1950 TAXES DUE DECEMBER 30TH

Saturday, December 30 is the last day on which 1950 property taxes may be paid without penalty.

The law provides that taxes become delinquent on January 1. However, since December 31 falls on Sunday, it will be impossible to pay taxes on that date. Therefore, December 30 is the last opportunity to pay without penalty.

The penalty which will apply to taxes paid between January 1 and through January 31 is two per cent.

Beginning February 1, the penalty increases from two per cent to six per cent. For example, John Doe's tax bill is $10.00. If paid between January 1 and January 31, the penalty will be .20 cents, making the total payment $10.20. But if John Doe waits until February 1, or after, his penalty will be .60 cents, making a total of $10.60 which he must pay.

Of course, if the bill is not paid before the tax claim is advertised for sale, other severe penalties are added.

J. T. Davie, Sheriff of Fulton County, says he hopes all taxpayers will pay their bills by December 30 and avoid the penalty. December 15 and December 16 were the last days the Sheriff will be in Fulton to collect taxes before the penalty is added.

The sheriff's office in the Courthouse, Hickman, will be open until 4:30 Saturday, December 30 to accommodate taxpayers.

HAYS BRYAN GETS MEDAL FOR VALOR

In appropriate ceremonies at the Fulton office of the Kentucky Utilities, the courage and quick-thinking of an employee were rewarded. Hays Bryan, a KU employee for more than 20 years was signally honored on Tuesday afternoon, when W. W. Anderson, district manager presented him the President's Medal of the National Safety Council. It was for his courage and presence of mind when an occupant of the West Hotel was overcome by smoke when it burned early this year, that Mr. Bryan was honored. For similar courage in administering artificial respiration in the accident of Jimmy Collins, who came in contact with a live wire, he was given an added bar to his medal.

In well-chosen words Mr. Anderson cited the outstanding service of Mr. Bryan. Acting for Richard Gregory, division manager of Paducah, who was to have made the presentation gave a courageous man his well-earned reward.

Employees of other KU offices in the area were present for the ceremony.

Bobby Cash Volunteers For Army Air Corps

There's an empty spot at the Cash Motor Company. Bobby Cash, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Cash, who has been a valued employee at the Ford Motor Company, which his father owns, has left for San Antonio, Texas, where he has entered training for the Air Corps.

Bobby volunteered this week and has already assumed his training as an air cadet. Happy Landings, Bobby!

Biggest Fire In 20 Years Hits Browder Milling Co.

LAKE STREET VIEW of the Browder Milling Company, taken at the height of the flames, as they tower over adjoining business blocks. Had any wind at all been blowing, four or more city blocks of retail and dwelling units would probably have also been devastated. The intense heat cracked show windows two blocks away on Lake Street, and thousands of spectators lined surrounding streets during practically the entire night.

THE MORNING AFTER: From Rushton's Cafe at State Line and Church Streets, State Line (looking west) was littered with debris and ice along the entire block. Hoses played for four days on the twin storage bins (in front of the man on the ladder), and the fires within finally burned out walls and the grain spilled in all directions after this picture was made. Joyner's Liquor Store and adjacent buildings (right) were hurriedly vacated during the height of the fire, but were saved.

Teachers Salaries Is Problem To Study

Officials of the Fulton (Ky.) Schools have been "warned" by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools that salary rates at the local schools do not meet requirements of the association. Although the local schools have lots of company in Kentucky in not meeting that requirement, local school patrons are asked to give the matter serious consideration so that when a meeting is called of the Fulton Council on Education something might be done toward meeting the salary requirement.

The complete letter to the school follows:
December 16, 1950
Mr. Hubert Jacob, Principal
Fulton High School
Fulton, Kentucky
Dear Mr. Jacob:
At the annual meeting of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools held in Richmond, Virginia, December 3-7, the Central Reviewing Committee canvassed the reports of the Kentucky schools. Although many of our schools had violated standards, all schools which applied were permitted to remain in membership for the coming year. One hundred twenty Kentucky schools are members of the Association. Forty-nine of these schools meet all standards of the Secondary Commission; twenty were advised on minor infractions, twenty-seven were warned on more serious violations, and twenty-

FULTON FARMERS TO GET $41,564

It has been announced by W. H. Harrison, Chairman, Fulton County Production and Marketing Administration, that the 1950 program year ends December 31, 1950. Fulton County has been allotted $41,564 of the national allocation. Mr. Harrison states that each farmer who signed a Farm Plan in the Spring to participate in the program, who has carried out one or more conservation practices, and reports same, will be eligible for a share of this allocation.

The chairman stated further that many farmers had already reported their soil building practices and made application for payment. He stated that even though the program year will end December 31, 1950 for carrying out conservation practices, farmers will have until February 15, 1951 to make application for payment. "If all farmers make an early report, an earlier payment could be made possible," Mr. Harrison stated.

The County Office located in Hickman is open Monday through Friday, 8:00 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.

Bards Attend Meeting of Pioneer Corn Com'y

Mr. and Mrs. John P. Bard of Water Valley returned home Tuesday following a luncheon in their honor at the Jackson Hotel in Scottsville Monday.

The annual Christmas banquet and meeting is staged by the Pioneer Corn Company for salesmen and their wives throughout the state.

In addition to enjoying the luncheon and special entertainment, Mr. and Mrs. Bard were given an educational background in the extensive experimental work being done by the Pioneer Company in the development of better hybrid seed corn.

CITY SEEKS CONGRESSIONAL INFLUENCE IN EARLY HEARING ON PROPOSED GAS SYSTEM

Congressional influence has been sought by the Fulton City Council to expedite a hearing before the Federal Power Commission in the interest of the proposed gas distribution system, final plans which have been submitted to the City Council by Russell and Axon, engineers, St. Louis.

Telegrams have been sent to the junior and senior senators from Kentucky, to Congressman Noble Gregory and to Vice-president Alben Barkley asking that they use their influence in securing an early hearing before the FPC.

Miss Martha Smith, city clerk, told the News that only firms able to furnish materials immediately will be asked to submit bids for construction of the system and thus far six firms have signified their intention to bid on the project. This, she said, is an encouraging number considering the inevitable materials shortage, which will result as war production is accelerated.

The gas system will be financed by revenue producing bonds, which have no effect on the tax producing revenues of the city.

Trinity Episcopal Church Here Reaches Milestone In Fine Centennial Celebration

At the Trinity Episcopal Church, stately and beautiful in its simplicity and adorned with blossoms of the Holiday season, more than 100 persons gathered Wednesday night to commemorate the centennial of the Episcopal Church in Fulton. With the impressive ritual of the church, conducted by the Right Rev. Charles Clingman, Bishop of the Diocese of Kentucky, the communicants of the church and visitors were privileged to participate in the ceremonies, which marked a memorable milestone in the history of the church.

Assisting Bishop Clingman in the services were the Rev. Charles Taylor of Martin, Tenn., who fills the pulpit here every other Sunday, the Rev. Hugh McKee of Bowling Green, the Rev. Irwin Hulbert of Hopkinsville, the Rev. S. Hughes Garven of Grace Episcopal Church of Paducah and J. C. Williams of Paducah, lay reader for the local congregation. The choir from Grace Church in Paducah rendered musical selections during the services.

During the ceremony Mr. Williams read a telegram from Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Miller, former communicants of the church who sent felicitations on the centennial celebration and expressed their regrets at not being able to attend. The Millers are now residing in Wilmington, N. C. Mrs. Miller is the former Agnes Reed Binford of Fulton.

Bishop Clingman accepted a gift to the church from Mr. and Mrs. Tom Haddad in honor of their deceased son, Mitchell Haddad.

Bishop Clingman, a scholarly and pious Christian delivered the commemorative sermon in which he discussed two important necessities for Christian living: "The light on the mystery of life" and "Strength for life." He elaborated on the two statements, which he selected from an article written by the famous editor of

Company Planning To Reopen At Once

A disastrous fire, attributed to "unknown cause" consumed the greater part of the Browder Milling Company's Kentucky plant last Monday night, causing a loss of around $1,000,000 to buildings, equipment, inventories and stored grain.

The amount of the loss was estimated at today's replacement value.

The fire was discovered around eight o'clock in the evening, after it had gained considerable headway in the vast interior of the wooden structure; before sufficient fire-fighting assistance could be obtained it was out of control.

Fire companies from Fulton, South Fulton, Martin, Union City and Mayfield fought the furious blaze for hours, and their excellent work prevented its spread to adjoining business blocks on Church Street and across State Line on the South Fulton side.

The entire milling plant including the flour and feed mill, the office, grain storage facilities, the feed warehouse and storage rooms were completely gutted by the roaring inferno, which at its height towered over the whole downtown area.

The new grain drier, installed this fall, was saved, as were the corn handling facilities on the other side of it (see picture). Also, all buildings across the street on the Tennessee side were saved. Into these buildings has been moved a temporary office and the manufacture of feed will be resumed there in a few days.

Owing to a fortunate connection with a nearby mill, the Company has been able to continue making feed and flour according to its regular formulas, and it

BARKLEY TO ATTEND CLINTON DEDICATION

Plans are going forward for the dedication of the Clinton and Hickman County Hospital on Thursday, December 28th as announced last week.

Vice President Alben W. Barkley, who has been invited to deliver the dedicatory address wrote the hospital committee this week that he would be here "at all possible."

His letter said "I would suggest that you go ahead and set the date for the event preferably on December 28th and if it is at all possible, I shall be happy to be there. We are spending Christmas here in Washington and it will be necessary for me to make a trip just for this occasion. I am not certain that I can be there but I shall make every effort to do so and I will let you know just as soon as I can."

Spanish War Veterans Elected New Officers

The Ken-Ten Camp United Spanish War Veterans held their regular meeting Friday, December 15.

The following officers were elected:

W. H. Simmons, Commander; L. V. Hays, Sr. Vice Commander; T. E. Ryan, Jr., Vice Commander; J. W. Brown, Officer of the Day; Claud Liston, Officer of the Guard; Geo. C. Hall, Adj. & Q-M; R. E. Pierce, Chaplain.

The newly elected officers were installed by Past Commander Hall.

