Six Democrats of State Want To Be Governor

Six Democrats have declared their ambition to be Kentucky's next governor, and before the election, May 12, in Lexington, at least two or three more are expected to be in the field.

Those who seek the Democratic nomination in the order in which they announced, are: James Breathitt, Jr., Hopkinsville, Lieutenant-Governor; Ralph Gilbert, Shelbyville, Representative-elect from the 6th congressional district.

Circuit Judge Ruby Laffoon, Madisonville.

Clell Coleman, Harrodsburg, State Auditor.

Circuit Judge W. R. Shackelford, Richmond.

W. B. Ardery, Paris, member of 1930 Kentucky House of Representatives.

With unusual activity in Democratic ranks, there has been but one public announcement so far from any Republican regarding that party's nomination, that of Silas A. Sullivan, of Jamestown, Ky., farmer and attorney.

CALL FOR FAIR PLAY WINS PUBLIC SUPPORT

A busy railroad is the public's best assurance of cheap, safe and efficient transportation, and of employment, taxes and purchases in large volume, according to President L. A. Downs, of the Illinois Central System. Therefore, it is to the best interest of the public, he says, that the railroads receive a square deal.

The public's understanding of this point is shown by the widespread approval which has greeted the recent aggressive declarations of the railroads, in the opinion of Mr. Downs.

This response proves to Mr. Downs' satisfaction that the American people realize no other transportation set-up can permanently supplant the railroads.

"Without subsidies or other unfair advantages," declares Mr. Downs, "much of the railroads' competition could not survive."

CONGRATULATIONS

We congratulate the Daily Leader on their Basketball special edition, and Messrs. David J. Capps and J. Coy Putman on securing the data and advertisements. It was a splendid paper, a credit to the publishers, reflecting the live spirit of a progressive town. The edition was timely. Just the kind of a paper to make our neighbors set and take notice. It afforded a real opportunity for our business firms to make an impression at the opening of the spring season, as well as cement ties of friendships and extend the glad-hand of welcome to the throng of visitors who are with us today.

Through the courtesy of the publishers we are reproducing some of the handsome groups of basketball players taking part in the tournament in this issue of The Advertiser.

OFFICERS ELECTED BY FULTON ELKS

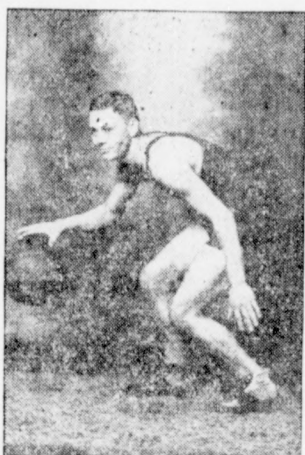

Fulton Lodge of Elks No. 1142 has elected officers to serve for 1931, as follows:

M. K. Chowning, exalted ruler; R. L. Crockett, leading knight; Tobe Pierce, lecturing knight; R. L. Harris, loyal knight; A. W. Morris, secretary; H. H. Murphey, treasurer; H. Ed Wade, tyler; N. G. Cooke, trustee; D. W. Smith, delegate to grand lodge; M. C. Nall, alternate.

The officers will be installed April 6.

PILOTS BULL DOGS

"Slim" Closes Career With 13 Letters

CAPT. "SLIM" WILLIAMSON

In the tournament Captain Williamson pilots the Bull Dogs for the last time.

Though one of the smallest athletes in West Kentucky, Captain Williamson holds the West Kentucky record and probably the state record for years service.

Captain Williamson has seen thirteen seasons service under the Blue and White Bull Dog Banner.

ROTARY MEETING

Enoch Browder sponsored a community service program at the Rotary Club meeting Tuesday. W. P. Burnett, a leading member of the 4-H clubs of the county, gave an inspiring account of trips he had made to the State University, the State Fair and to Chicago, in recognition of his work in the clubs. He was followed by H. C. Brown, county farm agent, who told of his plans for the coming year. One idea he will stress is that farmers must live on the products of their own farms as nearly as possible.

Joe Davis called attention to the fact that boys of the 4-H clubs went before the county court and obtained an appropriation for the work of the county agent this year.

Other short talks were made by Messrs. Joe Browder, Bob Wade, and Tom Franklin. Bond Wilkerson of Jackson talked on attendance.

Mr. Franklin also made a brief talk on the advantages of a local hospital, with special reference to the Curlin-Neill institution, Fulton's new hospital. Dr. Haws, new surgeon at this hospital, was a guest, together with Morgan Williams, Tip-tonville; Mayor Tom Fields, South Fulton; and Clarence Reed.

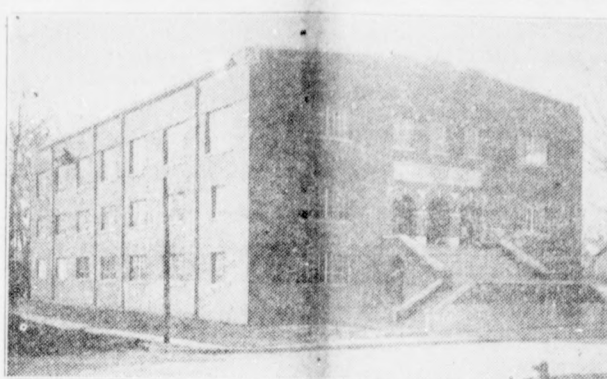

CLAPP-WRIGHT

On Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of the Reverend E. S. Hicks, Nell Wright and Hampton Clapp were united in marriage with the ring ceremony, Mr. Hicks officiating. The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Hancock.

