THE LISTENING POST

● Today our Nation begins a New Year under conditions which have not been known since the days of the War Between the States. True, this Nation was engaged in war on New Year's Day in the other World War, but in that conflict the beginning of the year 1918 brought almost certain knowledge to all nations involved that the defeat of Germany was already accomplished and only the final days of the war remained. Entry of the United States into that war made certain the result and on New Year's Day in 1918 it was only a matter of time until Germany should throw in the sponge. On this New Year's Day the conflict is only started. To date the United States has taken a bad beating and must continue to take beatings for some time to come. On this New Year's Day no one can predict with any confidence how long this conflict will continue. There is only one thing of which we may be certain. We know, as we start turning the pages of this year of 1942, that we are faced with critical problems and sickening, staggering losses of men and treasure.

● Of ultimate victory there is no doubt in the minds of our people. We are intelligent enough to know that Japan cannot conduct a war against us with any hope of final victory. Japan's only hope is to so discourage us with a series of defeats that we will be willing to patch up some sort of peace rather than pursue the conflict to its bitter and unrelenting end. There is a theory among the Axis nations that the peoples of the democracies have become too soft from luxurious living to really wage war as it must be waged these days. They believe, and there is some basis for such belief, that the United States will soon grow weary of bloodshed and destruction and will be willing to abandon the Far East in order to secure peace. One cannot blame the Japanese for such beliefs. In our dealings with Japan and with all other nations we have created such belief by being soft and considerate of all other races. The Japanese have interpreted this softness, this consideration, as being a sort of fear. They do not know the inner heart which is America, and it will be a bitter day for Nippon when they get acquainted with the real fighting, pulsating heart which is America. In 1917 the Kaiser did not think the United States would fight. Three years earlier he did not believe the British would fight. Those mistakes are now being repeated by Japan. The people of the United States are not going to forget Pearl Harbor; the memory of Manila will also linger long in our minds. Nor will it be in a spirit of revenge that an accounting is demanded. Rather it will be with full knowledge that we have a job to do which will wipe out the curse of evil rulers for at least a generation, and longer if possible. We in this Nation have finally come into the realization that nations which oppress and enslave helpless neighbors cannot be tolerated, and must be dealt with.

● The way is hard and the road may be long. There is no foolish optimism in this Nation. We know that we were not ready for war when it came, and know also that it may be months, perhaps years, before we will be ready. But we know, no matter what the cost, no matter how costly, no matter how discouraging, that we have set our feet firmly on the road which leads to victory and we will follow that road despite all losses. That is the unspoken New Year's resolution of millions of Americans.

● Curiously enough, I cannot work up a great deal of hate for the Japanese. I hate Hitler and all his works and all his Nazis, and for Mussolini I have the deepest contempt. For the Japanese I have a sort of pity that they have allowed themselves to be so persuaded by the lying Hitler that they have practically signed the death

Japanese Make No New Progress In Malaya During Past 24 Hours —British Make Some Attacks

All Jap Attacks Are Stalled, British Say Of Conflict

Some Small Gains Are Reported By British Commander

Singapore. —Japanese pressure fell off today in the main Perak sector some 290 miles above Singapore, and on that front British patrols successfully took the offensive at every point where they could engage the enemy. This—establishing that the invader not only had gained no ground but had been pushed back in some areas of the Malayan peninsula, the most vital of all the Pacific theaters—was announced by the British command in a communique which also reported failure for another overnight Japanese air raid on Singapore.

This time, Japanese bombers sought out the Singapore airfield, but again they were able to cause only minor damage. There was not a single casualty.

Japanese dive bombers likewise were hurled into action against British communications, but they, too, were able to work but little harm and one raider was shot down by light machinegun fire.

While Perak remained relatively quiet, the second Japanese invader force seeking to beat down the eastern side of the peninsula was apparently making no progress.

The Royal Air Force, meantime, again heavily assaulted the advanced Japanese air base of Sungai Patani, pounding it for the second successive night and setting fires in the airfield.

