THE LISTENING POST

During the past ten years or so I have lived through so many emergencies, so many crises, that for some time I have felt pretty much like a couple of exclamation points. A newspaper these days without a crisis is in a bad way, and I have an idea that many people feel as I do about the matter. Personally I would like to have a couple of days of normal living. I would be glad to have a period when the news from Europe or the East was so slight that the news editors would have to fall back on domestic news to make up the front pages. I would like to see a newspaper which did not carry the name of John L. Lewis—except possibly to see a picture of him behind the bars of some jail. In short I would like to live a little while in an atmosphere of calmness.

It is a vain hope. That I know. Emergencies will continue to come and there will be a crisis every day or so. If there is not a real crisis Mr. Ickes will manufacture one. His gasoline crisis of some weeks ago proved that. It appears to be the settled belief of some of our leaders that our national feelings cannot be whipped up to the proper pitch without these periods of crisis and emergency. They appear to believe that the simply, unadorned truth will never bring about a feeling of national unity. If so, I believe such opinion is entirely wrong.

I believe a vast majority of our real thinking American men and women may be safely trusted with the simple truth. I believe their common sense is sufficient to make up their minds as to what is best for the nation. I sincerely believe that any of our national leaders could take a trip through the great heart of America, talking to the men and women along the way, and go back to Washington with a better and more definite idea of the proper steps to take than by remaining in Washington and trying to work out the puzzle there. I believe such a quest would show any of our leaders that the great heart of America is still beating. I believe it would show them that no subterfuge, no deception is necessary, to cause our people to take whatever steps are necessary in this world crisis. Many of our leaders seem to think that long and detailed steps are necessary in order to convince the American people that we should go to war against Germany. By curious methods they appear to be trying to revive this dead patriotism.

Patriotism is not dead in America. It is not even ailing. When our people know the full truth, when they are convinced that we are really clearing our decks for action, we will see the greatest outburst of Americanism since the first World War. But I do not believe that we are going to convince the American people that everything is on the up and up until some certain and definite action is taken to stop the wave of strikes which now seems to be growing worse. I do not believe that we will ever convince Americans that they should be willing to spend their blood and treasure while John L. Lewis is permitted to tell the Government what he will and what he will not do. There is not going to be any great unity in this nation of ours as long as men talk of defense working for which they are paid large sums and demand still larger sums, while at the same time, men just as good in every way are working for the United States Army for a pittance of twenty-one

Lewis Leaves Problem Up To President

Mine Seizure By Troops Is Again Hinted

Washington. — Union and management conferences on the captive coal mine dispute broke off negotiations today, still deadlocked on a union shop issue, and John L. Lewis, standing firmly on his order for a work stoppage by 53,000 miners, checked the next action up to President Roosevelt—and may be Congress.

With this development, it was apparent that government-labor relations in the light of the defense program had reached a crisis, for Mr. Roosevelt had declared Friday that production from the coal mines—owned by steel companies busy with armament orders—must continue without delay.

C. I. C. Backs U. M. W.
Highly volatile elements in an explosive situation were the hanging threat of an industry-wide strike in the soft coal fields and the possibility of an open break between the government and the C. I. O.

(In Detroit today, the executive board of the C. I. O. pledged its unqualified support for the efforts by the United Mine Workers to gain a union shop in the captive mines.)

When today's final and fruitless conference broke up, spokesmen for the steel industry declared flatly that they were "undivided in our opposition to a closed shop or a union shop."

Truce Expires
Lewis, president of the U. M. W. asserted just as flatly that since the commercial mines operate under a union shop, which requires all workers to belong to the union, the U. M. W. "could not extend special favors to the steel companies."

The strike truce granted by Lewis for last-ditch negotiations expired last midnight, and first effects of the stoppage are expected to be apparent tomorrow morning when the miners normally would return to work after the Sabbath day of rest. While the mines would be idle, the steel mills they supply were estimated by the Commerce Department to have enough fuel on hand for about thirty days.

