Democratic Mass Meeting Saturday

Saturday afternoon, May 3, the Fulton Democrats held a meeting at the Methodist Church, the usual time and place. It was the last of the regular meetings of the Democratic central committee. A large crowd turned out to hear the speaker, the keynote of the day being the importance of the matter of the convention in the last days of the session. The meeting was called to order by the chairman, Rev. E. C. Turkel, who announced the purpose of the meeting. It was then moved and seconded that the meeting be adjourned until Monday, May 5, at 7:30 o'clock, same time and place. The motion was carried.

Negroes Given Death Sentences

Two had-At-Fire-White Woman Near Fulton.

At Elizabeth, Mo., Saturday afternoon, death sentences were formally pronounced on two negroes accused of the murder of a farmer after a night of reeds in a farming community. The negroes, who had been identified as being attached to the nation's frontier, were sentenced to death by the state bar.

PASSES AWAY

J. R. Veatch, of a well-known family, and a long-time resident of the town, died at his home in Fulton, Mo., Saturday afternoon, May 3, 1931. He was 75 years old. He had been in poor health for some time, and died in his sleep. He was a member of the Methodist Church, and was buried in the family plot in the public cemetery.

Eric Beckett, who was instantly killed, left behind a wife and two children. He was a popular member of the community and will be missed by many.

EDITORIAL

Many Fulton citizens consider themselves fortunate to have a good town where they can live. It is a place where people can feel at home, and where they can enjoy the benefits of living in a community that is progressive and forward-looking.

The modern idea of progress being able to keep up with the times is not new. It has been around for many years, and is not likely to disappear.

One thing Paul Reveres didn’t have to worry about was how to ride one of the old horses. He didn’t have to tie a horse to a tree and then ride away on a horse.

The world isn’t getting better. It may seem that way because there have been improvements in the ways of living, but the world is not a better place.

When the average Fulton citizen gets old he will be a better citizen than he was when he was young. He will have more knowledge and experience, and will be better able to handle the responsibilities of life.

The secret of spring is to take advantage of the weather and enjoy the outdoors. It’s a great time to go out and enjoy the beauty of nature.

The secret of success is to do what you love to do. If you love what you do, you will be successful.

The secret of happiness is to be happy. Happiness is something that you can create for yourself, and it will be worth your while.

THE PARABLE OR THE POUNDS

There was a farmer who farmed a large field of land.

He had three sons, and he wanted to test them to see which one would be the best farmer.

He divided the land among his sons, but he died before he could see the results of his test.

Each son was given a certain amount of land to farm, but they were told to do it in different ways.

One son used the land wisely, growing crops and raising livestock. He was able to make a good profit.

Another son used the land poorly, letting it fall into disrepair and losing much of the crop.

The third son was lazy and did not work at all, but he managed to keep the land in good condition.

When the farmer died, his sons inherited the land.

The son who used the land wisely inherited the largest share.

The son who used the land poorly inherited the smallest share.

The lazy son inherited the same share as the others.

This parable teaches us that it is important to use the gifts we have been given wisely, and to work hard.