Mrs. Clapp is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Wright of Beelerton. Mr. Clapp is the son of the late Thomas and Sudie Clapp of near Mayfield.

At the present Mr. and Mrs. Clapp are making their home with the bride's parents.

A nice gift. Send The Advertiser to a friend one year—only $1.00.

SCIENCE HALL, WHERE BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT IS NOW ON

The First District Basketball Tournament now in progress here this week with Fulton High School as host, is the outstanding athletic event.

Twenty-seven teams, representing seventeen schools, with their enthusiastic supporters are here.

It is a delightful pleasure to have them with us and everything is being done to make their visit a happy one.

Those taking part in the tournament display thorough training and each school represented, especially the coaches, should be congratulated on the excellent sportsmanship manifested during the games. A finer lot of young folk never assembled for a tournament.

Last year's tournament here was a glorious success from every standpoint and the 1931 meet promises to even outclass that.

We heartily extend the hand of welcome to our visitors and we want your stay with us to be so enjoyable that when you leave for home you will want to return again.

Hon. Lon Adams In Race For Representative

We are authorized to announce the candidacy of Hon. Lon Adams for the office of Representative from the First District, composed of Fulton and Hickman counties, in the Kentucky State legislature, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

He needs no introduction from us to the voters of this district. We all know him. He has served us in the past with perfect satisfaction, and made an enviable reputation for himself worthy of your earnest consideration in selecting your representative. He is as honest as the days are long; a thoroughbred Democrat capable of taking care of your interests when at Frankfort.

The public life of Mr. Adams, which embraces one term in the state legislature and two terms of four years each as county attorney, serves to prove to the voters that he is willing at all times to do his very best for his constituents.

He served the district in the legislature with distinction to himself and with credit to his district. As county attorney he handled the legal affairs of the county in a high grade manner, with an eye single to the best interests of the people of the county. In all his races he caught the attention of the voters in a remarkable manner, and there is no better campaigner in the district than he.

Mr. Adams states that he wishes to represent the district at Frankfort because he feels that there is work of importance to be done at the coming session of the legislature, and feels that he is capable of rendering good service there. He announces no platform, for as he says, no man can tell what the problems will be when the legislature convenes. He promises one thing, and that is to fairly represent the people who send him to Frankfort.

PRESENT EGG PRICES REPRESENT GOOD VALUE FOR HATCHING

Eggs at present prices, said Mr. T. F. Burns, local manager of Swift & Company, may well be used for hatching, to maintain the farm flock.

Not for years, said Mr. Burns, have producers been able to produce chicks so cheaply.

Whether Biddy is allowed to hatch them or whether bought from the hatchery, chicks now represent low per-unit cost and, even where a producer obtains only a 50 per cent yield of hatched chicks, his investment in them will still be small.

Brieflets

Many a man around Fulton who thought nothing of working 12 or 14 hours a day left grandsons who thing nothing of working at all.

Among the few things left in this country that has a kick in it is a tax bill.

It's easy to tell when you are on the road to success. None of the telephone poles have been knocked down by the speeders.

It has about gotten so in Fulton that you can't tell whether it's a neighborhood spat or something coming in over the radio.

If the way of the transgressor is so awfully hard, then why is it that there are so many following it?

The average surgeon specializes in one thing or another, but the tree surgeon must know all of the branches.

The Fulton man who has just barely escaped being run over can have this consolation—some day he'll have the right-of-way in a Hearse.

Our idea of grounds for divorce would be for a woman to catch her husband using the necktie she gave him for Christmas to shine his shoes with.

A pessimist is very often a man who can't collect the five dollars he once loaned to an optimist.

If you can find anybody in Fulton who can tell you what the first 17 amendments are about, you've found a well-informed man.

Woman's faith in beauty treatments seems to be exceeded only by man's faith in hair restorers.

Now that the Chinese have taken up golf, what's going to become of their reputation for truthfulness?

Another reason why Fulton children were better-mannered in the good old days was because their parents knew how to use both sides of a hairbrush.

If things keep on at the rate they're going, city schools will soon be teaching children the care and use of machine guns.

Come to think of it, the farmer wouldn't need so much relief if the watering of stock was as profitable to him as it is to Wall Street.

A genuine old-timer is the Fulton citizen who can remember the feeling of fear that came when he heard someone behind him ringing a bicycle bell.

In the case of a fat woman, taking weight off of the body also means taking weight off of the mind.

Better Breakfasts

WARM breakfasts are needed for these wintry days, but, in order to make them a complete success, they must be not only warm but varied. And, of course you want plenty of canned and preserved fruits in winter to keep up your summer average of fruit consumption. Here's a suggestion for a breakfast which combines both these elements:

Baked Peaches with Bacon
Poached Eggs on Whole Wheat Toast
Quince Preserves

Hot Beverage

To make the first dish arrange the peach halves from a No. 2½ can, cavity side up in a shallow pan. Cut eight slices of bacon in halves, and lay crosswise over the peaches. Or, roll up the slices and place one in each peach. Pour the syrup around the fruit and bake in a hot oven—400°—for about twenty-five minutes. Serves eight.

That Hot Beverage

The hot beverage can be tea or chocolate or coffee. If it's the latter, here's a hint how to have it with all its original flavor and aroma. Buy it in vacuum packed cans and it will all be there. Coffee that is not packed in air-tight containers loses from 65% to 70% of its flavor and aroma during the first twenty-four hours it is exposed to oxygen, and by the end of ten or twelve days of exposure, it has not only lost all of them, but has become noticeably stale. But fresh roasted coffee packed in a container which is absolutely impervious to all climatic influences can't get stale.

