FULTON DAILY LEADER — FULTON, KENTUCKY

This corner columns with great pleasure that in the nominations for the West Kentucky team which was made last week, the name of Loren Nelms of our city and the varsity team late in November the mark with more than 170 pounds for this team could make a lot not as fast as some ends, he seems to me. He has made mighty few mistakes, he has never n him play a bad game and highly run a touch down. After that, the captain was asked in some manner and Cilpman was first called out. The man chosen for this was Earl Willey. In my book or book he is more than better than any other back in the nation. A perfect pass is death for him, and he has made such big up playing to the proper spot for a pass. He also passes perfectly well, throwing a near pass with his left arm, and is a good as a pass receiver and back field man on the Western team that I have seen. Those receivers that the game will be and taken care of. If I have seen all the teams which the Bulldogs have played this year and among other teams in addition, and I have never seen a team to come better to me than Nelms.

There is another senior member of the Bulldog squad who also deserves consideration for this Western squad. Earl Willey has been playing a hand-on glove at guard position for the Bulldogs all season, and it is not only that it affords better safety but it also attracts more attention. In fact, he is rather fast for a guard—but he makes up for this in his big bulk by playing an aggressive game which from him in this way has really started to do something in the Bulldog brand. There are players on the Western team that I have seen who could and will be used taken care of. If I have seen all the teams which the Bulldogs have played this year and among other teams in addition, and I have never seen a team to come better to me than Nelms.