U. S. WAR PLANT IN HICKMAN COUNTY IS POSSIBILITY, CLINTON GAZETTE SAYS

There seems to be a good possibility that some sort of government plant will be located in Hickman County, in the western portion between Clinton and Oakton. The Hickman County Gazette has no definite information as to what sort of plant might be under consideration, but there is now considerable indication that something is being planned.

One owner of property in the Oakwood section just southwest of Clinton told the Gazette recently that Federal government surveyors were on his land recently, and that they are surveying another tract in that section. This citizen also stated that air photographs of his land were made last week, and that he understood that practically all the land between the I. C. and the G. M. & O. railroads in that area had been surveyed in the last two weeks.

A two-motored government plane has been doing some low flying around this section this week and last, but no accurate information can be secured as to its work here.

All of which adds up to a strong supposition that Uncle Sam is planning something down this way.

SEASON'S GREETINGS!

In this, our annual Christmas issue, we want to extend to you our most sincere wishes for a Merry Christmas.

We deeply appreciate the kindnesses, the co-operation, the friendly spirit and the excellent support that you, our advertisers, subscribers, and our commercial printing accounts have accorded us during this past year. We have, with your support, been able to give you a bigger and better paper week for week over last year. . . and our goal for next year is to keep right on moving ahead; until we are publishing, in Fulton, the outstanding newspaper in the State of Kentucky.

To our thirty-four community correspondents and other special columnists we also express our genuine appreciation for your writings. Without your faithful news letters we could not mirror the weekly life of this splendid Ken-Tenn area as we have been able to do.

A Soldier's Christmas

Monday is Christmas Day . . . and for many of us who are ex-servicemen, or who are of draft age, it will be an occasion to gather our families very tightly around us as we enjoy the spiritual warmth of the day . . . as we reflect on other, not-far-past Christmases spent by our lonesome selves thousands of miles away from home . . . and wonder if our next Christmas might not find us in the same position.

We do not write this in any effort to dampen the spirit of the season, but rather to increase its warmth, its deep feeling, its real happiness with our loved ones.

We who are at home—this year are the fortunate ones. Ten-thousand miles across the mighty Pacific we have our own citizens fighting for their lives in a desperate effort to halt a torrent of grim invaders. You and I may be in their shoes by next Christmas . . . or we may be training for the job. A "State of Emergency" was declared this past weekend, another gigantic armed force is in the offing, and it may take every able-bodied man and woman from 18 to 50 to do the job before its over. Having spent four very dismal and unhappy Christmases away from home, and two of those four halfway around the world, we can, as all of you ex-servicemen can, genuinely appreciate what it means to be in our home and our community on this occasion.

Our special prayer on Christmas morning is . . . Not for being deferred for "essential" work, declared "4-F", having enough dependent or a pull with the draft board . . . but our prayer will be that by next Christmas this ugly mess into which we are heading will have been short-lived and the world will, somehow, have returned to peaceful life. If it does not, many of us will not be here next Christmas, and it may be ten Christmases before we are back . . . if we manage to get back at all.

These sobering thoughts should cause us all to enjoy every minute of this season while we are yet here, at home; while we are yet permitted to do as we wish; while we are yet permitted happiness and enjoyment.—R. P. W.

Buy Bonds Buy Now

For the past several months, you have been bombarded with misinformation from various sources concerning the alleged unworthiness of U. S. Savings Bonds. Many people, including Mr. H. V. Kaltenborn, radio news commentator, have gone so far as to compare Savings Bonds with an investment in common stock.

In the interest of all Government Bond holders, I think it only fair to quote here one substantial businessman's reaction to some of this recent adverse publicity. The fact that you do not know Mr. Fred F. Kopke, of Hutchinson, Kansas, owner-manager of the brokerage company that bears his name, makes little difference. His views on the advantages of owning U. S. Savings Bonds are shared by the millions of our citizens who own them and will continue to buy them.

Mr. Kopke's letter to the Treasury Department in Washington, follows in part:

"I think the United States Treasury should in some way counteract the unfair comparison being made by prominent radio commentators, and some newspaper columnists, upon the merits of the United States Bonds.

"Not long ago, one radio commentator said that he had purchased a $1000.00 United States Bond in 1939 and complained bitterly about lost buying power. Then he went on to say, from hindsight, how much he would have gained if he had invested the same $1000 in General Motors common stock.

"I have a high regard for big business and for General Motors in particular, but I do not like to hear a radio commentator present only one side of the picture to the disadvantage of United States Bonds.

"This commentator did not tell his listeners that while common stock moves up and down, United States Bonds can always be cashed at par. Neither did he tell his listeners that billions of dollars worth of United States Bonds were purchased with inflation wages and other inflation income, therefore the owners have more dollars in Bonds than they could have purchased under normal conditions.

"The truth is that millions of people are lucky that they purchased Bonds because they have neither the time nor experience to investigate the risk involved in the purchases of common stock or to manage real estate investments.

"This is not the time for radio commentators to pose as investment experts and discourage investments in United States Bonds. Common stocks are good investments for those who have both the time and the will to study company prospects so they may avoid the risks involved.

"We need not look back very far to remember when common stock holders were shedding tears at a time when the holders of United States Bonds could step up and get 100 cents on a dollar for their Bonds.

"Millions of our people with good jobs and without investment background should now increase their purchases of United States Bonds, and it is your plain duty to defend the Bonds against the attacks of radio commentators who paint only one side of the picture.

Yours truly,

(Signed) Fred F. Kopke"

Governor's Race On The Move

If the Senate race last fall did nothing else, it heartened a number of men who have the gubernatorial bee in their bonnets. During the past weeks, Congressman Joe Bates and Ben Kilgore each announced for the Democratic nomination for Governor. It is quite unusual for announcements to be made this early, but each had a purpose in announcing before the beginning of the campaign year.

It is generally agreed that Weatherby will be the Clement-backed candidate for the Democratic nomination, altho no one doubts that Emerson "Dock" Beauchamp, Rural Highway Commissioner from Russellville, could be induced to enter the race without any undue amount of arm-twisting. But the anti-Clements group of Democrats are not so well organized. Waterfield declined to run for United States Senator with the plain implication that he would be a candidate for Governor next year. On the other hand, Ben Kilgore, Waterfield's ally and lieutenant, says that he is in the race to stay, regardless of who ever else may enter. Bates left an out when making his announcement, saying that his candidacy would depend on whether or not he was needed in Washington worse than in Kentucky due to some change in the foreign situation. Waterfield's comment as to these developments was, "Well, that's two candidates . . ."

It appears at this time that one strong anti-Clements candidate might defeat Weatherby for the Democratic nomination, but if Bates, Kilgore and Waterfield should all get in the race, each representing what is generally known as the Waterfield faction of the party, Weatherby should have easy sailing, as he would have support of the State employees and expect the support of Federal employees who would be indebted to Clements and Chapman for their jobs.

The Republican nomination, likewise, will not go begging. Most often mentioned for this nomination is J. Stephen Watkins, Lexington, Congressman Morton of Louisville and former Senator Cooper. Republicans meet in Louisville on December 15 to discuss the gubernatorial race for next year. It might be added that the party will have no difficulty in finding one or more candidates.

Sermonette Of The Week Christmas Child

By Rev. Richard Ginder

Picture the scene. A mother lays her new born child in a crib . . . angels appear on a hillside . . . shepherds hurry quietly into Bethlehem.

Somehow the world stood still that night. Time was at the crossroads. Men took a long last look at the Old Testament and turned their faces toward a new era—an age of love and brotherhood. With the first sound of that Jewish baby, Christianity drew its first breath on earth.

But why? Who is this baby? Let us go over and look into the crib.

There he lies—a little boy. His mother has him so wrapped in swaddling bands that all we can see is his face, and it seems no different from other baby faces.

The strange, the mysterious fact about this baby boy is that the Jewish world has been talking about him for the past 1500 years. Long ago—500 years before—the prophets had lifted up their voices and said:

December 23, 1930:

Conditions today are distressing: winter has come and there are thousands throughout the land who have nothing to do; they are walking the streets, looking for work, have found none and their homes have almost gone. In Fulton, along with the various churches, societies, schools, lodges and other organizations who are exerting every effort to build relief funds, the Strand amusement company is now giving special shows and employees are donating their time.

Drysdale of the Palestine community, 44, to whom the honor has come, is a self-made man, left fatherless at the age of 7, who has made himself an outstanding farmer and citizen. His four main crops are wheat, corn, hay and tobacco; last year (1929) he sold 17,000 pounds of tobacco and over $2200 worth of hogs. Mrs. Drysdale is a member of the home-makers Club and a leader in the community.

Five hundred years! Those words were uttered 500 years before Mary laid her child in that manger.

This baby then—this child—is He the Prince of Peace? God the Mighty? Yes, because when He grew to manhood, He said He was God and proved it. He proved it with stupendous miracles.

And that is the marvel of this festival. It is that divinity which brings the Christian world to its knees every year: the spectacle of Almighty God in the flesh; the

Census on Christmas --- A Story Worth Reading Today

By Joseph Breig

The registrar was sweating mightily and grimly keeping his temper. The list of names on the scroll before him seemed endless, and still the room was filled with people. He wondered whether they would ever stop coming. They crowded around his table, jostling one another, jabbering for his attention, shouting at him, each claiming to be first. Behind them, others pressed forward, and behind the others, still others. The registrar's ears rang with the tumult. Why couldn't they lower their voices? Why couldn't they wait?

He sighed. A hundred times, he'd told them to form in line and take their turns. It would be quicker that way, he'd said. It was no use. They wouldn't be regimented. Hours ago, he'd given up the effort. This people carried democracy to the point of anarchy. Wherever they gathered, they behaved like children. Like a family. Like a family reunion. They pushed and quarreled like brothers and sisters.

He mopped his face with a dusty corner of his tunic, and bent to his work. He brushed away the hands gesticulating at him, and laboriously recorded names. Benjamin. Yes. And Benjamin's wife. Benjamin's sons. Benjamin's daughters. Seven of the tribe of Benjamin? Right! Next!

