Washington.—The government has prohibited the sale of new automobile and truck tires for several months, in order to establish an automobile rationing program. The measure was taken under authority of the War Production Board, which has the power to control tire manufacture and distribution. It is estimated that the ban on new tires will result in a saving of 100,000,000 tires per year.

The action is part of a broader program of conservation of essential materials, including rubber, which is in short supply. The government is trying to encourage the use of used tires and to develop substitutes for rubber in the production of non-essential goods.

A New Board

WASHINGTON, D.C., March 31 (AP) — The United States government today announced the establishment of a new Board of Economic Warfare, to be known as the War Production Board. The new body is the result of the consolidation of several existing agencies, including the National Defense Advisory Commission and the War Production Board. The Board of Economic Warfare will be headed by a governor, who will be appointed by the President, subject to Senate confirmation.

The Board will have a wide range of responsibilities, including the regulation of production and the allocation of essential materials. It will also have the power to control the flow of goods and services, and to coordinate the efforts of other government agencies in the war effort.

A New Governor

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT, President, today announced the appointment of Dr. Earnest O. Gibson as governor of the new Board of Economic Warfare. Dr. Gibson was acting head of the Office of Price Administration and has been a leading figure in the fight against inflation.

The new governor is expected to bring to the Board a wealth of experience in economic matters. He has been active in the field of economics for many years, and has served as a member of several government agencies.

Dr. Gibson will be assisted by a staff of experts, who will be appointed by the governor. The staff will include economists, attorneys, and other professionals, who will be selected for their knowledge and experience in the field of economics.

The Board of Economic Warfare is expected to begin its work immediately, and to take steps to ensure the efficient and equitable allocation of essential materials. The new governor and his staff will be expected to work closely with other government agencies, and with the private sector, in the effort to achieve these objectives.
FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

In a three-handed shooting affair of ten years ago, the annual dinner was lacking only the usual number of guests at the ball and were forced to wait for another. The guests had been largely engaged in a game of cards, and one of the players had been sitting at a table, waiting for his partner, who was not expected until the next day. When the other partner failed to arrive, the player left the table and went to the other end of the room, where he found that his partner had already arrived. The guests were waiting for him and were conversing about the game. The player then returned to his place at the table and sat down to play. The guests were all seated and the game began. The player made several moves and his partner was forced to make a difficult move in order to stay in the game. The player then made a move that would have lost the game if the other partner had not made a move that would have saved the game. The guests were quite surprised by the player's move and they congratulated him on his good play. The game continued and the player made several more moves that would have lost the game if the other partner had not made moves that would have saved the game. The game lasted for several hours and the players were all quite exhausted. The player was the only one who had not made any moves that would have lost the game. It was not possible to determine from the score who had won the game, but the player was clearly the winner. He was congratulated by all the guests and was invited to play another game. He accepted the invitation and the game was played again, but the result was the same. The player was clearly the winner of the game and the guests were all quite pleased with his good play. The player was invited to play another game, but he declined the invitation and went home. The guests were all quite pleased with the player's good play and they congratulated him on his success. The player was the only one who had not made any moves that would have lost the game, and he was clearly the winner of the game. The guests were all quite pleased with his good play and they congratulated him on his success.

Many people are asking when there will be another basketball game. There will be a game Tuesday night, when Tuner plays here for a tilt, instead of the evening, according to the schedule before the season started. It might be scheduled for tomorrow night, but it will be a long time, according to the schedule, before the season is over. The schedule has the games on the 27th, Hickman on the 29th, and the last the night of January 23. The first of two games. This game, in the first of two games. This game, the first of two games.
