Softball Games Will Be Played Friday

Softball fans will be interested in two games scheduled for Friday evening at the South Fulton park when the Royals meet the Whites and the Dodgers meet the Crusaders. Both promise to be games above the average and a large crowd of interested fans will be expected.

The next game after this will be played June 24 when the Blues meet the Cardinals in the first game and the Tigers and the Bulls in the second.

At a meeting of the board of directors and managers of the various teams Monday night it was decided to change the name of the association to the Fulton Sunday School Athletic Association, and probably to have basketball listed as an association sport after the close of the present softball season.

New rules and regulations for sports of the association were adopted as follows:

1. That the territory from which members of the respective teams in the Fulton Sunday School Athletic Association is hereby limited to an area to include the city limits of Fulton and South Fulton and adjacent territory not to exceed three (3) miles from the said city limits, with the exception that members of the teams who were registered and on the active list in the Sunday schools of Fulton three (3) months or more prior to the opening of the league softball be allowed to participate in league activities; also, that students whose homes are in Fulton but who attend college or university during the school term be given the same privileges as any other Fulton member of Sunday schools, provided that these folks fulfill the eligibility requirements for attendance.

2. That the borrowing of players from other teams to fill vacancies of absent players be discontinued and the ones to play must be signed on the team with which they are playing. In case a team lacks sufficient players when the game is called the manager has the option of playing with what members of his team are present or forfeiting the game.

A report of the treasurer, Edward Pugh, showed bills paid, and a nice balance in the treasury.

REA REDUCES LINE REQUIREMENTS

It was announced today by W. E. Herring, Consulting Engineer, REA, that the Rural Electrification Administration has reduced the requirements for new line extensions from $12.00 per month per mile to $8.50 per month per mile.

Under the old plan the members of the cooperative who now have service had to guarantee to use at least $12.00 worth of electricity per month per mile before the lines were built. R. T. Hosman, project superintendent, stated. Many miles were built under this plan. Almost 500 rural farm homes in the two counties now have electric service. Every one of these homes is exceedingly well-pleased with electric service. Preliminary surveys for several miles of line under the old plan are now in the Washington office awaiting an allotment for construction. These lines will be built in the near future.

However, through the economical line construction cost that REA is experiencing at present, the amount the rural people must guarantee can be reduced to $8.50 per month per mile. This means that electricity will be brought to rural people at a monthly cost heretofore said impossible by almost everyone, and therefore never dreamed of by anyone. Through the economical construction cost REA makes electricity available to everyone. Every rural home that wants electric service will find it within its means. Many homes in Hickman, Fulton and Carlisle Counties heretofore were deprived of the benefits of electricity because the monthly charges to build the line past their homes were prohibitive. This is no longer true. The cost of electricity is now within the means of even the poorest family.

Many new line extensions will be run to those wanting service. New preallotment surveys will be run. Community meetings will be held in those communities requesting a meeting. Many rural homes will be lighted in the next six months. However, this does not mean that the rural families will merely sit and wait for electricity. Each community must request the service. REA builds lines only in those communities desiring a line. If your community desires a line, contact immediately the REA office in Hickman or your County Agent. Just how long this $8.50 per month per mile will continue will depend upon the price of construction material. Construction cost will go up and the monthly charges will go up. Get your line now while the money is available and costs are low. Remember, contact the REA office in Hickman or your County Agent.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL LOANS BULLS

The Illinois Central, through its agricultural department, has for several years been promoting the dairy industry in this territory with much success in co-operation with the business men and farmers in the Fulton trade area. However, there is not sufficient milk and cream produced to supply the raw material needed by the creameries and other milk plants in Paducah and other markets drawing from this section.

The Illinois Central had on exhibition here in Fulton a carload of fine purebred Jersey bulls Monday evening. Farmers and business men turned out to see them and pronounced them the best bunch of bulls ever exhibited here.

H. J. Schweitert, general agricultural agent for the Illinois Central System, was in charge, assisted by P. R. Farlow and B. M. Luttrell, agricultural agents for the railroad with headquarters at Chicago and Memphis respectively. Mr. Schweitert stated that it will be the continued policy of the Illinois Central to promote dairying and develop more efficient dairy herds by the use of better sires. He stated that a good herd of dairy cows properly cared for, handled and fed was one of the best assets a farmer could have. He further stated that dairy farming is the highest type of farming to rebuild the soil and conserve soil fertility. It was this gentleman's opinion that the time is approaching, if in fact it is not already here, when there will be a shortage of good dairy cows and that farmers and dairymen will find themselves facing the problem of where to find good dairy heifers and young cows to replace their depleted herds.

