FLOATER IS NOT ROBERT STEELE

Relatives Say Description is Not Identical

Found in Lake Just Back of River in Illinois Where High Water Washed It.

CARD AND MEMORANDUM BOOK

After a thorough investigation, relatives of Robert Steele, the young man of Kuttawa, who fell into the Cumberland river two weeks ago, have decided that the floater found in Illinois is not his body. There is no further clue to the identity.

The body was found floating on the surface of one of the lakes a mile and a half from Brookport. It bore every evidence of having been washed there from the river during the high water, and the face and head were so badly scratched and torn that identification would be impossible from an inspection of them. In a pocket was 25 cents, and a note book, given as a souvenir by B. Wellie & Son. In the book were the names "Mallory" and "Harmon." On a card was printed "Randolph, 419 Jackson." The clothes appeared to be serge and the shoes were new. The body had on two suits of underclothing. It had been in the water apparently about 40 days.

WAGON WHEEL BREAKS.

Causes Blockade on Loop, and All Lines Are Affected.

A wagon wheel not as large as the palm of one's hand caused a suspension of traffic on the Third street, South Sixth street, Trimble street and Jackson street lines of the Paducah Traction company this morning at 9:35 o'clock. Sherman Hudson, colored, was driving a team of mules, pulling a wagon loaded with brick. The right front wheel came off and the axle, bent by the load, broke at Third street and Kentucky avenue. The mules could not pull the wagon from off the car tracks and car after car came to a standstill, causing a blockade. With the assistance of conductors, motor-men and bystanders, the wagon was worked out of the way after a delay of nearly fifteen minutes, the first serious blockade since the loop was established. The wagon belonged to Chamblin and Murray, brick manufacturers.

This was refused her, whereupon she left with the officials a letter of which she furnished a copy to the press. In this she begs President Roosevelt to at once appoint a committee of experts to make sure that she is of sound mind before she proceeds further in this case.

'SQUIRE EMERY AFTER LICENSES

Many Paducah Merchants and Others, Who Have Paid to City Have Neglected to Pay County and State

SECURES A LIST FROM CITY.

Restaurant keepers who have not paid a state and county license will have to pay up at once or be prosecuted. Merchants who do business under a name other than their own, will have to register the name under which they operate in county court. Magistrate Charles Emery secured a list of restaurant keepers from the city who have paid a license. He asked today for a list of those who have taken out a license in the county court. When both lists are in his hands he will compare with a total list of restaurants in Paducah and expects to find fully 25 that have not paid the $5 license, and will prosecute at once if the license is not forthcoming.

INTERPRETERS WANTED AT ONCE

Government Makes Direct Appeal to Local Postoffices To Secure Men For This Department

MANY EXAMINATIONS HELD.

Will Paducah produce a linguist and make herself conspicuous in the eyes of the government? This question is interesting attaches of the local postoffice department and the public will be as much interested in the outcome. Weekly bulletins of examinations are sent out from Washington to stations, where civil service examinations are held, and it seems impossible to secure a sufficient number of interpreters. The government issued order after order and in desperation a direct appeal was made.

"We received a personal letter from the civil service commission begging us to put forth special efforts to secure applicants for interpreter," a clerk at the postoffice stated. "There are 41 foreign languages in the list and interpreters are desired for each."

An examination for interpreter in foreign languages for the immigration service will be held in Paducah on May 15.

Other examinations authorized follow: General mechanic and plate printer, bureau of engraving and printing, May 1; clerk-typewriter draftsman and chief engineer, custodian service, May 8 and trainmaster, quartermaster's department at large, May 15.

HIDING BEHIND. SKIRTS OF WOMAN

Jerome Describes "Dementia Americana" as Manifested in Case of Harry Thaw Who Waited Three Years

MAKES MAGNIFICENT SPEECH.

New York, April 10.—District Attorney Jerome made a strong argument for the state in the Thaw trial today. First he spoke on the law of the case and then plunged into the general argument with vigor. He told the story of the killing and dissected the characters of Evelyn and Thaw.

"As to this 'dementia Americana,'" he said, "which prevails from the Canadian line to the Gulf of Mexico does it wait three years and glare at its enemy and then kill? Does this 'dementia Americana' flaunt the woman for whom it kills for two long years through capitals of Europe and then kill? 'Dementia Americana' never hides behind the skirts of a woman. 'Dementia Americana' lay bare her shame in order to protect it. No woman could be so subjected in any territory where the 'dementia Americana' prevails."

Referring to the shooting of White, Jerome alluded to Thaw's actions and said: "In all these acts and words is there any evidence that he was apostle of the Almighty striking down a demon? No, that developed after he had magnificent advice from his learned attorneys."

LEFT ON ISLAND IN OHIO RIVER

Aged Woman Has Hard Experience For Night

Claims Steamboat People Made Mistake Which Cost Her Health and Happiness.

ASKS FOR DAMAGES OF $2,000.

For marooning Mrs. Catherine Wakefield of Bandana, Ballard county, on an island in the Ohio river, the Lee Line of steamers has been sued for $2,000 damages. The suit was filed today at Wickliffe, Ballard county, by Attorneys Thomas Crice and J. S. Ross, of this city.

Mrs. Wakefield is 65 years old, and had been in an infirmary in Louisville for treatment for defective vision and a general breakdown. During April she was dismissed, and taking passage on the steamer Georgia Lee, started for home at Bandana. She bought passage as far as Ogden Landing, intending to drive through to her home, and making arrangements to be met at the landing by friends.

At 5 o'clock on the afternoon of April 16, 1906, she says, the mate awakened her. She was in her cabin and required a short time to dress. In the meantime her luggage and a lot of freight was being unloaded. She was told that Odgen's Landing had been reached.

