THE LISTENING POST

● The third Christmas of the war finds Adolf Hitler testing the bitter fruits of defeat. It also finds the German people beginning to experience the first uneasy feelings that all is not well. How serious this is no one can say, but when Hitler told the German people that the Russian campaign had failed, that German forces were on the run in Africa; as troop trains continued to pour thousands of wounded soldiers back from the Russian campaign, it became increasingly significant that unrest might develop behind the lines. A steady stream of wounded cannot be disguised or laughed off. The German people see and feel that, and no doubt they also felt the impact from the thousands of dead who sleep today in Russian snows. It is quite evident that Hitler felt that he must do something to restore confidence, and taking personal command of the armies in the field is designed to accomplish this purpose. Hitler is still looked on as more or less of a god by the rank and file of young Germany. Older people may not feel that way, but it must be remembered that Hitler brought up and trained the present generation. Those people believe in him with a fanatical belief.

● Nothing can disguise the fact that Germany suffered a defeat in Russia. Again it was the rigorous German winter, plus the unexpected strength of the Red Army, which exploded the myth of German invincibility. Napoleon actually reached Moscow, but he found a city which had been destroyed. He tried to retreat and the Russians fell on like avenging angels and he left a ghastly trail of dead across those frozen Russian plains. Hitler, with his modern rolling stock, seemed about to succeed where the Little Corporal had failed, but once again the Russian winter proved to be the deciding element.

● How far the German retreat will go is a matter of conjecture. How far the Russians can drive them is another knotty problem. But the hard fact remains that a great German campaign failed. German might has been smashed by an enemy which was despised. Vast amounts of priceless materials have been lost; hundreds of thousands of the best German soldiers have been killed and wounded. It appears likely that the Nazis will be able to halt the Russians in a few days and hold their new lines through the winter. Whether they can reorganize and roll forward again in the spring is another matter. It is more difficult to reorganize and start a campaign than it is to launch such a drive as Hitler launched six months ago.

● In Africa the myth of German has also exploded. The German tank general who rolled over France in short order has finally met his match in the sands of the desert. British Imperials, with apparently plenty of tanks, many of them American-made, have been pushing General Rommel hither and yon. They have actually traveled so fast that German planes have been captured undamaged on the ground. The retreat is developing into a rout and it seems a good bet that the British are going to sweep Axis forces from that theatre of war.

● Right now Hitler is desperately trying to restore confidence at home by taking personal command of the armies. German newspapers are now giving more space to Japanese victories than to the German battles. It is admitted that the German armies are opposed by superior forces and urgent appeals have been made to the German people for all the warm clothing possible to be sent to the armies in Russia. All of these things add up to a most disturbing Christmas for Hitler and his

F. C. C. Checks Broadcasts All Over World In Its Daily Tasks

Washington.—The Federal Communications Commission reports that its monitoring service is recording, translating and analyzing from 600,000 to 900,000 words broadcast daily by foreign stations.

The F. C. C.'s annual report was extended from the end of the fiscal year to include a description of the work done in the defense program and after the Japanese attack.

The commission said it was "giving priority" to development of new facilities and service necessary to war. The F. C. C. is expediting wire-line extensions and new radio links, providing additional frequencies for military purposes, improving the service of short-wave stations beamed on foreign countries and "forestall-facilities by more effective ethering possible misuse of existing policing."

Manila, Tuesday.—A heavy force of Japanese sea-borne troops supported by airplanes landed yesterday at Santo Tomas on the Gulf of Lingayen northwest of here, but Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters announced that American defenders had the situation "well in hand."

American tanks and artillery immediately went into action between Santo Tomas and Damortis, a town several miles south of the landing place.

The army communique said: "The engagement yesterday occurred in the vicinity of Santo Tomas La Union province. Latest reports indicate our troops are holding a position north of Damortis. The enemy was very active in the air yesterday. Numerous places were bombed and the ground attack was supported by aircraft."

Three transports sunk. One unconfirmed report from Dapuan on the gulf said that at least three Japanese transports of the 80 which had been sighted outside were sunk in the gulf itself.