One of the bulls was placed with Arthur Thompson in the Cayce, Ky., community. This bull's name is Double Justice. His sire is Eugene Justice, whose mother made 552 pounds of fat in a year as a three-year-old on twice a day milking, which is the mature equivalent of 767 pounds in a year, twice a day milking.

This young bull's mother, Estelle Justice, has made 526 pounds of fat in a year, twice a day milking, as a three-year-old, which is the mature equivalent of 662 pounds of fat in a year, twice a day milking. These records were made under farmer conditions and are outstanding. The use of bulls like these will build dairy herds that will put money in the farmers' pockets, said Mr. Schweitert.

The Obion County Farm Bureau completed a deal Tuesday, purchasing the N. L. Williams residence on the corner of Court Square and Second street. The price paid was $3500.

The Bureau plans to make this the future home of its organization. However, it hasn't made plans for immediate moving of the office into the new location. The Bureau has had this move under consideration for some time and closed the deal while the site is available and will make its future plans later.

Among other plans for the building, in addition to offices for the Farm Bureau, the organization has in mind at present to make this a center for Farm Bureau members and their families, and a headquarters while they are in Union City.

NEW COACH ELECTED AT FULTON HIGH

Herschel R. Giles, of Harlan, Ky., was elected as coach at Fulton High School, succeeding Jack Carter, in a called meeting of the Board of Education last week. Giles has served as coach at Black Star High School, near Harlan, for the past five years, and comes to Fulton well recommended. He was graduated from Center College in 1935 and has done post graduate work in the University of Kentucky for the past four summers.

YMBC In Dinner Meeting Tuesday

The Young Men's Business Club met in its regular dinner meeting at 6:45 o'clock Tuesday night at the Rainbow Room, with the president, Hendon O. Wright, presiding. Present were 52 members and two visitors, J. O. Lewis, superintendent of city schools, and Herschel Giles, new athletic director and coach at Fulton High. Each made a short talk.

Mr. Lewis thanked the Y. M. B. C. for the help given to the school recently and stated that things that other clubs would not do because they did not meet with unanimous approval, had been done by this club for the benefit of the community. Mr. Giles pointed out to the club the difficulties of having a winning team and stated the things the club would have to do in order for him to produce the type of team desired. Giles said that he had had 16 years in football and would give Fulton the best he could in high school athletics.

The club voted to have the next dinner meeting on Tuesday, July 9, at the Lodge Home Makers Club building.

James Meacham, chairman of the Thursday afternoon closing committee, reported that all merchants had signed the petition to close on Thursday afternoons during July and August, beginning Thursday, July 4.

Robert H. Binford, chairman of the motion picture committee, stated that arrangements were complete and that the showing of the Y. M. B. C. Views reel will be held at the Orpheum Theatre on the first two nights that there are no baseball games.

Robert Graham, chairman of the Highlands and Riceville project committee, told the club that two meetings had been held in Highlands and one in Riceville and at all meetings property owners seemed willing to OK the project for obtaining a water system at both places. A committee is circulating a petition among the property owners of each place and a good percentage has already signed. Judge Walker has agreed to sponsor the movement and plans are made to start the survey.

Sam Hardin, WPA administrator of this area, Paducah, has assured the committee that things would move fast in order to get the project under way. He also told the committee that he wished the Y. M. B. C. would find more projects in the Fulton area for WPA, as very few had been obtained here.

At this time Mr. Lewis explained what had happened in the loss of the new school building. He stated that it had never been the desire of the school board to work with the WPA, because after inspecting several WPA school buildings, they did not feel that the building would justify putting the money into it. They had attempted to obtain a PWA grant but were too late sending it in. A State Fire Marshall has instructed the Board of Education what repairs must be made to Carr Institute in order to open for the Fall term. The board has agreed to make repairs and use the building two years and then try to build a new one at the expense of the school district.

William Henry Edwards told the club of the Scout activities and announced the annual ice cream supper to be held next Wednesday night.

Yewell Harrison thanked the club on his own behalf and that of the band for the very fine band stand that has been built on Lake street. The band stand was made possible through a vote of the club, at an expense of $62 and the obtaining of a lease from the I. C. R. R. for the ground the stand sets on, at a price of $1 per year.

M. L. Parker, dance director, told the club of the dance to be held tonight at Woman's Club. Jack Spratt and his orchestra is being brought to Fulton direct from the Hotel Netherland Plaza in Cincinnati. He stated the expenses in putting on this dance and asked for the full cooperation of all club members.

OUR ARMY AIR CHIEF

In connection with the proposed great expansion of our military air force, the personality of the Army's air corps chief is of particular interest. He is Major General Henry H. Arnold, who has been the head of the corps since September, 1933, and is now 53 years old.