Mrs. Wakefield was greeted on emerging into the open air by gusts of cold rain. The water stood high on the land. The surroundings did not appear familiar to the aged woman and no one was there to meet her. Everywhere she saw water and she realized a mistake had been made and she was on Williams' island, three miles from Odgen's Landing.

For more than three hours the aged woman walked the narrow island beating her hands and crying for help. Long after dark she was rescued by a fisherman, who heard her cries. After three miles of hard pulling the oarsman landed her in a farm house. She was forced to stay on the second floor with high water within a few inches of her bed. She contracted cold and was forced to return to Louisville for four months' treatment, she says.

WILL LIMIT SPEED OF MOTORCYCLES IN CITY.

Through an oversight motor cycles were ignored in the ordinance regulating automobiles, their speed, etc., and according to a member of the board of aldermen an amendment will be brought in shortly covering their class of vehicle. "I see several motor cycles in Paducah and every time one of them passes me, it makes me extremely nervous," the alderman declared. "I saw a young man riding one the other day and I venture he was not going less than 25 miles an hour. These motor-cycles are as dangerous as automobiles, and should be restricted in speed."

Tired, Nervous Mothers

A nervous, irritable mother, often on the verge of hysterics, is unfit to care for children; it ruins a child's disposition and reacts upon herself. She is a source of misery to every one who comes under her influence, and unhappy and miserable herself. She cannot help it, as her condition is due to shattered nerves caused by some feminine derangement, with backache, headache, and all kinds of pain, and she is on the verge of nervous prostration. Proof is monumental that nothing is better to regulate a woman's health than

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Thousands and thousands of women testify to this fact.

Mrs. Nellie Makham, of 151 Morgan St., Buffalo, N.Y., writes:

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I was a wreck from nervous prostration. I suffered so I did not care what became of me, and my family despaired of my recovery. Physicians failed to help me. I was urged to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I want to tell you that it has entirely cured me. I think it is the finest medicine on earth, and I am recommending it to all my friends and acquaintances."

Mrs. Geo. A. James, a life-long resident of Fredonia, N.Y., writes:

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I was in a terribly run down condition and had nervous prostration caused by female trouble, in fact I had not been well since my children were born. This condition worked on my nerves, and I was irritable and miserable. I had tried many remedies without getting much help, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought me back to health and strength. It has also carried me safely through the Change of Life. I cannot too strongly recommend your medicine."

MRS. PINKHAM'S INVITATION TO WOMEN.

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to communicate promptly with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. From the symptoms given, the trouble may be located and the quickest and surest way of recovery advised. She will hold your letter in strict confidence as indicated by the fact that every private letter received by her during the last twenty years, and more, she now has in the Company's laboratory under lock and key, and no testimonial has ever been published without special written permission. Her advice is free and always helpful.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND, a woman's remedy for woman's ills, made from Native Roots and Herbs, complies with all conditions of the new Pure Food and Drugs Law, and is so guaranteed.

Her Mother—Does your husband take you into his confidence regarding his business affairs? Young Wife—Oh, yes; he did so only this morning. When I asked him to let me have $50 for a new gown he said he was very sorry, but business was so bad just now he couldn't possibly do it.—Chicago Daily News.

Steamboats were plentiful at the wharf this morning, the Joe Wheeler, Memphis, Dick Fowler, Clyde, Maude Kilgore, Buttort and later on the John S. Hopkins and Savannah. The river continues to fall here the stage of 19.7 this morning showing .6 less than yesterday morning. April 10 last year the stage was 40.2. Business at the wharf has picked up well again this week.

The officers on the packets running in the southern streams say that the scenery now along the rivers is most beautiful, with the banks covered luxuriantly with green and wild flowers.

Additional life-saving facilities were ordered for the Joe Wheeler yesterday by Inspectors Green and St. John. This is what all the boats are experiencing and the possibility of the inspectors boarding the boat at any point to inspect them, makes it necessary to keep everything in apple pie order. If the inspectors should board a packet at Paduk landing, 90 miles from a boat store, and find defective hose, that packet would have to lay there until new hose was gotten.

The Clyde and the Maude Kilgore went through the rigid inspection without a hitch, and the Kilgore will leave today for Helena, Ark. The Clyde will be ready to get back into the Tennessee river trade next Wednesday.

The T. H. Davis brought up a railroad barge for inspection last night. Frank Waggoner is building a new city dump boat, on the wharf between Broadway and Jefferson street.

The Joe Fowler came in at 9 o'clock last night and left at 3 o'clock.

this morning, late from lack of rousters. The John S. Hopkins was the Evansville packet today.

The Savannah was expected from St. Louis today on the up trip to the Tennessee river.

With the biggest trip since entering the trade, the Joe Wheeler left at noon today for Chattanooga.

The Buttort arrived early this morning from Clarksville and left with a big trip for Nashville at noon.

John Watts, for several years pilot on the Clyde and lately the Memphis, has accepted a similar position on the Dick Fowler. B. Carroll will go out on the Memphis this evening.

The Russell Lord arrived from St. Louis today and will leave tomorrow for the Tennessee river after ties for the Ayer-Lord company.

The Dick Fowler cleared for Cairo on time today and will return tonight at 8 o'clock.

Although the same number of boats are running now, that was running in the winter, the coal companies supplying coal for steamboats, have experienced a sharp fall-off in the demand for coal. This decrease in demand is due to the weather. The boats burn much less coal in warm weather than in cold weather, to obtain the same amount of heat. The explanation is that the boilers which are exposed to the atmosphere, require more heat to keep up steam in cold weather.

The Memphis will leave this evening for the Tennessee river.

Official Forecasts.

The Ohio from Evansville to Cairo will continue falling during the next 24 to 36 hours.

The Tennessee from Florence to below Johnsonville will continue rising during the next 24 to 36 hours.

