THE LISTENING POST

● The expression "conscience fund" is one which has always interested me. It has always been a strange thing to me that any person can so allow his conscience to sway him that he will, after many years at times, pay some bill which has long since been forgotten by others who may have been concerned. No doubt some critic will say that I have no right to understand such matters, for newspaper workers are not generally credited with any knowledge of the thing which we call conscience. To which I will retort that the public makes the newspaper man what he is and I hope the public is satisfied.

● There must be a such a thing as a conscience. All evidence which I see points to such a conclusion. For many years the United States Government has had a fund which receives contributions from unknown persons who are having conscience trouble and who wish to make restitution for some wrong done in past years. At times considerable sums of money are received. Many large business firms also receive money from such sources. Any business firm which deals with many thousands of people is likely to receive such money at any time. I have never received any such money. Perhaps no one has ever swindled me; perhaps all my customers are too honest. I have at times been paid money which I did not recall was owing to me, and many times I have had a bill paid which had long been marked off the books. But I have never yet received any of this conscience money. Nor have I paid any, and I guess this makes the matter even.

● I always envy a person who has such a strong conscience. I know, when I read of such cases, that some person is much more honest than I am and has vastly more conscience. It may disturb me a trifle if I find that I have unwittingly taken some benefit from some person to which I was not entitled, but I can forget the matter very soon. In fact, my general experience has been that the person who has been wronged will call my attention to the matter at once; therefore I have never tried to make my conscience any stronger than it is.

● Take the case of a large hotel the other day. In the mail to this hotel came two one dollar bills. The letter which accompanied the money said that several years ago the sender had taken a bath towel from that hotel. This act had clouded his life, it seems, for many years, and the man finally decided he would pay. Not knowing what the towel was worth he sent two dollars and instructed the hotel to use the overage, if any, for any charitable purpose which might need the money. I presume the man must have felt happier after paying for the towel, but I never knew that it was considered a sin to take things from a hotel. I always believed that the price of a room which the customer had to pay was high enough to cover all small looting. Personally I never went in for bath towels. They are too bulky, and about the only thing in the hotel rooms I want is the extra soap and perhaps some of the envelopes and letterheads. The shoe polishing cloth, which is in hotel rooms to save the towels, I always believed was for the customer to take with him. I am glad in hotel rooms to save the towels, ed so much trouble with one's conscience that I never went in for towels.

● I noticed the other day that the Gulf, Mobile and Ohio Railroad received quite a stable bit of conscience money. The offices in Mobile received a letter containing sixty dollars in currency. The letter read: "The sixty dollars belongs to you. Please acknowledge receipt of same in the per-

Say America Has Set Out Final Stand

Peace In Pacific Believed Dependent On Japanese Move

Washington. —The ominous Japanese-American situation reached a new point of gravity today with the capital's most authoritative quarters asserting in effect that the question of peace in the Pacific depends upon Tokyo's next move.

At the same time, the only indication of what that move would be was a continuation of troubled reports from the Orient. They told of Japanese troops massing in Indo-China and of preparations in Thailand for defense against attack. Japanese newspapers defended the course of their government and said the dispatch of an expeditionary force to Indo-China had been justified by events.

Not Broken Down Officially, it was said here that negotiations with the Japanese representatives had not broken down completely. However, President Roosevelt entrained at mid-afternoon for a rest at Warm Springs, Ga. It was felt that he would not have left the capital if there remained any prospect of improving relations between Washington and Tokyo by a continuation of the discussions.

How long he would remain at the southern resort depended, he told a press conference, on developments in the Japanese situation. From that he went on to announce that American merchant ships in the Pacific would not be armed "under existing circumstances." He gave the last phrase so emphatic an inflection that a correspondent asked:

"Mr. President, how long do you expect existing circumstances to continue?"

Evades Question It would be much better, Mr. Roosevelt replied, to ask that question in Tokyo than in Washington. The situation as it stood was: Japan insists upon the establishment of a Japanese-controlled economic sphere in the Orient, imposed if necessary by military force. The United States is unalterably opposed to such military conquest. Diplomatic discussions have failed to break the deadlock and this week Tokyo's special envoy, Saburo Kurosu, was handed a document making plain that this country would not be moved from its already well-defined position. A White House conference yesterday failed to relieve the deadlock.

1941 Taxes To Stand As At Present, Morgenthau Asserts

Washington. —Secretary Morgenthau said today the Treasury wanted no change in income taxes on this year's income of either individuals or corporations.

