Rev Dodson On Tour of The Orient

Rev. Ralph Dodson, a member of the Memphis Conference of the Methodist Church, a former pastor in Marshall County and later pastor of Acadia Methodist Church in Paducah, left the United States by plane on Feb. 8 for a three-month tour of the Orient.

Mr. Dodson, who is now president of People's Bible College in Greensboro, N. C., is making the trip under the auspices of the Oriental Missionary Society. His first stop will be in Hawaii, where he will conduct services at the Pacific Service Center in Honolulu. From Honolulu he will go to Manila, where he is to conduct chapel four days in two Bible colleges, and preach at night in a mission chapel in the city. The next four days he will visit the interior and preach in some of the rural missions stations.

From the Philippines, he will go to Hong Kong, the only place still open in China, and is under British rule, for a ten-day revival. From Hong Kong he is to go to Formosa, then to Japan and then to Korea. In Korea, he has a number of speaking engagements, among which is one at Chung-Ju University, an institution with 3,000 students, and where Dr. Jai Myung Noh, a graduate of People's Bible College, is the dean of education.

Mr. Dodson is taking with him letters of introduction from the General board of missions of the Methodist Church, and also an invitation to visit the Methodist mission stations in all fields where he is to visit on the tour. He will return to Greensboro on May 4.

Aid Asked On Factory Building

The Benton Realty Co., owner of the vacant old cigar factory building, has asked the City of Benton for help in maintaining the building.

The request was made at Monday night's City Council meeting by four directors of the Benton Realty Co.—H. H. Lovett Sr., Curt Phillips, Thomas Morgan and C. C. Hunt.

The directors pointed out that it was necessary to borrow money recently to pay taxes and insurance on the vacant building and that the upkeep is a financial burden on the realty company and its stockholders.

Members of the City Council took no action on the matter. Councilmen were reported to be in sympathy with the realty company's problem, but were not sure that the city would be able to help in a financial way even if it were legally possible.

Several prospects have been interviewed lately with the hope of leasing the building for factory purposes, but thus far none of the deals has materialized.

The building needs a new roof badly and other small repairs.

Long Concrete Named Dealer For Fertilizer

The Long Concrete Co. of Benton has been appointed distributor in Marshall, Livingston and Lyon Counties for the Big N (anhydrous ammonia) fertilizer.

This news was announced this week by the Mid-South Chemical Corp., Memphis, Tenn., manufacturer of the Big N fertilizer.

Big N contains 82 percent nitrogen, main food for most all plant life. Big N comes in liquid form but is shot into the soil in gas form. Tractor-operated equipment is used to put the fertilizer in the soil.

The fertilizer is injected into the soil to a depth of about six inches, which feeds crops at root level. It also provides a steady food for the plants and helps them resist drought and weeds.

The Long Concrete Co. will be glad to discuss this fine fertilizer and its distribution with the farmers of Marshall County.

Long Concrete is the first distributor in this county for the Big N fertilizer, although there have been distributors in McCracken, Graves and Calloway Counties for years.

County's Jaycees Get New Start at Big Pep Meeting

Young men have a greater investment in the future than any other group, Joe Miller of Frankfort, president of the Kentucky Junior Chamber of Commerce, told Marshall County Jaycees at a reorganization meeting held Monday night at Benton Hotel.

And the future looks very bright for the young men of Marshall County because of the industrial development in this area, he pointed out.

The JCC organization, he added, offers young men an opportunity to develop leadership abilities so that they may assume community responsibilities and become useful citizens.

Miller was the principal speaker at the dinner meeting, which was held as a sort of "pep" session to put the struggling local JCC group back on its feet.

Miller was accompanied to the meeting by Frank Savage, Louisville, executive vice president of the state organization, who also spoke words of encouragement for the Marshall County group.

A delegation from the Hopkinsville Junior Chamber of Commerce, led by their president, Jimmy Wilkins, also attended the meeting. The Hopkinsville club has "adopted" the local group as their "baby" and will offer assistance until the Marshall Countyans are able to stand alone.