General Arnold was one of the Army's earliest aviators, and has been a flying officer for 29 years, during which time he has set many aviation records, the first being an altitude record of 6,540 feet in 1912 when planes were crude affairs compared with those of the present.

In the same year he was the first flyer to receive the Mackay trophy for a reconnaissance flight in what has been described as "an elaborate, chain-and-sprocket, 40-horsepower biplane of the early Wright type." In this year, too, he was the first military aviator to use radio to report his observations.

Five years ago General Arnold again won the Mackay trophy for his notable feat of leading a group of 10 bombing planes from Washington to Fairbanks, Alaska, under most adverse conditions. He is known as an expert in general aeronautical engineering, in aerial mass tactics and other technical branches as well as being one of the most skillful fliers in the army.

A consistent advocate of an enlarged air force, General Arnold will now have a leading part in directing the new program which is expected to give this country the most powerful air fleet in the world.

A FORMER INVADER

In view of present threats of an invasion of Britain by Hitler, numerous writers have recalled that the last time the British Isles were subdued by an outside foe was in 1066, when William the Conqueror led the epochal struggle known to history as the Norman Conquest.

William was the illegitimate son of Robert the Devil, duke of Normandy, and Arlette, daughter of a tanner at Falaise, where he was born. He was a cousin of Edward the Confessor, who is said to have offered him the succession to the English crown. Harold, earl of Wessex, who had claims to the throne, was also reputed to have agreed to this arrangement.

Upon the death of Edward, however, Harold accepted the crown, and William successfully landed an expedition in England, defeating Harold, who was killed at the famous battle of Hastings on October 14, 1066. Within five years William had conquered all England and became William I, although many insurrections against his authority occurred from time to time.

William fought numerous battles to hold his original territory in Normandy, being pitted at times against his own son, Robert. While at war with the French he burned the town of Mantes, where his horse plunged into a mass of hot cinders, inflicting injuries from which William the Conqueror died on September 9, 1087.

Although William was stern, self-reliant and unscrupulous, he was less cruel than many warriors. He did, however, once wreak terrible vengeance on a French district, whose inhabitants had taunted him with his illegitimate birth.

A FAMOUS OPERATION

Grover Cleveland was elected President of the United States in 1884, but failed of re-election four years later, although he received the highest number of popular votes. In 1892 he sought election again, although he was suffering from a mouth ailment which proved to be cancer, and was successful in winning a second term.

Shortly after he took office for the second time, the country experienced the severe panic of 1893, and President Cleveland's condition became such as to require an operation. Fearing public knowledge that the President was afflicted with cancer would further depress the economic situation, it was decided to have the operation performed secretly.

As related by Dr. W. W. Keen, one of the attending surgeons, this was done on the yacht Onida, owned by Commodore E. C. Benedict, while cruising in the waters of Long Island Sound. A part of Cleveland's left jaw and a portion of his palate were cut away, and in five days the distinguished patient was able to walk ashore from what was supposed to have been merely a recreation cruise.

Cleveland recovered, served out his term and lived until 1908, some 15 years after the operation, the story of which was not made public until it was told by Dr. Keen in 1917. A vulcanized rubber substitute for the removed jawbone enabled Cleveland to keep his secret.

4 A. M. Meant For All Morning

By IRVIN S. COBB

A GENTLEMAN-ABOUT-TOWN strayed far away from town. He found himself in the wheat belt. He was city-fed and he knew not the ways of the ruralists. Also he was without funds.

In this emergency he secured a job with a farmer whose crop stood in need of harvesting. At four o'clock next morning, in accordance with the ancient custom, the proprietor awakened the new hand where he slept in the spare room. A few minutes later the farmer was startled to see his new employee crossing the dooryard with great strides and evidently heading for the open spaces.

"Hey," shouted the farmer, "come on back and get your breakfast before you go to work." "Work, hell!" answered the departing one. "I'm goin' to look for a place where I can stay all night!" (American News Features, Inc.)

A WORLD WAR BLUNDER

Blundering by the Allies in the present war has ample precedent in the former World War, which they nearly lost through early mistakes. The most disastrous blunder was the Dardanelles expedition of 1915, which cost more than 215,000 effective soldiers and sailors, including killed, wounded, missing, and those incapacitated through an epidemic of dysentery.

The Dardanelles, also anciently called the Hellespont, is the long narrow strait which affords the connecting link between the Mediterranean and the Black seas, and then commanded by Turkey, an ally of Germany. The attack was made by a combined British and French fleet, later joined by British army forces.

It was an effort by the Allies to open water traffic from Russia to Britain and France; also to cut off the Asiatic Turks from the theater of war, and control Constantinople. After numerous unsuccessful attacks, resulting in the enormous losses mentioned, the campaign was abandoned after a few months.

