Softball Meeting Held Monday Evening

An enthusiastic meeting of representatives of various churches and ministers was held at the First Christian Church Monday evening and it was decided that there will be eight instead of six teams in the Fulton Sunday School Softball League. Dr. Don P. Hawkins, president of the directorate board, presided. The Baptist Church will have three teams, the Methodist three, and the Christian church two. One of the Christian Church teams will be made up of Christian folks and those from other churches not having teams in the League.

Plans were made to play two seven-inning games each time the teams are in play and on evenings when there are no baseball games. One is to be a twilight game and the other will be played by lights. Each team will play 20 games.

Edward Pugh, secretary-treasurer, made an interesting report of the contributions that have been received for the maintenance of the League.

Rev. Woodrow Fuller, Rev. W. H. Saxon, Dr. Hawkins, Frank Wiggins, Mr. Pugh, Joe Browder, Williams and Jack Carter, directors, along with Joe Hall, Enoch Milner and Frank Beades, were named to meet with the Fulton Baseball Club directors Thursday night at 7 o'clock in the Rainbow Room to make plans for the use of Fairfield Park for the softball games.

Paul Bushart was named publicity director and with Jack Carter and Leslie Bryan will make out the schedule during the next week.

Joe Hall, chairman of the rules committee, and in charge of ordering supplies, reported that equipment for the league had been purchased and had already arrived. According to arrangements each church provides its own practice material, and each player will furnish his own softball suit.

Sponsors for the various teams are now being selected. Good interest is being shown in the League and the Ministerial Association is appreciative of the cooperation given by the citizens to provide the boys of the churches with clean sport for the summer season.

Another meeting of the church representatives is scheduled to be held next Monday night at 7 o'clock in the Methodist church when the board of directors will make a report on their meeting with the Fulton Baseball Club.

Four visitors were present and each spoke briefly on plans for a three-day Livestock and Poultry Show to be held this fall in connection with the Annual 4-H Club Show, which is sponsored by the Farm Bureau. This show will be given under the auspices of the Y. M. B. C. in cooperation with the county agent and the farm organizations of the county.

Paul Farlow, head of the Agriculture Department of the Illinois Central Railroad, gave a resume of the shows that have been held in Mayfield for nine years in a tobacco barn, and told how easily Fulton might have one with access to the fairgrounds. Mr. Foy, County Agent, told of the progress of the 4-H Club and Farm Bureau work and assured the club that these organizations would give all the cooperation possible to the success of the show. Mr. Ross, of the extension department of Browder Mill, stated that poultry brought the Fulton merchants more money during the winter than any other commodity, and said that he was sure the show would be a success. Mr. Luttrell, Illinois Central Extension Department of Tennessee, spoke briefly on the growth of similar shows in other cities.

These men were invited to speak to the members by Ernest Lowe and Paul Bushart, head of the County Welfare Committee. Members voted to put on this show and work will begin immediately.

The club voted not to donate to the softball league at this time.

Robert H. Binford said that another Viewsteel is ready to be shown as soon as arrangements are made with the local theatre. He also reported that the series of Sweater Swing Dances with the Fulton-High School Orchestra was going over nicely.

G. L. DeMyer, chairman of the Fairground Committee, told the club that if the club is willing to sponsor the buying of the grounds that the Fair Association is ready to accept a bid.

Three new members were voted into the club, Edgar Jones, manager of Grant & Company, Wilburn Holloway of the U. S. Post Office, and Bill Browning of the Franklin Quality Shop.

Mr. Farlow stated that Fulton ships more carloads of livestock than any other point on the Illinois Central Railroad, except a few large metropolitan centers like Chicago and Omaha. Last year $2,500,000 worth of livestock was shipped from Fulton.

CHURCHES OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

"PROBATION AFTER DEATH" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, April 28, 1940.

The Golden Text is: "The Lord will perfect that which concerneth me: thy mercy, O Lord, endureth forever: forsake not the works of thine own hands." (Psalms 138:8)

E. P. Haines of Belleville, N. J., in his will left a $100 trust fund to his granddaughter, Florence Woodruff, if she would cease smoking for three years, which she refused to do.

WOMEN IN "40's"

Read This Important Message!

Do you dread those "trying years" (38 to 45)? Are you getting moody, cranky and NERVOUS? Do you fear hot flashes, weakening dizzy spells? Are you jealous of attention other women get? THEN LISTEN— These symptoms often result from female functional disorders. So start today and take famous Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For over 60 years Pinkham's Compound has helped hundreds of thousands of grateful women to go "smiling thru" difficult days. Pinkham's has helped calm unstrung nerves and lessen annoying female functional "irregularities." One of the most effective "woman's" tonics. Try it!

