THE LISTENING POST

● Every once in a while, when reading something another person has written, I have a quick feeling that the other fellow is a lot like me. Such a feeling came the other day while reading a column written by Allen Trout in the Louisville Courier-Journal. Trout was speaking of listening to a radio program and at the end the announcer, doing his bit for the national government, said: "Buy defense stamps—the quick and easy way to save money."

● Trout developed the thought that there is no way, and has never been a way, of saving money quickly and easily. He said that in 1922 he found himself in possession of eight dollars which he had saved during the preceding four years. In the summer he worked at a combined ice factory and coal yard; in the winter he drove a two-mule truck delivering coal. In four years, while attending high school, he saved the eighty dollars against the time when he expected to enter college. He entered college with his eighty bucks, and it was gone in two weeks. "After that for many years I never had a dollar I could call my own," he confessed. "In all these years I have found it is easier by far to earn a dollar than it is to save one. There is no quick and easy way to save money."

● That eighty dollars brought to mind a period long before Trout's time, for I must be older than he by several years. I fell to thinking of Hickman and the Hickman Courier, just three years after the turn of the century. I was a long, lanky kid of fourteen or fifteen, but I had been setting type for two or three years then. The opportunity came one summer for me to get a job on the Courier and I started to work for six dollars a week. That was not a small sum in those days. I knew grown men who were not making any more, or very much more, and I felt pretty good over the prospect. So good, in fact, that when school time rolled around in the fall, I decided to take a year's vacation and keep on working. I had saved a bit of money out of the six dollars a week, and it seemed to me then that I might get rich if I could keep on working. What constituted riches at the time is somewhat vague in my mind now, but it seems to me that I had an idea if I could ever get five hundred dollars I would never have any more financial worries I could see then that it would be a comparatively easy matter to have five hundred dollars if I kept right on. Time then meant nothing to me, and a year was about as long as a decade is these days. So I reached an agreement with my parents that I would miss a year in school and resume the following year. At the time we had a pretty definite idea that we would move from Hickman before school time the next year and I was going to enter another school in another town.

● So I worked on through the winter and by early spring of the next year I had actually saved seventy-five dollars. (I have had that much a couple of times in later years, perhaps a bit more, but never have I felt as rich as I did the night when I dug out my box which held my wealth and counted up seventy-five dollars.) Then it came time to leave and I gave up this job, which by this time was paying seven dollars a week, and we went to the other town. I was not fortunate in getting any job that summer, except at odd times, and my fortune began to dwindle. In the fall, after entering school, it disappeared much more rapidly and before Christmas of that year I was bankrupt once more. That marked my first effort at saving, and it convinced me, as Trout seems to have been convinced, that saving is not easy. I knew when I totaled up that seventy-five dollars of the many things I had wanted and had not bought, and every dime and quarter in the hoard represented something which I had wanted at some time or another.

2 Amendments To Constitution Are Approved

No Shooting Reported In Election Marked By Interest Lag

Louisville, Ky. —In an election distinguished by lack of a single reported shooting and almost total absence of disorder at the polls, Kentucky voters gave orders to the 1942 legislature to provide financial aid for schools in needy sections and to permit the use of voting machines at the option of each county.

The mandates to the General Assembly, in the form of amendments to the state constitution, piled up large majorities on the basis of the Associated Press' unofficial tabulation of returns from yesterday's balloting in more than half of the state's precincts.

The amendments dominated the attention of voters except in communities where there were hotly contested races for local offices. The number of General Assembly seats which went to unopposed nominees had assured Democratic control of both Houses and there were no state-wide offices to be filled.

Unofficial Vote
The official vote on the amendments from 2,378 of the 4,355 precincts:

The school amendment, 132,265 for; 24,633 against.

The voting machine amendment, 84,055 for; 34,028 against.

Only a simple majority is required for adoption.

The voting machine amendment would permit counties to purchase and use voting machines if they wish. The vote on each machine is automatically tallied on concealed dials from which a complete tabulation may be taken immediately after closing of the poll.