The ill-fated venture was investigated by a commission of the British Parliament, which placed the blame for the disaster on Premier Asquith, Lord Kitchener, Admiral John Fisher and Winston Churchill (the present prime minister), who was then first lord of the admiralty.

British prestige was greatly impaired by the failure of this expedition, and there is no doubt that the entry of Bulgaria into the war on the side of Germany was largely influenced by it.

FOOD AND HEALTH

From a modest beginning 57 years ago, a pioneer kitchen for food study has grown to be one of the great dietetic laboratories of the country, at which Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt was recently an interested visitor, according to a press dispatch.

It is at Battle Creek sanitarium where food is prepared for that health center's hundreds of patients and guests, and where special attention is given to the vitamin and mineral content of every item of food served.

This all began in 1883, when the late Ella Eaton Kellogg, wife of the sanitarium's founder, Dr. John Harvey Kellogg, decided to establish an experimental kitchen. Here she worked long hours in her efforts to provide more appetizing dishes for about a hundred persons who er food is one of the most important keys to good health.

Money Talks

The "blitzkrieg" in Holland and Belgium not only affected these countries but has caused a "blitzkrieg" in the stock markets of this country. The value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange has dropped over 7 billion dollars in the last month. And whenever the stocks listed on one exchange drop this much you may be assured many people are adversely affected. Most people are not speculators but persons like you and me who invest their savings in stocks and bonds expecting to secure dividends and interest.

General Motors Corporation has over 386,000 stockholders, and American Telephone and Telegraph Company over 600,000 shareholders. So you see it's not the wealthy alone who are interested in what is taking place on the stock markets.

The decline in price was due largely to fear rather than to reasoning and careful analysis. Fear that the Allies are on the brink of defeat; fear that early peace will hurt American business; fear that a German victory will injure American foreign trade.

Careful reasoning will reveal that American industry, as a whole, is on a solid basis; that normally we export only about 10% of our products. Why should we permit the 10% of our business to upset our sense of values when the 90% is done at home where business is relatively good? We are still buying automobiles and radios, going to the movies, and buying food and clothing. Factories are still operating and men and women working. We have overlooked all these sound factors and let fear rule our action.

If we can use past values as a yardstick many stocks and bonds are now at bargain prices. Disregarding international conditions and basing our conclusions strictly on what domestic corporations are earning and what they are passing on to the stockholders in dividends, the prices of many dividend paying stocks look mighty inviting. It appears to me money can be made by buying good stocks and bonds now.

