STOLEN CHICKENS BELONG TO S. FULTON PEOPLE

Owners of 35 hens, found hidden near Chamber's Crossing in Obion county Saturday morning have been located by Sheriff Burcham. The stolen chickens belonged to four residents of near S. Fulton. They are Mrs. Billie Jolley, Mrs. William Boydson, Mrs. J. C. Elam and Mrs. Mansfield. A few had been taken from each, and the coop in which some of them were found belonged to Mrs. Boydson.

The thief has not yet been located.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Thompson, Jr. of Martin, Tenn. were in Fulton Sunday afternoon.

Three Boys Drowned At Reelfoot Lake

Three Gadsden, Tenn., boys were drowned Sunday afternoon at Reelfoot Lake when their boat capsized near the spillway. This was the first tragedy of the season on the lake.

The dead are Roy C. Ferguson, 17; his brother, Clarence, 15; and Robert Young, 15. Three other boys were in the party but saved themselves by hanging onto snags until spectators could bring them in. They are Richard Agee, David Pursell and Ardell Ross, also of Gadsden.

The six boys were in one boat, and it is reported that undue roughness of the water, together with their activity in the boat, caused it to overturn.

34,314 FARMERS USED LIMESTONE IN 1939 PROGRAM

Agricultural lime was applied to Kentucky cropland by 34,314 farmers who used 763,329 tons of liming materials in earning their soil-building allowances in the 1939 Agricultural Conservation program.

These materials, including ground limestone, burnt lime and marl, were sufficient to lime more than 389,000 acres of cropland when applied at the average recommended rate of two tons per acre. Actual application rates ranged from 1,000 pounds per acre to about four tons.

Every county in Kentucky used liming materials as a soil-building practice in the 1939 program. Christian county, with 43,308 tons, led all others in the state, Warren county was second with 23,313 tons, and Hardin county was third with 23,210 tons.

Nineteen other Kentucky counties in which farmers used between 10,000 and 20,000 tons of agricultural lime last year are: Logan 19,852; Caldwell 19,615; Todd 19,502; Larue 19,054; Breckinridge, 18,162; Bourbon, 16,984; Meade, 16,741; Simpson, 16,711; Trigg, 15,565; Ohio, 12,616; Grayson, 12,512; Carter, 12,138; Barren, 11,894; Hart, 11,609; Washington, 11,581; Union, 11,254; Knox, 11,087; Shelby, 10,968; and Madison, 10,969.

Only 12 counties in the state used less than 1,000 tons of lime in connection with the program last year, and in most of these counties the tonnage used was low because of difficulty in obtaining liming materials.

Fourteen counties in the state received 30,125 tons of this agricultural lime as grants of aid in lieu of cash payments from the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. The 1940 limestone grant of aid program has been extended to 44 counties in the state.

Declaring that public decency was safe because police in the case had to use flashlights to get evidence, Magistrate C. E. Solomon of Brooklyn, freed four auto petters.

Judge Phil R. McCormick of McKittrick, Cal., fined himself the minimum for first offenders for angle parking on a state highway.

"PASS AROUND THE HAT" the hat. The men serving in the capacity of collectors of the money looked just as dignified or pious as their successors do today with their better equipment. The small change fell into the receptacles quite as readily, though it did not often make so much noise as it does on a hard plate. I have even seen dollar bills lying in hats, with a corner sticking out at a rakish angle to invite other dollar bills to follow suit. When the hats were brought to the front to be emptied it was the uniform custom to shake them well and to feel under the lining for stray coins. Very honest and straightforward collectors actually turned the lining out, nearly always finding some coins beneath and, of course, illustrating for the onlookers (and, believe me, there were onlookers) the openness of honesty. What the preacher was saying while the money was being poured out does not matter; I do not believe I ever heard a word he said. Even in church the sight of so much potential buying power stopped our ears. Just how much candy or licorice or wax could be bought with a typical country-church offering! It looked then, and still does, just a bit too much for one man, although he was the treasurer or something, to pocket all of this hoard and look as important as only such a man can look.

Church was not the only place where the hat was passed. If it had been, we might have more reverence for the custom. When a medicine show came along, with marvelous cures for everything except laziness, the suave spell-binder collected his money for the nostrums in his hat, usually a "wild Western" one. Sometimes money was raised to purchase something for the church or the school or other civic enterprise; again the sacred hat made its rounds, watched even more closely than at church. I never heard of any fun being poked at passing the hat; it was so sacred and permanent an institution that it seemed a part of our very civilization.