Now is the time to subscribe for the Leader.

other. Every time I start to throw a dollar or so away even now—which is really not often—I remember how slowly, how bitterly that hoard grew in those far-off years when I first saved and actually held seventy-five dollars. I save now a bit differently, for I cannot keep the actual cash in my pocket on in a box. I give all I have to Ernest Fall at the Building and Loan office every month and after a lapse of years he pays back what I have paid in, with considerable interest. That is a good way to save, but, like Allen Trout, let me say those payments are not as easy and as convenient as Ernest says. It is possible to make them all right, just as it is possible to make monthly payments on an automobile or on some printing machinery. I have done all these, and have kept this up for many years, off and on, but I have never yet seen any deferred payment which was easy to make. It just isn't easy to save money.

New Sulfa Drug Is Called Miracle At Meeting Of Nation's Surgeons

Boston. —A new form of sulfanilamide, which has been nicknamed sulfa-miracle and is said to help sterilize the lower digestive tract, was reported to the American College of Surgeons here today.

It is sulfanilamide combined with succinic acid, a common chemical used to relieve spasms, as a stimulant and for other medical purposes. The succinic sulfanilamide has not yet been named.

The new compound was developed at John Hopkins University School of Medicine and is in experimental use there. Its existence was revealed incidentally during a symposium on how sulfanilamide saves lives in peritonitis.

Dr. Perrin H. Long, Johns Hopkins, who described it briefly, said it looks promising. Surgeons would like to have a sterilizer of this kind to precede major abdominal operations to minimize risk of infection.

INCOME TAX MAY COME OUT OF PAY CHECKS

Advance Collection, Bit By Bit, Being Planned

Washington. —The Treasury is working on a plan for collecting future income tax from wage earners in advance by taking so much each week or each month from their pay envelopes or salary checks.

The plan has not been adopted. But if it is, employers will be required to deduct income taxes from pay envelopes in about the same way that they take out Social Security taxes.

May Apply to 1942 Income
A decision is expected before the end of the year, so that the new collection method—if approved—could be applied to 1942 income.

The plan is getting attention because of the recent disclosure of an Administration goal of "mopping up" about $6,000,000,000 of so-called excess purchasing power through taxes.

If such a new tax program goes through the experts believe it will be impractical to try to collect between $100 to $500 from an ordinary worker in one lump.

At the beginning of the year the boss would come to John Doe and ask him how many dependents he had for tax purposes. The boss would then look at some specially-prepared table or formula and figure out John Doe's approximate income tax for the year. He would deduct a proportionate amount of this estimate from every paycheck and turn the deducted money over to the Government.

Cronin; "Random Harvest," by James Hilton; "This Above All," by Eric Knight; "The Strange Woman," by Ben Ames Williams; "Marriage is a Private Affair," by Judith Kelly; "Low Man on Totem Pole," by H. dominal operations to minimize risk of infection. Dr. I. S. Ravdin, of the University of Pennsylvania Hospital Philadelphia, told of colon operations which formerly had death rates of 15 to 75 per cent, mostly due to peritonitis.

Since sulfanilamide has been used as a disinfectant of colon incisions, he said eighty-seven operations have been done without one peritonitis death.

A long list of cases showing great reductions in the appendicitis death rate due to use of sulfanilamide in operations was presented. Dr. James E. Thompson, Jr., Roosevelt Hospital, New York City, said that since sulfanilamide use was started there in 1940 there have been no deaths from appendicitis or its complications.

Fireman Faher Called To Save Own Son From Leap To Death

Pittsburg. —If Fireman Leroy McIntyre fights a thousand conflagrations and saves a life in every one of them, he is unlikely to make another rescue like the one he made Monday.

For Fireman McIntyre was called to stop a man from jumping off the 70-foot-high superstructure of the Sixth street bridge which spans the Allegheny river—and that man turned out to be his son.

Edwin McIntyre, 25, the son, disheartened by a squabble with his wife, climbed the superstructure in midafternoon, then stopped to think. Pedestrians saw him and called the fire department.

Firemen from No. 1 station quickly sent a ladder up the steel beams and called to Edwin to come down.

"I'm not going to come down and don't come near me," Edwin shouted back. The conversation kept up until the man on the bridge top disclosed his father was a fireman.