Wilkins, in a short talk, outlined various civic projects that might be undertaken by the local Jaycees and explained how the Hopkinsville club conducted fund-raising drives.

Others here from the Hopkinsville club were Robert Come, treasurer; Eugene Massie, secretary; Sam Baldwin, Odell Davis, Granville Adams, Raymond Williams, Malcolm King, Raymond Meacham and Bill Whittingham.

Jimmie Small, president of the Marshall County JCC group, presided. Others present from the local organization included Billy Peak, Harold Ross, Carl Davenport, Jerry Creason and Rudell Trimble.

Billy Peak suggested that the club, as its first new project, help with the local sale of Easter Seals.

The suggestion was approved and Peak was named chairman of a committee to assist in the drive.

The club voted to meet the first and third Thursdays of each month.

A film, "The Jaycee Story," also was shown at the meeting.

Conservation Program by for Farmers

By HERBERT TREAS

Marshall County

Marshall County community again to the farmers of the nation by improving the country's ability to produce food and fiber.

Farmers who cooperate in the 1956 ACP will be helping to build up the nation's soil reserve. Not only will they be protecting the nation's soil and water resources against erosion and waste, but they will be building into the soil a resistance to erosion as well as storing up production potential in the land.

Any farmer is eligible to sign up in the 1956 Agricultural Conservation program. The ASC office located at Benton, says the program is open to all farmers. So, if you are a farmer and you are interested in this soil and water conservation program, call at your county ASC office or see your local elected ASC committeeman.

The program provides cost-sharing to aid farmers in carrying out certain approved soil and water conservation practices. The assistance is in the form of materials, services and financial aid, with the government sharing part of the cost.

Letter to Editor

Dear Editor:
I have heard "big business" and "little business" discussed pro and con all my life, and today I have just discovered the difference. Want to know? Here it is: Little business man works one year, makes $600.00, owes income tax. "Big Business" man gambles one day, wins $600,000.00 on horse races, owes no tax. Simple, isn't it.

Your friend and subscriber,
Leon Byers.

P. S. Let's all go to - Keeneland.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ed McCrady and family of Washington and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McCrady, visited their sister and daughter, Jenny and family, in Missouri Sunday.

COUNTY Soil Notes

By HERBERT ANDERSON

U. S. Soil Conservation Service
Everett Treas, Renlow Rudolph, and Joe Cathey, members of the Marshall County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, called a meeting in Benton last Friday of all community committeemen. The purpose of the meeting was to explain the 1956 Agricultural Conservation program.

Farmers participating in this program receive financial help in carrying out soil and water conserving practices.

Treas stated, "Now is the time to make application for help. This must be done and county committees approval received before the practice is started."

"Purchase orders will be issued for fertilizer this year just as they have for lime in past years," Rudolph said. "This saves the farmer having to be out so much cash at one time."

"Before coming to the office to sign for a practice the farmer should decide on one which is most needed on his farm," Cathey emphasized. "After this one has been completed and reported, he can sign for another if he desires."

Helping to explain the program in some detail were John Shemwell, office manager, and Herbert Anderson, U. S. Soil Conservation Service.

Community committeemen present for the meeting were James Hamlet, E. W. Burkhardt, Rex Anderson, Will Henson, Harrison Collins, Terrell Allen, Tilman Foust, Emil Mohler, Ollice Mason, Robert Edwards, Roy Barlow, Henry Lecky, Buford Powell, Ezra Bloomingburg, Elmer Rudolph and Garland Woods.

If you have any question regarding this program, contact one of these men who lives nearest you. They will be able to help you.

Just a reminder: Time is getting shorter for placing your order for trees, fish for your fish pond, and wildlife planting stock.