Benign Influence of Old Family Homestead

The preservation of family homesteads throughout the country will do more than any other effort to continue the home-owning idea through the next generation, says Herbert U. Nelson, executive secretary of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

"An old family homestead, mellow with beauty of age, set back from the street, perhaps in a flower garden, can exert a tremendous influence in the lives of children grown and gone out into the world," says Mr. Nelson. "To begin with, the continuance of the family homestead can hold the family together. If the home is still there, and one or both of the parents are living in it, the members of the family will revisit it. They will get together on Christmas and holidays, for vacations and visits with the old folks.

"They won't have a chance to forget the ideals that perhaps made this home possible. Pride and ambition and sacrifice and thrift were known in the home during their childhood days. Something of these desirable qualities still lurks within its walls. The boy or girl returning often to the old home will get to thinking that this is the best way to live, and will begin to save for homes of their own.

"There are today many of these old structures where parents live on after the children have grown and gone away. You can see these homes in every community, and I hope that some of them will be preserved as long as possible. They stand with dignity in the midst of newer architectural styles. They are beautiful as old people are beautiful, and all the fine principles behind home ownership still live on behind their doors."

Material Benefits of Home-Beauty Contests

Improvement of the home grounds is one of the growing needs in every community. Much can be accomplished in the way of beautification, says A. O. Rasmussen, ornamental horticulturist of the Pennsylvania State college.

In a few of the more progressive towns and villages, interest in such improvement has increased by leaps and bounds. Where there are live wire leaders a well-organized system of home improvement can be expected, and the head of each household can co-operate with the town leaders in endeavoring to raise the standard.

Will a yard-and-garden contest tend to improve the status of the community? Will the community benefit extensively by such a contest? The answer is pure and simple. A trial of two or three years will be sufficient. Those who fail to co-operate will be the losers. The old slogan, "You Win If You Lose" has proved many times that those who have entered such contests, even though they did win a prize or premium, have materially benefited by the fine yards, clean premises and bounteous supply of flowers, shrubs, trees and vegetables which resulted from their endeavors.

Study Regional Planning

It is a duty of the states, cities and towns and of commercial and business organizations to put the efforts represented by the national conference on street and highway safety into actual being and for each to recognize the economic value that rests in it for them—treating human life from a business standpoint as a factor in the economies involved, because social economies are an important factor in every community.

Regional planning and zoning must be taken into consideration in reaching an effective and lasting solution. The problem divides itself into factors that involve immediate relief and factors that involve permanent relief. It must be studied and solved in both of these aspects.—Washington Star.

Government Aids Home Buyer

The government of the United States has put itself actively and powerfully behind the widening of home ownership. In a way which has never been done it is undertaking to bring practical assistance to make it possible for its citizens to own the physical structures that shelter their family life. It is setting up a machinery new to American life for this specific purpose. It is planning to draw from the various great business groups concerned with home buying whatever facts and ideas they can suggest that will open home ownership as widely as possible to its people.

This is the meaning of the meeting in Washington of the planning committee for the conference on home building and home ownership.

Errors Billed to Future

The next few generations will have to pay for municipal mistakes made now, although they will be the chief beneficiaries of sensible, far-reaching city and regional plans through which many of the costs and penalties of unplanned and uncoordinated growth may be eliminated.—George McAneny.

Double Good in Move

With a view of relieving unemployment and repairing the city at the same time the Knoxville (Tenn.) Chamber of Commerce made July "repair month" to business houses and citizens in general.

Call for Fair Play Wins Public Support

A Message from
L. A. Downs,
President,
Illinois Central System.

Dependable for 80 Years

The appeal of the railroads for equality of competition in transportation has won the support of the public.

From press, platform, mail and personal interview has come approval of the aggressive declaration of the railroads.

This response shows that the American people realize that:

No other transportation set-up can permanently supplant the railroads.

Without subsidies or other unfair advantages much of the railroads' competition could not survive.

A square deal in transportation is the only way in which the interest of the public itself can be fairly served.

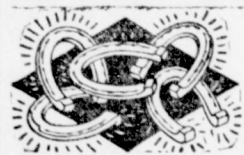

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

Feeding the World

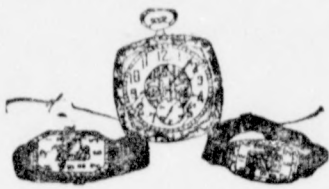

THESE prolific United States may not be feeding the world as they did in the perilous times of the World War, but food grown in this country is being eaten in Africa, Asia, Australia, Canada, Central America, China, all over Europe, in Mexico, New Zealand, the Philippine Islands, South America and the West Indies. It goes to them in the American sanitary cans which have made the preservation of food safe for periods of time measured in decades. Our vast exports of canned foods can be due to no other reason than that these peoples find them good.

Far and Wide
Australia, Canada, China, Mexico and Newfoundland all eat American canned foods. Nicaragua, Guatemala and the Republic of Panama welcome them to Central America. The countries in Europe where they are consumed are Austria, Belgium, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, England, France, the Free City of Danzig, Germany, the Irish Free State, Italy, Norway, Scotland, Spain, Sweden and Switzerland. Auckland and Wellington in New Zealand and Manila in the Philippine Islands all get canned foods from here. Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, Ecuador, Paraguay, Peru, Uruguay and Venezuela are the South American countries which import them. In the West Indies we send them to Cuba, the Dominican Republic and Porto Rico. And the foregoing is only the record of the first six months of this year!