Levi. Levi's wife. Levi's sons. Levi's daughters. Correct. Daniel. Daniel's wife. Daniel's sons. Next. Zachary. Zachary's wife. And so on. Jacob. Joel. Jonas. The tribe of Simeon. The tribe of Judah. The tribe of Zabulon. Next, next, next.

The registrar muttered rebelliously in his beard. Census! What was the purpose of a census? Was it some new scheme of oppression, some program to make it easier for the Roman Legions? Why did they want to number the Jews, like so much merchandise at the market? He'd like to see a great Caesar descend from his marble throne and try his hand at it. He'd like to see the governor, Cyrenius, sitting here sweating it out. His stylus scratched away endlessly. The tribe of Ruben. The tribe of Aser. The tribe of Manasse. . . . Solomon — Micheas — Baruch. . . . The light slanted lower and lower through the windows as the day wore on. Presently the registrar realized that his taut nerves were relaxing. The uproar was quieting. He glanced up under his eyebrows and saw that the room was half-empty.

Now he recorded the names more deliberately, no longer in a hurry since the end was in sight. A dozen more and he could go home to his family — to his own wife, his own sons and daughters. The thought brought the realization that he had forgotten to register himself and them. In a moment he would do that.

Now the space around the table was clear. His work was finished. He mopped his hands, carefully wiping away the dirt and perspiration. He recorded his own name. His wife's. His sons'. His daughters'. He sat wearily for a moment, then closed the scroll and rose to his feet. As he did so, he became aware of a figure standing silent before him, a few paces from the table—a figure oddly humble, a face endlessly patient, eyes of childlike purity.

Strangely, the registrar was not annoyed. He resumed his seat, unrolled the scroll, and poised his stylus. The last man stepped forward. "Your name?" asked the registrar.

"Joseph. Of the house of David."

"City?"

"Nazareth."
"Wife?"
"Mary."
"Children?"

There was a silence, and the registrar looked up questioning. The man was smiling. "Last night," he said. "A son." He lifted his hands, cupped, as if he were holding something very small and precious.

"You should see him," he said. "Her child."

The registrar chuckled. "Finest boy in the world, eh? I know. We all say that, don't we?"

They smiled at each other for a moment. Then the registrar poised his stylus. "His name?"

"Jesus."

The registrar wrote it, closed his scroll, stood up, and yawned mightily.

"He just arrived in time," he said. "A bit later, and he wouldn't have counted. Caesar would never have heard of him."

LOUISVILLE TO GET 'HOLIDAY ON ICE'

With the return of the all-new "Holiday On Ice of 1951," many old friends plus a host of new stars come to the Armory here in Louisville, Ky., on January 28th, 1951.

Headlining the list are the sweetheart team of Murray Galbraith and Dorothy Goos, "Perfectionists of the Ice." In a sweeping version of the "Merry Widow," these two join in a fast-moving graceful exhibition of the brand of skating that has made them outstanding in the ice world. In solo numbers, Dorothy is seen in the lovely "Winged Rhapsody," while Murray plays a rousing cowboy in a rollicking Western scene.

Bobby Blake, dynamic rhythm star, is featured in a sailor sequence with his exciting "dancing" routine as well as in authentic Balinese dance with the comely captain of the "Glamour-Icers." Anne Schmidt, who steps out of her position in the line to team up with Bobby in a truly unusual number.

Michael Meehan will amaze audiences with his perfect grace and ballet ability on the ice. This young ice ballet star is fast becoming one of the great soloists of the skating world.

Appearing for the first time with "Holiday" are the two acrobatic skaters who won such magnificent reviews during their recent European tour, Genevieve Norris and Bob Payne. In presenting them with "Holiday," this pair will be seen in the fantastic Gold Number with the entire ensemble clothed in gold and mirrors.

Leo Freisinger will again do his impossible jumping and speed skating, adding many new and difficult tricks to his already full repertoire. The two madmen of the ice, Holly and Day, will return with a hilarious take-off on a dentist's office. By popular demand, Phil Hiser will again perform the nostalgic "Down Memory Lane" aided by the lovely and talented Mae Freisinger.

Charles F. Kettering, world-famed inventor and research consultant to General Motors, came to Chicago to address the 29th annual National 4-H Club Congress and also took time off to congratulate eight farm youths who each won $300 college scholarships plus a free trip to Chicago as the guests of General Motors for their outstanding contributions to farm safety. GM has sponsored the 4-H Farm Safety program for the last six years. Left to right are: Carolyn Younker, of Utah, Milton Spain, of North Carolina, Sally Hornecker, of Oregon, Mr. Kettering, Lawrence Beymer, of Indiana, Virginia McCoy, of Arkansas and Marian Linn, of Ohio. Kneeling are Valerie Logemann, of Minnesota and Vivian Fulton, of New York.

member of the U. K. English faculty since 1930. Dr. Ward will succeed Dr. Herman E. Spivey who was named dean of the University Graduate School last September. The new department head is a native of Cynthiana and received his undergraduate training at Georgetown College. He holds the masters degree from Harvard and the doctorate degree from Duke University.

Christmas Is Sooner Than You Think When That Gift List Is Undecided

By MARY HOUSE

Plan your Christmas shopping carefully and precisely and thus make Christmas a merry season of jingle bells—not a sorry season of jangled nerves.

A good ear, a retentive memory and a notebook will go far in solving the annual problem of what for whom, and how much. With that system Christmas never is sooner than you think.

In our family, something that is wanted is sure to be appreciated, be it commonplace or not. For example, Aunt Dolly is bound to be right pleased over the glass mixing bowls I've bought. She'll remember that I jotted it down in the notebook last week after she had mentioned that she never seemed to have the right-sized bowl for

There are a number of kitchen and table glassware items on my list: a crystal glass luncheon set for the Browns, a glass teapot for Peter's teacher, and packaged sets of tumblers, juice and smart cocktail glasses for our coterie of friends, neighbors and relatives. These American machine-made glass items not only are handsome but inexpensive.

For Youngsters

Also on my list of $1 to $5 items are gifts for the kids and Jim (their father and my husband). When Peter complained he'd ruined his flashlight by groping for it in the dark, I put him down for one of those with a luminous case. Prudence is slated for a net set of ball-bearing roller skates, and Jim for a supply of Silly Putty cartridges (Winchester) for his new gift rifle.

"Battery" and "Resistor" spark plugs after Jim's name mean gifts for the family car to please the man of the house. When he growled about always forgetting to water his old battery I investigated one (Auto-Lite) normally requiring water only three times a year. The Resistor spark plugs stop scrambled pictures on our television screen every time the car is warmed up.

A Husband's Mother

And Jim's mother is going to have a fresh outlook on Christmas morning with new Venetian blinds in her living room.

When she said "drat" the last time I saw her struggling with the old ones, I made a mental note to confer with Jim. Getting her out of the house to allow the dealer to take measurements was a real conspiracy. But she's bound to wax enthusiastic over the ordered blinds with their sleek easy-to-clean metal slats and fade-proof plastic tapes, plus that wonderful new mechanism that never gets out of order.

John, my favorite brother, who dotes on tinkering, will have his fun and dining room beauty, too. Down in the notebook went his wish for a smart modern partition to create a dining alcove without sacrificing the spacious sweep of his ranch house living room.

Sparkling Insulux glass block seems the answer. So on Christmas he gets his block plus some interlocking wooden strips called Set-In-Wood that'll allow him to erect the partition easily without the mess of mortar.

Our Glamor Gals

Cousin Mary, the growing glamor child named after me, is slated, of course, for something to stagger the stag line. If several pairs of boutonniere stockings—nylon with two hand-embroidered eyelets to permit the wearing of a real or fake flower on the left ankle—don't focus attention, things sure have changed. These gossamer items, introduced in Willys of Hollywood collection "Stockings of Stars," are products of Senson Hosiery Mills.

What with a good-sized sparkler on her third finger left hand, my youngest sister Sue seemed in the margin of a hope chest. She's down for a cedar chest, one that will solve future problems as well as existing ones: Jim and I have picked one of those newly-designed modern chests that can double in living or dining room as a buffet server for formal dinners or parties.

Jim's chief present is one that he's wanted for the past two seasons of deer hunting. I've been saving surreptitiously to raise about $68 for his heart's desire—a lever action carbine known as the "Famous Winchester 30-30." What future excuse he'll muster for missing the "best shot of the season" is hard to imagine.

Vacation and Kitchen

The big gift of the year, a labor-saving kitchen for Mother House, took real planning and cooperation but will be worth every minute and penny.

Mother, ill but stubborn, has never wavered in her determination to turn out meals single-handed—with no interference please. She's also one to scold at commercial laundries despite ill health or weather. So we called the clan—quite a mob—together for a family financial pool.

It'll take some doing on Dad's part but it's his job to "persuade" Mother to leave home for a two-week vacation rest at the Union Pacific's resort town—Sun Valley, Idaho. She'll pretend to protest but actually she'll be delighted with two weeks of fine food, perfect service, tangy mountain air and the magnificent sunshine.

These two weeks will give us just enough time to revamp her old slave galley into a modern, efficient kitchen and laundry.

For the culinary section we have chosen an electric range and a refrigerator.

The range has two ovens—one for roasts, the other for pastries—and a rotary spit in the meat oven for all those savory barbecue dishes. The reliable pull-button oven timer is a gem of simplicity; the controls for top-of-the-stove cooking regulate heat gradually like a water faucet controls the flow of water.

The New Refrigerator

The refrigerator is not only an effort-saver but fits in with Mother's sense of thrift. There is a spacious fast-freezing compartment (capacity 84 pounds) atop the regular storage area.

It offers 20-below-zero cold so that foods can be quick frozen and Mother can take advantage of bargain bulk buying. Coils in the normal storage section are concealed in the walls to eliminate dehydrated shrunken foods—even when put away uncovered. The compartments, completely separate, each have their own cooling system (the Admiral Dual-temp arrangement) and temperature controls for separate operations.

The Word Is Fabulous

On the laundry side of the kitchen there'll be one of those fabulous sinks with interchangeable tubs so it can do double duty as a clothes and dishwasher. The companion piece is an automatic clothes dryer to embrace those sneezing, inducing, bad weather. Our choice for the (Thors) positive heat controls for selected degrees of dryness and a vacuum device to suck out moisture.