A police squad car hurried over to Leroy McIntyre's station, where it had to wait 15 minutes for him to return from a small fire.

Taking a quick look up the ladder upon arriving at the scene, the senior McIntyre shouted:

"I'm coming up, son!"

Then the father walked up the ladder calmly, with no show of hurry. What he said to his boy upon arriving at the top was lost in the wind streaking through the steel girders.

Soon Edwin put a cautious foot on the ladder. When he seemed to falter, the father climbed down around him. Then, holding on to the ladder with one hand and supporting Edwin with the other, he came down.

When they reached the street the father embraced his son. Their words were lost once more, this time in the applause of the thousands who had gathered to watch the drama.

Edwin was white and trembling when placed in a police car. He was taken to the police station to rest overnight and tomorrow will be given a hearing on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Mrs. Edwin McIntyre didn't see her husband. She was busy at home caring for their three-week-old son.

FDR CALLS ON EVERY CITIZEN TO DO HIS PART

November 11 To 16 Is Civilian Defense Week

Hyde Park, N. Y. —President Roosevelt called upon every American citizen-civilian tonight to "do his share for defense."

"And with each of us doing his share," he said in a formal statement, "we shall leave no doubt in anybody's mind that we are and intend to remain strong and united. We shall preserve that genuine American way that distinguishes our living from the pagan slavery proposed by the would-be dictators of the world."

The statement was released to press, radio and news reels to call attention to the fact that the President has proclaimed Nov. 11 to Nov. 16 as Civilian Defense Week.

Hints At Hardships
The chief executive hinted at civilian hardships to come, saying:

"In our daily lives we must halt the waste and unnecessary use of critical materials required for defense. We must work longer hours to produce the munitions required to defeat Hitler. And each of us must be trained in some task that is essential to our total defense."

It is not enough that the Army and Navy are growing stronger daily, Mr. Roosevelt added.

President Roosevelt was voter number 234 in the town election today, balloting for candidates for one county and half a dozen local offices before starting back to Washington.

C. B. BLACK, BROTHER OF FULTON MAN, DIES AT HIS HOME TUESDAY

Surviving are three sisters—Ruby Black, Mrs. Elizabeth McWhorter and Mrs. Hooper Sadler, all of Martin; five brothers—Guy Black of Martin, William Black of Fulton, Jack and Robert Black, both of Chicago, and Raymond Black of the U. S. Army, located at Macon, Ga.

Warm Up Fort Sumpter's Guns—County Starts Secession Talk

Port Oxford, Ore. —Curry County doesn't like Oregon any more and wants to secede to California. The county court said so, with a formal petition for annexation; its special secession committee said so to California's Gov. Culbert L. Olson, and its spokesman, Mayor Gilbert E. Gable of Port Oxford, said so to the Portland Chamber of Commerce.

Oregon's Gov. Charles A. Sprague treated with humor a situation Curry residents think is serious. He dispatched a communique to the Grants Pass Caveman, a publicity-devouring group of skin-clad "aborigines," adjourning them to "capture and hold Del Norte County, California, if border raids start."

Oregon has refused, Curry County charges, to give it any harbor improvements; has refused to improve its highways; has failed

Only Woman In Senate Urges Act Revision

Mother With Two Sons In Service Would Arm Merchant Ships

Washington. —The Senate's only woman member, Hattie W. Caraway (D.-Ark.), the mother of two sons in uniform, urged revision of the Neutrality Act and the arming of American merchant ships today with an assertion that it was "a strange theory that our boys can be shot at without any means of defense."

She spoke at the close of day which saw Senator Wheeler (D.-Mont.), a leader of the opposition to administration foreign policies, denounce President Roosevelt for not invoking the Neutrality Act in connection with the Russo-German war. The President has administered the act, he said, in a way that permitted him to "play power politics" all over the world and virtually intervene in foreign wars.

Near Voting Phase
The day's speaking brought the Senate's consideration of the legislation—repealing the present bans on arming American ships and sending them into belligerent waters—close to the voting phase. One more day of oratory, leaders hoped, would conclude the set speech phase of the debate.