The Dark Continents
Some of the places in Africa and Asia to which American canned foods are exported are Cairo, Alexandria and Port Said in Egypt; Salisbury, South Rhodesia; Penang, Straits Settlements; Mellilla, Spanish Morocco; Johannesburg, Durban and Port Elizabeth, South Africa; Bahrain, Persian Gulf; Colombo, Ceylon; Dairen, Manchuria; Sargon.

Here's a New Soup

EVERYBODY is drinking chilled tomato juice nowadays, but did it ever occur to you that you can take this same product and heat it, and thus have an excellent thin soup? It's a nourishing soup, too. Tomato juice, whether you squeeze it from the tomatoes themselves or buy it ready to serve in cans, is not just a watery substance with a tomato taste, but the whole tomato with the exception of the skin and seeds.

So popular is this new drink, hot or cold, that it is now being canned in gigantic quantities. The secret of keeping all the particles of tomato in suspension in the juice, instead of having them settle, has been solved by the same means that the canners use in processing evaporated milk. Scientists state that unsweetened evaporated milk is a good food for babies because of its sterility, its ready digestibility and its uniformity of composition.

Rich in Vitamins

Scientists also commend the tomato as a prolific source of vitamins A, B and C. Dr. A. F. Hess of Columbia University said: "From the nutritional standpoint it may be regarded as a palatable solution of the three vitamins." Dr. Elwood Hendrick characterized it as "one of the most useful food accessories known to man." William Howard Pritch of the United States Medical Service said: "The popularity of the tomato, fresh and canned, is fully justified by our present knowledge of food values, for the tomato is rich in all three vitamins and retains them well when cooked and canned."

POULTRY

POORLY BALANCED
RATION ESCHEWED

Pays Well to Give Pullets
Most Careful Attention.

When chickens are raised by artificial means, the conditions under which they have to grow and develop are often far from ideal. If, in addition to this handicap, their ration is too scanty in amount, or if its composition is unsuited to their needs, there is little hope of being able to grow them at a profit.

Not only this, but the unfavorable influence of wrong conditions early in life may extend throughout the first laying year and so result in a decreased return as compared with the income from a well grown flock.

Carefully controlled experiments have shown that a poorly balanced ration fed to young chickens not only reduces the rate of gain, but also reduces the mature weight of the pullets, increases the age at which the first egg is laid, and materially reduces the number of eggs that will be laid during the first laying year, even though the ration fed to the pullets after they are placed in the laying house may be a good one.

Since next year's income from the poultry enterprise will depend to a large extent on how well the pullets are grown, it is obviously worth while to give them the very best of care and attention from hatching time right on through the summer. The newer information about poultry nutrition shows clearly that there is no one best ration. Either simple or complex mixtures may be used, provided they are balanced with respect to the essential nutrients required by growing pullets.

Leading Cause of Damp Litter Is Water Dishes

When damp litter appears in the laying house, too often the ventilation of the house is blamed and we fail to look for other more common causes of this trouble. While looking for possible causes of damp litter keep in mind that it takes only a small amount of water to cause poultry litter to seem real damp.

The chief cause of damp litter in poultry houses is the water fountain or drinking dish. Always look at the watering arrangements first. Often you will find that they leak. Many times they are easily turned over or are open so that the birds walk in them and carry the water on their feet to the litter. Many of the better fountains do not have any of the above faults, but the floor under the fountain is wet. This condition is caused by the water dripping from the beaks and wattles when the birds drink. This is very noticeable where there is not enough fountain space allowed in the pen.

Poultry Facts

The lack of lime in the poultry ration may cause soft-shell or thin and weak-shelled eggs.

The brooder house for turkeys should be moved away from other buildings to ground known to be free from contamination with chicken diseases.

The presence of additional lime in the poultry ration increases the number of eggs produced by laying hens over those produced by hens not receiving lime.

Although culling can be practiced as soon as the chicks are hatched, nearly 40 per cent of an average flock of hens will probably have to be culled between June and September.

In order to make a profit on dressed poultry, farmers should charge from 13 to 20 per cent more for dressed birds than for live ones. Lighter fowls lose the greatest percentage of weight in dressing.

Contrary to the belief of many, lime in the form of oyster shell has no effect on the color of the egg shell.

When pullets are kept in good condition there is a greater likelihood of a sustained egg production. There is also less danger from colds and milt.

No feed has any effect on the color of the egg shell. Feed does have an effect on the color of the egg yolk, but not on the color of the shell.

Do not begrudge the cost of good stock. A dollar saved on the price of a bird is often the very poorest economy; especially is this the case where the male bird is concerned. In poultrydom it has practically become a proverb that the male bird is more than half the pen.

There are three minerals that have been demonstrated to be essential in the feeding of poultry. They are lime, phosphorus and salt, and their function is to build bone, make egg shell and aid in digestion.

DAIRY

GRAIN MIXTURES

Corn, Oats, Bran and Cottonseed for Dairy Cows.

Feeding dairy cows rations that make for economical milk production is one sure way to cut high feeding costs, states S. M. Salisbury, specialist in animal husbandry at the Ohio State university, who suggests that the most economical grain mixture under present prices consists of corn, oats, bran and cottonseed meal.