Mother is a firm believer in home laundering, content that a clean, white wash now ironed is a family morale booster—especially in today's trying times. Thus, the combination sink should really please her. The semi-automatic clothes washer does a spotless job quickly and easily; it takes mere seconds to change over to the dishwasher tub stored on a swiveling arm under the sink compartment. It's sanitary, too. Clothes water never comes in contact with dishes.

And so that Mother can iron and sit down, too, she's getting one of those electric folding ironers that she can store in the kitchen closet. It has a "sleeve-sized" roll to make shirt ironing a job instead of a chore and turn sad ironing into glad ironing.

What I Hope For

And I hope that Jim, who calls me "The Good Fairy" because I like to make wishes come true, fulfills mine.

I've sure dropped enough hints. Liking television, records and radio equally, I keep suggesting that we should incorporate all of them into one good, compact unit.

There is a fine one on the market, good-looking and modern. If my continual references to a "home theater" (that's what the maker Admiral dubs it) don't get a response, I'll try planting manufacturer's literature. Sometimes I feel that wishes need a little prodding.

FARMERS MAY HAVE CALVES VACCINATED

Farmers buying calves through Kentucky stockyards can now have these calves vaccinated for Bangs disease without cost to the State Department of Agriculture. Commissioner Walters has announced that all that is required is that farmers request such service from stockyard officials. The Kentucky Department of Agriculture will furnish the vaccine and pay the veterinarian.

Commissioner Walters also announced that the age limit on calfhood vaccination has been lowered from 6-12 months to 4-8 months.

KENTUCKY PLATOON TO GET PROMOTION

Opportunities for the prospective members of the American Legion-sponsored Marine "Kentucky Platoon" increased last week when Marine Corps Headquarters announced the promotion of 2600 staff non-commissioned officers.

"Men taking advantage of enlistments in the Legion-sponsored platoon now will be getting in on the ground floor," Capt. Albert Wood, district officer in charge, said.

"This mass promotion," he continued, "has opened the way for thousands of promotions in the lower brackets, and, coupled with the expansion of the Corps, presents unlimited opportunities to men of initiative and ambition."

Those men from the Fulton area who are interested in joining the Marine "Kentucky Platoon" should contact the local American Legion, or the nearest Marine Recruiting office for details.

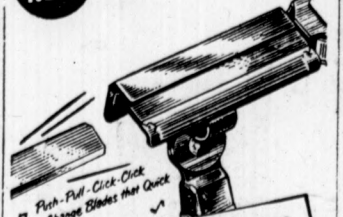

WETHERBY TO NAME UK BOARD MEMBER

University of Kentucky alumni last week nominated three of their number as candidates for the post of alumni member of the U. K. Board of Trustees. Names of the three candidates, all from Central Kentucky, have been submitted to Governor Lawrence Wetherby who will fill the post by executive appointment. The nominees are H. D. Palmore of Frankfort, present member of the board whose term expires December 31; James S. Shropshire and William H. Townsend, both of Lexington. Their nominations resulted from balloting conducted by mail among members of the University Alumni Association.

There will be a pot luck supper and Christmas tree in the basement of the Palestine Church Wednesday night. District Superintendent Bro. Evans of Paris will attend.

Mississippi Plantation Life: The Writings of Mattie Dear

In thee, O Lord, do I put my trust. So thankful that the Lord has spared me to see eleven months in 1950 and the 20 day of the 12th month. Taken care of me through all of these sinful times. My health is fine and that's a wonderful word to say. So many are in the clinic hospital and what knots. But is taking care of me through all that.

I was at our mission Sunday. Sure had good services. Everything went out so lovely and the Rev. H. Butler sure did preached a soul reviving sermon and his subject was "A Mission's Task" and the subject of the missions was love and we all had something to say about love. Love is a great thing. God give his only begotten son to die for the world. Now you know that is Love. Now tell me, if you please, who would give their only child to be put to death. Love is a great thing.

Love hides the multitude of a many faults. Christ loves us. We are yet having some cold weather here. Now they tell me that Christ was born on the 25th day of December. I don't know what month it was but I sure know that he rose because on one Thursday he rose in my soul and I been making a fuss over him ever since. I was 11 years old then so now I am 66. Gone too far to turn back.

But let Mattie Dear tell you one thing. We are living in a mean world. God never intend for no one man to rule his world.

So I wish the staff of the farm and home paper of the Ken-Tenn territory a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

So be of good cheer God is in the plan.

TRINITY

Century magazine, by adding his own deeply religious philosophy in saying that to live both necessities a true Christian must have faith in God. Citing the instructions which Christ gave his disciples, the Bishop said: "We can see the light on the mystery of life and gain the strength that we need by living God's own instructions to his disciples . . . to love one another. His sermon was delivered in laymen's language, with a message from a man who is exceedingly well-versed in Episcopal liturgy, but yet who knows the difficulties of everyday living in the true Christian way.

Following the services a reception was held in the rooms adjoining the church. Mrs. Daisy Terry and Mrs. Charles Binford, presided at the tea table. Other members of the congregation assisted in serving the guests.

PIERCE NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Garland Murphy and children, Mrs. Carl Murphy and baby of Princeton, Ky., spent Sunday with their daughter and sister-in-law, Mrs. Billie Stem.

Pierce had a surprise wedding Saturday. Claude Graddy and Miss Eula Crawford of Water Valley went to Corinth, Miss., for their wedding. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Algine Hay and Mr. and Mrs. Billie Stem.

Mrs. Riley Smith has been on the sick list but is improving. Miss Eva Lee Griffin had the misfortune of getting her nose broken during a basketball game one night last week.

Mrs. Lillie McRee was in Mayfield shopping Friday.

TEACHERS

one were both warned and advised. Thirty-two warnings were issued to Kentucky schools on salary deficiencies, fourteen on failure to meet library standards, and eleven on teacher over-loads. Elkhorn High School, Eastern High School of Jefferson County, and Daviess County High School were admitted to membership this year.

The Central Reviewing Committee noted one violation of the standards in Fulton High School: Seven salaries are less than $2,000. I have been instructed to report to you that your school is warned on this deficiency. We sincerely hope correction may be made before next year.

You will be interested to know that the new standards were not acted upon by the Association this year. It was felt that more work would be needed before they would be ready for application. Therefore, we shall use the same standards for the coming year and possibly for the next year also, since the new standards will have to remain tabled for a full year after they have been approved. I should like to take this opportunity to thank you for your splendid cooperation in our Southern Association work. If we can be of any assistance to you at any time, please feel free to call on us.

Very sincerely yours,

What makes a railroad?

FAITH

and 100 Christmases...

Before all else in the making of a railroad comes faith.

Faith sired the Illinois Central. And faith has nurtured its growth to this, its one hundredth Christmas.

In the beginning a great faith fired men to pour millions into a railroad spanning no more than a prairie wilderness. Faith brought men west to work on that railroad, to clear farms and open cross-roads stores.

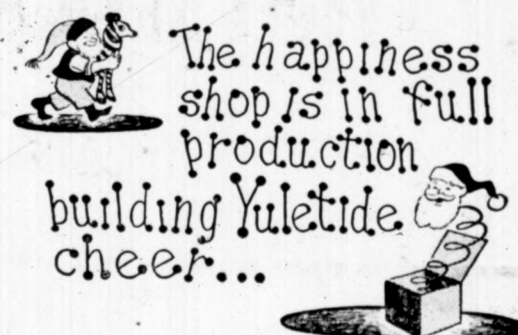

Through wars and depressions, faith has kept the Illinois Central secure against great odds, sometimes against seemingly certain disaster.

On this, the Illinois Central family's one hundredth Christmas, we ask that our faith be strengthened in order that all of us—railroad workers, friends, neighbors, patrons—may look forward across the troubled present toward a future of peace and goodwill.

CRUTCHFIELD HOMEMAKERS ENJOY CHRISTMAS PARTY WITH MRS. O. G. HOWELL

The Crutchfield Homemakers enjoyed the Christmas party in the home of Mrs. O. G. Howell December 19.

Mrs. Clyde Corum, vice president, presided over the business session. The Christmas story from St. Luke was read by Mrs. John McClanahan and also the poem, "What Makes Christmas?"

The major lesson was given by Mrs. Bryan Kearby on Yuletide decorations. A very attractive winter bouquet of cat tails, berries, bitter sweets, weeds and grass were used. Some of these things were painted, gilted or shellacked.

So many of these things can be found around our homes and are so much better than decorations purchased in the stores some times.

Simplicity and fitness and also selection of containers for any arrangements are most important. Mrs. Waggoner gave the landscape lesson telling how to fertilize now for spring grass and flowers. The droppings of chickens and also barnyard are good fertilizers.

After the business meeting a lovely Christmas dinner was served to 18 members and two visitors. One of the visitors was Miss Marian Kearby home for the holidays from Lexington.

Christmas carols were sung then gifts were passed out to members. The three children, Dane, Billy and Janice enjoyed their gifts as much as if Santa had given them to them.

The meeting adjourned to meet in January with Mrs. Neal Little.

NEW ORLEANS VISITOR ENTERTAINED TUESDAY WITH MORNING COFFEE

Mrs. Mesdames Robert A. Binford, Hendon Wright and Harry Bushart were hostesses to a morning coffee Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Wright on Park Ave. complimenting Mrs. Robert H. Binford, visitor here from New Orleans.

The Christmas theme was carried out in the decorations and dainty party sandwiches, nuts, cookies, fruit cake and other delicacies were served with the coffee.

The guests called between ten and twelve and the morning was spent informally.

PERSONALS

Ivan Jones, of Hollywood, who is attending the University of Southern California, arrived in Fulton last Sunday to spend the Christmas holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Jones on Central Avenue.

HELLO WORLD

states that there is "no delay" in filling orders despite the disaster. Thousands of bushels of stored grain and the towering bins holding them continued to blaze and smoulder through the entire week, necessitating a constant vigil by local firemen lest a high wind should fan sparks to nearby buildings.

The fire, one of the most disastrous in Fulton history, was fought in sub-freezing temperatures and recalled to many the burning of the old Meadows Hotel block on nearby Church street, in similar weather, some 20 years ago.