President Roosevelt will get a report tomorrow from both sides of the negotiations.

dollars a month. Those things do not add up, to use the vernacular, and until this problem is solved with firm and decisive action we are not going to greatly arouse the American people.

If and when we get this national unity we are really going to see Germany suffer, for that national unity will fill the skies with the greatest warplanes ever built.

Chas. Schwabs Railway Car Is Not Cheap Enough For Mr. Hill

Louisville, Ky. — President James Hill of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, a modest man of modest tastes, took one look at the $150,000 private railway car of the late steel magnate Charles M. Schwab and termed it "too fancy."

The palatial private car is now shunted on a siding at the Kentucky State Fair grounds and President Hill viewed it with the idea he would buy it if it could serve a practical purpose and was cheap enough.

But bargain hunting President Hill decided it couldn't and wasn't with the comment:

"It is a beauty all right, but its arrangement was such that none of us could use it and we weren't interested, anyway, unless we could get it more or less give-away."

Hill said the railroad was looking for something "in the steel line" to permit abandonment of one or more

BULLDOGS GET TWO MEMBERS ON ALL-WEST TEAM

Tosh And Nelms Will Take Part In Annual Classic

Rare honor came to Fulton High's Bulldogs yesterday when selections were made of the All-West team which will face the All-East team in the annual classic to be played in Lexington on November 29. At the meeting of coaches and sports writers held in Bowling Green yesterday Loren (Butch) Nelms, crack end, and Jack (Iron Man) Tosh, veteran tackle, were named to hold down starting positions on the All-West team. The meeting was held in the gymnasium of Western State Teachers College, and was in charge of Earl Ruby, sports editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal. Announcement of the entire team will be made Saturday in the Louisville newspaper, with pictures of all players. In addition to landing these two men on the all-star team, Fulton also was honored by naming two alternates, who will replace the first string selections in case of illness or inability to take part in the game. The alternates were Edward (Sug) Willingham, hard charging tail-back, and Hugh Mac (Hot) McClellan, speedy wingback in the Bulldog backfield.

The game to be played in Lexington is for the benefit of the Oleika crippled children's fund, and always draws a huge crowd. In addition to the honor which goes with selection for this all-star team, all boys who take part are given a wrist watch and a sweater.

Selection of the local players is a striking tribute to the boys themselves and to the coach, Hespel Giles, who has just finished his second year as football coach at Fulton High, and his assistant, Pete Garrett.

Coach Giles and Principal Holland attended the meeting.

wooden type cars used by executives on inspection tours.

"We have a number of so-called private cars" but we use them strictly for business. We hold meetings in them and, when we arrive in a city, we substitute them for hotels. But this car has no bath, and its biggest room is too small to accommodate the number of men we would have in a conference. It would cost too much to remodel it for our use, unless the purchase price really was low. We understand it can't be had at a bargain."

State Ranks Third Lowest In Southern Defense Contracts

Nashville, Tenn. — Kentucky ranks third lowest among southern states in the amount of United States defense contracts received from June, 1940, through September, 1941.

Frank L. Barton of the TVA, addressing the Southern Political Science Association today, cited Office of Production Management figures showing Kentucky's rank in the list, which was headed by Alabama.

Barton said the industrial east received more than half of all United States defense contracts during the year because of the country's freight transportation rate structure.

Alabama, $485,906,000; Florida, $227,186,000; Georgia, $193,868,000; Kentucky, $123,326,000; Mississippi, $177,808,000; North Carolina, $215,541,000; South Carolina, $119,479,000; Tennessee, $251,140,000; Arkansas, $112,614,000; and Louisiana, $228,246,000.

Asserting that rail rates during the past several years had discouraged the establishment of industries in the south, Barton added that there was some hope that the north-south rate differences would be adjusted in the future.