Mrs. Caraway based her support for the legislation upon an argument that the passage of the law in the first place involved an "abject surrender" of America's right to the freedom of the seas, that the law was "a super-appeasement job," and that it had actually invited attack upon American shipping.

Realizes Responsibility

She added:

"I feel deeply in this matter. I have two sons wearing the uniform of their country. I have voted for the other preparedness measures with full knowledge of the responsibility which I assumed."

"I cast these votes believing it to be the best interests of not only my sons, but those of the other fathers and mothers of America. Believing it to be right I can see no other way except to cast my vote for the pending measure. That I intend to do."

48-HOUR-WEEK URGED FOR GROCERY WORKERS

Newport, Ky. —More than 200 Northern Kentucky Independent Food Dealers Association members Tuesday night adopted a recommendation that working hours of grocery employees be limited to forty-eight a week. Ben Kees, president, said hours now range from sixty to seventy. Officials of two chain store companies operating in this area expressed themselves in favor of the forty-eight-hour-week proposal.

SENATOR NORRIS SEES WE HAVE NO CHOICE

Senator Norris of Nebraska, who had supported the Administration's foreign policy up to that time, said in September that he did not favor revising the Neutrality Act because that would mean war. But in the Senate's debate on the subject yesterday Mr. Norris was heard urging that we have "no choice except to arm our ships and permit them to sail to the ports of our friends." Obviously, the latest events in the chain which began with the torpedoing of the American merchant ship Robin Moor last May have convinced the Nebraskan that the Neutrality Act's prohibitions cannot keep us out of the conflict and can only give a dangerous advantage to Hitler. In those grim circumstances, as he says, we have no choice.

Mr. Norris is one of the most respected members of Congress. For half of his eighty years, he has been a member of that body, voting always according to his own convictions and never for any other reason. He was one of the eleven Senators who formed the "little group of willful men" that filibustered against President Wilson's armed ships bill in 1917 and one of the six Senators who voted against the war resolution of that year. Popular emotion influenced him not at all then, and it is not what influences him now. The Senator is acting upon the plain evidence that Germany is, as he said, out to conquer the world.

His conclusions are commended to the dwindling number of Americans who are saying, as he was saying a little more than a month

Tokyo.—The anti-American editorial campaign in Japanese newspapers grew more bitter today with Miyoko declaring "the time has come for the final showdown."

Kokumin said the failure of Japanese-American talks—initiated by a letter last August to President Roosevelt from then premier, Prince Fumimaro Konoye—must be assumed unless the United States changed its present attitude. Meanwhile a government spokesman, Koh Ishii, said formulation of Japan's attitude on the German declaration that the Reich had been attacked by the United States awaited official reports.

YOUR MONEY IS SAFE—PAYMENTS CONVENIENT

The Fulton Building & Loan Association offers the easiest and safest and most convenient plan for saving money in an orderly manner that can be found anywhere. To begin with, all your investment, up to $5,000 is insured by the Federal Government. You run no risk whatever.

The payments are convenient. You merely pay in a stated sum each month, as you would make a deposit in a bank. This is credited to your account and begins to draw interest as soon as paid in. This interest accrual amounts to a considerable sum the pay period, and any person will find it easy to save several thousand dollars under our method.

SPORT TALK

This corner notices with great pleasure that in the nominations for the West Kentucky team which will play an all-star Eastern Kentucky team late in November the name of Loren Nelms, end on the Bulldogs eleven, is prominently mentioned. I will go so far as to say that those who make the choice for this team could make a lot worse selection. I have watched Nelms in all games this season and have never seen him play a bad game. He has made mighty few mistakes and many dazzling plays. Standing one inch over the six foot mark, with more than 170 pounds of bone and muscle in his frame, Nelms has made life miserable for many ball carriers this fall. While not as fast as some ends, he seems to have an uncanny precision in spotting plays and many times, a great many times, he has dived around and nailed enemy backs before they ever got back to the line of scrimmage. He is an uncanny pass receiver, and if he ever gets one hand on a badly thrown ball, he is more than likely to draw it into his bosom for a completed pass. A perfect pass is duck soup for him, and he has rare ability in getting to the proper spot for a pass. He also passes pretty well, throwing a mean spiral with his left arm, and is rugged as a pine knot. If he should draw one of the end spots on the Western team this corner guarantees that the spot will be well taken care of. I have seen all the teams which the Bulldogs have played this year and several other teams in addition, and I have yet to see an end who seems better to me than Nelms.