A British authority in London pointed out that the Singapore defense would be "with all the means at our disposal" so Singapore could become the main base for the Allied offensive to be launched in the whole Pacific area.

This informant added that the Japanese were just now in full control of the western Pacific area and that the British thus would depend on the United States Navy "until our naval forces are built up to regain control."

Einstein, Once Militant Pacifist, Would Strike Hard For Victory

Princeton, N. J., —Dr. Albert Einstein, renowned German Jewish refugee scientist and once a militant pacifist, said Monday the democracies eventually would win over the totalitarian powers but that "we must strike hard and leave the breaking to the other sides."

"I believe it (the war) will come out well for the democracies, but it will be costly and we'll need big sacrifices," declared Einstein, now an American citizen in an exclusive interview at his home before he addressed the 43rd annual meeting of the American Physical Society.

It was one of the few interviews he has granted since he came to this quiet, university town in 1933 as a life member of the Institute for Advanced Study.

The 62-year-old mathematician and physicist, whose theory of relativity ranks with the major scientific contributions of all time, granted the interview when the reporter, who was at first declined an audience, submitted this question to Einstein in writing:

"You once were credited with saying 'militant pacifism is refusal to engage in war service of any kind, under any circumstances. I advise recruiting of people for this idea all over the world.'"

Capital Approves Suggestion Of Bombing Japanese Cities

Washington. —Washington enthusiastically received a suggestion from General Douglas MacArthur today that when the proper time comes Japanese cities be devastated from the air in retaliation for the ruthlessly cruel bombing of Manila.

The commandant of defending forces in the Philippines reported that the War Department that the Japs struck at the island capital made an open attack that had gathered for sanctuary and churches, schools, hospitals and convents were ruthlessly destroyed.

Japan's "present actions can only be deemed completely repulsive of all the civilized processes of international law," he said.

To MacArthur's report the department itself added a statement that a survey indicated the churches "and other centers of Christian worship and culture were deliberately selected as special targets for enemy attacks."

But, it seemed likely that the "proper time" mentioned by MacArthur for retaliation might be many months away.

The War Department condemned the bombing of Manila as "senseless and savage," and discussing the destruction of churches,

NATION'S TAX BILL TO TOTAL ALMOST 9 BILLION

New York. —The nation's state and local government tax bill for 1941 was estimated today by the national industrial conference board at a new high record of $8,925,000,000.

The board, a research organization, figured federal tax collections for 1941 also would set a record at $7,673,000,000.

State and local taxes in 1940 were $3,538,000,000, nearly $400,000,000 greater than the previous peak of 1938, the board said. Federal collections in 1940 were estimated at $5,569,000,000.

New Yorkers paid the highest per capita state and local tax bill in 1940, the board reported at $108.77. New Jersey followed with $97.29.

Lowest per capita state and local collections in 1940 were in Arkansas where the average was $25.44. Alabama was next with $29.57, followed by Georgia, $30.44; South Carolina, $30.50; Mississippi, $31.63; Tennessee, $33.28, and Kentucky, $33.29.

New York led total state and local taxes paid in 1940 with $1,469,000,000. California was second with $638,000,000, and Pennsylvania third with $636,000,000.

Capture Of Manila Held Certain, But MacArthur Continues Giving Enemy Hard And Bitter Fight

Wounded Are Evacuated From City And Started To Australia

Communications With Capital City Uncertain For Two Days

Washington. —With the early fall of Manila a very real probability, General Douglas MacArthur nevertheless reported to the War Department tonight that a "stubborn resistance" was being offered by the Japanese "according to pre-arranged defense plans."

The commanding general in the Far East also said that American and Filipino wounded had been evacuated on the steamship Mactan, bound for Australia. The vessel had been converted into and marked as a hospital ship, which by treaty should make her immune from enemy attack.