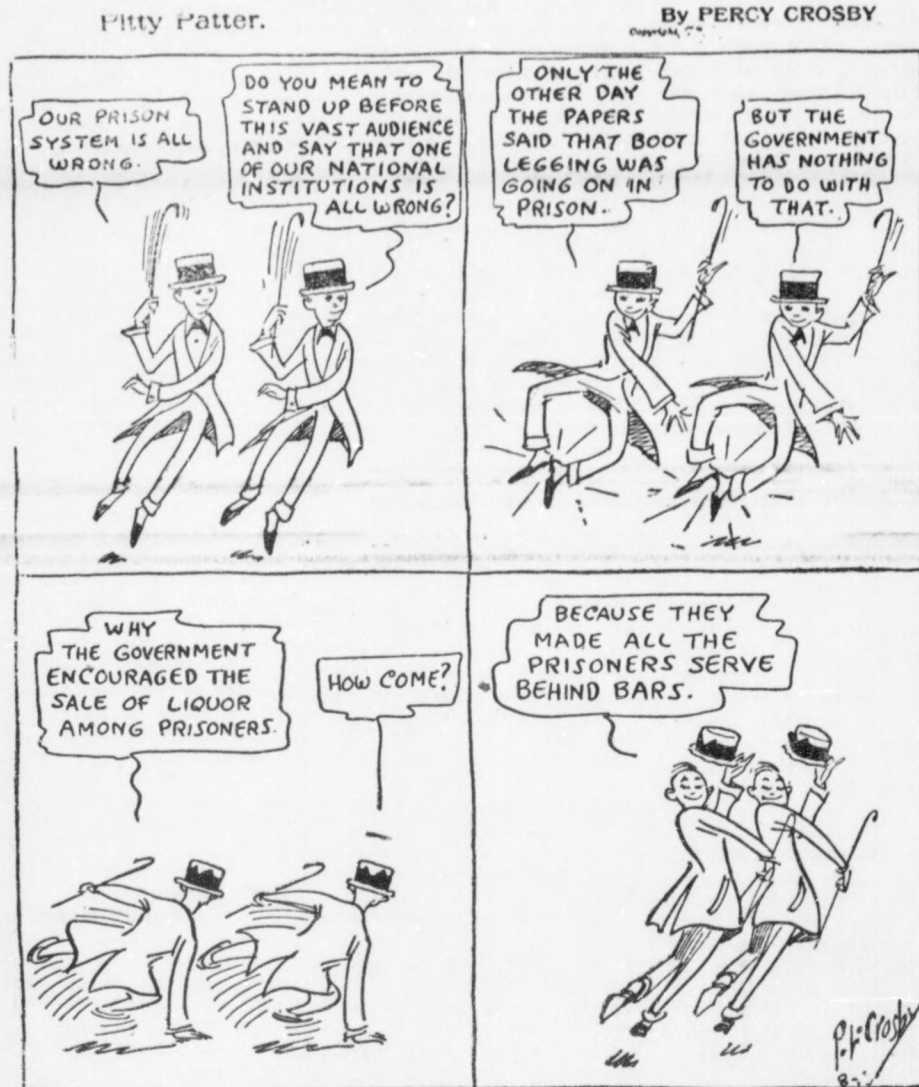

Have you ever noticed how "smart" "dumb" animals are? We speak of our dumb animals in a way that would make us feel they are to be pitied.

Have you ever seen horses race each other to the top of a hill? Have you ever seen horses traveling on the wrong side of the road at break-neck speed?

Safety is a funny thing. Dumb animals take to it naturally. It is born and bred right into them. Man, however, supposed to be on top in the intellectual order, does all the dumb things dumb things do not do. Safety is 99% common sense; accidents are 99% thoughtless hurry.

OLD-FASHIONED HOURS

Nothing smacks more of our living in a modern world than the constant reminders we have of the passage of time as well as the correct and infinitesimal division of time itself. It is a remote neighborhood indeed that does not have a chance to set its clocks and watches every fifteen minutes by radio. All the old reliance on a family clock or watch that was thought to be infallible has vanished; nobody seems to think now that the solar system is run by his timepiece. If one's watch does not agree with the time announced by the radio, then the watch is at fault; the owner no longer feels superior when his watch registers a few minutes slower or faster than his neighbor's.

Time was not so often checked on in other days. Even railroad time was somewhat scorned. Very few people kept their Seth Thomases on railroad time. Nearly everybody tried to keep "sun" time, probably about the hardest kind of time in the world unless it is checked by an astronomer of merit. Certain floor planks in the kitchen or certain ceiling planks on the wall indicated time to hundreds of people and were sworn by more than any of us would regard anything short of naval time broadcast from Washington.

This individual type of time caused some funny things to happen. Some neighbor would be so far ahead of us that his farm bell would ring for dinner fifteen minutes ahead of any other bell. We got even with such people by getting up much earlier, according to our clock. This matter of getting up earlier was and remains one of the fetiches of farm life. I have known people to pride themselves on eating both breakfast and supper by lamplight, even on the longest summer days. I once boarded in such a home and was regularly eating breakfast at four o'clock in first days of July. Some people thought that one had not done a full day's work unless he started before the sun came up. Bedtime varied considerably, in spite of this obsession about early rising. Some of our neighbors "went to bed with the chickens." Others, especially those who liked to read or talk after supper, sat up until ten o'clock or later. We boys used to swear that our fathers called us earlier the morning after we had been to a party the night before.

In spite of normal bedtime hours we sat up long when troops of company came to sit till bedtime or to spend the week-end. Even the small children would be forgotten and allowed to hear many more startling tales as told by the visitors. In most instances it was necessary to get the whole party ready for bed about the same time, as all rooms had to be used, and pallets or other beds had to be made on the floor. For years I wondered why I can camp out so easily and sleep on the ground, when few men of my age can do so. Recently it occurred to me that I got toughened to sleeping on the floor when the relatives came in hordes in the summer months. Even if there were enough beds to go around, we had often to sleep three a bed, which just explains sleeping so soundly in a pup tent.

A very ticklish point of time concerned the hour when a young gentleman caller should say farewell and mount his steed. Families disagreed on this: some preferred 9:30, some thought 10:00 correct. Any young man staying over the correct hour was likely to have bedtime called on him. The girl's father resorted to the dropping-the-shoe technique, which still prevails; a very loud "Bedtime" usually followed when this hint was not taken. What is Time? Some of our people still feel hurt at suggestions about running up or setting back the clocks. During the Great War some people referred to Mr. Wilson's time as opposed to God's time.

Don't let garden insects get the start on you, be on the lookout for any of the common insects, get to them in time and use proper material in the proper way then you will find that their control is not so difficult but if insects are on your garden plants and you stay out of your garden you are likely to have plenty of insects.

For detailed information concerning the control of garden insects call at the county agent's office and ask for information and bulletins that I feel will be of some help to you.