Reliable sources said it was possible that many more had been destroyed by the American forces, who were using artillery and tanks against the landing parties.

It still was not known whether the Japanese had been able to bring any considerable amount of equipment ashore.

An army spokesman said no reports had been received from Davao on Mindanao Island about the progress of the hard fighting there. The prolonged silence about the far southern theater indicated that communications may have been cut.

'More Than Holding Own' General MacArthur's communique yesterday said that the ground forces in the Lingayen area "more than held their own," and the general added "our troops are behaving well."

The assailant had appeared in heavy force in the 80 transports (with a force which Washington estimated at 80,000 to 100,000 men), but in at least one area Japanese destroyers and troop ships were put to flight by the heavy American guns and that landing was thus prevented.

In Powell county, 5,000 pounds of vetch will be seeded this fall; also, spring seedings were large.

Lambs pooled and shipped to Flemingsburg by Greenup county farmers brought an average of $10.90 per cwt.

Amateur communications have been banned for the duration of the war and citizenship of more than 150,000 radio operators and communications employees is being checked.

100 Stations Active The F. C. C.'s defense operations section has established nearly 100 monitoring stations to detect illegal operations.

Four listening posts were established by the broadcast monitoring service to check foreign programs.

Through the defense communications board, the report said, plans have been completed for regional telephone networks with a super-linking of the country's broadcast stations. Broadcasters are prepared, it added, to prevent use of their stations as beacons for enemy aircraft.

40 Japanese Submarines Are Capable Of Reaching Shores Of U. S.

Washington.—Japan is believed to have about forty submarines with a range permitting operations off the United States west coast where attacks have been made on American vessels.

Reports by the navy to Congress and information in naval publications indicate that the total known Japanese submarine fleet is in excess of seventy, with more than half that number capable of traveling from 14,000 to 16,000 miles without refueling.

With Seattle only 4,257 miles from Yokohama, this range would make it possible for the submarines to put out from bases in the Far East, reach the American west coast, remain there for some time to operate against shipping and return to their ports. Use of existing Japanese bases in the Caroline or Marshall Islands or refueling from mother ships at sea would shorten the voyage and make possible a longer stay in American coastal waters.

2 WEALTHY CHINESE WED IN CALIFORNIA

San Francisco.—Two of China's most powerful financial families were united Saturday with the marriage of Miss Jihlung Woo, and T. A. Soong.

Soong is the youngest San Francisco member of the famous Soong family which includes Madame Chiang Kai-Shek, Madame Sun Yat-Sen, Madame H. K. Hing and Dr. T. V. Soong, former minister of finance of China and chairman of the board of the Bank of China.

The bride's father, Y. C. Woo, is San Francisco resident director of the Bank of China.

The two have known each other since childhood, Soong is general manager of the China Development Finance Corporation, Chungking.

Preparing for a long-term livestock improvement campaign, Anderson county farmers went on a tour of Louisville stock yards, packing plants, etc., observing different types and grades.

Less Than $200 Needed For Local Red Cross War Chest

Less than two hundred dollars is now needed for Fulton to reach its quota of $2000 in its War Chest drive, a total of $1815.91 now having been contributed.

Fulton people have responded unusually well in this campaign to raise funds for the War Chest and contributions have been coming in daily. $184.09 is yet needed and those who have not donated are asked to bring their donations to the leader office, City Coal Company or the Chamber of Commerce.

Subs Lay Mines

Records indicate that the Japanese have some submarines as large as 2,700 tons, this group containing big minelayers able to carry and sow in shipping lanes as many as sixty mines.

Generally, the Japanese undersea vessels are copies of the German U-boats. The crews of the biggest type submarines are composed of about ninety men and of officers.

Among the larger Japanese submarines are craft of 2,180 tons, known as the I-16 class, with surface speeds of twenty knots or better (superior to that of the majority of merchant ships) and submerged speed of about nine knots. The first of this class was launched in 1938 and the publication Jane's Fighting Ships lists five of them completed up to last year. This class is armed with six twenty-one-inch torpedo tubes and one or more deck guns of about five-inch bore.