When alfalfa hay is available, he recommends that the grain mixture be made up of three parts each of corn, oats, and bran, with one part of cottonseed. But if clover or mixed hay is fed, the ration might be modified to 2 parts each of corn, oats, and bran, and 1 part of cottonseed meal. A good grain mixture to feed with timothy hay consists of equal parts of corn, oats, bran, oil meal and cottonseed meal. These rations may be fed with or without silage at the rate of 1 pound for each 2 or 4 pounds of milk produced.

The most practical method of providing a grain ration for dairy cattle is to feed one of the suggested rations to the entire milking herd, according to Salisbury. If one cow tends to become fat and her milk production falls off too early it is well to add a little extra high protein feed to her ration. This has a tendency to stimulate milk production rather than the accumulation of fat.

If another cow is milking heavily and has a tendency to become too thin, it is best to add extra corn and oats or other high carbohydrate feeds to her ration. It is not practical, he points out, to attempt to make a separate grain mixture for each cow.

As there are about 87.5 pounds of water in every 100 pounds of milk and as a cow consumes three pounds of water for every pound of milk she produces, it is essential that she drink plenty of water, Salisbury says. In cold weather water cups in the barn are oftentimes responsible for a 10 to 15 per cent difference in milk production.

Measuring Efficiency of Cow Is the Latest Task

Electricity's latest task is a boon to the dairy industry. In the laboratories of the College of Agriculture, University of California, at Davis, Calif., there has just been completed a "respiration chamber" in which the input-output efficiency of a cow may be tested electrically. In fact, provisions are made for tests on two cows at one time.

The animals are provided with comfortable stalls in air-tight chambers, and are fed, watered, milked and cleaned under careful laboratory conditions. The feed is weighed, the water is analyzed and the air in the chambers is cooled and humidified. Attendants who enter the chamber at regular intervals must pass through an air lock auxiliary chamber to prevent air leakage.

The breathing of the animals is measured by an elaborate "mechanical lung" device called an "aspirator," designed and built by Doctor Kiebler on the staff of the college. A classifier, in the basement under the respiration chamber, separates the waste products. The entire equipment is about three times the size of a large motor bus, and it cost nearly three times as much.

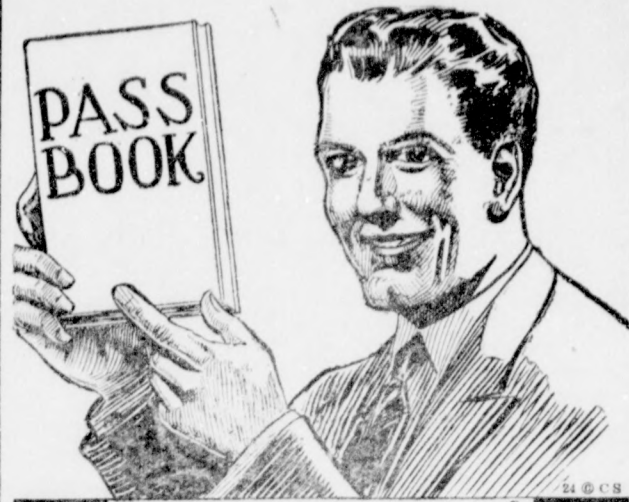

Dairy Cows Rustling in Stalk Fields for Feed

Dairy cows forced to rustle around a cornstalk field for a part of their feed in winter cannot produce enough milk to make them profitable. Even when the very best of grain feeds are fed to cows which are called upon to get all their dry roughage in the stalk field, there is very little chance for them to make a worthwhile milk yield. One reason for this is that cows that are kept out of doors use up most of their feed to keep warm, and the other reason is that there is very little in cornstalks from which a cow can make milk.

A good milk-producing cow is usually thin in flesh. She is thin-skinned and cannot stand the cold. She needs to be kept in warm quarters to be comfortable. Even under such conditions she cannot make much use of cornstalks as a part of her feed. She needs plenty of digestible, milk-making feeds all the time. This is true whether she is in milk or in dry condition. When she is not making milk she should be fed liberally so that she will keep on producing milk profitably when she freshens again.

Ground Soy Beans

Ground soy beans are a very satisfactory source of protein on many dairy farms. Usually only favorable comment is heard from men feeding beans during the cold weather. In summer, however, a lack of palatability in the ration containing the ground beans is often reported. In most cases, however, the beans are not refused by the herd when first ground but rather after the feed has been ground two weeks or more. The finer the beans are ground the more trouble,

Piling Up Happiness

Does each year find you wishing and hoping for better things in the future—and regretting lack of accomplishment in the past?

There is one sure way to fill your horn of plenty to the brim with all the good things of life. It entails no sacrifice now. It merely means the forming of a good habit.

Save! That good old formula for success is as true now as when it helped build the fortunes of our pioneer railroad builders, manufacturers and promoters.

Applying it on a small scale in your own way will bring you results in proportion.

Lesson for March 8

THE GOOD SAMARITAN

GOLDEN TEXT—Thou shalt not avenge, nor bear any grudge against the children of thy people, but thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself: I am the Lord.

LESSON TEXT—Luke 10:25-37.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus' Story of a Real Friend.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus' Story of a Real Friend.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Serving and sharing.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Stewardship of Life.

I. How to Inherit Eternal Life (vv. 25-28).

1. The lawyer's question (v. 25). The term "lawyer" here means one versed in religious law—the Scriptures, not lawyer in our modern sense of that term. It would more nearly correspond to our theological professor. The lawyer's object was to trip Jesus, to induce him to take such a stand as would weaken his influence as a teacher. He expected Jesus to set forth some new ceremonies which would conflict with or disparage the law of Moses.