The Mississippi from below St. Louis to Cairo, not much change during the next 24 to 36 hours. The Wabash at Mt. Carmel, no material change or slowly falling during the next 24 hours.

Quite So.

"While it is, of course, a platitude to say that a wise teacher learns by instructing others," recently observed an instructor in a preparatory school in Brooklyn. "It is permissible to remark that he frequently picks up some curious information in this way."

"I once asked a boy to explain, if he could, the difference between animal instinct and human intelligence. It was a pretty hard question, but the lad was equal to it."

THEATRICAL NOTES

Thomas Q. Seabrooke.

Thomas Q. Seabrooke, one of America's most genuinely humorous comedians, the star of such epoch-making comic operas as "The Isle of Champagne," "Florodora," "A Chinese Honeymoon" and others, comes to the Kentucky theater on Monday night in "The Man on the Box," a comedy which played 221 nights in New York City to crowded and enthusiastic audiences. This play is a dramatization of Harold MacGrath's celebrated novel of that title made by Grace L. Furniss under the careful supervision of Mr. Walter N. Lawrence, Mr. Seabrooke's manager, and never has this splendid actor had a role which gave him better opportunity for the display of his versatile talents, nor a play more full of wit, humor, heart interest and entrancingly absorbing plot. As everyone knows, for the book has sold nearly a million copies—the plot deals with the romantic love affair of a dare devil young army officer, Robert Warburton, and a Washington society girl, Elizabeth Annesley, and the scenes are laid in the capitol at the present day. The story opens with the arrest of the young officer who has, the night before, usurped the position of the heroine's coachman, and after giving her a bad fright by his reckless driving, kissed her soundly as he finally stopped the horse, and allowed her to descend from the carriage. Miss Annesley pays his fine in court and then offers him a position as her groom. He accepts and the ridiculous things she makes him do, interspersed with the development of the love story and a serious plot against the honor and happiness of her father, form a story which, although relieved every moment or two by a bit of fun, never loses its intense dramatic interest. Never has Mr. Seabrooke been seen to better advantage, for his role gives him splendid comedy opportunities, as well as moments of seriousness, while the company with which Mr. Lawrence has surrounded him are all fully capable of playing their parts in tune with Mr. Seabrooke. The company includes Misses Sylvia Linden, Elizabeth Stewart and Madge Pierce, Messrs. Sydney Booth, Fred W. Peters, Chester Beecroft and others.

"The Lion and the Mouse."

Charles Klein in "The Lion and the Mouse," which production will be offered here by Henry B. Harris, at the Kentucky on Friday night, has utilized a phase of national life which has never before been used for stage treatment and which proves of intense interest as a result. He has taken one of the money kings of the country, a type of the financiers who manipulate the destinies of the nation and made him one of the central figures of the plot. Stern in his attitude to all even to his wife and children, and relentless to his enemies. It may be said that the play is of vital interest to all classes of thinking people, and while its aspect is serious it is said to contain a fine galaxy of wit, humor and pathos. The event of this play is looked forward to with a great deal of pleasure by all theatergoers and the event will prove a most interesting one.

A Queen's Bedchamber.

Queen Alexandria's bed room is paneled in pale rose silk with hangings of white satin, those of the bed being surmounted by the imperial crown. The curtains of her boudoir are of ivory silk, bordered with heliotrope. Here the panelings are of ivory silk in gilt moldings; and other accessories are Beauvois tapestry, French carpet and Louis XVI. furniture. Her majesty's bathroom is quite new, and was specially built out. It is fitted with a bath of Grecian marble from quarries which had been disused a thousand years. —London M. A. P.

FAT AND LEAN

WILL BE REDUCED TO AVERAGE BY GOVERNMENT.

Department of Agriculture Interests Itself in Physical Shape of People.

Washington, April 10.—There are too many fat people and too many thin people in the country, and the government, through the agricultural department, is conducting experiments to show them how to strike an average.

C. F. Langworthy, chief of the division of nutrition investigation, is conducting investigations which include dietary studies, digestive experiments and various other things in connection with food.

"How to get thin and how to get fat" are being experimented with in a course of dietary studies at the University of Maine, at Orono, in that state, under the supervision of Professor C. D. Woged, and at the University of Tennessee, at Knoxville, by Professor E. C. Waite.

These experiments were in full swing before Secretary Taft entered the cabinet, and therefore it cannot be charged even in a presidential campaign that he used his influence to get the government to work on the scheme.

Now is the time to get thin, the government's experts believe. With the approach of the summer and its green vegetables the path of the fat man who wants to reduce is made easier.

To fat ones the government says: "Eat little, sleep little and drink less."

To the thin man it says: "Drink all you can, eat all you can and sleep as much as you can."

The thin man who wants to get fat must eat and drink everything that he can stomach. He must eat plenty of potatoes, bananas and bread; most important, he must drink water before and after his meals.

The experts say it is principally what a person drinks and not what he eats that makes him fat. Fat is mostly water, it is asserted, and the more water or other liquids a person swallows the more likely he is to gain weight. Sweets of all kinds also are urged as fat producers.

Above all, a thin person who wants to spread out must sleep ten or eleven hours a day. A nap after each meal is offered as an excellent inducement for fat to come and stay.

On the other hand, the man who is trying to lose weight is advised that he keep moving after a meal to thwart the dread adipose.

"This is the season of the year," said an agricultural department official today, "when persons who are inconvenienced by fat may easily get rid of some of it. The heat of summer naturally tends to reduce the weight, for it causes perspiration and that means the discharge of a good deal of the water under the skin. But the principal inducement of summer is that the season offers many fresh vegetables, like tomatoes, onions, lettuce radishes and the like, which the fat man may eat by the wholesale with impunity."