U. S. FLIERS USE UNUSUAL TACTICS AGAINST JAPS

New Orleans.—Col. Claire L. Chennault, commander of the daring first American volunteer group which blasted Japanese planes out of the sky over the Burma Road yesterday, employs a pursuit plan based on a snap roll on top of a loop.

"The craziest maneuver ever known," said other fliers of the plan evolved in barnstorming air shows by the colonel, who retired from the U. S. Army Air Force in 1937 to the quiet life of the country gentleman at his Texas, La. farm.

Chennault, however, soon went to China to teach the Chinese a bold example of pursuit flying.

LOCAL KROGER STORE TO CLOSE EARLY ON CHRISTMAS EVE.

According to an announcement just made public by Mr. W. C. Smashey, Branch Manager of the Memphis branch of the Kroger Grocery & Baking Company, the Kroger store in Fulton will close at 6:00 p. m. December 24, Christmas Eve.

Mr. Smashey stated, "This will give all of our managers and clerks an opportunity to spend Christmas Eve at home with their families. We are in a business in which long hours have deprived many of us this privilege for years, but this year we are going to try this plan and if our customers appreciate our efforts and shop early, we plan to continue Christmas Eve closing in future years. Our stores will remain open late Tuesday evening, December 23, close at 6:00 p. m. December 24, Christmas Eve, and will remain closed all day Thursday, Christmas Day."

NEGRO ARRESTED FOR CHICKEN STEALING

Jesse Brown, colored, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Officers Dalton and Boaz on a charge of chicken stealing. He was arraigned before Esq. Roberts and entering a plea of guilty he was bound over to await the action of the January grand jury, under $300 bond. Being unable to make bond he was taken to the County Jail at Hickman.

Brown plead guilty to stealing seven chickens from T. C. Adams on Eddings street and also stealing a .22 rifle and an overcoat from the home of Carl Hastings on the Mayfield highway.

SHERIFF TAKES TAXES ON INSTALLMENT PLAN

Falls City, Neb.—Nebraska makes no provision for collecting back taxes on the installment plan, but Sheriff Irvin Gates does it anyway, like this:

He takes partial payments "on trust," keeps an unofficial set of books and issues an unofficial personal receipt. When the delinquency is paid in full, he turns the money over to the County Attorney and an official county receipt is issued.

In the first nine months of this year installment collections of $1 or more totaled $1,238.

Allied Fleets Curtail Fish Supply Which Is Badly Needed In Japan

Palo Alto, Calif., Allied war fleets prowling the Pacific have struck Japan in a vital economic spot by curtailing her second most important food supply—fish—says Dr. Albert W. C. T. Herre, Stanford University authority on fishes.

Year by year Japan has been depending more and more on the sea for material necessities. Some American authorities estimate that up until the war began she was getting one-third of all her natural resources from the Pacific Ocean.

Gradually her fishermen fanned out from Nippon's island until they were operating from the Bering Sea to the Antarctic Ocean. A few years ago they even were operating out of Japan to the American side of the Pacific.

Fishermen Hunted These fishermen also spread ships.

Washington.—Prime Minister Winston Churchill after a secret and history-making journey, arrived in Washington today, and tonight was closeted with President Roosevelt in the White House discussing unified war plans to encompass "the defeat of Hitlerism throughout the world."

The daring trip by Britain's premier was announced by the White House, which said that Lord Beaverbrook, minister of supply, and a technical staff accompanied him.

Just how he made the journey was a military secret, although it was revealed that the last leg, at least, was by air. He was met "at a nearby airport" by President Roosevelt, and in full wartime secrecy was conducted to the White House by the chief executive himself, there to be the guest of Mr. Roosevelt.

Widespread Speculation There was widespread speculation that the conferences would cover such questions as:

Establishment of a supreme command for the fighting forces of all of Hitler's opponents.

Establishment of a joint ministry of supply for all the armies.

In a statement, President Roosevelt said there was one primary objective, the defeat of Hitlerism throughout the world. In conversations to be held during the next few days between President and prime minister and the respective staffs of the two countries.

Further Parleys

The statement said these conferences should be regarded as preliminary to further parleys which will officially include Russia, China, The Netherlands and the British dominions.