Meanwhile, from the Navy came a communique, apparently intended as a denial of Tokyo claims that Maui, Palmyra and Johnston Islands in or near the Hawaiian group, had been effectively bombed. The situation on those islands, the Navy said, was unchanged since the last report, which was received Dec. 24.

In full, the War Department's communique said:

General Douglas MacArthur, commanding the United States Army forces in the east has advised the War Department that wounded of the American and Philippine army have been evacuated from the Manila area on the steamship Mactan, which has been converted into a hospital ship and appropriately marked in accordance with the Geneva convention of 1907. The wounded will be taken to Australia.

American and Philippine troops are continuing their stubborn resistance according to pre-arranged defense plans.

Surrender Foregone
All indications were that Manila must soon surrender to powerful Japanese forces slashing their way steadily toward the city from two directions regardless of the fierce resistance of badly outnumbered defending troops.

There was only scanty news, phrased in most general terms, of what was going on, but its meaning was unmistakably plain.

The enemy was driving upon the island capital in great force from both north and south. Japan dive bombers dominated the roads. Great quantities of tanks and armored units were being hurled against the American and Filipino defenders.

The plan for reducing the school period was described as calling for complete revision of the grade school curriculum with elimination of non-essentials and revision of the high school program upon the premise that most graduates do not enter college.

Meanwhile, the University of Louisville placed its medical school on an accelerated program to cut three months from the time required for the present junior class to complete the course, and began studying a plan for year-round sessions leading to graduation in three years.

Recommend Substantial Cut In Freight Rates On All Live Stock

Washington. —Interstate Commerce Commission examiners recommended today substantial reductions in freight rates on livestock within the south, and to and from that territory.

The examiners based their recommendation largely upon a finding that the livestock industry in the south had expanded to a greater extent than in any other section of the country in the past decade with a resultant increase in the volume of livestock traffic.

Exceptions to the recommendations must be filed by Feb. 16. The commission then will assign the case for argument before entering a final decision.

The state regulatory commissions of Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia were active in urging lower livestock rates for the south, and the Secretary of Agriculture intervened in support of the complainants.

The examiners, A. S. Worthington and T. Leo Haden, suggested a mileage scale on calves, hogs, sheep, goats, lambs and kids, and on cattle fit for slaughter ranging from 13 cents per 100 pounds for five miles to 79 cents per 100 pounds for 1,600 miles.

The recommended scale of rates is 2 cents to 8 cents per 100 pounds for longer distances the recommended rates would be the same as those in effect in the north, but rates for shorter distances would be 1 cent to 2 cents per 100 pound higher than the northern rates.

They recommended rates for stocker and feeder livestock be fixed at 85 per cent of the rates for livestock fit for slaughter.

On shipments from the western district to destinations in the south and north through the Lower Mississippi River crossings they recommended reductions of at least 8 cents per 100 pounds.

Another recommendation was that the south be given substantially the same transit rules and regulations on livestock shipments as are in effect in the west.

IS AID ON THE WAY TO THE PHILIPPINES?

The presence of American Army planes over the battlefields of Luzon arouses the hope that the United States already has established a ferry service for bombers and perhaps fighters across the vast expanse of the Southern Pacific from Honolulu to Canton Island, to the Fiji group, to New Caledonia, to Australia and thence over the Dutch East Indies to Manila.

same roundabout course it would not now be at its destination. It takes all of three weeks for the fastest steamers to travel the direct route from the Hawaiian Island to Singapore, and that route has been eliminated by the seizure of Guam and Wake Island.

It therefore may be inferred that a shuttle system has been put into operation over the route of the Pan-American Line to the Antipodes. And this idea seems to be borne out by a dispatch from Sydney which declares that Prime Minister Churchill has advised the Australian Prime Minister that Britain and her allies have decided upon a definite plan of action in the Pacific that will improve enormously their striking power in that ocean.

But we must not be too hasty in our conclusions. The planes that flew over the Luzon battlefield may not have come from Honolulu and Australia. They may not even represent the vanguard of further reinforcements. They may have been the remnants of General MacArthur's tiny air force that escaped the incessant Japanese raids and found refuge on other bases on other islands, or they may have come from Rangoon where American fliers are guarding the Burma Road.