Barton, whose speech was read to delegates, said the latest figures available from the OPM disclosed that about 55 per cent of all defense contracts from June, 1940 through September, 1941, amounted

SPECIAL ECONOMY GROUP FAVORS CUT IN SPENDING

Oppose Morgenthau's Suggestion On Farm Aid

Washington. — A special economy committee was reported virtually unanimous today in the view that non-defense federal expenditures could be cut at least $1,000,000,000 annually, but two key suggestions by Secretary Morgenthau—drastic reductions in farm and highway spending—drew immediate objections.

Morgenthau, a member of the 14-man committee outlined his economy program at a closed meeting yesterday.

Besides suggesting that Congress eliminate the projected $139,000,000 federal-aid-to-state road appropriations for the 1942-43 fiscal year and make "drastic cuts in our agricultural expenditures," the Treasury head said that non-essential relation, river and harbor and flood control projects might be postponed; that the Civilian Conservation Corps and the National Youth Administration might be wiped out or drastically curtailed; and that vocational training activities might be consolidated in a new defense training bureau.

Senator McKellar (D., Tenn.), a committee member who told reporters he had been fighting for highway expenditures for 30 years, said the road program is "exceedingly popular" in Congress and "I can't think of any other thing that would get as many votes" as highway aid grants.

Many of those urging legislation were agreed that none was likely unless President Roosevelt gave it his support. Expressing this opinion, Senator Byrd (D., Va.), said: "I don't believe any legislation will be passed unless the President gets behind it. I hope he does something soon."

Freeze existing open and close shop arrangements between employer and workers.

Forbid mass picketing.

Provide for protection of workers against violence.

The attitude of the administration toward anti-strike legislation remained obscure, but was expected to be clarified after the outcome of the current captive coal mines controversy.

MEMBER IN HOUSE ATTEMPT TO FORCE ANTI-STRIKE ACTION

Little Hope Unless President Gives His Aid

Washington. — A group of House members, it was learned today, is drafting broad new anti-strike legislation as a preliminary to an attempt to force congressional action on the question of restricting defense production stoppages.

Members of the group asked that their names be withheld but disclosed that a proposed legislation would:

Compel a 30-day cooling off period, during which the Labor Department's conciliation service would function, between a strike call and the effective date.

Forbid a strike unless it was approved by the majority vote of affected workers by secret ballot under government supervision.

Forbid sympathy, jurisdictional and boycott strikes.

Freeze existing open and close shop arrangements between employer and workers.

Forbid mass picketing.

Provide for protection of workers against violence.

HARTMAN RETURNS TO METHODIST CHURCH HERE

Rev. Rucker Is Returned To Fulton Circuit

To the delight and pleasure of the entire community, Rev. Loyal O. Hartman was returned to the pastorage of the First Methodist Church here at the annual conference which closed its sessions at Dyersburg yesterday. Rev. Hartman came to Fulton a year ago from the Dyersburg church, and the past year has been a period of great progress for the local church. It was believed that Rev. Hartman would be returned, but definite announcement to this effect was received with great pleasure by the community. Some ambitious plans are under way for the coming year, according to announcement made some time ago, and without doubt Rev. Hartman will lead his congregation to greater heights.

Rev. Rucker, pastor of the churches making up the Fulton circuit, was returned for another year and this, too, is good news for the community. Rev. Peery will be on the South Fulton circuit, succeeding Rev. Kelly, who served last year. Rev. Peery is well known here and will be welcomed back by his many friends.

Time For Talk Is About Over Japan Claims

Far Eastern Relations Grow Worse, In View Of Capital

The Far Eastern crisis between Japan and the United States and Britain worsened today with the assertion by Foreign Minister Shigenori Togo that the time for negotiations with the United States was drawing toward a close. He warned "there is naturally a limit to our conciliatory attitude."

With Japanese emissary Saburo Kurusu in Washington for an unsolicited eleventh-hour try at a negotiated settlement of clashing policies in the Pacific, Chinese forces were reported blowing bridges and tearing up road beds in the Kwangsi and Yunnan provinces of China bordering Japanese-occupied French Indo-China.