2. Jesus' question (v. 26). Though Jesus knew the motive of the lawyer, he did not evade his question. He sent him to the law, the field which was familiar to him. He thus robbed him of his own weapon.

3. The lawyer's reply (v. 27). He made an intelligent answer, declaring that the entire content of the law was embraced in love to God and man. This expresses the whole of human duty.

4. Jesus' reply (v. 28). The straightforward answer went to the heart of the lawyer. Perfect love to God and man is truly the way of life. No man has yet had nor can have such love. His sinful condition precludes its possibility. Man's failure to measure up to this requirement is his condemnation. The lawyer keenly felt this thrust. He was defeated on his own grounds and convicted of guilt.

II. Who is My Neighbor (vv. 29-37).

1. The lawyer's question (v. 29). This question reveals the insincerity of the lawyer. Christ's answer had reached his conscience, and now he seeks to escape the difficulty by asking a captious question. Lawyer-like he sought to get off by raising a question as to the meaning of words.

2. Jesus' answer (vv. 30-37). Jesus' reply more than answered the lawyer's question. In the Parable of the Good Samaritan he makes clear who is a neighbor, and also what it means to be a neighbor and what loving a neighbor means. Christ's answer had a double meaning. He not only made clear who is my neighbor, but made it clear that the lawyer was not playing the neighbor.

3. Who is my neighbor? This destitute and wounded man, left on the wayside by the robbers, is a man who needs a neighbor. My neighbor, therefore, is the one who needs my help, whether he lives next door or on the other side of the world. It does not regard locality, nationality, or blood relation.

4. What being a neighbor means. Our supreme concern should not be "Who is my neighbor?" but "Whose neighbor am I?" To be a neighbor is:

(1) To be on the look-out for those in need of our help (v. 33). It is keen to discern the needs of those with whom it is brought into contact. (2) To have compassion on the needy (v. 33). Christ's compassion was aroused as he came into contact with those who were suffering and in need. (3) To give to those in need (v. 34). Love does not calculate the cost of its actions. Whenever there is calculation of cost, there is the expression of selfishness. Many are willing to give money to help the poor and needy but are unwilling personally to minister to them. The true neighbor gives himself as well as his money.

(4) To bind up wounds (v. 34). If we have eyes to discern, we shall see many wounds about us that need attention. (5) To set the helpless ones on our beasts while we walk (v. 34). This is the proof of the genuineness of our love. Those who are like Christ will deny themselves in order to have something to give to those who are in need. (6) To bring to the inn and take care of the unfortunate (v. 34). Genuine love does not leave its service incomplete. True love follows up the needy. (7) To give money (v. 35). It costs a good deal to be a neighbor. Love is the most expensive thing in the world. It cost God his only Son. It cost Jesus Christ his life.

This parable has been through the centuries the classic illustration of true Christian neighborliness.

Born of God

"He that loveth is born of God," therefore let us "keep our friendships in repair." Let us cultivate the spirit of friendship, and let the love of Christ develop it into a great love not only for our friends but for all humanity! —Henry Drummond.

God's Errands

Difficulties are God's errands; and when we are sent upon them we should esteem it a proof of God's confidence. —Henry Ward Beecher.

The BEST Gray Hair Remedy is Home Made

To half pint of water add one ounce bayrum, a small box of Barbo Compound and one-fourth ounce of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. It will gradually darken streaked, faded or gray hair and make it soft and glossy. Barbo will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.

Old World Recipes By HELEN SCHAUFFLER Domestic Science Expert

TO most of us old China means incredibly lovely bits of pottery, delicate color prints, gorgeous silks and intricately embroidered fabrics, along with fragments of lovely poetry. Many of us do not know that these ancient were also epicures of the highest order. We are under the impression that the Chinese have subsisted since before Confucius upon chowmein, chop suey and rice, with now and then a bird's nest soup. As a matter of fact, their diet presents a bewildering variety, ranging all the way from peacocks' tongues to the most delicious pork dishes, recipes for three of which are given here.

Pork Chops with Ginger—Pepper loin chops and dredge in flour which has been mixed with one tablespoon of sugar. Sauté with a little fat until brown on both sides. Add to the chops, salt, one cup of water, one-half teaspoon of lemon juice and a small piece of preserved ginger for each chop. Cook uncovered until tender. Do not turn the chops.

Roast Pork with Chestnuts—Wipe four pounds of loin of pork. Pepper well and dredge with a little flour. Shell and peel two cups of chestnuts. Peel and cut into small quarters two cooking apples. (One cup of dried apples may be substituted). Boil these for five minutes in two cups of water with two tablespoons of sugar. When the roast has been in the oven for three-quarters of an hour surround it with chestnuts and apples. Pour the syrup over the whole. Baste frequently until pork is brown and tender.

Pork Chops Baked with Pineapple—Cover the bottom of a shallow baking dish with slices of fresh or canned pineapple. Sprinkle with two tablespoons of sugar. On top of these lay peppered pork chops. Place in a hot oven for ten minutes. When the pork fat has fried out a little, salt well and pour pineapple juice sweetened with one teaspoon of sugar over the chops. Bake from twenty to thirty minutes. Garnish and serve.

CAP AND BELLS

WAY DOWN BACK

Jimmy is very hard on boots and trousers, and naturally his mother remembers this when she goes shopping. One day while out with a friend she was buying cloth for a pair of trousers for the boy, and ordered a good deal more than seemed necessary.