PEOPLE TO PAY OIL TRUST FINE

May Be $130,000,000, and Then Price Go Up, Says Standard Man.
Washington, April 10.—Attorney General Bonaparte in conversation today with a well known public man gave the following side light on the Standard Oil cases now occupying attention in the federal courts in Chicago: A man prominently identified with Standard Oil's interests in litigation informed the attorney general that if the corporation he represents be convicted and the minimum penalty be imposed it will mean fines aggregating $8,000,000. If the maximum penalty be imposed it will mean fines amounting toward $130,000,000. The attorney general inquired if conviction in any event would not be likely to affect the dividends of the corporation.

"Oh, I don't think so," was the reply. "The price of oil can be raised, you know, and then the people will pay the fines."

ACCIDENTAL WAS DEATH OF M'KAY

Coroner's Jury Returned Verdict at Inquest Last Night

Sensational Testimony Did Not Materialize and Statements Were Denied.

DROWNED OFF DICK FOWLER

Frank McKay, Jr., was accidentally drowned.

After five sittings and an examination of over a score of witnesses, a verdict was reached at the Frank McKay inquest yesterday afternoon, and the evidence secured by the police department and Coroner Frank Baker, which was said to be sensational and direct, did not materialize, the witnesses testifying to anything but that which they are supposed to have said before sworn. Five witnesses were examined yesterday afternoon, only one having been previously before the jury.

John McAdams, when asked if he had made a statement to a relative that he saw a difficulty on the boat in which McKay was knocked from the hurricane roof, replied in the negative.

J. M. Barnes saw somebody kick a man he thought was McKay, when shown a picture of the dead boy, but this was the difficulty on the cabin stairs. He saw the same man on the hurricane roof once in the early afternoon, and also saw an object fall into the river from the boat, but this was before Metropolis was reached. Cleveland Edwards had testified before and was excused.

Queenie Dawese, who danced with McKay and knew him, and who was said to have made a statement that she saw a difficulty on the hurricane roof, in which a man was knocked overboard, testified that she saw McKay only in the cabin and did not go on the hurricane roof.

Barney Rudd was on the boat but saw no trouble of any kind.

This concluded the oral testimony, and several statements taken when the entire jury was not present were read to the jury after which a verdict was returned.

The Verdict.
"We, the jury, decide, after hearing the evidence of all the witnesses called in this case that Frank McKay came to his death on the night of Sunday, March 17, 1907, by falling overboard accidentally or otherwise from one of the decks of the steamer Dick Fowler between the ports of Metropolis and Paducah. ### IT'S YOUR KIDNEYS.

Don't Mistake the Cause of Your Troubles—A Paducah Citizen Shows How to Cure Them.

Many people never suspect their kidneys. If suffering from a lame weak or aching back they think that it is only a muscular weakness; when urinary trouble sets in they think it will soon correct itself. And so it is with all the other symptoms of kidney disorders. That is just where the danger lies. You must cure these troubles or they may lead to diabetes or Bright's disease. The best remedy to use is Doan's Kidney Pills. It cures all ills which are caused by weak or diseased kidneys. Paducah people testify to permanent cures.

I, L. Davless, 219 Broadway, Paducah, Ky., says: "I have been greatly benefited by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills which I procured at DuBois Son & Co.'s drug store. I had suffered with backache for some time but a short use of this remedy proved very satisfactory in relieving the trouble. I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills very highly to those afflicted in this way."

Night Riders Again.

Hopkinsville, Ky., April 10.—Night riders are operating in Christian county, near the Caldwell county line. During the past week the plant beds of John and Napoleon Beshares, Marvin Thomas and Jim Guthrie have been destroyed. It is reported that the beds were scraped. A report reached this city today that Pooley Reese, who lives about twelve miles from here, on the Princeton road, was waited on last night by fifteen masked men, who called him out in the yard and talked with him. It could not be learned what was said, as there is no telephone in that community. Mr. Reese is a member of the association.

Statute of Limitation in Cox Case.

Lexington, Ky., April 10.—The law of limitation will not be a bar to the damage suit of $100,000 recently instituted in the Fayette circuit court by the heirs of the late Dr. B. D. Cox against Jim Hargis, Alex. Hargis, Elbert Hargis and Ed Callahan, who, it is alleged, formed a conspiracy to murder Dr. Cox, according to the contention made here yesterday by Attorney A. E. Byrd. Mr. Byrd was present in court to argue against sustaining of the motion of Hargis' attorneys to quash the suit on the ground that service was not legally secured on Jim Hargis. While it is the belief of the attorneys for the Cox heirs that the motion made by the attorneys for the Hargises and Callahan is for the purpose of perfecting the plea of limitation, it is contended by Attorney Byrd that should the court sustain the motion of the defense that service on Jim Hargis was not legally secured, they cannot then claim the law of limitation because the petition for damages was actually filed before the time limit expired. A postponement was secured by the Hargis attorneys until next Monday, at which time the limitation will have expired.

No trial, no triumph.

CANNON PLEASED WITH CANAL VIEW

Sees Everything in Excellent Shape for Work

No New Engineering Problems Are Confronting Government in Project, He Says.

GATUN DAM NOT THE LARGEST.

Washington, April 10.—Speaker Cannon saw President Roosevelt today, and emphatically endorsed the way in which the Panama canal is being built.

"Civilized man," he said, after leaving the white house, "seems to be able to use his intelligence to provide comfort and preserve his health in every part of the globe when he has a chance to introduce civilized methods, and the government has provided these liberally throughout the canal zone, so that there is better health even among the natives."

"I had read a great deal and heard a great deal about the engineering problems, until I had about come to the conclusion that there were greater and more difficult engineering problems in connection with the canal than had ever been encountered by any people in any time since the world began."

"Now, I am not a civil engineer, and I do not pretend to understand even the professional discussion of engineering problems. But, as the situation was explained to me by Chief Engineer Stevens and his subordinates, there did not seem to be any entirely new engineering problems on the canal."

