities at Camp Bingham, she proved herself to be a capable and popular leader. At the camps she worked with over 1,000 leaders, county agents and young people. Mary is a member of the high school band and has also been cheer leader and member of the chorus for 5 years. Her record will be judged for national honors, which includes a trip to the 1950 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, provided by the United States Rubber Co. Annual awards of $25 were given to 21 counties on their overall recreational program as well as the records of their local 4-H Clubs. The award is used to buy recreational equipment.

This activity is conducted under the direction of the Extension Service of the State Agricultural College and USDA cooperating.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"God the Preserver of Man" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, December 10, 1950.

The Golden Text is: "The Lord is my rock, and my fortress and my deliverer; the God of my rock; in him will I trust: he is my shield, and the horn of my salvation, my high tower, and my refuge, my saviour." (II Sam. 22: 2, 3).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee: because he trusteth in thee. Trust ye in the Lord for ever; for in the LORD JEHOVAH is everlasting strength." (Isa. 26: 3, 4).

Christian Science program will be broadcast Sunday, December 10 at 10 a. m. over Station WENK in Union City.

Mississippi Plantation Life: The Writings Of Mattie Dear

In thee, O Lord, do I put my trust. I went no place Sunday to service. The weather was unfavorable but it wasn't too unfavorable for me to know no one wouldn't be there but me and I ask some of the members did they have service and they told me no. My mind was just right but I had plenty company at my house.

We are having plenty rain here now but I thank the Lord I am through gathering. I have plenty coal also wood and the Lord has blessed me with plenty to eat and if I ain't got many raiment to wear I sure can keep warm and eat.

Civilization is passing through the most dramatic, the most momentous, the most stirring days since man came upon the earth. History making and world changing events are following each other in quick succession.

There is revolution, revolt, upheaval in politics, in society and in religion. We have come to a turning point in human affairs. The old order of things is passing away and we are entering upon a new era. A different world is in the making and the times call loudly for a master builder who can reconstruct the world in righteousness and peace in security prosperity.

The world's greatest thinkers recognize that we are living in the most dangerous time in the

RUPTURE

Expert Coming To Union City & Mayfield Again

Well-known expert, of Indianapolis will personally demonstrate his method without charge at the Davy Crockett Hotel, Union City, Friday, Dec. 15, from 2 P. M. to 6 P. M. and at the Hall Hotel, Mayfield, Thursday, Dec. 21, from 1 P. M. to 6 P. M. Evenings by appointment. Ask for Mr. Howe at desk.

Mr. Howe says the Howe method contracts the openings in remarkably short time on the average case, regardless of the size or location of the rupture and no matter how much you lift or strain and puts you back to work the same day as efficient as before you were ruptured.

The Howe Rupture Shield has no leg strap; waterproof, sanitary, practically indestructible and can be worn while bathing. Each shield is skillfully molded and fitted to the parts under heat which gives a perfect fit and satisfaction.

GOD WARNS HIS PEOPLE

The second epistle of Paul the Apostle to Timothy

CHAPTER 3

This know also, that in the last days perilous times shall come.

2 For men shall be lovers of their own selves, covetous, boasters, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy.

3 Without natural affection, truce breakers, false accusers, incontinent, fierce, despisers of those that are good.

4 Traitors, heady, highminded, lovers of pleasure more than lovers of God;

5 Having a form of godliness, but denying the power thereof: from such turn away.

6 For of this sort are they which creep into houses, and lead captive silly women laden with sins, lead away with divers lusts,

7 Ever learning, and never able to come to the knowledge of the truth.

8 Now as Jannes and Jambres withstood Moses, so do these also resist the truth: men of corrupt minds, reprobate concerning the faith.

9 But they shall proceed no further: for their folly shall be manifest unto all men, as theirs also was.

10 But thou hast fully known my doctrine, manner of life, purpose, faith, long-suffering, charity, patience, 11 Persecutions, afflictions, which came unto me at Antioch, at Iconium, at Lystra; what persecutions I endured: but out of them all the Lord delivered me.

12 Yea, and all that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution.

13 But evil men and seducers shall wax worse and worse, deceiving, and being deceived.

14 But continue thou in the things which thou hast learned and hast been assured of, knowing of whom thou hast learned them;

15 And that from a child thou hast known the holy scriptures, which are able to make thee wise unto salvation through faith which is in Christ Jesus.

16 All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness;

17 That the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto all good works.

AN HOUR'S TELEPHONE SERVICE

Before you decide bargains no longer exist, take a close look at your telephone service. The telephone in your home is on duty day and night at an average charge in Kentucky of less than one-half cent an hour.

Regardless of the time, if somebody needs to get in touch with you—from across the street, across town or across the nation—your telephone can be ringing in a matter of seconds.

Then there are the calls you make—to the drug store, the doctor, the hairdresser, to relatives and friends across town—calls that save you tiresome and expensive errands, calls that bring joy and good times, that help keep family ties and friendships alive.

To these every-day calls you make and receive, add the constant protection of your telephone in the event of serious emergency—and we believe you will agree telephone service is one of today's biggest bargains.

The White Shirt

with an INSURANCE POLICY
on the Life of the Collar

$2.95

The secret is in the sturdy aeroplane cloth used in the collar. That's why we can give you an insurance policy with every one of these Wings white shirts - our guarantee that the collar will outlive the shirt, or a new shirt free. Your appearance, as well as your budget, is the beneficiary, because these lustrous, smooth white broadcloth shirts are mighty good-looking, too.