"It is expected," the President said, "that there will thus be evolved an over-all unity in the conduct of the war. Other nations will be asked to participate to the best of their ability in the over-all objective."

"It is probable that no further announcements will be made until the end of the present conferences but it may be assumed that the other interested nations will be kept in close touch with this preliminary planning."

through the waters of the Philippines, Malaysia, the East Indies and finally to the shores of Burma and India.

Now on the seas where the Japanese used to hunt in comparative peace, they themselves are being hunted.

In most rice-eating countries, particularly Japan, fish is the number two food.

Besides the danger of hostile warships, a motor fuel shortage has contributed to the plight of the Japanese fishermen. This was reflected by a shortage of fish in Japan's great sea food markets long before actual warfare began, Dr. Herre said.

Now most of Japan's scanty oil supply must be conserved for her fighting planes, tanks and warships.

HITLER IS SILENT AS NAZIS RETREAT

Not being able for one reason or another to face the German people, Adolf Hitler has his Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels break the news that the invincible German armies are on the run in Russia, and beg for clothing for his cold and poorly clad soldiers. And the one-time voluble and arrogant Goebbels now completely deflated and sobered whines that the Nazi troops face an enemy superior in number and material and "the most dangerous enemy of all times."

How the boastful have fallen! Six months ago today when without warning the Nazi war machine rumbled over the Soviet border Hitler declared that "The march of the German armies has no precedent," the inference being that he would succeed where Napoleon had failed. Eleven weeks ago when he announced the all-out attack on Moscow he declared that "Russia is already broken and will never rise again" and he assured the war-weary German people that "this is the last great decisive battle of the year."

And for a time the direful prophecy seemed correct. Before the oncoming Nazi legions the industrial city of Kharkov, the Pittsburgh of Russia, succumbed. Rostov, gateway to the Caucasus, fell. Leningrad was isolated and a giant pincer movement was threatening Moscow. The great sprawling Russian metropolis which Napoleon had occupied was only 30 miles away from the farthest German advance and diplomats and Government officials left the apparently doomed city for Kuibyshev, the alternate capital.

Hitler evidently timed his movements to synchronize with those of Japan. The capture of Moscow would occur on the same day as the treacherous assault on Pearl Harbor.

But Stalin and his Generals had plans of their own. On the eve of the final Nazi drive they seized the initiative and have kept it ever since. Instead of advancing Hitler's blitzkrieg was thrown into sharp reverse. Instead of the promised lebensraum, Hitler's legions are finding sterbensraum, dying room, and Russia's unconquerable ally, Winter, has again come to the aid of its soldiers.

How long the Red Army can keep up its smashing blows cannot be foretold. How far the Nazi retreat now bordering on a rout can be pressed is for the future to tell. But Hitler is speechless; Goebbels apologetic. That in itself speaks volumes, especially to the deluded masses in Germany.—Courier-Journal.

U. S. INTERNS

Bismarck, N. D., —One hundred and ten German "enemy aliens" arrived here Saturday and were taken to the internment camp at Fort Lincoln following eight others who arrived Friday, the first new group since the declaration of war.

• The Nazis are not beaten yet—far from it. Hitler still has the most powerful unified force and we may expect devastating actions from him at almost any place. But it does seem certain that he has reached his peak. He will grow no stronger—on the contrary, he will grow weaker as time goes on. It may be written down that the third Christmas of the war finds more hope for the battered Allied nations than ever before. The ally is hard and long, but now we begin to see a brighter glow on the distant horizon.

410 the number now at the camp, 292 German seamen previously having been sent here, most of them last summer.

The group previously at the camp was composed mostly of seamen taken off German ships seized by the government earlier in the year, but A. S. Hudson, immigration official in charge of the camp, said he did not know where the new men had come from.

One official remarked during the detaining "they are a more sullen, grim and harder" collection than the first group.

FARMERS NEED NO PRIORITY RATING

In answer to inquiries as to whether farmers need priority rating for making certain purchases, the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics calls attention to statements issued at Washington to the effect that such ratings are not necessary.