All office records, books, furniture and machines were saved by a throng of volunteers before the fire reached that area, and the Company has thus been able to set up its office in the old hay barn building in the Tennessee area.

E. E. ("Gene") Williamson, manager, advised the News yesterday afternoon that according to plans, a retail feed store and feed-making equipment would probably be built on the site of the ruins, with the dust-producing milling operations likely going into a new building somewhere on the outskirts of the city.

Dick Oberlin:

Oberlin's Observations

It has been quite some time since That Girl intruded herself in these Observations. She said something the other night, though, which is so simple—and so true—that it bears repeating.

We were talking about Santa Claus, and what a terrific impact the jolly old gent has on three-year-olds—any three-year-old. And we were comparing that with the somewhat sorry state of the world at large. At this point, Suzie said: "The world sure does need a Santa Claus!" To which we can only echo—doesn't it, though!

We've gone through four or five seasons of peace on earth, good will to men without a war. At least, no war in which our nation was involved. Prior to that we had several years when crepe, instead of holly wreaths, hung on too many American doors.

And what of the future? Do we face another period of 3 or 4 blighted Christmases—Seasons of brotherly love and beauty which are made ugly by man's avarice?

Lloyd's of London thinks it's a 50 to 1 bet that there will be no world war before next September, and Lloyd's hasn't become the wealthy organizations it is by making bad bets. This time, though, maybe Lloyd's is doing some wishful thinking. It would depend to a very great extent on what's their definition of a world war.

By this time next year, it's possible that not a single American weapon will be pointed at an enemy. It may be that we will NOT be at war with Red China and Soviet Russia. But, whether we are in a shooting war, a cold war or another troubled peace, we are going to have every domestic evidence of full scale war.

Whoever you are, whatever you do for a living, wherever you make your home, whether you're single or married, have no children, a lot of young children, or grown children, you are going to feel the impact of a war-scale mobilization—you'll feel, strongly, what the British have dubbed "austerity." Just how austere can we get!

Well, considerably more austere than during World War II for one thing. We still drove our cars, could buy clothing and shoes, had enough to eat, and had all the amusement to which we had become accustomed. We can do with less to eat. Without gasoline. And we can patch our clothes if new ones are not available—which they may not be.

Somewhere along the line between 1945 and 1950, we, as a nation, squandered vast quantities of our wealth. Some of it went to build a dike to prevent the dreaded flood of Soviet-type, police state communism from sweeping over the world.

A lot more went to feed hungry people. Some of it—much of it—was used to maintain a military establishment which, when it was called on in time of emergency, turned out to be a hollow shell. Somebody owes us an explanation for some of this.

There is one ugly fact which, to my knowledge yet has faced up to. As a nation we are dissipating our resources at an alarming rate. Yet, although we are using our resources lavishly, we continue year after year to plunge deeper into debt.

Only a small amount of this huge national debt accumulated in fighting World War II was paid off during the post-war prosperity. There are, obviously, several things which we must do. First, we've got to tighten our belts and get ourselves on a pay-as-you-go policy. If that means confiscating 90 per cent of everyone's income—well, it means confiscating income. Remember, during World War II, the wealthy British didn't just pay an income tax—they also were assessed a tax on their principal. In other words, the government didn't just take part or most of what they earned—they levied on what the more fortunate—or more hard-working—or more saving—had accumulated—and made them contribute a part of that to the British war effort.

Freedom, liberty—and peace—are not cheaply bought. They are extremely expensive. Yet, would you have it any other way? And don't you imagine that slavery is even more costly than freedom? Imagine what could—would—happen to our nation if Russia should defeat us in a military contest. Go on, face up to it.

Forget the thousands—the hundreds of thousands—of men and women who would be liquidated—who would face up to firing squads and be dumped unceremoniously into mass graves. Forget the loss of your right to vote, of your right to free labor unions, to your right to strike, of your right to close down a plant in defiance of a union you consider acting capriciously and in an arbitrary manner.

Forget the regimented education, the vast number of orders, the terror of the secret police who descend in the night, whisk their victims off into a darkness from whence few return. Forget these things—think only of your own personal, selfish interests.

Do you think you could have a car if you were an ordinary working man? Do you hear of many Russians owning their own cars? Do you think you could own your own home, your own farm, if it's any size at all? Do you think, any of you businessmen, that you'd be allowed to run your business for your own profit and that of your stockholders? Most of us would be lucky—simply to be allowed to live. Or would we?

Would we be lucky to live in slavery? It's a question.

Yes, I guess the big Suzie had something when she said this tired, beaten-up, cantankerous old world sure does need a Santa Claus. It also could use some practical and honest men who would face up to a rather appalling situation and tackle it earnestly and honestly.

It needs people who are convinced that freedom and liberty are worth having and worth defending, and who will fight and sacrifice for them. It sorely needs men of good will.

THE CRANBERRY SEASON

Imagine climbing aboard a miniature train and riding off through the cranberry bogs of Massachusetts.

sets. For those who have never seen such a sight it is a real surprise to find the little fields quite dry with no swamp in view.

Sparkling Cranberries

For weeks the workers have been out in the bogs with cranberry scoops that are used to separate the berries from the lit-bushes. Now the sparkling red cranberries are packaged and ready to be used in your favorite cocktail, salad, relish or dessert.

Collector's Salad

- 1 pound cranberries
- 2 large unpared apples
- 1 large unpeeled orange
- 2 cups sugar
- 1/2 cup Malaga grapes
- 1/2 cup nut meats

Grind cranberries, apples and orange coarsely. Add sugar and stir until dissolved. Cut grapes in half and remove seeds. Add grapes and nuts. Chill and serve as salad or relish.

Yield: 6 cups.
Make the whole recipe and store the unused portion in a sterilized fruit jar in the refrigerator. It will keep for several weeks.

To Make Jellied Salad

Add three cups of this cranberry mixture to one package lemon gelatin dissolved in one cup boiling water. Pour into salad molds and chill until firm. Serve in crisp lettuce.

This will make 8 to 10 salads depending upon the size of the molds you use.

Clip and File

Since this recipe is sure to be a repeater you will want to clip it for your collection.

PALESTINE HOMEMAKERS
HAVE ALL DAY MEETING
ON FRIDAY, DECEMBER 15

Twenty-six members and one visitor, Mrs. LeRoy Beard of the Palestine Homemakers met Friday, December 15 at the club house at 10:30 a. m. for the regular meeting and Christmas tree.

The club was beautifully decorated with the Christmas theme.

Mrs. Harold Pewitt led the group in singing "Jingle Bells" after which gifts were exchanged among the group. Many nice and useful gifts were given most of them being hand made by the members.

Mrs. Leslie Nugent, recreation leader, had a written contest for her game. Each member was to write down "Nuts to Crack" as Mrs. Nugent asked a question about each one.

Mrs. Robert Thompson and Mrs. Glyn Bard gave the lesson, "Winter Bouquets." One point to remember in making bouquets is "the container is most important," said Mrs. Thompson. She also stated that to retain the color of flowers you gather them in bloom and dry in dark places.

Some of the many things mentioned for winter bouquets were: grasses of all kinds, sweet gum, bitter sweet and privet. Gather bitter sweet in July and hang up side down in sack and let it dry.

In the absence of Mrs. Bertha Nugent, landscape leader, notes were given by Mrs. Charles Wright. Mrs. P. F. King, president, gave a report of the advisory council.

"How Christmas is Celebrated in Puerto Rico" was told by Mrs. Gussie Browder, reading chairman.

The club decided to have the Family Night Dinner December 29. Mrs. M. R. Jeffries and Mrs. Robert Thompson were appointed decorating committee. Mrs. Glyn Bard, Mrs. William McClanahan, Mrs. Harold Pewitt game committee. The Food committee: Mrs. Roy Bard, Mrs. Louis Thompson and Mrs. Leslie Nugent. They planned the meal and grouped the families.

A pot luck lunch was served at noon with Mrs. John Verhine, Mrs. William McClanahan and Mrs. Hillman Collier hostesses.

OLD KENTUCKY HOME CLOSED CHRISTMAS

The Division of State Parks today announced that My Old Kentucky Home at Bardstown would be closed on both Christmas and New Year's day. It is an annual custom to close the famous shrine on these two days, the only days during the year when the doors are closed to the public.

It was necessary, however, to close the home last January for complete restoration, remodeling and renovation work on the interior and the exterior of the building. Down through the years since the State accepted the property in 1922, maintenance had been seriously neglected and structural defects in the building itself, brought on by old age, had developed. Everything possible was done to restore the charm that Stephen Collins Foster found so inspiring. The work was partially completed and the shrine was re-opened to the public in May.

The official rededication ceremony was held on July 4th. This was one of the main events of "My Old Kentucky Homecoming . . . 1950." Visitors have expressed hearty approval of the restoration, remodeling and redecoration of the State's most famous shrine which symbolizes the romantic past of Kentucky.

UK EMPLOYEES GET SALARY INCREASE

All full-time employees of the University of Kentucky last week received a seven and one-half per cent cost-of-living salary increase, retroactive to December 1. Campus laborers at the same time received pay boosts ranging from four to twelve cents an hour.

Restoration by Congress of funds owed the University but previously withheld by the Veterans Administration made the increase possible. Had the V. A. funds, amounting to between $350,000 and $400,000 not been withheld, the pay increase would have been recommended sooner, according to U. K. President H. L. Donovan.

LOVELY YOUNG BRIDE ENTERTAINED WITH SHOWER AND PARTY

A lovely pre-nuptial shower and party was given the former Miss Emma Ruth Cavender, who was married to Kenneth Meredith of Louisville Wednesday at the First Methodist Church, Monday evening by Misses Sue Jewell and Jane Shelby at the Jewell home on Carr Street.

The bride chose a model of gold wool jersey with wine accessories from her trousseau. The hostesses presented her with a corsage of gardenias.

Games and contests were enjoyed during the evening with all the prize winners presenting their gifts to the guest of honor.

Late in the evening the hostesses served delicious ice cream and cake, the refreshments carrying out the bridal motif.