Twelve million tomato plants have been shipped from Fulton County to Northern states for commercial use. Eighty-five acres of tomato plants were grown in the delta sections on Ernest Johnson, Wayne Yates and Jesse Johnson farms.

HOME AGENT NOTES

The last of the six lessons on food for this year for the Fulton County Homemakers was given in May on the cooking of outdoor meals by Mrs. Pearl J. Haak, Specialist from the University of Kentucky, who urged that farm families make more use of the lovely out-of-doors by serving meals in their yards.

Mrs. Haak stressed the importance of outdoor meals being simple and nutritive, requiring little or no preparation before. The meal served at the homemakers clubs meeting this month consisted of broiled ham, where each person did their own cooking, buns, carrots and radishes, tea or coffee, strawberries and sponge cake.

If more elaborate cooking is desired an outdoor fireplace is a grand addition to the yard for serving outdoor meals. Plans for outdoor fireplaces may be had at the Home Demonstration Agent's office, that can be made of brick, cement or stone.

Leaders have insisted that the women be more careful in building fires to avoid accidents. The fire should be made far enough in advance so that cooking does not begin until it has burned to a hot bed of coals. All campers or picnickers should be sure that fire is out before they leave. Fire can easily be put out with water, sand, or dirt.

This poem expresses our feeling of outdoor cooking which was written by the State Extension Director of Home Demonstration Agents.

The campfire sparkles with laughter gay,
 As the soft summer breezes around it play.

The bacon crackles as the coals grow hot,
 And the coffee gurgles within the pot.

The air rings out with our merry wit,
 And the hills send back the echo of it.

SPECIAL RATES FOR PARTIES

Hours — 7 A. M. to 12 A. M.
 1 P. M. to 6 P. M.
 7 P. M. to 10 P. M.

"They thought they had me on the spot!"

YOU see, I work for the electric company, and the boys were joshin' me about their bills. When I tell 'em rates have gone down, they say, "Well, then, why don't our bills go down?" "Now all those fellows the other night had paid money to bowl and some of 'em paid for extra games. Yet they didn't give it a second thought. I suppose because they could see what they were gettin'. It would be the same if they bought an extra pack of cigarettes or an extra tank of gas. But electric service, that's different. When they want to do somethin' nice for their wives they go out and buy some kind of electric appliance to make the housework lighter. Or they buy an electric razor for themselves. They and their folks get plenty of comfort and pleasure out of those gadgets. But when the bills come in they sometimes forget how much service they had for that money.

The reason that some bills don't go down is that a good many families use a lot more electricity than they used to. There isn't one of the boys who doesn't have electric light, a radio, a washing machine and a toaster in his home, and most of 'em have electric ice-boxes and vacuum cleaners, too. Yet it doesn't cost 'em much more, if any, to operate all those things than it used to cost for light alone, because rates have been cut just about in half during the last twelve or fifteen years.

"If we could sell electric service by the pound or by the quart, people could see what they were gettin'. They'd realize how much electric service they use and how many jobs it does. And they'd appreciate how much less electricity costs now than it used to.

"It gives me a lot of satisfaction to be in a job where I'm helpin' people get more of the good things of life. All the other boys at the plant feel that way, too. We know people depend on us to give them better service for less money, and that's just what we aim to do."

members. This is one of the finest bands that has ever played in Fulton or surrounding communities.

Paul Bushart told the club of the recent meeting of the Y. M. B. C. committee and the Farm Bureau committee when final plans were made for the annual livestock and poultry exposition. The show will be held August 20-24. Committees which included every member of the club were appointed at the meeting.

Three new members were elected into the club. They are Robert Burrow of the Kentucky Utilities Company, Garry Varden, wholesale candy salesman, and Morgan Wallace, local representative of the Colonial Baking Company.

Upon the suggestion of L. Kasnow, the club voted unanimously that when baseball games are to be played on nights of the club meetings, that dinner meetings will be held at 6:30 and business meetings at 6:45.

George Moore, Enoch Milner and Robert Graham were appointed by the president to make arrangements for the dinner meeting to be held at Loggston. The meeting was then adjourned to meet in regular business session on Tuesday, June 25.

CAPITOL COMMENTS

The war dogs are howling their songs of hate. They are sirens singing the American people on to battle. Have we a Ulysses to guide our ship?

For 1900 years the people of Europe have been fighting and now with the sack in our hands from the last war, we are thinking of going again.

All we got out of the last war was disaster to hundreds of thousands of our manhood, billions in debts and the hatred and jealousy of all the nations we had helped or fought.

Ten years ago the papers and people of France and England were calling us Uncle Shylock, for ever wanting them to pay their just debts, and now there is talk of doing the same thing over.

A mania is loose in Europe and should be destroyed. France and England can do it and we should sell them supplies on a cash basis but let England give us the Bahamas as payment of their last war debt before we let them get in debt again.