"Why do you buy so much?" asked the friend.
"Oh," responded the mother, "this is for the reserved seats."

QUICK TO CALL TIME

"She's a timekeeper's daughter."
"Yep; and quick to call time."

The Little Star

Twinkle, twinkle, little star,
How I wonder if you are,
Up above the footlight's sheen,
Forty-nine or seventeen.

Mailmen Love This

"Boy, I'll never try that again."
"Try what?"
"Just to test mail service I drew a picture of a buffalo on an envelope to see if it would reach Buffalo."
"Did it reach Buffalo?"
"No. This morning it was returned to me from Red Dog."

His Judgment

Mrs. Newrich entered her husband's private den, and collapsed into a deep leather chair.
"What's the matter?" he asked.
"I'm terribly disappointed with the new car," she explained.
"But why, my dear?" he inquired.
"Fido doesn't enjoy riding in it at all," came the reply.

Motor Strategy

"Every time I honk our new horn," said Mr. Chuggins, "it annoys my wife."
"Why do you keep it going?"
"For her own protection. If she concentrates on the horn she won't keep trying to drive from the back seat,"—Washington Star.

JOB FOR TURTLE

Rabbit—Hear you have a new job.
Turtle—Yes, I'm a washboard at the Clean-Em-Quick laundry.

Shooing Flies Now

Beneath the spreading chestnut tree
The smith works like the deuce,
For now he's selling gasoline,
Hot dogs and orange juice!

Little Defects

"Now that we are married, perhaps I might venture to point out a few of your little defects."
"Don't bother, dear. I'm quite aware of them. Those little defects prevented me from getting a much better man than you are."

High Notes

"Do you enjoy grand opera?"
"Yes," answered Mr. Cumrox; "especially when it's loud enough to keep me from hearing a lot of fool conversation that's going on around me."—Washington Star.

Childish Question

"She has refused my suit!" the hero on the stage exclaimed, dramatically.
"Mother," loudly whispered a little boy in the audience, "what does he want her to wear his clothes for?"

Anchors Aweigh

"I hear your wife's been on a diet for many months. How is she by this time?"
"Oh, shipshape."
"Then she hasn't lost a pound, eh?"

Sure Indication

"Does your husband try to understand you?"
"Yes, indeed. He always asks twice when I tell him what I want."

SOUTH FULTON SCHOOL NOTES

The Obion county elementary basketball tournament came to a close Saturday night, with Hillcrest girls and Bowers boys carrying off first honors. The Lonoke girls and Hornbeak boys were runners-up. The tournament was quite a success, and we are looking forward to a greater one next year.

Rev. Neal, pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian congregation of Troy, was a visitor in school Monday and made a splendid talk in chapel on why we should go to college. His talk was enjoyed by the entire student body.

Several new students have been enrolled in the elementary school this week. Our total enrollment to date in the elementary department is 380. The girls basketball team will go to Milan Friday to enter the second district tournament.

The seventh grade won the weekly attendance banner last week. Their attendance for the week was 100 per cent.

Jessie Lov Birlyshaw is on the sick list this week.

Prof. and Mrs. Orwin Moore and little daughter, Elyonnie, spent Sunday with his mother in Crutchfield.

Mr. J. D. Wright spent the week-end in Jackson.

Mrs. Clarence Stephens is improving after an operation in the Curdin-Neal hospital.

Miss Ivora Cantrell continues to improve at her home, on Glendale avenue.

ROUTE FIVE ITEMS

The following ladies of Welfare Workers Club attended the county-wide meeting of the Ladies' Clubs of Weakley county, Tenn., Feb. 27th: Mrs. P. P. Ridgway, Mrs. Ocie Yates, Mrs. Nettie Parmenter, Mrs. Lon Watts, Mrs. Roy Watts and Mrs. Ruth Finch.

Quite an interesting day of planning club work for the year, meeting and exchanging ideas with each other, getting a supply of enthusiasm for the beginning of the work for the year.

The regular meeting of Welfare Workers at the home of Mrs. Lon Watts Feb. 26 was attended by ten ladies. The program was interesting and well carried out. Quite a bit of work was started for the new year. A quilt will be made and sold. As projects, dairying, clothing, health and exterior decoration, also gardens, were selected. A shower of canned goods for the invalid son of the widow Grissom resulted in about 18 cans being provided for his use.

Mr. Campbell moved to the A. J. Butts farm last week. We are glad to welcome these good people into the community.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Lee entertained the young folks with a play party Friday evening.

Miss Ruby Alexander entertained the basket ball bunch of South Fulton school Saturday evening at her home in this community.

Mrs. Roy Watts visited her mother, near Sedalia, last Thursday.

Doris Finch spent the week-end at home.

Mr. Calvin Orr is entertaining his nephew, Mr. John Bassard, of St. Louis.

Mr. Monch Hagler was out looking over his farm, the Moore place, Saturday.

Chestnut Glade seniors will put on the play "I'll Explain Everything," Friday evening, March 6th. It is full of fun. Come out and laugh with them.

Quite a bit of plowing done. Some oats sowed and many gardens started, but a scarcity of hens setting and baby chicks started. With the price of poultry products so low there is little incentive to grow more, so it seems a good time to clean up and rest the poultry yards, sowing to clover and grass. We are hoping for better prospects some day.