The guest list included: the guest of honor, Mrs. Billie Parrish, Mrs. Billy Joe King, Mrs. Gene Smith, Mrs. LeRoy Beard, Mrs. Thomas Vowell, Miss Jackie Bard, Miss Barbara Roberts, Mrs. Grace Cavender, Mrs. Claude Shelby, Mrs. Leland Jewell and the hostesses.

Those sending gifts were: Miss Marilee Beadles, Mrs. Stanley Parham, Mrs. Carl Puckett, Jr., Mrs. Jack Moore and Miss Shirley Maxwell.

LOTTIE MOON CIRCLE HAS XMAS PARTY

The Lottie Moon Circle of the First Baptist Church met Monday evening in the Rose Room at Smith's Cafe for its annual Christmas dinner and party. During the evening games were enjoyed and gifts exchanged.

Those attending were: Mrs. Edward Pugh, Mrs. Russell Rudd, Mrs. Otis Bizzle, Mrs. Donald Cherry, Mrs. William Scott, Mrs. Donald Baker, Mrs. Lewis Ferrell, rs. Ardell Sams, Mrs. Walter Voelpel, Mrs. James Meacham, Mrs. Edgar Provine, Mrs. Howard Shaw, Mrs. Joe Cochran, Mrs. J. U. McKendree, Mrs. Earl Collins, Mrs. Charles Looney, Mrs. Howard Adams, Mrs. Sterling Bennett, Mrs. James Warren, Mrs. Charles Walker, Mrs. Russell Johnson, Mrs. James Green, Mrs. Mary Hughes Watson, Misses Willette Cook, Mary Moss Hales and Nelle Mooneyham.

VICTORY HOMEMAKERS ENJOY XMAS PARTY WITH MRS. JENKINS

The Christmas meeting of the Victory Homemakers Club was held Tuesday, December 19 in the home of Mrs. Ernest Jenkins with Mrs. Harold Copeland co-hostess. Mrs. E. E. Mount, major project leader, explained and demonstrated the construction and arrangement of beautiful Christmas bouquets from plants that grow in our own fields and gardens, wheat heads, corn fodder, sweet gum balls, brome sage and okra pods cut at the right time and treated properly will make a wonderful arrangement for any room.

These bouquets are shown to a better advantage when placed in wooden containers. Dyed gourds are attractive and help complete the flower arrangement.

Mrs. Cecil Burnett, president, gave a report of the advisory council. Mrs. Harold Copeland was elected permanent representative to the County Extension Advisory Council.

Twenty-eight members and one visitor, Mrs. Alvis Jones, who joined the club, enjoyed a bountiful Christmas dinner.

Mrs. E. E. Mount will be the delegate to Farm and Home Week in Lexington.

Mrs. Jenkins read the reply to a letter written by a little eight year old girl asking if there is a Santa Claus. Mrs. L. A. Clifton gave the story of the First Christmas Tree. The group sang "Silent Night" and "Oh Come All Ye Faithful" then Santa made his appearance much to the delight of the youngsters and distributed gifts that had been placed under the tree.

The club will meet next month with Mrs. Herman Roberts with Mrs. Ernest Carver, co-hostess.

THURSDAY NIGHT CLUB ENJOYS XMAS PARTY IN SMITH'S ROSE ROOM

Members of the Thursday night bridge club had their annual Christmas dinner party last Thursday evening in the Rose Room at Smith's Cafe.

Places for fourteen were laid with each guest's place being marked with a Christmas place card.

Following a delicious turkey dinner the guests were invited to the home of Mrs. J. A. Poe where gifts were exchanged.

The guest list included one visitor, Miss Almeda Huddleston, of San Francisco, and the following members: Mrs. Stanley Jones, Mrs. Vyron Mitchell, Mrs. Fred Homra, Miss Mary Homra, Miss Ann Godfrey, Mrs. J. L.

Jones, Jr., Mrs. Clyde Williams, Mrs. J. A. Poe, Miss Andy DeMyer, Mrs. Morgan Omar, Miss Helen King, Mrs. Joe Treas and Mrs. Thomas Mahan.

MRS. RACHEL HOSTESS TO BRIDGE CLUB

Mrs. Gerald Rachel was gracious hostess to her bridge club at her home in the Covington Addition last Thursday evening.

Mrs. Eunice Seath was a guest to the club.

High score prize was awarded Miss Adolphus Latta with Mrs. Joe Fly winning the bridge bingo.

The hostess served sandwiches and Coca-Colas to the following players: Mesdames Eula Mulford, Joe Fly, Ardell Sams and Misses Latta, Mary Anderson and Tommy Nell Gates.

ONE OF KENTUCKY'S TRADITIONS

Christmas Baking

Traditional Kentucky baking for Christmas is not a matter of a single afternoon; but an occupation for at least a solid week. You don't open a can for pumpkin, or coconut. You operate on the entire pumpkin, crack the coconut, drain the milk, pry off the bits of coconut meat and bark your knuckles on the grater. But the food is tastier for the labor, and Kentuckians cheerfully tackle this traditional chore in honor of the Christmas season.

Yes, and beer is a tradition in Kentucky, too! Like Christmas baking, BEER BELONGS in Kentucky. When holidays arrive, Kentuckians are ready with the keynote of hospitality—brimming glasses of beer—the beverage of moderation.

I have to look dressed up when I'm out deliverin' gifts to folks for Christmas, but almost every other day I wear those comfortable, tough-wearing Happy Jack dungarees. They feel better and wear nearly twice as long as any others I've found. Plenty of other folks wear 'em, too, including all my helpers and people all over America. For puttin' around in my workshop or taking care of my reindeer, I've found you just can't beat Happy Jack dungarees for men. Women wear 'em too, only their's are called Happy Jill. You can get Happy Jack and Happy Jill dungarees in stores everywhere.

Would You Change The Spirit of CHRISTMAS?

Let The Freedoms Stay As They Are

Freedom Comes Under Attack. The reality of war has made every American think hard about the things he's willing to work and fight for—and freedom leads the list!

But that freedom has been attacked here recently—just as it has been attacked in other parts of the world. One of the most serious threats to individual freedom has been the threat of Government-dominated Compulsory Health Insurance, falsely presented as a new guarantee of health "security" for everybody.

The People Weigh The Facts. In the American manner, the people studied the case for Socialized Medicine—and the case against it.

They Found that Government domination of the people's medical affairs under Compulsory Health Insurance means: lower standards of medical care, higher payroll taxes, loss of incentive, damage to research, penalties for the provident, rewards for the improvident.

They found that no country on earth can surpass America's leadership in medical care and progress. They found that able doctors, teachers, nurses and scientists—working in laboratories where Science, not Politics, is master—are blazing dramatic new trails to healthier lives for Americans, and for the world. The "Grass Roots" Signals Congress. In every community in the Nation, people stood up to be counted on this important issue, and gave the ever-vigilant, ever-sensitive United States Congress an unmistakable Grass Roots signal from home!

Today among the 10,000 great organizations on militant public record against "Compulsory Health Insurance" are:

General Federation of Women's Clubs
American Farm Bureau Federation
National Grange
Veterans of Foreign Wars
National Conference of Catholic Charities
American Protestant
Hospital Association

American Legion
National Association of
Small Business Men
United States Chamber of Commerce
National Association of
Retail Grocers
National Retail Dry
Goods Association
American Bar Association

The Voluntary Way Is The American Way

● Throughout the Nation, free men and women working and planning together, are finding the American answer to every question of medical service, care and cost. ● Hundreds of Voluntary Health Insurance Plans are in healthy competition—sponsored by doctors, insurance companies, hospitals, fraternal organizations—by industry, agriculture and labor. ● Today in America—70 million people already are protected by Voluntary Health Insurance. ● Throughout the Nation, families are insuring themselves against the major costs of illness at reasonable, budget-basis prices. That's the American way to cope with this problem. Voluntary Health Insurance takes the economic shock out of illness. Protect your family now. ● For information, ask your doctor—or your insurance man.

BENNETT HOMEMAKERS ENJOY MEETING ON THURSDAY, DEC. 14

The Bennett Homemakers Club held their December meeting in the home of Mrs. B. L. Austin on Vine Street Thursday, December 14 with 26 members and five visitors, Mrs. A. E. Clifton, Mrs. L. H. Kirby, Mrs. Lola Howard, Mrs. Pel Austin and Miss Jean Holland, present.

The lesson on "Winter Bouquets" was given by Mrs. William Holland and Mrs. Smith Brown showing how the ordinary weeds and leaves may be made into really beautiful decorations and how these leaves, pods, etc., may be preserved to use from year to year. They demonstrated arrangements of silvered leaves and pods as a mantle decoration in the living room and an arrangement of pine cones and branches and magnolia leaves in the dining room.

After a delicious lunch the meeting was turned over to Mrs. Ardell Arrington, who led the group in singing and games. Gifts from a laden Christmas tree were distributed amid the exclamation of surprises and pleasures as each opened her gift.

Late in the afternoon the meeting was adjourned to meet again in January with Mrs. Croft.

MRS. STALLINS HONORS SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS FRIDAY, DECEMBER 15

Mrs. Roxie Stallins entertained the Pearl Binkley Sunday School Class of the Church of Christ at her home on Jefferson Street Friday night with 21 members and four visitors present.

Christmas gifts were distributed and gifts were presented to Mrs. Carl Croft, retiring teacher and Mrs. Binkley, her successor.

A party plate was served to the following who attended: Mrs. Arch Huddleston, Mrs. P. C. Jones, Mrs. S. E. Hancock, Mrs. Julius Tucker, Mrs. Carl Croft, Mrs. O. C. Hastings, Mrs. N. D. Simpson, Mrs. W. B. Lancaster, Mrs. Ruby Niesler, Mrs. Elbert Hailey, Mrs. M. E. Berry, Mrs. Joel Erranton, Mrs. Ruth Finch, Mrs. Clara Yates, Mrs. Chester Binkley, Mrs. Pearl Campbell, Mrs. John Binkley, Mrs. H. G. McClanahan, Mrs. H. A. Brown, Mrs. A. U. Bowlin, Mrs. C. D. Lovelace. Three visitors, Mrs. E. W. Stovall, Miss Lillian Kennedy and Mrs. Bob Kaler of Clinton.

