THIS LAND OF OURS

By Chas. A. Williams

THE TWO GREAT PARTIES

The conventions of the two great political parties of these United States have come and gone. However, they both left a stain on the sheet of great occurrences in our land. With an untrammeled press and radio our politicians should begin to learn that the voter today is far more brilliant than he once was. Yet the politicians still seek to hoodwink the public.

The true method of operation of political parties has been and was meant to be a graduation from the people up to the elected. In recent years it has been a step down from the elected down to the people. In short, the servants of the people have had the people doing the serving, and on a lavish platter of hypocrisy. I speak for one as I do the other and unerringly to both the political parties, Democrats and Republicans. They both have rotten places.

The Democrat party of today is no more the Democrat party that it was originally than hell is an ice house today. The party today is Roosevelt's party, purely and simply. Why? Just this. Political parties are supposed to convert their delegates, catch the sentiments of the group and draft their platform, find a man that best exemplifies that platform and nominate him to represent them as head of the government. This time Roosevelt told them the platform, had himself "drafted" and told them whom he would permit to run with him for Vice-President.

The Republican party has bettered itself considerably in the past several weeks but it remains tainted with Taft and the Hamilton (National Chairman of the party) ideas which we outgrew a decade ago. Their nomination of Wilkie for President was certainly not their intention. Force of public opinion did that—a demand for a better business man than we have had heretofore. The nomination of McNary for Vice-President was a reversion back to the old line. McNary was co-author of the McNary-Haugen bill which did more to cause the United States to lose its world markets for agricultural products than any other single piece of legislation. However, we may be consoled by the fact that he will be, if elected, in a less dangerous position as Vice-President than he ever would be as Senator. The Vice-President wields a very little stick that bears no weight other than politically.

It is to be hoped that we will have no landslide, one way or the other, in the next election. That we will have a better balance of parties.

When the force of public opinion will bear greater weight and we will come nearer being a democracy than we have seen in a long time.

Landslides are dangerous! Hitler was elected by a 99% vote.

THE TYPHOID SEASON

This is the season when vacationists and others should be on their guard against typhoid fever germs, as medical records show that there is a steady rise in the number of cases of this disease from May onward. The Hospital Research Institute of Chicago says there were four times as many typhoid fever cases in September of last year as there were in May.

Warning is given against well water at wayside farm houses, because most instances of typhoid infection have their source in contaminated water. The Institute says:

"Before starting on a motor trip it is wise to fill the vacuum bottles with safe water. Then when a stop-over is made, replenish the bottles with fresh water from a reliable source; or boil the water. A chlorine compound, available in tablet form may be dropped into the water, and any physician will give instructions as to its proper use."

The death toll from typhoid fever has been reduced from eight to two out of every 100,000 persons in the last 13 years. The family doctor, the community hospital, various health departments and laboratory workers are all united in an effort to cut this mortality rate still lower.

Chlorination of water, pasteurization of milk, and instructions to those who may be carriers of typhoid germs as to proper hygiene, are aiding materially in the fight against this malady.

EUROPE FACES FAMINE

Europe is faced with a serious food shortage this coming winter, according to C. E. Harner, an American press correspondent, who sees a greatly reduced production of crops in practically all countries.

Aside from the destruction of growing crops in war areas, several other important factors are present to add to the threat of famine. Millions were withdrawn from farms during the spring for military service, and bad weather and floods hampered farm operations in several countries. It is estimated that the European grain crop this year will be less than two-thirds normal requirements.

Harvests of captured nations are likely to be seized in large part by Germany, even if masses of the conquered countries must live miserably or starve. Practically all European nations except France have had to import grain even in peace time. They now have no money with which to buy foreign food-stuffs, even if means were available to transport supplies from overseas.

While Hitler will doubtless rob the conquered countries to supply food for Germany, the desperation of hungry millions in those countries may cause him serious trouble.

KIDNEY STAGNATION IS WORSE THAN CONSTIPATION!

Because We Treat Constipation at The Onset, While We Neglect Our Kidneys Indefinitely

No other organ in your body is as important as your kidneys. For as your kidneys there are nine million tubes which must work day and night to filter the fluids and keep the system free from wastes, acids, poisons which, if permitted to remain, may cause serious kidney and bladder troubles.