Gatun Dam Not the Biggest.

"There are many local canals in the world and some of them have great locks and great dams. I understand there are dams on earth in the United States that hold back a greater body of water than the proposed Gatun dam is to hold back to form an artificial lake from that point to the Culebra cut."

"There is, I am told, such a dam in California near San Francisco, and it was not disturbed by the earthquake and did not spring a leak anywhere. The engineering problem of Gatun seems to have been settled in the United States, and all the engineers have to do will be to work in an intelligent and honest way."

"It will be a gigantic work to build an earth dam a mile long—half a mile wide at the base, and nearly 100 feet high, and it will take time, but such work has been done before and it has been found efficient, and with hydraulic power, steam shovels and cable carriers such as are now in use, it can be done and done well."

"The locks to raise the ships from sea level to the artificial lake behind Gatun dam, an elevation of eighty-five feet, must be a little larger and stronger, however than any we have in the United States."

Culebra Cut No New Problem.
Asked what he thought of the great Culebra cut and if the commission can cut a canal through the mountain there, Mr. Cannon replied: "That is a big work, but it is an engineering problem with which American railroad builders are familiar. In fact, it is not a canal problem so much as it is a railroad problem. We have for forty years been working on just such problems in the western part of the United States, putting through Rocky mountain transcontinental railroads."

"Mr. Stevens is a railroad builder and he seems to have taken hold of this job of cutting through Culebra just as he would if he were building a railroad, and Col. Goethals expressed his surprise at the completeness of the organization for that work. Mr. Stevens probably will never get credit for the work he has done. He has made an organization that, if maintained, will cut through Culebra and remove the greatest obstacle to the canal. He has placed his drills and steam shovels and has laid his labyrinth of tracks so as to get the most effective work from his organization."

"Here Mr. Stevens has at work 52 steam shovels, 121 locomotives, and about 2,000 flat cars to cut down Culebra hill and remove the earth and rock to the valley, either to make new roadbed for the railroad or to fill up the lower levels in the bed of the artificial lake. With railroad shops and yards, with electrical plants and compressed air drills, with dynamite blasting, and this whole great combination at work, it seems to me that the biggest job in the canal zone is certain to be concluded within the time the engineers fixed—seven or eight years."

"A poor ad is better than none"—and as unnecessary as none.

PARLIAMENT SESSION RESUMED.

Formidable Programme Ahead and Long Siege Is Expected.

London, April 10.—Parliament re-assembled today after the Easter recess. The second stage of the session finds the government confronted with a formidable program of work. Out of the fourteen measures outlined by his majesty, only three, and those minor ones, have thus far been touched. War Secretary Haldane's bill providing for the reorganization of the army is likely to be strongly opposed. The budget will be introduced April 18.

The devolution bill, drawn up by the chief secretary for Ireland, Mr. Birrell, is expected to be introduced, and, with the seven or eight minor ills which the government has pledged itself to carry through, the prospects seem slight for an early effort to deal with the question described in the king's speech as the "unfortunate differences between the two houses."

As a result of the large amount of work before parliament, an autumn session seems to be inevitable.

The New Member—I suppose you never thought I'd be elected to the legislature, did you, Rastus? The Walter—No, sah; but the Lawd's will be done.—Judge

OUR MOTIVES.

Score another point for us in our disinterested devotion to the cause of liberty. Our own supreme court has decided that the Isle of Pines was considered part of the Cuban republic in the treaty of Paris. Ever since Cuban independence was recognized American settlers in that the beautiful Isle off the coast of Cuba have been urging the home government to declare the island an American possession, and stirring up antimosity against Cuba. Their claims have received serious consideration, and their protests that they could secure no protection for themselves and their property, which embraces all the best of the island, met with sympathy from a considerable party in the states. Enemies of our form of government throughout the world and enemies of the administration in the states have charged over and over again that selfish motives prompted our interference in Cuba and intimated that we would take the Isle of Pines away from her. It might be best for both Cuba and her dependency if they were to be an-nexed, and possibly they will be sooner or later, but that will be a question for the future. In the meantime we are satisfied with our own motives.

Some people in their anxiety not to miss anything sensational, not have forgotten that it was only through the persuasive eloquence of President Roosevelt, that Secretary of State Root remained in the cabinet at all. It is at a great personal sacrifice the secretary continues in the public service. His great brain and his sterling patriotism have done a lot for our country.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Much to forward the success of two administrations. We have no doubt that Mr. Root intends to retire just as soon as he may. He has had several important and trying problems to solve and certain policies, which he wished to carry out to their conclusion. When his work is finished he shall see Mr. Root leaving the cabinet but it will not be because he has split with the administration, nor in a pet because his presidential aspirations are frustrated. History will give Mr. Root a place no less exalted than that of the presidents themselves.

Roosevelt's ambition is the keynote of a lot of rot about the third term. It is possible that Roosevelt could be forced by the voice of the people and the necessity of perpetuating his policy into accepting another term; but how anyone can see ambition in such an idea is beyond our ken. What further glory is there for him? Two terms as president is about the limit of elevation in the United States. Another term would be but four years more of the responsibilities and drudgery of office. No doubt, Mr. Roosevelt will gladly retire, when he has seen a successor installed, who will continue the good work.

Not the least significant demonstration in honor of Uncle Joe Cannon on his tropical trip was accorded him by nature, herself. As he stepped aboard the lighter leaving Kingston, Jamaica, the earth trembled and walls were prostrated. A storm lashed the Caribbean sea into a frenzy of welcome, and his ship had the glory of rescuing the crew of a wrecked schooner. Surely, all the heavens must recognize the importance of the speaker of the house.