FRIDAY NIGHT CLUB ENJOYS XMAS PARTY IN LOVELY ROSE ROOM

The Friday Night Bridge Club and one visitor, Miss Virginia Howard had their annual Christmas party with a dinner at the Rose Room at Smith's Cafe Friday evening.

Guests were seated at a long table centered with lovely Christmas decorations and a delicious three course dinner was served after which games of bridge were enjoyed with prizes awarded to Miss Howard, high and Mrs. Charles Looney, low.

Those enjoying the party were: Mesdames Waggoner, Charles Looney, Wallace Ashby, Edward Benedict, J. C. Olive, T. J. Kramer, Jr., Eugene Hoodenpyle and Miss Howard.

MRS. T. S. HUMPHRIES HONORS SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS WITH LUNCHEON

Mrs. T. S. Humphries entertained her Sunday School Class last Thursday with luncheon at her home on Third Street.

Each guest brought a covered dish which was served buffet style. The afternoon was spent in distributing gifts from the Christmas tree.

Mrs. M. L. Rhodes began the program by reading the scripture, "Jesus Birth" after which Mrs. R. Q. Moss led in prayer.

A Christmas story, "The Lighted Candle" was given by Mrs. Foster Edwards, assisted in solos ably given by Miss Catherine Humphries.

Members present were: Mesdames George Payne, Billy Hughes, Carol Looney, T. L. Maupin, George Hall, A. M. Mitchell, Ella Maxey, Foster Edwards, Joe Gates, W. E. Filippo, C. H. Warren, S. H. Edwards, Will Willingham, Tom White, Pauline Moore, Charles Huddles-ton, M. E. Bolin, Bob Cullum and Miss Inez Binford.

Luncheon guests and visitors were: Bro. C. H. Warren, Bro. Ferrell, Mrs. Ferrell and little son, Mrs. Pritchard, Mrs. Fred Patton, Mr. and Mrs. George Winter, Sr., Mrs. Meeks and Miss Catherine Humphries.

MR. AND MRS. FIELDS HONORED WITH GOING AWAY PARTY SATURDAY

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Fields were complimented with a going-away party at the Derby Dining Room Saturday night given by the employees of the Fulton A & P Store.

Mr. Fields, manager of the local store for the past few years, has been transferred to Jackson, Tenn., and will report to that store in January. This in a promotion for Mr. Fields and the party Saturday night was to wish him well in his new duties.

Places for nineteen were laid at a long table where a delicious chicken dinner was served. Decorations carried out the Christmas motif.

Jimmy Adams acted as toastmaster following the dinner and on behalf of the employees, expressed his appreciation for the fine job done by Mr. Fields during his management of the Fulton store. He presented him with a lovely gift from the employees.

After the dinner games were enjoyed and the evening was spent informally, with everyone attending reporting a fine time.

Those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Leon Fields, Mr. and Mrs. Elson McGuire, Mr. and Mrs. James Robey, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Fields, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Barney Yates, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Neely, Misses Elizabeth Wilkins and Delray Johnson, Virgil Yates, Dee Yates and Hubert Wright.

Let a holiday spirit prevail, and giver and receiver alike cherish the happiest Christmas ever.
May the faith of the children be strong in your hearts.

TINY TOT SHOE FACTORY; FORMERLY HERE, MAKING GREAT GAINS IN MARTIN, TENN.

Four thousand pairs of baby shoes. That is the number shipped to various parts of the United States recently by the Lucky Tott Shoe Co., of Martin and formerly located here.

This thriving little firm is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Terrell Moore and is providing employment for some 15 local people. Mr. Moore told us that the firm ships shoes to companies in almost every state. In fact, it is easier, he said, to name the states that they do not ship to.

We saw bills of shipment to all the Southern states, New England, the East, the Middle West, and Far West. About the only states from which orders have not yet been received are Wyoming and Arizona. Probably the largest individual purchaser is the National Bellas Hess Co., of Kansas City, a mail order concern.

At the present time the company is producing 580 pairs of shoes daily and new equipment is being installed which will enable this to be stepped up to more than 700 pairs daily. Much of the new equipment is going for the production of a line of baby's sandals.

The firm had its beginning five years ago in a Chicago basement. At that time, Mr. Moore was working for a large shoe concern when Mrs. Moore and he decided to go into business for themselves. A year after getting started, the couple moved to Fulton where they operated until moving to Martin a little more than a year ago. Their present payroll runs between $350 and $400 weekly.

Mr. Moore pointed out that the firm is owned entirely by him and his wife. They are not affiliated with any other shoe company other than to make use of the advertising facilities of one company for which they pay the usual agent's commission on orders. —Weakley County Press.

COLLECTING IS GREAT FUN FOR COOKIE CONNOISSEURS

Some folks collect stamps, some buttons, another kind of collector is the cookie connoisseur. She reveals in the joy of home baking and would rather see a round of cookies ready for the oven in her kitchen than discover a dozen ancient golden coins in her attic. She is proud of her cookie making skill, ranging all the way from old-fashioned drop cookies to frivolous meringues. So here's cheer for the cookie connoisseur!

Bon Bon Tarts

1 package semi-sweet chocolate.
2 tablespoons shortening.
Place semi-sweet chocolate morsels and shortening in a pint measuring cup, place in water in a saucepan, or in the top of double boiler. Melt over hot, not boiling water, to prevent steam from condensing inside cup and prevent chocolate from thickening. Stir occasionally until melted. Place eight 2-inch paper baking cups in muffin pan. Divide equal amounts of chocolate among baking cups. Swirl completely around sides and bottom of cups with back of teaspoon. Store in refrigerator for several hours or in the freezing compartment for 30 minutes. To remove paper, pull around sides from left to right, and then from bottom. Yield: 8 Bon Bon Tarts.

Egg Nog Filling

1 envelope unflavored gelatine.
1-4 cup cold water.
3 eggs separated.
1-2 cup sugar.
1-8 teaspoon salt.
1 1-2 cups scalded milk.
2 teaspoons your favorite flavoring or 1-2 teaspoon each vanilla and almond.

Soften gelatine in cold water. Beat egg yolks slightly in top of double boiler; add 1-4 cup of sugar and salt. Gradually stir in scalded milk. Cook, stirring constantly, over very hot water until mixture coats a metal spoon. Add softened gelatine and flavoring and stir until dissolved. Chill until the mixture is slightly thicker than the consistency of an unbeaten egg white. Beat egg whites until stiff, gradually beat in remaining 1-4 cup sugar. Fold into custard. Spoon into chocolate tart shells. Decorate with a cherry, chocolate morsel, some grated chocolate or your own idea for a holiday motif.

Merry Christmas and Happy New Year!

BON BON TARTS FOR CHRISTMAS (Marguerite Mickelsen)

When the Christmas bird or roast has been "done justice" and the table cleared for dessert, these Bon Bon Tarts with Egg Nog filling, served on your prettiest dessert plates or plain plates with small lace paper doilies, will add a finishing touch, both in taste and appeal, to your holiday meal.

CANDY MAKING

"To stir or not to stir?" This is an important question for stirring at the wrong stage of the cooking will cause a creamy type of candy to become grainy.

So remember — stir gently while mixture is heating, until all sugar crystals are dissolved. If crystals form around sides of the pan, wipe them away with a damp cloth wrapped around a fork. If your pan is covered until the boiling point is reached, these crystals will be washed away by the steam. Once boiling starts, uncover the pan to permit evaporation, but do not stir. An exception—in the case of milk mixtures, stir occasionally during boiling to avoid sticking.

A bottom-of-the-heart wish for Holiday happiness.

JOE BATES TOSSES HAT IN RING FOR NEXT YEAR'S BID FOR GOVERNORSHIP

Congressman Joe B. Bates of Greenup became a candidate this week for the Governorship of Kentucky in next year's election.

Formal announcement of Bates' candidacy was made at Louisville Saturday afternoon after the Eighth District Congressman made a flying trip from Washington.

Congressman Bates said he was making the announcement now because "Lawrence Wetherby is now and has been for several months a self-announced candidate and because it is necessary that I return to Washington Monday to attend to my duties in the Congress."

Bates, a Democratic leader, was born at a small settlement called Republican in Knott County, in the 7th Congressional District, in 1893. He attended the common schools there; graduated from Eastern State College in 1916; taught in the rural and high schools of Greenup County for nine years; was elected 4 terms as Greenup County Court Clerk; and succeeded Fred M. Vinson in Congress in 1938. He was reelected in November to the Congressional seat for the eighth consecutive time.

Congressman Bates said he was also announcing this early "so the people of Kentucky will have ample time to study my performance and voting record in Congress; my record as regards the farmer, labor, professional men and women, small business and industry; the manner in which I have attended to my official duties; my ability as an administrator; and my qualifications as a citizen."

"I invite all Kentuckians," he continued, "to examine this record through the most vital period of our history because it is on the record I expect to conduct an honorable, positive and vigorous campaign for the Governorship of Kentucky."

CHOCOLATE JUMBLES

2 1-2 cups sifted all-purpose flour.
1 teaspoon soda.
1-4 teaspoon salt.
1-2 teaspoon cinnamon.
1-8 teaspoon ginger.
1-2 cup shortening.
1-2 cup sugar.
1-2 cup molasses.
1-2 cup sour milk.
1 egg.
1 package semi-sweet chocolate (bits).

Sift together flour, soda, salt, and spices, and set aside. Blend together shortening and sugar. Add molasses and sour milk. Add the egg and beat well. Stir in the flour mixture. Add semi-sweet chocolate. Drop by teaspoonfuls on greased cookie sheet. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) for 15 minutes. Yield: 6 dozens.

MERINGUE KISSES

4 egg whites.
1 heaping cup sugar.
2 teaspoons white vinegar, pinch of salt and flavoring.
Beat egg whites with a pinch of salt and as they become fluffy slowly pour in sugar and beat thoroughly. Add vinegar and continue beating.

Various flavorings can be used: Vanilla, Almond, or Cocoa to taste. Drop from teaspoon, forming a swirl or peak, on greased cookie sheet and bake in slow oven (200-250°), watching that they do not discolor as that would indicate too much heat. Then open door slightly and let stand in oven with heat turned off until thoroughly dry.