It is no wonder then that Nature often calls for help to clean out the kidneys. So if you are troubled with Stiff-Neck, Leg Pains, Backache, Nervous Headache, Dizziness or Loss of Energy, due to functional kidney disorders, try KIDANS, the famous kidney remedy, which aids Nature to flush out the kidneys, to filter all wastes, to prevent kidney stagnation.

KIDANS is Safe and Reliable. Thousands report entire satisfaction. Taken according to directions, KIDANS will give splendid results. Try KIDANS. Buy it at your local drug store or write to The Kidans Company, Atlanta, Georgia, for two full-size boxes on a money-back guarantee.

If your local druggist cannot supply you, send $1.00 to The Kidans Company, Atlanta, Georgia, for two full-size boxes on a money-back guarantee.

Tidbits of Kentucky Folklore

By Gordon Wilson Ph.D. Western Kentucky Teachers College Bowling Green, Ky.

KING'S EX

The abdication of Edward VIII reminded me that for many years I have wanted to write an essay called "King's Ex." When we were children, we played many games in which it was lawful to say "King's Ex." usually shortened into "King's Ex." when we wanted to be out of the game for an instant. The rule was violated often, for we would use the words when we were in a very tight place. While we were playing "Wolf over the river" and were about to be caught by the opposing faction, we would feign a sudden nosebleed or a violent fit of coughing or some hidden ache or injury and use the magic formula to get out. I should say that our folk version of it was "Skingsh." When the one who had caught us or several of the opposing force questioned our having a legal excuse, we burst into tears or else struck out right and left to defend our honor. If the teacher were not around, a first-class free-for-all might ensue, with bloody noses and a generous use of whatever bad words we knew. But I cannot recall that any such experience ever taught us the method of getting out of the game. In our own times we know of "time out," so thoroughly have we been taught in athletics. Suppose that phrase is used so often that one suspects it a ruse to stage some kind of new trick, you can imagine how long the referee will last in an average community. Certain boys and girls, usually tearful and with whining voices, were the best users of this device, so much so that we sometimes called them "Skingsh." Today they would be said to have a plentiful stock of alibis, but that word had not leaked into our section when we were young.

If children were the only ones to use this device, how good the old world would be. When we grew up, then, we would all take it on the chin or play the game or take our medicine or grin and bear it or whatever else symbolizes playing without asking for time out. Thackeray suggests in his essay "On Being Found Out" that the old way of paddling a fellow when he had done something detestable and had been found out might with great good to humanity be used with grown-ups as it was and is used among children. How satisfying a sight, he thinks it would be, to see the Lord Mayor or the Right Honorable or the Very Reverend being paddled by his contemporaries for deceit that has been discovered. Wouldn't it be great to have some pert boy call out "King's Ex" when some dignified worthy began to make alibis at the moment when he was getting to the most difficult part of his duties and responsibilities? Just as a great politician began to straddle an issue to get votes from the warm and the cold and the lukewarm, how refreshing to sing out "King's Ex!" And when some pious hypocrite started some platitudinous rigmarole that means nothing and never did, how we would like to make his face red by making him recall his artful dodges of childhood!

A King loved a commoner, another man's wife. He wanted her and would have her, even though a throne had to disappear. Much slush has been written and said about this action but imagine it on your street shorn of all royalty and active journalism. Wouldn't it seem a bit like our childish alibis? I wonder whether children will think of this when they play their next game and would like to get by without observing the rules. Did I say children?

England can obtain food from her dominions and from the Americas so long as she commands the seas. As in the last World War, food may be a most important factor in deciding the final outcome of the present struggle.

SILO SIMPKINS SAYS

More farm implements rust out than wear out. Terraces, strip cropping, contour tillage, and cover crops keep soil from "running out" on farmers.

If you like apples, ask the "missus" to can the extras before you start feeding them to the pigs. Eggs can't fan themselves—so gather twice a day in hot weather and store in a cool, moist place.

Now is the time to strike a death blow at weeds in the pasture by clipping before they set seed.

Alfalfa, the aristocrat of legumes, requires a diet of lime and phosphate on most Tennessee soils.

Much is being said about platform forms nowadays, but the strongest plank in any farmer's platform should be abundant food and feed crops grown on the farm.