Plumbers and others, who have occasion to dig up the public streets, are careless in relaying the surface.
They give bond, or are supposed to give bond, to leave the streets in as good condition as they find them.
They are not doing this, and the consequence is that the streets are becoming rough for vehicles. It is the duty of the board of public works to see that the law is observed. One or two examples would serve to awaken the plumbers to a sense of their duty.

We do not know Robert Wright, Jr., of Mayfield, and we do not know how he stands in the community, but if we were Robert Wright, Jr., we would inquire into the following accusation made against him in the Mayfield Monitor:

Robert Wright, Jr., was among the number who Paducah Sunday.

Still, it may be all for the best. If Robert Wright had not Paducahed, he might have Mayfielded, or worse
—Cairoed.

Dr. Delia Caldwell in her paper on pure milk, read before the Civics department of the Woman's club, struck the right note, when she threw the responsibility for impure milk, and the consequent spread of tuberculosis and death among infants, on the people generally. If the milk consumers take sufficient interest in the character of dairy from which they get their milk, it will not be long before the dealer, who sells impure milk, will be out of business.

Havana correspondents say that Secretary Taft surprised the Cuban leaders by calling them by name.
Here's our ideal presidential candidate. If he can remember those jaw-breaking Spanish titles, what will Bill Taft do among the John Smiths and Henry Joneses of New Jersey and Kansas and Iowa? William Jennings Bryan will have to take a course in memory culture, if he wishes to remain in the same class with the big secretary of war.

We are gratified at the interest our Mayfield contemporaries take in the moral conditions in Paducah. We observe that the Mayfield council has adopted an ordinance prohibiting lewd women from walking streets unaccompanied at night.
How gallant!

Reports that a Posey county, Indiana, man lost three wives from poison contracted in cleaning the same wallpaper, reflects great credit of the Posey man's faculty of selection.
Most wives would have insisted on new paper all over the house, when they took possession.

Bryan's Democratic foes have started the story that Roosevelt wishes him nominated.

GETS AWAY WITH $173,000 FROM SUB-TREASURY.

Mystery of Disappearance of Money
From Chicago Stronghouse Cleared.

Chicago, April 10.—The Evening

rounding the theft of $173,000 from the United States sub-treasury here has been cleared. The alleged thief is said to be a negro scrub woman, whom the secret service officers have taken charge of and are endeavoring to get from her some trace of the missing money. The clew was secured from the display of a $1,000 bill by a negro in a saloon. A search warrant has been issued and the secret service officers will search the home of the washerwoman. But they do not have apparently much hope of success.

POSSE IS IN PURSUIT OF BAND OF ROBBERS

Joplin, Mo., April 10.—Three deperate men, one of whom is believed to be Fred Wickliffe, of the notorious band of outlaws of that name, are feeling southward from Baxter Springs, Kan., today, with a posse of 200 men in pursuit. The race started at Baxter Springs this morning, when City Marshal Henry Black, in trying to arrest the trio, was shot twice, one bullet cutting off a finger and the other entering the abdomen. The shooting followed the robbery of the Prisco railroad station agent, N. D.
Hildman, at Quapaw, I. T., at 11 o'clock last night. A trio entered the Quapaw station and, presenting revolvers, relieved the agent of $40 and his jewelry, and the money that was in the agent's till. Then they tied him, rolled him under a table with a warning against making an outcry, and left.

SPRING FEVER DAYS.

If we might paraphrase a little we could aptly say "Now comes the Spring of our discontent."

With all the joys of the season—the first touch of balmy weather, the inspiration in the buds and blossoms, and green fields, the call of outdoors, come its concomitants, those fagged, tired out feelings, laziness, dullness and headaches incident to this climate—Spring fever in all that term implies.

Accustomed to it for years you demand a Spring tonic. Do you know the best Spring tonic is a breath of fresh air, rational diet, and exercise?

Osteopathy prescribes the fresh air, and rational diet and furnishes the exercise—scientific manipulation.

In all cases of disordered liver, or bowels or stomach—in conditions of impaired blood, disturbed circulation and all spring ailments Osteo-pathy is now recognized as the most rational, the quickest and most efficient cure.

I should like to tell you at any time some of the great achievements of Osteopathy, if you are interested, or refer you to some of your friends who can and will gladly attest to what Osteopathy has done, or is doing for them. Come to see me at my office at any time from 9 to 12
a. m., or 1 to 5 at 516 Broadway.
Phone 1407, Dr. G. B. Froese.

time the contract will be awarded to the lowest and best responsible bidder.

A bond will be required for the performance of the contract. The board of trustees reserving the right to reject any and all bids.

PASTOR CLERKS IN DRUG STORE.

Finds $35 a Month Not Enough to Support a Wife.

Laporte, Ind., April 10.—Rev. ers.

Pliny Cox, who was called to the Friends' church here from the pastorate of the First Church in Cleveland, today began work as clerk in a drug store. When he came here he agreed to take the pastorate for $35 a month and board. Last Christmas he married a girl from Noblesville and his board was cut off. Now, realizing that he is spiritually bound to fill the pastorate for the sum agreed on, he has taken up the extra work to maintain his wife in proper style.

Some men make it their business to interfere with the business of others.

CHEAP LOW PRICED SMALL HOMES

Near city, fertile, high, dry land, in best neighborhood;
Have just platted into lots of about five acres each the 240 acre (Williams) tract, joining the Pines lands on west. Bounded next to city by Perkins Creek and Pines lands between.
Buckner Lane Road and Hinkleville Gravel Road. Has 4138 feet frontage on Buckner Lane Road, said road just graveled in front of this land. Has 757 feet front on Hinkleville Gravel Road, and plat gives 40 feet cross roads through the tract, so that each and every lot fronts either on these gravel roads or these newly opened roads. Most of the lots front at each end on these roads. No nicer land in Mc-Cracken county. The 20 acres front on Hinkleville road has nice grove of forest trees on it and lays so as to make ideal residence sites.