DEC. 26 PRICE FIXED AS TOP ON CIGARETTES

Wholesalers, Retailers Are Warned To Cooperate

Washington.—Moving to prevent general increases in the cost of cigarettes, Price Administrator Leon Henderson today froze manufacturers' prices at levels prevailing December 26.

He had forecast the action yesterday after announcing that the American Tobacco Company had refused to withdraw an increase of 57 cents a thousand in the price of Lucky Strikes.

For the force which will utterly destroy these men is now gathering in the West. To who are impatient progress seems slow.

Retreating that advances in cigarette prices now were unwarranted, Henderson declared he was prepared to extend the ceilings to wholesale and retail prices if distributors failed to co-operate.

LINDBERGH'S OFFER WEIGHED

Washington.—The Army Air Force today was considering an offer of volunteering service from former Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, who resigned last April from the Air Corps Reserve.

Lindbergh offered his services in a letter to Lieut. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, Army air chief.

The one-time "Lone Eagle" resigned his commission after President Roosevelt criticized his isolationist views and compared him to the "Copperheads" of the War Between the States era.

Arnold, confirming Lindbergh's offer, said it expresses his "deep desire to help the country along the lines in which he trained himself for many years. Lindbergh's act indicates a definite change from his isolationist stand."

Mrs. and Mrs. Wiggins Host and Hostess

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wiggins entertained their bridge club with a New Year's party last night at their home on Maple Avenue. The regular three tables of club members were present.

Following games of contract Mrs. Monroe Luther was presented the ladies' high score prize and Enoch Milner held high for the gentlemen. Mrs. Wiggins served hot-dogs, chili and cold drinks.

Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Luther will entertain this club in two weeks at their home on Cedar street.

WATCH PARTY AT HUGH FIGUE HOME

Mrs. Hugh Figue and Mrs. Martin Nall were hostesses at a watch party last night at the home of Mrs. Figue, when they entertained a two table contract club and several tables of other guests. It was a tacky party and was given in the conveniently arranged basement of the lovely new Figue home where tables were set for games of bridge. Each guest was dressed elaborately, but very distastefully.

At the conclusion of the games of bridge Mrs. M. W. Haws was winner of the high score prize for the ladies and Dr. J. L. Jones won the men's high score prize. Mrs. Clarence Pickering was given a prize for wearing the tackiest costume and Abe Jolley won that prize for the gentlemen.

At mid-night a joyous celebration was held in honor of the new year. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Pickering, Mr. and Mrs. Jolley, Dr. and Mrs. Haws, Dr. and Mrs. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Gingles, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hornbeak, Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Henderson, Mrs. J. C. CAROLYN AND JEAN ATKINS COMPLIMENT MAYFIELD GIRLS

Tuesday afternoon, December 30, between the hour of four and five o'clock Misses Carolyn and Jean Atkins were hostesses at a lovely tea at their home on Norman street. The affair was planned in special compliment to Misses Mary Lee Burnette, Chesley Davidson and Charlotte Byrn of Mayfield, Ky., all friends of Carolyn at the University of Kentucky in Lexington.

The guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. W. S. Atkins, the hostesses' mother, and in the receiving line were Carolyn and Jean and their guests of honor.

Mrs. Steve Wiley poured tea from a lovely tea table covered with a lace cloth. In the center was a crystal bowl holding red carnations and white narcissi and on each side were red candles in crystal candelabra. Assisting in serving were Misses Mary Browder Paschall, Mary Neal Jones and Elizabeth Payne and those assisting in entertaining were Miss Miriam Browder, Miss Margaret Nell Brady, Mrs. Ira Little, Mrs. Leon Browder, Mrs. Fred Cloys, Mrs. Edridge Crymes and Mrs. Warren Graham.

Presiding at the register was Miss Ruth Fields.