The Treasury head said he was making this announcement in order to satisfy numerous inquiries from the public resulting from confusion about new tax proposals now being formulated by the Treasury and in Congress.

Quiet on 1942 Plans So far as the Treasury is concerned, Morgenthau said, and recommendations about new taxes would not apply to 1942 incomes.

The Secretary declined again, however, to give any details of tentative Treasury proposals for next year. He also refused to comment on a public suggestion

Police Looking For Mad Man Get One Who Is Good And Mad

New Orleans. —Patrick Sullivan, who is Irish, was sitting quietly in a Dauphine Street theater last night when he walked a couple of policemen and told him to come on. His conscience being clear, Sullivan's temper rose with the police persuasion. Finally he got angry and then a bit wild.

The officers slapped a strait-jacket on him and took him to a mental hospital.

When Sullivan didn't come home, his priest was called. The priest called police, who told him they had a coroner's commitment to pick up Patrick Sullivan for observation.

The priest said it was a case of mistaken identity. The police still were doubtful.

A search finally located the right Sullivan. The much wronged man was released—still angry.

STRIKE SCENE BRIGHTEN UP

West Coast Welders Remain Strike Threat, However

Washington. —A jurisdictional strike of 8,500 A. F. L. machinists at St. Louis was ended today, arbitration of the captive coal mine labor dispute proceeded at New York, and President Roosevelt's fact-finding board made ready for new hearings at Washington on the threatened nation-wide railroad walkout.

Offsetting in part these conciliatory moves, the threat of a West Coast shipyard welders strike became more acute. A spokesman for the United Welders, Cutters and Helpers of America announced that about 1,500 men employed in Los Angeles shipyards had voted "to support a strike if it becomes necessary."

The welders have demanded, without success, that the A. F. L. grant them a separate charter. The welding workers contend that in some cases they have to take out membership in as many as half a dozen unions in order to ply their trade.

Step Trails Ultimatum The Los Angeles strike vote was ordered after the International Brotherhood of Boilermakers, Iron Shipbuilders and Helpers served notice that the welders, who had bolted from that union, had until last night to apply for reinstatement before being ejected from their jobs at the Los Angeles shipyards.

DENIES GIFTS TIED UP WITH STATE BUYING

Humphreys And Underwood Are Heard At Probe

Frankfort, Ky. —Robert Humphreys, secretary of the Democratic State Central Committee, denied today that campaign funds ever were solicited from vendors on the promise of state business, but admitted he had attempted to obtain dismissal of state employees who didn't contribute.

Testifying before the Governor's committee investigating state buying, Humphreys said he discussed failure of some state employees to donate with State Finance Commissioner J. Dan Talbott, veteran party leader, and "tried to get them fired—but he wouldn't do it."

"I take it you're in favor of firing those who don't contribute," drawled Attorney General Hubert Meredith.

"Well, I'm not a state official. I'm secretary of the Democratic committee and I think it's disloyalty to the party organization not to contribute."

Humphreys said he never had obtained lists of vendors from the Purchasing Division with which to guide his solicitations and never discussed contributions of those whose who sell to the state with Talbott.

Humphreys, former state highway commissioner, objected several times to answering questions by Meredith concerning questions by Meredith concerning party matters which he said were not a part of the purchases investigation. The committee adjourned hearings in its 10-week-old inquiry at noon until next Wednesday.

Under cross-examination by Attorney General Hubert Meredith who asked whether firms and individuals who sold goods to the state were not compelled to contribute to campaign funds, Humphreys declared:

BOUNDARY TILT IRKS TWO STATES

Louisiana And Texas Look To High Court For Decision

New Orleans. —Louisiana eyed the U. S. Supreme Court today as a possible referee in its battle with Texas over who owns what land where.

Attorney General Eugene Stanley of Louisiana, which led with its chin and got promptly socked, said last night "it will undoubtedly be necessary" to take to the high court a boundary dispute between the two States.

Louisiana's Gov. Sam Houston Jones, named after the hero who secured Texas independence, backed up his Attorney General with the announcement "we will win this fight with Texas, the battle is joined."

The Governor further said he didn't start the fight in the first place. He said the Louisiana Geodetic Survey did.

Governor's Claim

Out of a clear sky a week ago the survey announced it had just discovered that through a 100-year-old surveying mistake Louisiana had been given a triangular strip of Texas land seventy miles long and 100 feet wide at the base of the upper border of the two States.

