COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES
FULTON HIGH SCHOOL
Forty Graduates In Class

Commemoration exercises at Fulton High School at Science Hall, Thursday evening, were attended by a large crowd, who participated in the celebration.

D. A. Wood, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Fulton, was conductor of the exercises, and was supported by the forty graduates of Fulton High School, as well as the large audience which filled the classroom.

The Exercises were conducted with honor and good taste, and received a high commendation from the audience.

BRIEFS

There are moments when we are compelled to say that the universities are the most important institutions in the world.

Government has its faults, but what other business would be different if the stockholders took an interest only in the immediate benefit of the company?

An exchange only children's questions deserve to be answered.
For the other questions we have the right to ask.

The world is full of people who are so busy that they never have time to think.

New York proposes that men and women in Fulton should not give up the habit of smoking.

Time will tell the truth.
Nothing is more acquainted with the ever-getting-wet.

A lot of Fulton parents were present at the celebration.

The exercises were conducted
with honor
and
reception.

Another advantage of preparation is that it is never worthy of those who make the best use of their opportunities.

ETHICALLY-GIVEN

The ceremonies were conducted by
the Committee on
Eagle
Badges, under the guidance of
Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Smith,
receipt of
the
Eagle Badges was considered a
honorable
act.

Guiding Your Children

Bad habits lead children wrong. Good habits guide them safely into the path of character, uprightness and independence.

You can start them right by teaching them to save money. Set them an example by saving yourself. Make them admire thrift.

Once started, the saving habit helps to form other good habits. It provides experience for them in handling their own funds.

This is the right direction is but a simple step. Bring children to the bank when you start them to school.

Ancient Legend of Lanreath

In the days of old there stood in the town of Lanreath, now known for its beauty and charm, a house that was said to be haunted. Many a night, the townsfolk would hear strange noises emanating from within the house, and some claimed to have seen the ghost of a woman, dressed in the finest attire of the time, wandering the halls.

One night, a young man named Jack decided to investigate the matter. Armed with a lantern and his courage, he entered the house, determined to uncover the truth. As he explored the dark and eerie hallways, he heard footsteps approaching. Startled, he turned to face the ghost, but instead found a beautiful woman, whose visage was illuminated by the light of his lantern.

"I am the ghost of the woman who lived in this house," she said. "My name is Elizabeth, and I lived here many years ago. I was a kind and gentle soul, but I was betrayed by my husband, who forced me to take a poisonous potion to ensure my silence. I was sentenced to live out my days in this very house, forever haunted by my own past.

Jack, being a kind and brave soul, comforted Elizabeth and promised to dedicate his life to finding a way to release her from her eternal punishment. He searched far and wide, visiting every wizard and sorcerer he could find, until he finally discovered a way to break the spell that bound Elizabeth's spirit.

In the end, Jack's courage and determination led to the release of Elizabeth's soul, and the haunted house was finally freed of its ghostly occupant. From that day on, the town of Lanreath was said to be a place of peace and tranquility, with no more tales of ghosts and strange happenings.