Our colored friends went one better on collections, for they had a plate up in front of the altar where the money was deposited by the brothers and sisters. That gave the contributors a chance to walk the full length of the church to make their contribution and, quite incidentally, show off the new dress or shoes. One of the negroes who worked for us was in a very irreligious mood one Monday morning because some of the sisters the preceding day had made two trips to the collection plate, depositing a nickel each time. The new spring clothes that they wore gave them a chance to be generous with their money and be noticed at the same time.

All of this brings up an interesting question: Just how much public attention must be given to money as such. There is still a left-over feeling that paying for anything publicly is a bit coarse or boorish. "The Old Planter's", a story by Thomas Nelson Page, records how hard it was for a Confederate colonel, who after the war ran a hotel, to accept the money of his guests. I suppose that the old gentleman felt as sheepish as country people used to feel when they charged the mere chance wayfarer for his bed and board and hay and corn for his horse.

HOW TO PROTECT CROPS AGAINST NATURAL ENEMIES

CHICAGO—In the never ending battle against plant diseases, weeds, insects, and the destructive effects of frosts and storms, farm crops that are fertilized are likely to fare better than those that are unfertilized.

This is the conclusion drawn in a statement issued here by the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee.

"Fertilizers are often associated only with increased yields," the statement points out, "yet tests have proved that they promote a sturdier growth that enables plants better to withstand their natural enemies."

"It has been demonstrated repeatedly that fertilizer gives practically every farm crop a quicker start. This is especially important in the spring when rainy weather may delay planting a week or ten days beyond the normal date."

"It has been found that fertilized corn, for example, can be cultivated several days earlier than unfertilized corn. This gives the farmer the jump on weeds. Moreover, the fertilized plants are usually stronger and thus able to resist late spring frost more easily. Experiments have shown that fertilized corn has withstood, without injury, a temperature several degrees lower than unfertilized corn could withstand."

Adding Years of Health and Beauty

At forty our grandmothers were usually prematurely old and worn.

More often than not, a large family of children used up every ounce of energy, and seldom did you find a mother who was anything but a "home body." Women in those days were more than middle-aged at thirty-five and forty.

During these last two decades health education, proper diet, scientific care before, during and after child-birth, more sensible and balanced living, have done wonders for the average woman, in adding years of health and beauty to her life.

Women at thirty-five now are at their best—they retain their youth, beauty, interest in life and sports, and are far more companionable mothers, wives and friends.

Yearly examinations and following the Doctor's advice, will add more happy, healthy years to the life of modern women and men.

Something ought to be done about this!

FORTY years ago there were few women who didn't know the back-breaking misery of doing a family washing over a tub and a washboard.

Today, few women have that experience. What made the change? First of all, someone said, "Something ought to be done about it."

In those words you have the real slogan of America. Great inventions, great industries, great social benefits result from Americans' deep desire for better living. The electrical industry, for example, was founded by Thomas A. Edison, a man who spent his entire life looking for better ways to do certain things; and today the people of your electric company carry on in the Edison tradition. They belong to the great army of workers—engineers, scientists, linemen, managers and many others—who give the United States the finest, cheapest electric service in the world. Yet they continue their tireless efforts to improve the quality of electric service and to reduce its cost.

Within the last fifteen years, these employees have done their work so well that this company has been able to cut the unit price of electricity just about in half. That means you can now use electric light, a radio, electric refrigerator, washing machine, vacuum cleaner and toaster for a total operating cost very little, if any, higher than you used to pay for light alone.

The aim of your electric company's employees is always to give you better service for less cost. Foremost in their minds is the thought, "Something ought to be done about it."

CALLING MEETING WILL BE HELD TONIGHT

A called meeting of the Supreme Forest Woodman Circle, Myrtle Grove, number 11, will be held tonight at the South Fulton school gym, when final plans will be made for the district convention, which will be held in Paducah tomorrow. All members of the drill team, district officers, and members of the circle who plan to attend the convention are urged to be present.

BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR FRANCES BOWDEN

Mrs. Harry Bowden was hostess to a party Tuesday afternoon at her home on Fourth street, honoring her little daughter, Frances, on her fourth birthday. Vari-colored flowers were used in decoration. The guests arrived at three o'clock and throughout the afternoon games were enjoyed.