Almost immediately Governor Jones climbed into the ring with the statement that in reality Texas owed Louisiana land. He said the lower interstate line should run along the western shore of the Sabine River and that Louisiana was considering court action to get back this territory, or all of the Sabine River, pass and lake.

JAPS SAY EVENTS JUSTIFY SENDING EXPEDITIONARY FORCES TO INDO-CHINA

Tokyo. —Events have justified fully Japan's sending of an expeditionary force to French Indo-China, the foreign office-controlled Japan Times and Advertiser said tonight, citing the recent bomb explosion in the United States consulate at Saigon as an instance of troubled conditions in the French colony.

The Times and Advertiser declared that the American consulate bombing and other developments emphasized that Japanese authority is necessary to maintain order in Indo-China.

U. S. PLANS EXTENSIVE TERMINAL FACILITIES IN NEAR EAST TO AID BRITISH

Washington. —The lend-lease administration was reported today to be "in process of arranging" for extensive construction of warehouses, docks, railway sidings and airplane landing facilities in the Red Sea area.

The work is going forward, officials said, under immediate direction of a United States military mission to the Middle East headed by Brigadier General Russell L. Maxwell whose principal job is to expedite the delivery of munitions to British forces in the Near East.

Another military mission assigned to the task of expediting shipments to Russia through Iraq and Iran was reported undertaking extensive improvements in terminal facilities at Basra, Iraq, and Bandarshah, Iran.

Terrorists Derail Train, Bomb Shops Inside Occupied France

Vichy. —German-controlled Paris newspapers reported today a new series of terrorist attacks in occupied territory, including derailment of a train near Abbeville and dynamite attacks in the capital.

The disclosure was made in a statement by Col. Gen. Ernst von Schaubert, German commander of the Paris region, who yesterday announced the city had been fined 1,000,000 francs (officially $30,000) for the bombing of a Nazi requisitioned restaurant.

He did not give details of the latest dynamite raids except they were directed against "property or

Kentucky Seeks To Keep Funds Of Rail Workers

Employers Face Increased Assessments If U. S. Gets Money

Frankfort, Ky. —An effort to get the federal government to agree to Kentucky keeping the $1,077,000 paid in by railroad workers under the state unemployment compensation law was being made in Washington today by two state by two state Representatives and an attorney for a group of Kentucky employers.

The money was contributed by the rail-workers prior to the time the federal government took over their jobless compensation and retirement funds and made them separate from those of other workers.

The federal act provided that if any state failed to turn in any money already collected that the Federal Social Security Board should withhold an equal amount of administrative funds for that state's unemployment compensation law covering other workers.

Kentucky's 1940 General Assembly authorized the money be turned over but the Kentucky Court of Appeals ruled that it would be illegal to divert such money to purposes other than that for which it had been collected.

RAID ADVICE IS GIVEN AMERICA

"Evacuate Children" Should Be First Action

Hollywood Beach, Fla. —The chairman of the London County Council advised America's city managers to "profit by our mistakes if your cities ever are bombed the way our have been."

"I don't think you ever will catch it to the extent we have," said A. Emil Davies at the managers' annual international convention.

"Geography is on your side there," he explained, "but remember the Germans have done some things we didn't expect them to."

Davies told how London's 400,000 children were evacuated to the country.

Tears At Welcome

"I saw a band of Welsh miners meet one of the evacuation trains. When the women got off the train, the miners would step up and say things like 'here, mother, give me the baby.' The mothers cried then, usually for the first time, because that sort of welcome touched them," he said.

"You can't force everything in a war," he continued. "The thing we didn't foresee that would add to our problems more than anything else was the delayed-action bomb. When one of those hits, you often have to evacuate a whole street, because it may go off in two minutes or two days."

JAPAN GETS PEACE WITHOUT APPEASEMENT

If Japan's special envoy to the United States, Saburo Kurosu, was the bearer of an ultimatum that any interference with Japanese aggression in the Far East would mean war, he has received in return something very like an ultimatum. The United States will not be intimidated. It will not surrender its rights and interests in the Orient. It was not compromise where principles and obligations are concerned. Its traditional policy in the Pacific is unchanged and it rests on the general foreign policy of the Nation. If Japan wants peace it may have it on the broad foundation of international law and international justice laid down by Secretary Hull two weeks after the outbreak of the Sino-Japanese conflict, but first of all it must terminate its military alliance with Nazi Germany, it must withdraw its forces from China and it must cease its support of the puppet regime of Wang Ching-Wei. Any other kind of peace is mere short-sighted temporizing.