A recent study of deaths from farm accidents shows that 42 percent were due to falls, 14 to heat, 13 to drowning, 12 to burns, 6 to firearms, 4 to poisons, 3 to machinery, 2 to electricity.

Here's a lesson in arithmetic: records kept by Tennessee farmers under the guidance of county agricultural agents, show that when cotton was selling for 10 cents a pound, a farmer's labor was worth 90 cents a day growing cotton which yielded less than 200 pounds per acre and $3.50 a day when yields were 400 pounds or more per acre.

Money Talks

By Frederick Stamm, Economist Director of Adult Education UNIVERSITY OF LOUISVILLE

Increased industrial activity, coupled with the huge national defense program, has created an almost unbelievable demand for skilled workers of all types. According to military and navy experts, few are to be found among the nation's unemployed.

"...and a Coca-Cola"

During the depression thousands of skilled workers lost their jobs and also their old skills. Many industrial organizations had curtailed training programs, and consequently few young men were trained for positions needing skill and accuracy. As a result, the United States now finds herself without a reserve of skilled artisans.

Factories and machines may be quickly overhauled and put into production. But the training of skilled workers requires considerable time. A man cannot become an expert pattern or tool maker overnight; years of study and apprenticeship are necessary.

One illustration of our inadequate training program may be of interest. In 1935, when millions of our men were walking the streets, a German tool maker came to this country and immediately found employment in one of our factories at a salary of $200 a month.

Craftsmen are wanted, men with the equivalent of a college education in their fields—men of skill, precision, and accuracy—tool, dye, and instrument workers of all types. The government, through trade and technical schools, the C. C. C., N. Y. A., and other agencies, is feverishly training men to become skilled workers. Industrial plants are reopening their training schools to thousands of young men. If our defense program is to go forward, we must have these trained workers.

Although we live in a machine age, men, and especially skilled artisans play an all-important role.

A Personal Word to the People of the First District: As every individual knows, a grave emergency threatening the peace and security of the American people has kept Congress in session and the Adjournment date is yet uncertain. I am not unmindful that the primary duty is very near and I would like very much to be at home looking after my political interests but I feel that the DEFENSE OF OUR COUNTRY IS FAR MORE IMPORTANT THAN THE POLITICAL FUTURE OF ANY INDIVIDUAL therefore I shall remain at my post of duty so long as I am needed. I am humbly grateful for the co-operation you are giving me and have always given me during my service as your Representative in Congress. May I earnestly solicit your continued confidence and support in the primary August 3rd?

GENERAL MEETING OF W. M. U.

The general meeting of the Woman's Missionary Union of the First Baptist Church was held at three o'clock Monday afternoon at the church. The president, Mrs. Earl Taylor, was in charge.

The meeting was opened with a song, "Sweet Hour of Prayer," followed by prayer by Mrs. Ed Bondurant. The reports given by the chairman of the various departments were very encouraging, especially those of personal service, of which Mrs. Carl Hastings is chairman, and the young people's department, headed by Mrs. J. C. Sugg.

Mrs. E. J. Mills presented the devotional lesson, using scripture verses from the fifth and sixth chapters of Matthew. The subject of the program for the afternoon was "Cementing Bonds of Friendship with Our Neighbors—Cuba, Mexico and South America." The message was very ably given by Mrs. L. V. Brady, giving reports of the work of Baptists in these countries, and showing that we have many interests in common with the neighbors south of us. She pointed out that a strong tie should be made and that the love of Christ is a strong hand reaching from our land to the people of these lands that would cement forever the bonds of friendship between our nation and these, our neighbor nations. This can be done by our continuing to send the gospel to them.

The closing prayer was led by Mrs. Lora Horton.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. James Brann announce the birth of a son, born Saturday night in the Fulton Hospital.

Let me say a few words again about the pedestrian problem.

The majority of pedestrians killed in traffic accidents meet death after dark. Four out of five adult pedestrians killed in traffic lose their lives between 5 p. m. and 1 a. m.

Studies also show that the pedestrian who has never driven a car is very unfamiliar with the limitations of the automobile as well as the limitations and inabilities of many drivers. Therefore, the pedestrian takes unnecessary chances because of his lack of knowledge, and, in many instances accidents are not the fault of the driver.

Our schools are making rapid strides in educating our pedestrians, and education is one of the important steps towards eliminating pedestrian accidents.