CARBON MONOXIDE DEADLY; BE CAREFUL!

With the coming of winter, the danger of carbon monoxide poisoning is increased and several deaths have already been reported.

Carbon monoxide is particularly dangerous since it gives little or no warning of its presence. It is an odorless, colorless and tasteless gas, which is formed whenever combustion is incomplete. When breathed into the lungs, carbon monoxide combines 210 times more easily than oxygen with the hemoglobin in the blood, depriving it of the ability to carry oxygen to the body. The amount of carbon monoxide in the air, the respiratory rate of the exposed individual and the length of exposure determine the time.

Although the danger of warming up a car motor in a closed garage has frequently been pointed out, deaths still result from this practice. It is also unwise to drive without ventilation in the car, particularly if the car heater is turned on. The fresh air intake on the car should be closed in congested traffic; otherwise, exhaust fumes from the car ahead may be drawn in.

Sleepiness while driving may indicate the presence of carbon monoxide, or symptoms such as headache, dizziness or nausea may occur. If such symptoms develop, the car should be stopped and the person or persons in the car should get out and sit or lie down in the open air.

Other causes of avoidable deaths from carbon monoxide include improperly installed gas water heaters, furnaces banked with the drafts closed and bathroom heaters which have not been properly vented.

DR. KING'S ESSAYS TO BE PUBLISHED

Dr. Rolf E. P. King, professor of German at Murray State college, has been notified by the University of Georgia Press, Athens, Ga., that a group of essays by the famous German philosopher-poet Goethe as edited by Dr. King will be released Dec. 18.

The title of the book, taken from one of the essays, is "Goethe on Human Creativeness."

Associated with Dr. King in the preparation of the book were Prof. Calvin S. Brown of the University of Georgia and Prof. Erich Funke of the University of Iowa. The book is dedicated to A. R. Hohlfeld, professor emeritus of German at the University of Wisconsin.

Dr. King is a native of Rochester, N. Y. He received his A. B. and M. A. degrees from the University of Rochester and his Ph. D. degree at the University of Wisconsin. During the summer of 1934 Dr. King traveled in Europe.

Before coming to Murray State at the beginning of the fall semester, Dr. King was professor of German at the University of Richmond in Richmond, Va. He also taught at the University of Georgia.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Christ Jesus" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, December 24, 1950.

The Golden Text is: "Unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given: and the government shall be upon his shoulder." (Isa. 9:6).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Behold, the days come, saith the Lord, that I will raise unto David a righteous Branch, and a King shall reign and prosper, and shall execute judgment and justice in the earth." (Jer. 23:5).

THOROUGHBREDS TO CELEBRATE HOLIDAYS

Murray State's Thoroughbreds, winners of the Marshall Invitation tournament at Huntington, West Virginia, are making plans to celebrate the holidays with victories over three strong opponents.

Murray fans will have an opportunity to see the Racers in action in three different gyms as the Thoroughbreds meet Beloit at Murray Wednesday, Texas Tech at Owensboro Thurs., Dec. 21 and go to Metropolis, Ill. Dec. 29 to renew a rivalry with Southern Illinois.

Coach Dolph Stanley's Buccaneers from Beloit are expected to show Murray fans one of the best aggregations to invade the Carr gym hardwood in many years. The Bucs will be meeting their fourth foe of the season and the Racers will have seven contests under their belts when the tip-off comes.

Some writers have predicted that a possible berth in a post-season tournament might be hinging on the game and completion of successful seasons for the two teams.

In line with a policy of bringing top-flight games to Owensboro fans, the Owensboro Sports-center will be the scene of the Murray State-Texas Tech game Thursday night, December 21. Former Owensboro great, J. M. Gipe is a member of the Murray squad and Coach Harlan Hodges hopes to let the fans there watch Gipe and the rest of the Thoroughbreds take a victory over the Texans.

When the Thoroughbreds meet Southern Illinois University on a neutral floor at Metropolis, Ill., Dec. 29, they will be seeking their ninth win in a rivalry which goes back to 1928. The two teams have played 12 games since then with the Racers winning eight contests and Southern taking four.

DRY XMAS TREE IS A BAD FIRE HAZARD

Declaring the ordinary Evergreen tree is one of the most flammable objects known, State Fire Marshal W. L. Martin today appealed for observance of safety precautions so that Santa Claus does not bring a "flaming torch" along with his bag of toys to Kentucky homes.

Looking back over records of insurance losses of last Christmas the state official found that twenty-six fires which caused damages of $14,251 were reported to his office.

"While the total losses in our state of which we have knowledge and those of the many unreported fires may have been comparatively trifling, they would have been much greater but for plain luck," Martin said. "Over the nation fifty-two persons were burned to death and many homes, furniture and other property went up in smoke during the Christmas holidays last year."

There is no substitute for safety-mindedness on the part of home residents, said the fire marshal, adding "there is no such thing as a flame-proof, natural Christmas tree." He recommended that:

1. The tree be kept outside the house and not be set up until shortly before Christmas; that it be placed in the cool part of the house and away from radiators and fire places; and that the base rest in water.
2. Cotton or paper not be used as decorations unless they have been flame-proofed. Gift wrappings and other burnables should be kept away from the base of the tree.
3. Candles not be used, especially in churches and other places of assembly; and tree lights not be left burning when occupants are away from home.
4. Remove the tree from the house as soon as the needles begin falling on the floor.

RICKEY SAYS HE WOULDN'T TAKE OVER CHANDLER'S JOB

The 16 major-league club owners served notice on baseball Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler that he is "out" as soon as his present term of office expires.

The announcement, following a secret meeting of the owners recently, caught the baseball world—and Chandler—by surprise and turned loose wave upon wave of speculation concerning his probable successor.

BULLETIN

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Baseball tried to buy off Commissioner Chandler's contract, but he refused to give up his job until his contract expires in 1952.

The 16 club owners attempted to get rid of Chandler immediately. They were prepared to pay him off in full, but he refused.

Prominently mentioned for the job, which will become vacant on May 1, 1952, were President Ford Frick of the National League, President George Trautman of the minor leagues, President Branch Rickey of the Pittsburgh Pirates, former Postmaster General James A. Farley, and former New York Yankee General Manager Ed Barrow.

Frick missed getting the appointment in 1945 by only two votes.

Rickey was believed to have the strongest backing among the owners, but he disqualified himself from consideration by raising his famed bushy eyebrows and snorting "absolutely no" when asked if he would consider taking the job. Barrow once before declined consideration, giving his age as the reason.

Chandler, stunned by his ouster just when his re-appointment for another seven years was being freely predicted, failed by just three votes of getting the contract renewal at yesterday's meeting.

The subject of Chandler's contract was not originally on the agenda, but was introduced by Philip K. Wrigley of the Chicago Cubs. The owners voted nine to seven to consider the subject, and then divided eight-eight on an actual vote for re-appointment. Another ballot gave Chandler a nine to seven vote, three votes short.

Teams voting against Chandler were the St. Louis Cardinals, Philadelphia Phils, Cincinnati Reds, St. Louis Browns, Chicago White Sox, New York Yankees, and Boston Braves, while the New York Giants voted first against him and then for him.

"I am not giving up," declared Chandler. "It is my intention to fill out my term. Under no circumstances will I retire before I finish my term."

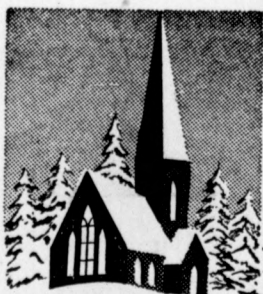

Considering that it would take a switch of only three votes to give him the contract renewal, Chandler indicated he thought it possible he still would be reappointed. His foremost advocates reportedly were Walter O. Briggs of the Detroit Tigers and Clark Griffith of the Washington Senators.

COFFEE FONDANT BONBONS

- 1 tablespoon soluble coffee.
- 1-4 cups hot water.
- 2 cups sugar.
- 2 tablespoons light corn syrup.
- 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Dissolve soluble coffee in hot water; combine with sugar and corn syrup in deep saucepan. Cook, stirring constantly, until sugar is dissolved. Remove spoon and cook without stirring until mixture begins to boil. Cover sauce pan; cook 3 minutes to wash down sugar crystals. Remove cover; cook to 240°F. (from time to time wash away sugar crystals with fork covered with cheese cloth and dipped in cold water.) Remove from heat; pour at once on cold, wet platter; cool to 110°F. (Lukewarm). Beat with spatula until creamy; knead with hands until smooth. Place in covered glass jar and let "ripen" 2 to 3 days before using. Yield: 1 pound fondant.

After fondant has ripened, shape as desired and decorate.

GLOBETROTTERS TO BE IN LOUISVILLE

Basketball's most entertaining quintet, the fabulous Harlem Globetrotters, stop in Louisville at the Jefferson County Armory during their long global itinerary on Thursday night, January 4, to headline a huge four-team novelty double-header, augmented by other entertainment.

Fresh from the Columbia Pictures movie lots in Hollywood, where they have been performing for the "Globetrotter Story" soon to be released as a full-length feature film, the Trotters will be pitted in Louisville against the fiery Philadelphia Sphas, notable independent pros. In the other game on the gala card, the New York Rens will meet Henry ("Dutch") Denert's Boston Whirlwinds. This tilt will open the huge program at 8:00.

The Globetrotters, currently in the second month of a schedule that will keep them busy until next September and which will tour them to Europe and South America, are just as popular as ever around the basketball world. Most famous for their clownish antics and clever ball handling, the "Court Jesters," as they're sometimes called, can get serious if they have to. Their 23 season record of 3,421 victories against only 245 defeats is their testimony of this.

In facing the Sphas, the famous Negro cage magicians will be meeting one of the best teams in the independent loop. It was this team that beat the Trotters two seasons ago, halting their sensational winning streak at 101 victories. But with such aces as Reece "Goose" Tatum, great pivot star famous for his "blink" hook shot and adroit passing; Marques Haynes, sensational dribbling artist; Babe Pressley Elmer Robinson and others, the Trotters are expected to triumph.