Price on the Hinkleville road front is $100.00 per acre, of which $10 acre cash and balance in monthly or quarterly payments running five years. All other lots $65 acre on same terms. While these prices are uniform, there is difference in desirability of lots and first customers get choice. Come and see plat and list men who have taken dozen lots before I could get the parcels staked off. For home or investment lots you lose opportunity if you fail to take this. On one lot is new 6-room house which is priced at $800 additional to cost of land at $65 acre.

The Daily Kentucky New Era has the following account of the latest fad party in Hopkinsville's smart set: "Messrs. John Stites, Rob Fairleigh and John Bell were the hosts of a 'lemon' party, last night, given at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Flack. There were about '23' present, and the kiddo hour approached all too quickly. The guest of honor was Mr. Alfred H. Eckles. Mr. Stites, with considerable pomp and circumstance, started to present Mr. Eckles with a lemon when a shower of lemons tossed to the speaker by the girls present brought his remarks to a sudden end. The rest of the evening, Mr. Stites was guest of honor. The decorations were yellow.

INDIGNANT CITIZENS

RESENT STORIES OF LAWLESSNESS IN TRIGG.

Claim Hopkinsville Reports Slander and Malign Them—To Conceal Own Condition.

Cadiz, Ky., April 10.—Citizens of Cadiz and Trigg county are indignant at the reports from Hopkinsville about the lawlessness in this county, and it is claimed that the hue and cry is being raised to conceal the lawlessness which is prevailing in Christian county. Trigg county is quiet, and the alleged night riders have not been at work in this county, as the Hopkinsville stories have been stating. The story that lawlessness, bordering almost on anarchy, prevails in Trigg county, is a libel on the residents of this county and is without truth.

At least half of the section between Gracy and Cerulean, which is said to be one of the hotbeds of the trouble, according to the reports from Hopkinsville, is in Christian county, and not in Trigg county.

One thing on which Hopkinsville enlarged was merely a neighborhood scrap, magnified into an attack by night riders, and an effort to bring them into court. In the first place, the trouble occurred two weeks ago, and was confined merely to the two persons concerned.

A Criminal Attack.

FOR ELDERLY FOLKS.

Get from any good prescription pharmacy, Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces.

Shake well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses, after each meal and at bedtime. This is the prescription and the directions as given by an eminent authority on kidney diseases, who makes the statement that this simple home-made mixture will relieve almost any kidney disorder or Backache or Bladder weakness. This should prove of untold value to all elderly folks, who always suffer more or less with their kidneys and bladder at this time of the year.

LAST PAYMENT MADE.

Masonic Bodies Now Own the Fraternity Building.

At a joint meeting of the Masons and Odd Fellows last evening at the Fraternity building, the last payment was made and all stock turned over to the Masons by the Odd Fellows, closing finally the deal by which the Masons came into possession of the Fraternity building.

Those present were J. E. Wilhelm, Plain City lodge; Fred Acker, Paducah Lodge of Masons, and J. H. Ashcraft, Paducah Commandery Knights Templar, and C. G. Kelley, Mangum lodge, Henry Meyers, Ingleside lodge, and Peter Beckenbach, Union Encampment of Odd Fellows. The price bid by the Masons was $15,400, of which $1,000 was paid down.

His Dear Old Mother.

"My dear old mother, who is now eighty three years old, thrives on Electric Bitters," writes W. B. Brunson, of Dublin, Ga. "She has taken them for about two years and enjoys an excellent appetite, feels strong and sleeps well." That's the way Electric Bitters affect the aged, and the same happy results follow in all cases of female weakness and general debility. Weak, puny children too, are greatly strengthened by them. Guaranteed also for stomach, liver and kidney troubles, by all druggists, 50c.

Not Nonagenarians.

A short time ago a lady who had been rather careless in putting a shine on her education in her earlier days was invited to a reception, and during the evening met a matron with whom she entered upon a long line of talk. One subject after another was exhausted, and eventually they spoke of their respective families.

"Both of my parents on my mother's side," said the new found friend, "were nonagenarians."

"Really," was the startling reply. "Well, all of my ancestors were Baptists, but Josiah's folks came from a Methodist family."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Out of Sight.

"Out of sight, out of mind," is an old saying which applies with special force to a sore, burn or wound that's been treated with Bucken's Arnica Salve. It's out of sight, out of mind and out of existence. Piles too and chilblains disappear under its healing influence. Guaranteed by all druggists.

LANG BROS' UNUSUAL OFFER.
"It isn't often that we have faith enough in the medicine put up by other people to be willing to offer to refund the money if it does not cure," said Lang Bros. to a Sun man who dropped into the store, "but we are glad to sell Dr. Howard's specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia on that basis."

"The Dr. Howard Company, in order to get a quick introduction sale, authorized us to sell their regular fifty cent bottles at half-price, 25 cents, and, although we have sold a lot of it, and have guaranteed every package, not one has been brought back as unsatisfactory."

"One great advantage of this specific," he continued, "is its small dose and convenient form. There are sixty doses in a vial that can be carried in the vest pocket or purse, and every one has more medicinal power than a big pill or tablet or a tumbler of mineral water."

RUEF'S ATTENTION

Nickel-in-the-Slot Machines Subject to Graft

Exclusive Concession for Tenderloin Whisky Brings Revenue of $10,000 to Frisco Bars.

SOME STARTLING REVELATIONS.

San Francisco, April 10.—Nickel-in-the-slot machines and police corruption, alleged to have resulted from their use, occupied the attention of the grand jury at its session. The telephone investigation was temporarily sidetracked and no further indictments were returned.