TABLES ARE TURNED ON JAPANESE WAR LORDS

Called into special session by the Tojo Government, the Japanese Diet which convenes today will face a sudden reversal of plans and calculations. The meeting was to have coincided with a conference in Washington between the special Japanese "peace" envoy, Saburo Kurosu and President Roosevelt. The envoy was to deliver a virtual ultimatum to the United States to relinquish all rights and interests in the Far East. Simultaneous with the Washington conference, the Diet would give the go sign to the Army and Navy to carve out the co-prosperity sphere in East Asia.

But the Japanese envoy was delayed by storms in the Pacific. He is only now on the last lap of his journey from Shanghai. Instead of a Japanese ultimatum there is something like an Anglo-American ultimatum. Prime Minister Churchill's declaration that should the United States become involved in a war in the Far East Britain would take a stand beside it "with in the hour," serves as a salutary warning. And to the little game of intimidation Congress replies with revision of the Neutrality Act. It is Japan that is now on the hot seat. The United States is prepared to sit tight.

Of course, the United States desires peace in the Pacific but not at the sacrifice of its rights, its interests and its principles. It will not be intimidated and it will not be coerced. And it will not allow Japan to play Germany's game in its quarter of the globe as Italy played it in the Mediterranean. If Kurosu came to force a showdown on the United States he may find that Japan faces a show-down.

In the war to defeat Hitler and Hitlerism—and President Roosevelt has made it amply plain that the United States is out to defeat Hitler—Japan has become a decided nuisance. It has immobilized a large part of the American and British fleets which are needed in the Battle of the Atlantic. It has diverted arms, planes and men to the Orient when they are needed elsewhere. Like Italy it is waiting vulture-like to prey on the victims of Nazi conquests or on those engaged in the world struggle with the Nazis. It is therefore not for Japan to threaten the United States into "a retreat from East Asia"; it is for the United States to insist on the maintenance of the peace in the Pacific. There is a limit to Anglo-American patience no less than to Japanese-German patience.

That is something like the situation confronting the Japanese Diet which was called to sanction an all-out attack on Thailand, on Burma, on Siberia, on Singapore, on the Dutch East Indies or wherever it was decided to strike.—Courier-Journal.

Training For Defense

By Rufus T. Strohm

Dean, International Correspondence Schools

THE big problem of American industry is to get the utmost production from existing machines and men. We could profit by a plan originated in Canada that is reported to be doubling the capacity for production of war materials.

It has to do with idle machines and busy men.

The Canadian paper and pulp industry began training a number of workers to make defense machines.

During the 16 hours daily when the repair shops of that industry were not in operation. When the resources of men and machines in the paper industry had been catalogued, the operators offered the government their facilities for the 16 hours daily to make airplane-engine parts, tank-engine parts, and fuses for shells and bombs.

Once the workers proved they could deliver parts to specification, the paper industry received a flood of sub-contracts from the government. Today this plan is providing a sizable part of the million and one-half man-hours needed for all-out aid to Britain.

Other Canadian industries which are not directly engaged in the production of munitions have volunteered their repair-shop facilities during stand-by periods. They also have offered to train unskilled men for war production. The mining industry, railroads, and public utilities now are following the same plan. This assures that every Canadian wheel is turning for defense.

The added man power comes from youthful and unskilled workers guided by skilled machinists. To qualify for the higher paying jobs, the unskilled men are required to study I.C.S. shop-practice courses in their spare time.

Training For Defense

By Rufus T. Strohm

Dean, International Correspondence Schools

WHEN shifting of workers from one job to another so that they can acquire new skills and handle several different jobs in one plant if necessary, is called "upgrading."

Experienced personnel managers say this system keeps men from going stale, improves morale, insures skilled labor for all operations, and frequently produces all-around skilled men for foremen and other top production jobs.

Short refresher study courses are being used increasingly to hurriedly train men and women for industrial jobs. Many such courses, supplied by various institutions are financed by the government. Other study courses are financed in part or entirely by employers.