Farmers are not required to have priority ratings to buy machinery, repair parts, equipment, fertilizers, sprays, roofing nails, fencing and similar materials needed in the operation of farms. Priorities are issued to manufacturers, processors and warehousemen, and not to individual farmers using materials.

Since deliveries of machinery and materials may be slow, many farmers are determining their 1942 needs this fall and placing orders for repairs, equipment and other materials now. This may save them time and money during the rush periods on the farm next year. The possibility of a farm labor shortage also seems to make planning desirable, it is pointed out.

Training For Defense

By Rufus T. Strohm

Dean, International Correspondence Schools

WHERE will the defense worker of today be in five years? That is a question which cannot be answered with any great degree of certainty, but there are well defined steps leading toward the ultimate goal sought by all. Any man who wants to be a leader in the next five years on a routine job, no matter how important it is to the production line, will find himself in no better position today.

It's as true today as it was 100 years ago, that the man who works to get ahead is the man who is improving himself. He is looking far beyond the present job, and in most instances he is studying some type of instruction that will lift him out of a routine job into a position of greater responsibility.

Routine jobs in factories and manufacturing plants, of course, will pay more during the next five years, and they are vital to the nation's defense plans. However, there is danger for the individual, in that he may be content to get along with little thought of advancement. It means that he will have to drive toward the goal even when the future appears dark and uncertain, but some men—those who will finish in the key jobs—will keep plugging away in fair weather and foul.

Self-improvement in the face of adversity is typically American. We now have to show that the same progress can be made in times of economic upheaval and abnormal employment demands. Jobs may not be so plentiful five years from now.

Uncertain World Conditions Make Systematic Saving Wise

It is not a time to rock the boat—but all of us know that in the face of conditions today systematic saving is wise. We know, too, that nothing is as safe as real estate.

The Building and Loan Association is based on the solidness of property. Our loans are made on it and our deposits are insured by the Federal Government. We offer the best method of real, systematic saving that is now available; we also are in position to help any frugal person own a home.

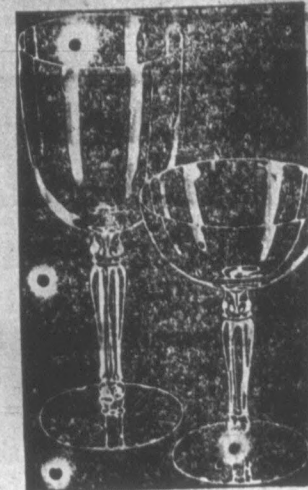

We will be glad to talk over these things with any person who wishes to provide for the future at any time.

CLUB MEETING WITH

MRS. JOHN BINKLEY

The McFadden Homemakers club met December 16 with Mrs. John Binkley at her home with Mrs. Nanney as co-hostess. The Home Improvement leaders, Mrs. Harry Hancock and Mrs. Jesse Moss, assisted by Mrs. Robert Thompson, Home Demonstration Agent, gave the lesson for the day, it being "Color combination and the right way to combine colors with room accessories."

After luncheon a recreating program with songs, "A Song of Peace" and "Silent Night," were rendered with the assistance of Mrs. John Binkley. Mrs. Binkley then read an article entitled "No Child Without Christmas."

A game was played to exchange Christmas gifts by members and each one drew a capsule to select her "sunshine friend" for the coming year.

The meeting was then adjourned to meet next with Mrs. Jess D. Moss on January 26, when the husbands of the Homemakers will be given a special invitation to attend.

The club had two visitors, Miss Jane Austin and Miss Ina Austin, present. Members attending were Mrs. Herman Sams, Mrs. Harry Hancock, Mrs. Wales Austin, Mrs. George Gordon, Miss Maud Morris, Mrs. Roy D. Taylor, Mrs. Jesse D. Moss and the hostesses, Mrs. Binkley and Mrs. Nanney.

CHRISTMAS PARTY

LAST EVENING

Complimenting Miss Hylda Hicks, bride-elect, and several visitors, members of the Wednesday night contract club entertained with a delightful buffet supper and Christmas party at the home of Miss Ruth Graham, Third street last evening at 7:30.