Commissioner of Conservation Laban P. Jackson, left, and Marshall Qualls, Director of the Division of Soil and Water Resources, compile a list of conservation films available for group showing. Jackson asked supervisors of Kentucky's 122 soil conservation districts to plan a widespread use of the movies during February and March. Cooperating in the program are the Divisions of Soil and Water Resources, Forestry, Flood Control and Water Usage, and the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

bride, Miss Sue Saufley of Stanford, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. O. B. Boone Jr., sister-in-law of the groom.

The attendants wore identical waltz length dresses of champagne colored embossed faille fashioned with low off shoulder necklines and cap sleeves. They wore elbow length mitts to match the dresses and their headpieces were miniature bridal veils of braided jewel crowns and illusion. Each of the bride's attendants carried a cascade arrangement of red roses and pale green angel feathers.

Meet the man who performs hundreds of "weddings" a day...

BILL BAKER

Bill is just one of about 1,300 Southern Bell cable splicers. Been with the Company almost 10 years. He's active in PTA work, likes to bowl, and is as handy with tools around the house as on the job. Was "topkick" to his National Guard pals for years.

Meet Bill Baker, cable splicer for Southern Bell. In his day's work he "joins together" the hundreds of tiny wires in the telephone cables which carry your calls.

Cable splicing is just one of many jobs it takes to fill your telephone needs. And Bill is typical of some 65,000 Southern Bell people who work as a well-coached team. Keeping intricate equipment in top shape. Putting your calls through. Giving you the kind of service you want.

Because you can depend on the people behind the lines, you can depend on your telephone — 24 hours a day.

INCOME TAX FACTS No. 4 Exemptions Cut Your Tax Bill

(This is one of a series of articles on federal income tax filing. The articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Accountants and the Kentucky Society of Certified Public Accountants.)

This year's redesigned tax forms make it easy for you to indicate the personal exemptions to which you are entitled. Every taxpayer is entitled to one exemption, which means a deduction of $600. Those 65 or over have a double personal exemption, and blind persons of all ages have an extra exemption. These rules apply to both husband and wife on joint returns.

In addition, you are entitled to one exemption for each qualified dependent, but the extra exemptions for age and blindness cannot be taken for dependents.

Rules for Dependents

To qualify for an exemption a dependent must:

1. Have received more than half his support from you, unless you file a Multiple Support Agreement (see below). In figuring support, scholarships received by your child do not count.
2. Have less than $600 gross income unless he is your child and under 19 or a student.
3. Not file a joint return.
4. Have been either a member of your household or closely related to you, as defined in the official instructions. Although cousins are not usually "close relatives" for tax purposes, a cousin receiving institutional care for a mental or physical disability who lived with you before going to the institution would qualify.
5. Have been either a citizen of the United States or a resident of the United States, Canada, Mexico, Panama, the Canal Zone or, in the case of a servant, in the Philippines.

Your exemption depends on whether you are a dependent. If you are a dependent, you must qualify under the rules at the end of the year. However, if your husband or wife died during the year you may file a joint return and take the same exemptions that both of you would have otherwise had. Similarly, if a dependent died during the year, the rules are

Multiple Support Agreement

If you shared with others in the support of a dependent, but none of you provided more than half, you may still be able to arrange among you for one of the group to have the $600 exemption. You might agree, for example, to take turns in having the exemption from year to year.

The one who claims the exemption must have contributed more than 10% of the support, and he must have been a member of a group who altogether provided more than half the support. Each member of this group must have been entitled to claim the dependent except for the requirement of providing more than half the support.

In order for one of the group to have the exemption all other members of the group who contributed over 10% must sign declarations that they will not claim the dependent. The Internal Revenue Service provides Form 2120 (Multiple Support Agreement) for this purpose.

Be sure to claim all the exemptions you properly can, because each one reduces your taxable income by $600. If you are supporting dependents, but are not able to file a joint return, you may qualify as the "head of a household" and be entitled to use a special schedule of tax rates that give you half the benefits of income splitting.