Some of us need a laxative medicine in the Spring

Grandma went to the woods in the Springtime and procured roots and herbs to make a Spring Tonic for the whole family. Maybe you need a Spring Tune-up too.

Colds of winter, dry foods, lack of exercise often leave one's system in a run-down condition. Possibly a touch of Malaria left over from last fall, or a temporary constipated condition due to lack of green foods in your winter diet, has added to your distress.

If you have no organic trouble, you no doubt, like thousands of other Southerners, will be benefited by taking Nash's C. & L. Tonic and Laxative. Nash's contains two good Laxative Ingredients—Mayapple and Phenolphthalein. It also contains Quinine and Cinchonine to combat the type of Malaria most prevalent in our Southland.

Mr. Nash, the drug manufacturer, says he does not want one penny of your money if Nash's C. & L. does not satisfy you. He says, "Try it for one week, and if you are not satisfied your druggist is authorized to refund your money. Call for Nash's C. & L. Price 50c."

For sale by all good Drug Stores and featured by Evans Drug Co. other Southerners, will be benefited by taking Nash's C. & L. Tonic and Bennett Drug Store.

Cottonseed Treatment—Failure of Seedling Cotton

Failure to get a good stand of cotton plants has been experienced by most cotton farmers. Some reasons cottonseed rots in the ground, and young plants die, so that fields have to be replanted. Failure to get a stand in some cases may be due to such things as poor seedbed preparation, faulty planting, packed soil, dry soil, etc., but in many cases it is due to a diseased condition variously known as damping-off, seedling blight, sore shin, or rot. These are names applied to decay of the seed and seedling both before and after the young plant comes through the ground.

Damping-off is caused by one or more of several different parasitic fungi or bacteria that attack the seed or seedling, either by way of the seed, where they may have been, or from the soil, where they may have passed the winter. The disease is likely to be worse under early-season weather conditions that are unfavorable for the growth of cotton, that is, low temperatures and high soil moisture.

One of the most common types of damping-off in cotton is that caused by the anthracnose fungus (fig. 1). This is also a common cause of boll rot in States of abundant rainfall, causing small, round, water-soaked spots, which later enlarge, become sunken, and develop masses of pink fungus. The lint may be discolored and rotted. The fungus is harbored over winter on the fuzzy seed. When such infested seed is planted the parasite is likely to resume activity and rot the seed or cause dark reddish-brown cankers (sore shin) on sprouts or lower stems. These may kill the plants or simply weaken and delay them.

There are several other organisms that may cause damping-off. One of these, which is serious in several of the Southwestern States, is the seed, some ara?

angular leaf bacterium. It also causes leaf spots, black arm, and bacterial boll rot. These parasites may be carried on the seed, some are also likely to be in the soil, especially if cotton was planted in it the year before.

Why Treat Cottonseed?

The objects of treating cottonseed with a dust disinfectant are:

1. To kill any fungus or bacterial germs that may be on the outside of the seed and may become active and attack the seed after it is planted and the plant after it starts to grow.

2. To provide a coat of toxic chemical in the fuzz and on the outside of the seed that will protect it from decay by germs that may be in the soil.

Seed treatment may not always show improvement in stands from all seed lots nor in all seasons. Benefits will vary with different dates of planting, with the previous crop history of the field, between different fields on the same farm, or even between different locations in the same field. Furthermore, good seed obtained from early picked cotton that has not been storm damaged and has been stored and planted under favorable old seed that has been stored under dry conditions usually gives better stands than new seed, because the anthracnose fungus, which may be harbored on the seed coat and in the fuzz, does not survive long storage under dry conditions. Thus 1 or 2 year old seed would not be expected to show so much benefit from treatment as would new seed. Many farmers make it a practice to store their seed under dry conditions for 17 or 18 months and thus avoid such anthracnose damage.

Seed treatment, however, is not expensive and may be considered as good insurance for satisfactory stands of plants. It has been found to pay big dividends, especially when seeds carry disease germs and when cold, wet spring-planting conditions prevail. Under average conditions in most cotton States seed treatment appears to be a profitable practice.

Young women between 20 and 24 years old weigh less than those of the same age did 15 years ago, according to data obtained from policies of a leading life insurance company. In 1925 the average weight of those 5 feet 4 inches tall was 127 pounds, while now it is only 122 pounds.

Dr. Alexander of Harvard divides drunken persons into four classes: (1) those who are alternately jovial and depressed; (2) those who become quarrelsome when drinking; (3) those who drink to escape the realities of life, and (4) those who become childish and hysterical, these constituting the larger class.