The cry is for skilled men, and the supply is far too short in some industries now engaged in national defense projects. Some educators are confident that plenty of skilled labor can be trained for the defense program if employers will realize that they can no longer hang out a "help wanted" sign, but must arrange their operations to utilize specialized skills and then take the time and trouble to train new workers for these skills.

We have stepped almost overnight from a surplus of workers to a shortage of workers, especially skilled and semi-skilled workers. Recently one of the nation's foremost educational authorities said, "We will have the task of convincing parents and children that a high school education may, and probably should, lead to a machine shop rather than a desk."

School answered the roll call of the Junior Red Cross 100 pct. It is the first colored school in Obion county to have reached this goal.

DUNNING-WALKER MARRIAGE SUNDAY

Announcement is being made today of the marriage of Miss Marcella Dunning, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Dunning, Fourth street, to J. D. Walker, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Walker, Maple Avenue. The marriage was solemnized yesterday afternoon, November 16, at the Baptist parsonage with the minister, Rev. E. A. Autrey, officiating, using the single ring ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Murrell Grissom were the couple's only attendants. The bride was attractively dressed in a tailored coat suit of navy blue and navy blue accessories and she wore a shoulder corsage of white carnations.

The couple left last night for Paducah where they will make their home, the groom being employed there in the I. C. Shops.

Wedding Dinner
Following the wedding the bride and groom and several relatives were guests at a wedding dinner in the home of the groom's parents. For the occasion Mrs. Walker's house was decorated in yellow chrysanthemums. A beautifully decorated wedding cake centered the table.

Those attending besides the bride and groom were the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Dunning, Misses Mary Alice and Betty Jean Dunning, Miss Mae Carter, Mrs. W. H. Cox, Mrs. A. H. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Wade Cox and little daughter, Dorothy, Mrs. Ben Norman, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Walker, James Walker and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Walker, the groom's parents and hosts.

PALESTINE HOME-MAKERS IN MEETING FRIDAY

The Palestine Homemakers Club held its regular monthly meeting Friday, November 14, at the home of Mrs. Leman Drysdale. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Roy Bard, at 10:30 o'clock in the morning. After the roll call, with fifteen members answering, the recreation leader, Mrs. Homer Weatherpoon, led the club in repeating the Preamble to the Constitution of the United States. Mrs. Roy Bard gave a report on the Red Cross membership drive, reporting twenty-six members.

Mrs. Morgan Davidson spoke on National Defense, using as her subject, "How the Farm Can Help." Mrs. Richard Mobley gave a talk on foods and the value of certain vitamins.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. Roy Bard and Mrs. Allie Browder, served a delicious lunch to the members and one visitor, Mrs. Moss from the McFadden club.

Following the lunch Mrs. Weatherpoon led the group in singing and then the subject, "What Does Democracy Mean to You," was presented and discussed by the members.

The meeting was then turned over to the major project leaders, Mrs. Ethel Browder and Mrs. Roy Bard, who gave the lesson on "Padding Chairs for Slip Covers." Mrs. Catherine Thompson, Home Demonstration Agent, showed a group of pictures on landscape work as prepared by Mr. Elliott, State Landscape Leader.

The meeting adjourned to meet December 12 at the home of Mrs. Gus Browder.

SPORT TALK

Football, insofar as Fulton is concerned, is now definitely a thing of the past. The Bulldogs wound up their season a week ago with a smashing victory over Mayfield to give the team the best record in a number of years. The Red Devils of South Fulton brought a fine season to a close in Portagesville, Mo., Friday night by whipping the Missouri team soundly, this making two victories over that team. South Fulton played four games against two Missouri teams, winning all of them. The only game lost was an upset to Sharon, a team which the Red Devils had beaten previously. That, by the way, was the only defeat for South Fulton in regular season play in three years of six-man football. Coach Haynes did a fine job this season despite some unforeseen handicaps.

The two local schools are now tuning up for the basketball wars.