In taking this stand the State Department made a sudden shift of attitude. It has been discussing the possibilities of a breathing spell—a period during which restrictions on trade would be relaxed to a certain extent and Japan would modify its military operations and its imperialistic aims. The indefinite arrangement offered no real basis either for an understanding or for a lasting settlement. It was appeasement pure and simple and its only result would be to militate against China and further the cause of Japanese Ambassador brought an end to this line of discussion.

But such a protest was not needed to show the tragic futility of any kind of appeasement. Two years after Neville Chamberlain had sacrificed Czechoslovakia to Germany, Winston Churchill tried the expedient in the case of Japan. On July 17, 1940, he agreed to close the Burma Road for three months. It was a breathing spell. As Churchill explained his action it gave Britain "time and relief of tension" in its "fight to survive." But in that brief period Japan reaffirmed its policy to dominate by force the greater part of East Asia, it signed the military alliance with Germany and Italy and it occupied Indo-China, threatening Thailand, the Burma Road and Singapore.

Any retreat from our traditional policy in the Orient and any relaxation of our stand for international peace and justice would have been the go-sign for the forces of Nazi-Fascist imperialism in Japan. Now if the war lords of Nippon continue their march of aggression they will do so with full knowledge of the consequences and at their own risk. There can be no compromise with the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo combination.—Courier-Journal.

CURB DELAYED ON FURNITURE

Washington. —Price Administrator Leon Henderson said today that plans for a price ceiling on wooden household furniture had been suspended for the present.

Since November 10, when O. P. A. first disclosed that maximum prices on furniture were in preparation, Henderson said, the upward trend in prices had leveled off. He added that there now appeared to be "little likelihood of present of further increases."

Postponement of ceiling action will enable manufacturers to proceed with plans for introduction of new models on the January market.

LONDON DENIES CRUISER BLASTED

London. —The British Ministry of Information flatly denied today a German declaration that the British light cruiser Dragon had been sunk, saying "it can be stated authoritatively that His Majesty's ship Dragon has not been attacked."

The statement was issued, the Ministry said, "in order to prevent unnecessary anxiety to the next of kin" of the cruiser's crew.

Authoritative sources refused to comment on the later German communique claim that a cruiser of the same class as the Dragon had been sunk in the Atlantic.

OFFICIAL FIGURES ON GERMAN EXECUTIONS

London. —British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden gave these "official German figures" on executions in Nazi-dominated countries to the House of Commons today: Czechoslovakia—332 from Sept. 27 to Oct. 29.

Yugoslavia—1,132 since the German occupation.

France—250 since Aug. 13.

Zagreb—100 shot to death June 23 for the death of two German soldiers.

"I think the House would not be far wrong if it were to assume that killings in Yugoslavia alone since the German occupation are perhaps 35,000," Eden added.

● Railroad officials thereupon placed the following in the Michigan newspaper: "Conscience: $60 received. Livestock Department of Gulf, Mobile and Ohio Railroad, Mobile, Ala." The fact that the railroad folks signed a certain department to the advertisement caused me to think that perhaps they knew who owed the sixty dollars after all and if so, I can't rank this man as high as those who get away with something for many years and then have to come across because of their powerful conscience.

● As stated, I have never received any conscience money, but let this dissuade no person from sending, in any such money if dictated by a strong conscience. I could set up a "conscience fund" on very short notice.

AID ASKED FOR FARMERS WHOSE CROP FAILED

Washington — Chairman Smith (D-S. C.) of the Senate Agriculture Committee introduced new legislation today to aid farmers whose crops failed this year because of adverse weather conditions and insect infestation.

His measure would permit disbursement of unused funds appropriated by Congress to the agriculture department for parity payments during the current fiscal year among farmers whose 1941 yields were less than 50 per cent of normal.

Uncertain World Conditions Make Systematic Saving Wise

It is not a time to rock the boat—but all of us know that in the face of conditions today systematic saving is wise. We know, too, that nothing is as safe as real estate.

The Building and Loan Association is based on the solidness of property. Our loans are made on it and our deposits are insured by the Federal Government. We offer the best method of real, systematic saving that is now available; we also are in position to help any frugal person own a home.

We will be glad to talk over these things with any person who wishes to provide for the future at any time.