POULTRY

(By J. T. Watkins)

I was very much disappointed last week by the interest shown by the poultry raisers in this vicinity. I had issued a call for a meeting to be held on Feb. 23, at the Chamber of Commerce rooms at 2 o'clock, for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing year, and to make plans for the annual show and such other business that should have to come up for disposal. The call for this meeting has been running in the paper for over a month. But only one breeder appeared on the scene. He and I sat in the office until after 3 o'clock, and as no one else came, there was only one thing for me to do, dissolve the membership, and call it a complete job. Now, if the breeders want to re-organize the poultry association, they can easily do so by getting together and forming the association, elect your officers and start over again. There are enough poultry raisers in this locality that you should have a membership of at least 100.

One of the best window displays in the city is that window at Baldridge's five and ten-cent store. He has his usual bargains displayed, but this window is filled with Easter goods, and in addition, he has a bunch of baby chicks from the Fulton hatchery. This makes quite a unique display, and is attracting quite a lot of interest, not only with the kids, but also grown-ups stop and look.

Mr. Baldridge will later on have a bunch of easter bunnies on display in his window to sell to the kids for easter pets.

I was over to the hatchery the other day; in fact, I am there every day I am in town, and I noticed Mr. Drew has the other big machine at work. This gives the hatchery a capacity of 24,000 eggs. The demand for baby chicks is increasing each week, and as soon as the weather settles enough it is my opinion the Fulton hatchery will be taxed to its full capacity. I like to see this, for as I have stated before, I think there will be a shortage of certain lines of poultry this coming fall and winter.

March and April are the two months in which to hatch your chicks to develop into the young stock you intend exhibiting in the Fulton Fair and other fairs in this vicinity. I suppose Dresden will be back this year with a fair, and it is almost a certainty Union City will repeat after the wonderful success they had last year at their fair. I have heard it said the people of Union City were only waiting for the Fulton fair to blow up, and they would come out strong with their fair. Well, if that is what they are waiting for they might as well go ahead with their program, for I don't think the stockholders of the Fulton Fair nor the merchants of Fulton will ever let this fair blow up.

One of the first things a firm or concern does when they open up for business is to advertise, and the more they do in this respect the better their business. Some classes of business need a different form of advertisement than others. What will make one succeed will not help another, so we have to study up a form of advertisement that will benefit the concern in which we are interested. Now, I want to ask this question: What will advertise a community any better than a good, live fair? Now, I will answer that question: NOTHING! A good, live fair, impartially conducted, will bring people from every corner of the county, and here they will meet friends they haven't seen for a year—it is a regular get-together meeting of old friends; and if the officials in charge will conduct the fair to please everybody, they will go home and talk about the fair for the next year, and make their plans to attend again, and if they were not exhibitors one year they will try and beat their friends at the different shows the next. They will bring either live stock, poultry, farm products or possibly something of interest for the woman's building.

One class of visitors at a fair spend most of their time at the cattle barns, some in the poultry house, some at the race track, some at the side shows, but all are out for a good time.

One of the best attractions for the race track is either harness or running races for local horses, driven by the owner, or a home man. Some will say we haven't got a good horse in the five counties. Maybe not. The majority of the people don't care whether it is a 2:06 race or a 4:06 race, but if it is all local stuff it will attract plenty of spectators. Each horse will have its friends who are pulling for it to win, and the community rivalry will create lots of excitement.

One of the biggest killers of county fairs is outside competition. Just as soon as the Big Man began going around with a string of horses that would clean up all the races, interest in races began to dwindle.

I like to see a good race between good, fast horses, but when Johnny Jones races his horse against Sammy Smith's horse, I can either pull for Johnny or Sammy, and I get more kick out of that kind of a race than if I saw the two fastest horses in the country race.

JORDAN NEWS

The school is planning on giving a play entitled "Zippy" Feb. 13, for the benefit of the P. T. A.

A wedding of much interest was that of Mr. Homer Kelley and Miss Annie Owens which took place Thursday. The bride is the daughter of Mr. Tom Owens, well known merchant of Jordan.

Miss Mary Frances Hardy spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hardy.

Mr. Charles Wade spent the week-end with his mother, Mrs. Bertie Wade.

ADVISORY COUNCIL MEETS

The Advisory Council of the Homemakers Clubs met at Cayce at 1:30 Thursday, February 26th, at 1 o'clock, with seven clubs represented and two county leaders present. Mrs. Gus Browder, Palestine, County Program Conductor, presided and Mrs. King Davis acted as Secretary, in the absence of the regular officers.

Miss Monroe, Assistant State Leader of Home Demonstration Agents, from Lexington, discussed with the Council a long time program rather than the short unrelated projects which do not lead to a definite goal.

Summer camp and the kind of program the women like best was discussed. Recreation programs in the clubs and an explanation of the play loan collection which will be filed in the Home Agent's office from which choice of plays may be made was explained.

The Homemakers' Association went before the Fiscal Court Tuesday to ask for assistance on maintenance of Home Agent, beginning July 1, 1931, when the present fiscal year ends. The state and government pay the salary of Home Agents and require $800 for maintenance. One hundred

CHILDREN CRY FOR IT—

CHILDREN hate to take medicine as a rule, but every child loves the taste of Castoria. And this pure vegetable preparation is just as good as it tastes; just as bland and just as harmless as the recipe reads.

When Baby's cry warns of colic, a few drops of Castoria has him soothed, asleep again in a jiffy. Nothing is more valuable in diarrhea. When coated tongue or bad breath tell of constipation, invoke its gentle aid to cleanse and regulate a child's bowels. In colds or children's diseases, you should use it to keep the system from clogging.

Castoria is sold in every drugstore; the genuine always bears Chas. H. Fletcher's signature.