Practice has been under way at South Fulton for several days, informally, but inability to secure the floor prevented Coach Giles from beginning his regular grind some time during the past week. The Junior Class carnival used the floor Friday night and had to have it a day or so ahead in order to prepare for the carnival, therefore the Coach set his beginning date for this afternoon. He knows there must be some intensive practice done, for six games face the team during the month of December. Some are games he would decidedly like to win, too. For example, Murray and Paducah come to Science Hall during that period and Coach Giles and his Bulldogs still remember the overwhelming defeats suffered at the hands of those two teams a year ago. They would like to do something about it, and all hands know some hard practice must be indulged in right away. The first game comes on the night of December 5, when Cayce brings a pretty good team to Science Hall. Cayce is likely to have a much better team than last year and will have an advantage of several games played when the local engagement rolls around. Two games have already been played, and the Cayce outfit will probably have at least four games under their belt when they come here. That gives a decided advantage, for games go pretty far in getting a team ready.

The eyes of football fans will be turned on Paducah this week. Tilghman's Big Blue team, with two tie games, one defeat and six victories, will face the Mayfield Cardinals on the Tilghman turf Thursday afternoon in the 29th renewal of their series of games. Early in the season, most observers deemed Mayfield the best, but Tilghman's victory over Manual of Louisville and Mayfield's loss to Fulton, seemed to change this opinion, and for the past few days Paducah has been the favorite. However, there is little ground for making Tilghman much of a favorite. The Cardinals have a team which is fully as big as Tilghman's, and they have plenty of reserves. It may not be as smart as Tilghman's, but it is a big, rugged outfit and fully capable of taking care of everything Tilghman has to offer. Since the unexpected defeat in Fulton Coach Cochran has really been putting his squad through the mill, and from all past experience, it is likely the Cardinals will be ready to meet anything Paducah dishes out. Nor should the Fulton defeat cause any one to regard the Cardinals lightly. To tell the literal truth, any team would have had its hands full with the Bulldogs on Armistice Day afternoon. The team was "up" in every

THE WINKLER STOKER WILL SAVE YOU THE MOST MONEY

A Winkler Stoker gives you the very best in clean, even, automatic heat. Electrically controlled. No smoke, soot or ash. Ends furnace labor. Burns less coal. Burns cheaper coal. It pays for itself.

Years Ahead In Money-Saving and Work-Saving Features. Why do thousands and thousands buy Winklers instead of some other make? It is because Winkler gives the most value for the money! You get a bigger, sturdier, easier running, absolutely leak-proof machine that will do more work for less money. The marvelous Winkler Inter-Plan Transmission eliminates clatter, noise, without the use of clutches or motor overload. Tremendous steam production cuts the cost of Winkler's to little more than the very cheapest but superior quality, and longer life, and greater fuel savings make Winkler THE LOWEST IN COST.

way. The regulars played practically the entire game, and little bad luck came their way. If it had been Paducah facing the Bulldogs that day the result might have been the same; and plenty of folks who have seen Hopkinsville play said that they never saw any better playing by the Tigers than the Bulldogs gave that day.

The Mayfield-Tilghman fracas will probably attract a crowd of four or five thousand if the weather is good. That's real money for high school football games.

A HEADS-UP HONEY—

all the way

GO ahead—slide into that inviting front seat and press the starter treadle.

Feel better? You bet! Know it or not, your chin's higher already, just picturing yourself traveling into tomorrow in this rugged Buick.

And if it's a long road ahead, who cares? That's a more efficient valve-in-head under your bonnet, isn't it?—and with Compound Carburetion! to guarantee top power and top range!

Or suppose the going does get rough—haven't you all-coil springs to float you gently through bad going, and new, broad-rim wheels to ease and steady the ride?

What matter if this car should have to do you two or three times as long as usual—Buick's trim looks are only the outward dress of brawn that's the match for as many years as you want to name.

Things like husky frames, torque-tube drive, extra-strength connecting rods, oil-cushioned bearings that go twice as long under equal loads—such things mean you're all set for tomorrow and tomorrow, ad infinitum.

So head now for your Buick dealer and a Buick try-out. It's "first come, first served," and you wouldn't want to miss out getting yours, now would you?