SIFTERS TOLD "HIGH" BUYING

Practices Explained To Them "In Private"

Frankfort, Ky. — The Governor's committee investigating State purchases grants that many purchases were made from high bidders and has heard explanations of such buying "in private."

Chairman Richard Priest Dietzman revealed this at the committee's hearing yesterday and brought from Attorney General Hubert Meredith, an instigator of the investigation, a remark that no such explanations had been made at hearings.

While Assistant Attorney General William F. Neill, testifying on State contracts for grocery purchases in 1940, was reading from a list of 299 articles, many of which he contended were not bought from low bidders, Dietzman interrupted.

SPORT TALK

While Coach Giles has made no statements regarding his starting team for the opening game against Cayce next Friday night, it seems fairly certain that the team will consist of three members of last year's team, McClellan, Spence and Moore, teamed with Robert Hart and Billie Reed. The latter two have been drilling at the forward posts, while Spence will, of course, take the center position, Moore and McClellan will occupy the guard slots. Practice has been fairly satisfactory during the past few weeks and reports indicate that Layne Spence is looking particularly good. The big center is almost certain to be a lot better than last year and this year his spin shots have been clicking much better in practice. He was showing a lot of improvement in this shot toward the close of last season, and if he masters it this year he is likely to be one of the high scorers of the district. He is strong at recovering rebounds and handles passes well. With a pair of tall forwards and big rangy Spence in the center it seems that the Bulldogs should be able to dominate the ball pretty well. Naturally all this is based on practice sessions, and only actual competition will tell the story. It is easier to do things in practice than in real games, and so fans await the first clash with much interest.

It appears that the Bulldogs will face the real McCoy in the opening game next Friday night. While Cayce has won only one game, the Tigers have lost three tilts by one point margins to pretty strong teams. The Tigers whipped Wickliffe some time ago, and have lost on their home floor to Clinton, Hickman and Bardwell, all by a one point margin. In the Hickman game Tuesday night they lost 27 to 26, with Hickman getting the jump in the first quarter and then barely holding on to the finish. Jones for Hickman caged 14 points, but all the Cayce players scored—which is a pretty good sign that Coach Wallis has a shooting-minded team. Cayce appears to have about the same team which had a disastrous season last year, but it is likely that the team is going to click this year. The Tigers will also have the big advantage of four or five games behind them they visit Science Hall. It will be the first game for the Bulldogs, and first games are usually more or less ragged. Without doubt, the local team has a real job to win the opening game. Coach Giles will buckle down to hard work in earnest during the next few days and try to have his boys ready for what appears to be a stern test.

The Red Devils lift the lid on their season a few days earlier than the Bulldogs. Tuesday night the Dyer, Tenn., team comes to the South Fulton floor to open the season for the Red Devils. Coach Haynes has been putting his boys through stiff workouts for the past ten days and all reports which come to this corner indicate that he is pretty well satisfied with his material and prospects. The Red Devils are not yet at their peak, for it takes time and games to really round off the rough edges, but it is believed that South Fulton has all the prospects for a top flight team. Little is known of the Dyer team, but it is likely that the team has already played several games.

These opening games on local floors begin a schedule of eighteen or twenty regularly scheduled games, outside of tournament matches. The Bulldogs have eighteen games carded, with twelve of these set for the home floor. The Red Devils have about the same number, provided a number of open dates are filled in later.

Mayfield reports that Coach Pickard will have the same team he had last year with one exception. One player was lost by graduation, but all others are still available, and the Cardinals, while not much for height, are a fast and aggressive outfit. The Cardinals play the Bulldogs on the local floor some time in January. Last year the Bulldogs beat the Cardinals on their home floor—the first time a Fulton team ever accomplished that feat.

GOVERNMENT AGENCIES MUST PLAN TO AVOID ANOTHER DEPRESSION

Hollywood Beach, Fla. — City managers from throughout the nation agreed Wednesday that broad planning by all government agencies is necessary to prevent a post-defense economic condition worse than the depression of the '30's.

At round-table discussions during their annual convention here, managers said cities face tremendous problems of rising material and personnel costs and of preparing for a possible deflationary period after the defense boom.

Several speakers suggested three ways in which cities could prepare for such a contingency:

1. By deferring public works projects and setting them up as reserve until defense work slackens.
2. By reducing non-essential services and effecting as many small economies as possible to void raising taxes to meet increased labor and material costs.
3. By reducing interest charges on municipal debt through refinancing operations and any other feasible methods.