The hostess served ice cream and cake at the close of the afternoon and favors of balloons, fans and pencils were given to each child. Those present were the honoree, Beverly Ann Burgess, Margaret Lee Harrison, Donna Pat Bragg, Anna Small, Bobbie Daws, Betty Anna Bowden, Joe Weaver Hill, Frankie Cardwell, Charles Sawyer, Jerry Ferguson and Charles Herbie Cathey.

CIRCLE NO. 6 MET AT CHURCH

Circle No. 6 of the Woman's Missionary Union met Monday afternoon at the First Baptist Church, with fourteen members present. Mrs. T. T. Boaz, chairman, presided over the regular business routine. Mrs. Kellie Lowe was in charge of the program and taught a part of the mission study book, "Winning Others to Christ." The members joined in singing "Rescue the Perishing," and Mrs. Foster Edwards led in prayer.

LOTTIE MOON CIRCLE IN MONTHLY MEETING

The Lottie Moon Circle of the First Baptist Church met Monday night in the home of Mrs. Edna Robey on Eddings street. Miss Bessie Lee Armbruster was co-hostess.

Mrs. Edward Pugh, president, was in charge of the meeting, and she was assisted during the business session by Miss Nell Marie Mooneyham, secretary, who read the minutes of the last meeting and called the roll. Mrs. Pugh announced that the directed personal service for the month was visiting in the hospital and getting new members. Mrs. William Henry Edwards was program leader and gave an interesting and instructive article on "Stewardship."

At the close of the meeting a social hour was enjoyed. Those present included seventeen regular members, one new member, Mrs. Willard Bard, and four visitors, Miss Rachel Jenkins, Miss Mable Caldwell, Miss Rosa Mai Bell and Mrs. Georgia Maxberry.

CLUB WITH MRS. GENE SPEIGHT

Mrs. Gene Speight was hostess to her semi-monthly bridge club Tuesday afternoon at her home on Fourth street. Mrs. Hal Kyser was the only visitor among the eight players. At the conclusion of several games Mrs. James Warren held high score and was awarded an attractive prize.

The hostess served a salad plate. The club will meet next in the home of Mrs. Dorris Valentine on the Mayfield highway.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON BUNCO CLUB

Mrs. W. B. McClain was hostess to her afternoon bunco club Tuesday at her home on Central Ave. Among the four tables of players were four visitors, Mrs. Raymond Williams, Mrs. Tom Cursey, Miss Bessie Lee Armbruster and Miss Betty Norris.

At the conclusion of the games Mrs. Marion Sharp held bunco score and her prize was a purse, Mrs. Edith Connell, high score, received a bread box, and Mrs. Will Coulter, second high, was given handkerchiefs. Low score, costume jewelry, went to Mrs. John Morris. The hostess served a sandwich plate and lemonade to her guests. Mrs. J. L. McClain will entertain this club next Tuesday at her home in Union City.

ANNIE ARMSTRONG CIRCLE

The Annie Armstrong Circle of the First Baptist Church met Monday night in the home of Mrs. Leon Hutchens on Bates street, with Mrs. Covela Arnold, co-hostess. The meeting was opened with prayer by Mrs. Clifton Hamlett, who also gave the Bible study lesson, "God's Challenge to Youth," taken from the books of Proverbs and Luke.

Following the Bible study Miss Vera Wilkinson took charge of the program. The subject for discussion was "Youth Steadfast for Christ," and she was assisted by Mrs. Ellis Beggs, Mrs. Malcolm Bell, Miss Juanita Graves, Miss Helen Tyler, Mrs. John Allred, Miss Mary Kate Hewitt, Mrs. Boyce Dumas, Miss Myra Seacore, Mrs. Leon Hutchens, Mrs. Cecile Arnold and Mrs. Hugh Rushton. The program was ended by the entire group singing "Give of Your Best to the Master," after which Miss Seacore led in prayer.

The president, Mrs. Rushton, took charge of the business hour. The minutes of the last meeting were read by Mrs. John Reeks in the absence of the secretary, Mrs. Philip Humphrey. Personal service was discussed and the roll was called with nineteen members present. The closing prayer was led by the president.

After the social session the meeting was adjourned to meet next on June 3. The place of the meeting will be announced later.

DYCUS-JONES

Miss Monette Jones and A. M. Dycus, Jr., were married Sunday night, May 12, in Mayfield, with Judge L. O. Fulcher performing the ceremony.