There is another senior member of the Bulldogs squad who also deserves consideration for this Western squad. Earl Willey has been playing a bang-up game at guard position for the Bulldogs all this season, and he does his job so smoothly that it attracts little attention. He is not as big as Nelms—in fact, he is rather light for a guard—but he makes up for this lightness by playing an aggressive game which finds him in the enemy backfield many times. He was particularly brilliant in the Russellville game. During the first quarter the Bulldogs were some befuddled with the man in motion play, and William Chapman reeled off some good gains and finally ran a touchdown when he should have been brought down. After that the mystery was solved in some manner and Chapman was held bottled up. The main reason for this was Earl Willey. By some hook or crook he kept finding a hole in the Panther line and every time Chapman thought he was going somewhere he found himself dumped on the ground in a most unceremonious manner by the Bulldog guard. Twice Willey threw him for substantial losses, and all through the game the local guard was doing a lot of playing in the Panther backfield. Yep, they can go a far piece and not find any better guard than the local lad.

REVIVAL GROWS AT C. P. CHURCH

The revival at the Cumberland Presbyterian church still continues to grow and more interest is being manifested at each service. It could be no other way than grow from the great messages that Rev. G. W. Sparks is delivering at each service. You that miss are the losers for when you sit under the gospel messages that he is bringing you want to live closer to God and as you do you become greater in the Master's service. When you hear such subjects as "Making our religion attractive," "Going deeper with God," "We can not ignore God," my how such things stir you and give you a challenge that you can not pass by lightly. The American Legion will be our special guest in the Sunday morning service. The services daily 9:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Come and enjoy the old-fashion song service and a real gospel message. All are welcome to join in with us for our interest is yours it is to make Fulton better. You are welcome.

WIRE TIEUP IS NOW THREATENED ON WIDE FRONT

Long Line Telephone Men Vote For Strike

Washington.—About 15,000 long lines telephone workers reinforced their demands for wage increases today by authorizing a strike November 14, but their union president said the walkout would be cancelled if the dispute was certified to the Defense Mediation Board.

John J. Moran of Pittsburg, the president, served notice that the strike, if carried out, would tie up lone distance wires, civil and military, as well as national radio wirehooks and the transmission of photographs by wire and teletype-writer news services. It would affect forty-two States—all except Vermont, New Hampshire, Washington, Oregon, Nevada and Montana.

BUICK BUILDS
FOR DEFENSE

Our assignment:
Building Pratt & Whitney valve-in-head aircraft engines for defense use.

MAYBE it's a little hard to picture this trim Buick as it will look on that unknown day when you come to turn it in.

There may be scars in its fenders, and use-stains on its upholstery—but the thing that matters is it'll still be going great guns.

You can count on that husky valve-in-head straight-eight to be ticking off the miles with the satisfying extra efficiency it now boasts.

You can rely on Compound Carburetion† to hold your gas-costs down, squeezing every last power-packed mile out of the fuel you burn.

There won't be any loss of easy comfort in those all-coil springs, or any need for care to keep them gentle.

As for the drive—well, there's just nothing to go wrong with a simple steel shaft encased in a stout torque tube!

†Available at slight extra cost on Buick SPECIAL models, standard on all other Series.

Tires? You may be through the second or third set before you're finished with any car you buy now—but those Buick broad-rim wheels will see to it you get the top mileage each can give.

As for such things as connecting rods and bearings—Buick rods are extra strong, while tests show that our oil-cushioned bearings last twice as long as others under the same load and service.

So go right ahead! Buy this Buick on its last mile instead of its first. That's the smart way to buy these times.

Of this you can be sure:
No other car's going to offer greater surety of long, pleasurable, dependable service—so if you can get a Buick now, better grab it!