The instructions that come with your tax forms give further information. Help is also available from the Internal Revenue Service, which urges you to consult a properly qualified advisor if you need outside assistance.

If my husband died suddenly, I would receive less than $50.00 a month from Social Security. My sister tells me that a $10,000 life policy on my husband, paid to me in monthly payments, would raise my monthly income to about $100, tax free. Is this correct?

They Torqued it up for the BEST TAKE-OFF YET

FIRST THING you need in a car, of course, is power to spark performance.

And you get that in a 1956 Buick in plenty — from big 322-cubic-inch V8 engines that hit new highs in horsepower and compression.

But the power under the hood must be carried to the rear driving wheels in the form of twisting force on the drive shaft.

That's torque — the end-product of your transmission.

And the higher the torque build-up—the greater the "torque multiplication" in starting and accelerating—the better the getaway and response.

So if you want to feel take-off that leaves your breath behind you, come try a '56 Buick with Variable Pitch Dynaflo.

For in this airplane-principled transmission,

Buick engineers raised the ceiling on torque to give you the best getaway yet.

They did it with something they call "double regeneration"—a new way to make flowing oil add to its own velocity.

And when you use the full torque of a Buick beauty like the one pictured above, you're using the highest torque multiplication to be had in any standard-production American automobile today.

Come see for yourself what that means in new thrills and new safety.

You'll find brilliant new getaway response in the first inch of pedal travel—plus greater gas mileage to boot.

You'll find an electrifying new safety-surge of full-power acceleration when you floor the pedal and switch the pitch.

And you'll find this spectacular performance blended into the smoothest-traveling, the sweetest-riding, the highest-powered and the easiest-handling Buicks yet built. Drop in on us this week—today, if you can—and judge things firsthand.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

Effective Praying

Lesson for February 12, 1938

WHEN most people think of prayer they think of only one kind though there are several. The word "prayer" suggests asking for something, though it ought to suggest thankfulness, confession of sin, aspiration, trust. But leaving all those other kinds of prayer out of account, what a wonderful thing prayer is! If I could go to a millionaire and ask him for anything I wanted; or if I could have an interview with the most famous person in the world with the privilege of asking one favor—how dizzy I should be at the pleasure of the prospect! Yet God has more treasure than a millionaire, and the flame of the most renowned men is nothing compared to his glory. It is such a God to whom I can take my desires and requests, every day, every night of the year. It is only because prayer is so free that we take it for granted and fail to appreciate it. We might value the opportunity more if we had to pay well for it.

The Price of Prayer

In a way, prayer does have a price. That is to say, if prayer is to be effective, certain conditions have to be met. Jesus told some stories which bring out what these conditions are. One is the tale of two men who went into the same temple to pray. One was an old hand at it—there was a "praying class" of Jews (corresponding to a working class, or a professional class) in those days. He was a prominent member of it. The other man had perhaps very seldom prayed. The first man was a regular contributor to his church; the other man—like the average in his profession—seldom frequented the door of a place of worship. But in Jesus' story these two men found themselves side by side in the same temple, and only one was "justified." That is to say, only one got favorable attention from God. And that one was the man who had a thing to say but "God be merciful to me a sinner." To ask God for this and for that, as if we deserved it, as if it were our right to demand gifts from God—this is no way to pray. Effective prayer begins with confession and repentance, not with demands.

And to the Proud

Let us make a short list of some differences between wrong prayer and right prayer. Wrong prayer is really talking to oneself, or talking so as to be overheard by some one we want to impress. Right prayer is addressed to God alone. Wrong prayer is humble; right prayer is humble. Wrong prayer asks God to support the pride of the prayer. Right prayer casts pride away and comes to God without a claim. It is wrong prayer, I come to God asking him to do something for me which will give me a better reason than I have for being proud of myself. In right prayer, I come to God asking him to cleanse me of the pride which makes me feel that God himself is hardly necessary. In wrong prayer, the one who prays rises from his knees just as he was, for he has no wish to be changed. In right prayer, the one who prays rises a better man, for he asked God to forgive and change him.