Lighted candles, cedar, and sprigs of holly, were used in the decorations, all suggestive of the Yuletide season. Covers for thirteen were laid at card tables in the living room of the Graham home and each place was marked by an attractive combination placecard-favor. A delicious three course menu was served, after which gifts were exchanged. Miss Hicks was given a waffle iron, a gift from the club members and guests.

The guest list included: Miss Eleanor Ruth Jones, Miss Kathryn Taylor, Miss Sara Owen, Miss Hylda Hicks, Mrs. Louis Haynes, Mrs. Harold Newton, Miss Ruby Boyd Alexander, Miss Martha Moore, Miss Almeda Huddleston, Miss Helen King, Miss Augusta Ray, Miss Ann Godfrey, and Miss Graham.

MISS KATHLEEN WINTER

BECOMES BRIDE OF CARROLL

JONES HERE SUNDAY P. M.

Mr. and Mrs. George Winter, Sr., 825 Fairview, announce the marriage of their daughter, Kathleen, to Carroll Jones, son of Mrs. Mary Jones, 135 College street, Lincoln, Illinois. The marriage was very simply solemnized Sunday, December 21, 1941, at four o'clock in the afternoon at the First Baptist church of Fulton. The pastor, the Reverend E. A. Autrey, performed the single ring ceremony before an assemblage of close friends and relatives.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and attended by Miss Annie Lou Roberts of Mayfield as maid-of-honor. Attending the groom as best man was David Wallace of Paducah.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Nancy Alexander of Milan, Tenn., soprano, sang "O Promise Me" and "Because," accompanied by Miss Mary Catherine McClellan, pianist, of Lewisburg, Ky. For the processional Miss McClellan played the "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin" by Wagner and for the recessional Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" was used.

For her wedding the bride, an attractive brunette of charming personality, very becomingly wore a street dress of beige wool with which she wore brown accessories and a shoulder corsage of pink rosebuds. Miss Roberts wore a wool dress of brown skirt and striped top with brown accessories and her flowers were a shoulder corsage of yellow roses.

Immediately after the wedding the couple left for a brief honeymoon, returning to the home of the bride's parents yesterday afternoon. They will go to Lincoln, Ill., shortly for a holiday visit with the groom's mother.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Miss Annie Lou Roberts and Miss Helen Roberts of Mayfield, Miss Dalene Bottom of Owensboro, Miss Mary Catherine McClellan of Lewisburg, Miss Nancy Alexander of Milan, David Wallace of Paducah, all students at Murray State Teachers College; Dr. and Mrs. H. B. Bailey, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Perkins of Murray and Mrs. Alice Jones of Mayfield.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Jones are seniors at Murray State Teachers College and receive their degrees this spring. The groom will receive his B. S. while Mrs. Jones will receive her Bachelor of Music. Both are outstanding on the Murray campus. The bride is a Fulton High school.

Even with our nation at war, it is only fitting that we pause a brief moment and extend a word of greetings to the people of this community. So, here are the sincere wishes of every member of this organization:

May the Light of this Christmas Day erase from your minds (temporarily) the horrors of a war-stricken world and substitute tranquility of soul. May you find courage in the strength and unity of this peace-loving nation. May we all look forward confidently to the task forced upon us with a sacred determination that victory be our goal.

Long Distance Lines Must Be Kept Clear Christmas and New Year's Day

Our Government is Depending Upon These Lines for Urgent Communication Needs

The immediate availability of Long Distance telephone facilities is vital to the communication needs of our government. We urge everyone who plans to exchange the season's greetings by Long Distance telephone, to please refrain from making these calls on Christmas or New Year's Day. The Long Distance telephone is already playing a major role in America's all-out war effort. Government Long Distance telephone requirements, both civilian and military, have stepped up sharply. Industrial plants engaged in defense production, radio networks and news services are relying more and more upon the speedy contacts made possible by the Long Distance telephone—Therefore we urgently appeal to you to help keep Long Distance lines clear, on Christmas and New Year's Day, that we may efficiently serve our Nation, unhampered by calls of a non-essential character.