If we catch the war hysteria that is sweeping this country, let us go to some of the Government hospitals and see the pathetic cases there and it will calm us down.

No soldier burned by mustard gas or impaired in the last war believes we should send his children to fight again on foreign soil.

A drunken driver was sentenced to 5 years in prison for killing 3 people in an accident he caused.

We don't know how much this will make him suffer, but we do know that 3 persons are dead because he drove while drunk, and that those people would have been alive today if he had stayed sober.

Any person who drives while drinking is a potential murderer and drastic penalties should be imposed on everyone caught driving while drunk.

Dean Cooper of the Department of Agriculture was named acting head of the University of Kentucky by the Board. Dr. McVey did great work as President of the University, and will long be remembered by a grateful State.

Martin Walker and Powell Bosworth were discharged by the Game and Fish Commission, which reminds us of an interesting case before the courts. A fisherman on Herrington Lake claims he doesn't have to buy fishing license, because he rented a camp on the lake and as the lake is adjacent to his rented property, he can fish on it without a license.

TENNESSEE SENDS DELEGATES TO NATIONAL 4-H CAMP

Will Represent 70,000 Members in State at Washington Event June 12-19

Seventy thousand farm boys and girls enrolled in the 4-H Clubs in Tennessee will be represented at the National 4-H Club camp in Washington, June 12-19, by Donald Curton, Rhea County; George Baugus, Gibson County; Wilmoth Dowlen, Montgomery County, and Lois Oliver, Sullivan County.

These fortunate boys and girls were selected for outstanding work to represent Tennessee at the annual encampment which is attended by four representative club members from each state. Expenses for the trip are provided by Sears Roebuck stores in Tennessee. The delegates will be accompanied by Miss Ivie Drake, home agent in Tipton County and W. E. Moss, county agent, Rhea County. A brief summary of the records of each of the delegates follows:

Donald Curton, 17, is a high school senior and has been a 4-H club member 5 years. During this time, he has completed 21 projects including corn, potatoes, beef cattle, swine, poultry and dairying. Donald was a member of his county dairy demonstration team 2 years; livestock judging team 1 year, and crops judging team 3 years; leader of his local club 3 years and president of the county club organization 3 years.

George Baugus, also 17 and a high school senior, has completed 9 projects in cotton, corn, swine, and rural electrification, during his 6 year 4-H club membership. George has been secretary of his local club 1 year, president 5 years, assistant club leader 3 years, and chairman of the county club rally 4 years.

Wilmoth Dowlen, 18, high school graduate, has completed a full program of work including clothing, canning, gardening, poultry, and cooking each year for 8 years; has served as secretary, vice-president and president of her local club. She has won many outstanding honors, including a trip to the 4-H Club Congress at Chicago in 1938.

Lois Oliver, 16, and a junior in high school, has completed an excellent program of work each year 6 years including poultry, gardening, clothing, canning, sewing and yard improvement; served as reporter, vice president and president of her club and won a trip to the Club Congress at Chicago in 1939.

WAR ECONOMIC STEPS URGED BY WALLACE

Other Side of Preparedness Is Stressed by Secretary

IMMEDIATE NEED IS CITED

Secretary Wallace declaring that "if England and France are conquered, the Americas will inevitably be the next objective," called Tuesday night for economic as well as military preparedness.

"The immediate necessity of preparedness," he said in a radio address over CBS, "means that we must move as fast as we can utilize our idle men, idle money and idle factories in the production of guns, munitions, airplanes, tanks and ships.

Would Solve Problems

"We don't know yet how much the total cost will be. If we should have to use as great a proportion of our income on military preparedness as Germany has been using of her income during the last four years, we would have to spend perhaps $20,000,000,000 a year."

While he did not advocate such a program, he remarked that it would, during the period that it was under way "end the unemployment problem and that part of the agricultural problem which is domestic" and would "more than make up for the loss in our foreign markets."

"But no preparedness moves of any such magnitude have ever been proposed as yet," he continued, "and until such a program is sufficiently under way to have this effect, we must make sure that the farmers and the unemployed are not made victims of the war's interferences with world trade."

Trouble for Cotton

"Lacking a program of this scope farmers producing crops a substantial part of which go for export are going to be in trouble this Fall. In any event such export crops as cotton and flue-cured tobacco are almost certain to be in real trouble."

Mr. Wallace said the enactment of the proposed tax increases for defense would "bear witness to the people's willingness to make sacrifices and their determination to keep the Nation's finances in good order."

"We have millions of men idle today," he said, "and great factories only partially utilized. By putting them to work, we can produce great quantities of tanks, airplanes, armaments and munitions without reducing our production of food, clothing or other articles for civilian use."