Praying at It

Jesus seldom if ever tried to put the truth into one person. He was generally content with setting one truth at a time. So the parable of the bothersome widow, the woman who finally wore out the stubborn and selfish judge just by keeping after him,—that parable does not say everything about prayer. But it does teach one thing: Keep at it! Jesus is careful not to say that God is anything but a Judge. What he does say is that if even a bad character like that judge can be moved to the right thing by a persistent woman, surely God our Father in heaven, who is neither lazy nor stubborn nor ill-willed, will listen to persistent prayer. We must be careful not to read into the parable more than Jesus said. There is no promise here that God counts the number of times we pray for a thing, and that if we pray enough times he will be sure to answer. There is no guarantee that God will answer any prayer we can think of if we say it often enough. What Jesus promises is that God will bring justice at last... if we keep on waiting for it.

Benton Beautiful

By BEATRICE BREEZE

"And long ago I learned:
Home may be near,
Home may be far,
But it is anywhere where love,
And a few plain household treasures are."
—Grace Noel Crowell.

Last week we mentally "refurbished our surroundings," and "planted a garden" by our fire-side. Now, while winter holds us thrall, let us look at what stands in the midst of that garden — or nearby — home! That place which is "anywhere where love, and a few plain household treasures are." Perhaps that place is just about perfect in our own estimation. Yet if we are progressive souls, each day, each week, each year — there are higher standards or planes we would wish to reach. With love in our hearts for God, for our family, and for our fellow man, we have the basis for a happy family relationship which will unfold itself in a deep concern for the spiritual, mental, and physical welfare of all the members of the family.

It goes without saying there are certain fundamentals that go hand in hand with love in this development. If spiritual values take first place, then the reading of God's word and family devotions will not be neglected. If the family values mental development as it should, clean, wholesome reading material will occupy a more prominent place in our budget provision than some possession we feel we must have because "our neighbors have one." Together with the proper reading material a few good pictures, not costly, but whose subject matter holds something worthy of thought and some good music that has cultural and religious values will prove more uplifting than we know.

It has been repeated perhaps until it is trite—but "the family that plays together stays together" is too true to be overlooked in this reflection. For—this happy relationship furnishes the opportunities for counsel, for guidance, for teaching citizenship, for craft work, gardening and such other enterprises which might be engaged in that make for living rather than just existing. We don't for a moment, minimize the importance of good food, sufficient clothing and comfortable sleeping facilities as these meet the physical needs, but these, together with adequate income, do not provide the security the American home needs today. There must be love in the hearts of the parents and children must be aware of that love if they are to have the security they need. The best way to combat the ills that beset the American home today is "to set our house in order" and provide these needs. Then all children can say as the little boy said when his mother asked what makes a home:

"You, mother, and when father comes,
Our table set and shiny, and my bed,
And mother,
I think it's home
Because we love each other."

If the home which is the basic thing in our society, gives the child the security it needs, character will be built — character that will respect, honor, cherish the church, the school, and the home he shall one day found for himself. He will be the healthy-minded citizen he should be projecting his influence to make a better community and a better world.

That citizen will naturally take a positive attitude toward moments that are for the betterment of mankind and give them whatever boost he can. This month one has the opportunity to support a worthwhile cause—the Heart Drive whose purpose is to collect funds to be used in much-needed research to combat one of our greatest ills — heart disease. Thus, February has come to be known as Heart month.

Next week brings Valentine Day. For the joy and the thrill that it brings the younger generation we could well name February Heart Month in its honor. Though, primarily for the young, Valentine's Day has come to mean a time for all to express their appreciation for family and friends through small remembrances that renew and strengthen the ties of friendship.

These are a few of the ways the stalwart homes of Benton can reach out with love for their fellow man and make "Benton MORE Beautiful."

J. D. Woods of Gilbertsville was a business visitor in Benton Thursday.