STATE LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL MOVES TO PREVENT DEFICIT

Frankfort, Ky. —An executive check to keep predicted lower revenues from breeding deficits in the state treasury during the war was proposed today by the legislative council.

A clause incorporating the plan in the 1942-43 budget act was discussed by the council, composed of 28 legislators and state officials, as it neared the end of its work on major legislation to be placed before the full assembly which convenes next Tuesday.

The council plans to meet tomorrow afternoon despite the New Year's holiday in an effort to wind up its study Friday. Its formal report to the legislature is expected to be completed Monday.

The budgetary control plan was explained by council members as an offshoot of the 1938 reorganization act which authorized the state finance commissioner to withhold part of an appropriation from a state department or agency if funds were not available.

The new clause, however, would permit the Governor to anticipate whether revenues would be sufficient and—through the state revenue and finance commissioners—to reduce department allotments "equitably and without discrimination" in advance of any depletion of funds.

The clause, read by Lieut. Gov. Rodes K. Myers, council chairman, said the spending curb was necessary because of possible fluctuating conditions during the war while the legislature was not in session.

$0,003,000 REPORTED ON JOBS IN NOVEMBER

Washington. — Civil non-agricultural employment totaled 40,693,000 during November. Secretary of Labor Perkins announced today. The figure exceeded November, 1929, by 3,165,000 and November, 1928, by 4,114,000.

Payrolls were said to be 42.2 per cent higher in November 1941, than in the same month a year ago. This sizable increase, the secretary said, reflected the expansions of work-in hours, overtime payments and wage rate increases.

"A Symbol of Freedom"

As we stand on the threshold of the New Year, may we lift our faces above the horrors of war and find time and place to acknowledge our blessings.

First of all, we are thankful that we are Americans... proud of our freedom; unified in strength and determination. We are grateful that we live and operate in this friendly town and community. We offer THANKS to the people in this section for your loyalty during the past year.

As we face the tasks of 1942, we hope to merit again your confidence, goodwill and patronage.

NEW YORK CRITICS PICK 'CITIZEN KANE' AS BEST '41 FILM

New York — The New York film critics announced today they had chosen "Citizen Kane" as the best motion picture of 1941.

They picked Gary Cooper for the year's outstanding male performance in "Sergeant York" and Joan Fontaine for the best female performance in "Suspicion."

John Ford, for the second consecutive year, was named top director for his work in "How Green Was My Valley," his last Hollywood assignment before becoming a naval commander. Orson Welles, producer and director of "Citizen Kane," was runner-up to Ford.

MAD SONG TITLES AREN'T NEW, IT SEEMS

New York — The mad titles on some of our popular songs are really nothing new, says Andre Kostelanetz, orchestra conductor.

Such numbers as "Boogie Woogie Piggy" and "B-I-B-I" had nothing on some of Rosini's shorter pieces. Among his preludes were "Inoffensive" and "Convulsive," his waltzes included "Tortured," "Limping," "Undanceable" and among his etudes were "Castor-oil," "Romantic Hash," "Asthmatic" and "Little Green Peas."

HENRY WARD WILL ACT AS MAJORITY LEADER IN HOUSE

Frankfort, Ky. — Henry Ward, Paducah Democrat, is slated for acting Democratic floor leader in the Kentucky House of Representatives, Gov. Keen Johnson said today after it became known that Rep. Joe E. Robinson was too ill to attend the general assembly during the first two weeks of the coming session.

The Governor previously had said that Robinson was the administration's choice for floor leader, with Ward as his assistant.

Returning from a visit to Robinson's Lancaster home, where the 68-year-old political leader was resting after a heart attack, Johnson Robinson was "not dangerously ill" but that his physician said he would have to rest three or four weeks.

An attack of indigestion last night, following what the Governor described as "heart flutter," put Robinson in bed but Johnson said he and Ward, who also visited him, discussed the legislative situation.

E. C. Moore of Liberty has been slated as administration choice for Democratic Senate floor leader.