Little Inflation Danger

"In the first World War, borrowing produced price inflation because we had no unused capacity to fall back on. Today there is no danger of inflation so long as we have unused labor and plant capacity to put to work."

"We must be careful not to tax so heavily or so soon that we reduce civilian consumption while millions of men are still unemployed."

CIVILIAN AIR TRAINING EXPANSION IS PLANNED

45,000 New Pilots Will Be Added By July 1, 1941

MORE FUNDS ARE ASKED

The Civil Aeronautics Authority expanded its primary training program for civilians Monday to provide 45,000 new pilots by July 1, 1941—a reservoir of prospective fighter pilots for the Army and Navy.

Chairman Robert H. Hinckley said 15,000 civilians would be given training in each of the three quarters of the year beginning June 15 in the 550 training centers and others to be established in every section of the Nation.

TO Ask $32,000,000 More

The $5,000,000 which Congress has appropriated for the 1940-41 training period will be used immediately, Mr. Hinckley said, and an additional $32,000,000 will be asked to finance the expanded program.

"I don't think that under the present emergency we can wait," Mr. Hinckley continued. "The Civil Aeronautics Authority can undertake this task at such short notice because we are already mobilized to do so."

He said that 9800 new pilots would be turned out by June 30 under the 1939-40 training program in which colleges and flying schools participated and that 90 per cent of them had expressed a desire to enter air services.

College Not Required

"While college training is desirable, it will not be required and it is estimated that a substantial portion of this summer's trainees will be made up of young Americans not now enrolled in regular college courses," Mr. Hinckley said.

In addition to the primary training, the Authority plans this summer to extend secondary instruction of 45 hours to 1000 students who already have taken their elementary training consisting of a ground course of 72 hours and a flight course of 35 to 50 hours.

During the Fall semester of the coming school year, 3000 more will be given "refresher" courses of 15 hours. During the Spring of 1941 the number of secondary trainees will be stepped up to 5000.

Quotas Given

Mr. Hinckley said the Authority intended also to "salvage" the experience of thousands of civilian pilots who had begun flying careers at their own expense but who had allowed their certificates to elapse by giving them "refresher" courses.

The country has been divided into seven districts, with a quota assigned to each for college and non-college training programs.

Melvin Butler, San Jose, California, violin maker, developed a glue for the repair of musical instruments and refused $5,000 for the formula. Two years later he decided to sell, only to find that he had forgotten it.

Well-Known Teacher Gives Retonga Credit

She Improved So Much Her Sister Hardly Knew Her, Declares Mrs. Wroe.

Gratefully praising Retonga which she states relieved her of a year of suffering, Mrs. Crissie Wroe, for thirty years a popular and widely-known teacher in the Jefferson and Breckenridge county public schools, today gave the famous medicine her whole-hearted public endorsement. Describing her happy experience Mrs. Wroe, who lives on her own farm on Route 1, Vanzant, stated:

"Teaching school and keeping house is a task for anyone and for a year I was so miserably tired and worn-out that at times I felt almost lifeless. My food did not seem to give me much strength, and every day I was nagged by a dull headache which I felt was due to nothing but weakness. A check-up showed that what I needed was a medicine to build me up.

"I knew several people who had been greatly benefited by Retonga, and it took only two bottles to make me feel like a new person. The worn-out feeling quickly disappeared and so did the nagging headaches. I look so much better that when I visited my sister in Louisville recently she hardly recognized me. I hope my experience will help many others to receive the same remarkable benefits from Retonga that I did."

Good pastures are a kind of "trade mark of successful farmers."

Soil that is worth farming is worth saving—use lime, phosphate legumes, and crop rotation to control erosion and maintain productivity.

In the garden it is now time to: Set tomato plants, plant lima beans, cucumbers, cantaloupes, pumpkins, watermelons, squash, okra, and sweet corn.

In planning the year's food supply, don't forget the sweet potato. It is rich in food value, particularly vitamins and minerals and is easy to grow and easy to keep.

An ample supply of fresh vegetables for the family table is good health insurance.

The "Filthy facts" are that common house flies may be carriers of typhoid, dysentery, cholera, tuberculosis, intestinal worms and many other debilitating diseases. Screens are cheap in comparison with a case of one of these.

It is time to start a "blitzkrieg" on cutworms by scattering poison bait made in the following proportions: 1 pound Paris green or sodium fluosilicate, 25 pounds wheat bran or cottonseed meal, 3 gallons water. About 15 pounds (dry weight) will cover an acre.

Fertilizers are required for the most economical cotton production anywhere in the State. Publication 235, "How to Fertilize Cotton in Tennessee," gives recommendations for different producing areas. Copies may be secured from county agents or by writing the U-T Agricultural Extension Service, Knoxville.