The trial of Abraham Ruef for extortion was resumed before Judge Dunne and progressed for half an hour, when adjournment was taken until tomorrow afternoon on account of indisposition of Attorney Ach, for the defense.

Ach filed an affidavit in support of an application for an order requiring the proprietor and editor of the San Francisco Chronicle to show cause why they should not be punished for contempt in having published an editorial denouncing the conduct of Ruef's counsel. Judge Dunne refused to consider the matter at this time.

The witnesses examined before the grand jury today where Dr. Joseph Pohlman, formerly a police commissioner; Matthew Larken, local agent for eastern manufacturers of slot machines; Fred Hilbert, of the defunct wholesale liquor firm of Hilbert Bros., and who accompanied Mayor Schmitz upon his recent tour of Europe and G. Schultz, a pool room man.

By questioning these witnesses Assistant District Attorney Heney sought to strengthen the charge of the prosecution that in January of last year, for twenty days succeeding the repeal by the police commission of the ordinance prohibiting the operation of money paying machines, large sums of money were paid to Ruef, Schmitz and police officials for "continued police protection" until District Attorney Langdon cleaned out the machines under the state anti-gambling law.

According to the official statement given as an illustration, the large profits made by Schultz, who was then an extensive owner or lessee of slot machines were cut in two, half being retained by himself and the other half being turned over to Hilbert "for distribution among those higher up."

"Hilbert is the man whom the prosecution charges with having paid Ruef $10,000 for the exclusive privilege of supplying tenderloin resorts with whisky on the understanding that any such place that refused to pay Hilbert would lose its license. Hilbert was very close to the mayor. The grand jury will resume its investigation tomorrow. The trial of Ruef is to go on in the morning."

The supreme court today granted Abraham Ruef an alternative writ of habeas corpus in response to the petition filed several days ago by his attorneys, in which the defendant attacks the legality of the appointment of Elmer Biggy and the constitutionality of keeping him in a private prison. The writ is returnable tomorrow morning, and will be argued before the supreme court sitting en banc.

NERVOUS WOMEN

Vinol Restored the Health of Miss Blair, President of Sophomore Club.

Miss Rose Blair, president Sophomore club, KKansas City, writes: "Last spring I was all run down, nervous and irritable. I lost my appetite and could not sleep. I tried many medicines without benefit. Your cod liver preparation, Vinol was recommended, and it certainly worked wonders for me. It was delicious and not at all like the greasy cod liver oil and emulsions I was used to. Vinol gave me a hearty appetite and restored me to perfect health and strength."

Vinol cures conditions like this because it contains all of the curative medicinal elements found in cod liver oil without a drop of the useless oil to upset the stomach and retard its work, and tonic iron added and it strengthens every organ in the body.

We ask every run-down, nervous, debilitated, aged or weak person in Paducah, and every person suffering from stubborn colds, hanging on coughs or bronchial troubles to try Vinol on our guarantee to return money if it fails. W. B. McPherson, Druggist.

NOTE.—While we are sole agents for Vinol in Paducah, it is now for sale at the leading drug store in nearly every town and city in the country. Look for the Vinol agency in your town.

WANTS $5,000 FOR A SPONGE.

Davenport, Ia., Widow Sues Three Doctors Who Left It In Body.

Davenport Ia., April 9.—A unique damage-suit will begin here tomorrow in which Annie Arp sues Drs. A. L. Hageboeck, J. T. Haller, and J. B. Meyhaus, prominent physicians, whom she claims left a sponge in her husband's body after an operation. She claims this caused his death and wants $5,000 damages.

Johannes Arp was a Scott county farmer reputed to be worth $100,000. In August, 1905, he was operated upon by three physicians for appendicitis. He recovered from the operation but in June, 1906, he came to the Davenport hospital for another operation. The physicians discovered a sponge, 10x12 inches when expanded, in his abdomen. A few days later Arp died.

Hard Times in Kansas.

The old days of grasshoppers and drought are almost forgotten in the prosperous Kansas of today; although a citizen of Codell, Earl Shamburg, has not yet forgotten a hard time he encountered. ## THREE KILLED BY WALL PAPER Poisonous Substance Believed Fatal to Indiana Man's Wives.

Evansville, Ind., April 9.—Physicians discovered today that poison contained in paper that covered the walls of a room in the home of James Watson in Posey county, caused the death a few days ago of Mrs. Watson, who, it was believed at first, died of meningitis. Mr. Watson has lost three wives in the last three years. All showed the same symptoms in their last illness, and it is believed each was poisoned by the paper. Mr. Watson says each of his wives cleaned the wall paper a short time before she became ill and died. The paper has been examined by chemists, and is found to contain virulent poison. When brushed or shaken a fine, mica like substance falls from it. It was to prevent mail clerks and other postal employees from being poisoned that the government recently forbade the mailing of souvenir post cards covered with this preparation.

Women Who Wear Well.

It is astonishing how great a change a few years of married life often make in the appearance and disposition of many women. The freshness, the charm, the brilliancy vanish like the bloom from a peach which is rudely handled. The matron is only a dim shadow, a faint echo of the charming maiden. There are two reasons for this change, ignorance and neglect. Few young women appreciate the shock to the system through the change which comes with marriage and motherhood. Many neglect to deal with the unpleasant pelvic drains and weaknesses which too often come with marriage and motherhood, not understanding that this secret drain is robbing the cheek of its freshness and the form of its fairness.

As surely as the general health suffers when there is derangement of the health of the delicate womanly organs, so surely when these organs are established in health the face and form at once witness to the fact in renewed comeliness. Nearly a million women have found health and happiness in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It makes weak women strong and sick women well. Ingredients on label—contains no alcohol or harmful habit-forming drugs. Made wholly of those native, American, medicinal roots most highly recommended by leading medical authorities of all the several schools of practice for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments.

For nursing mothers, or for those broken-down in health by too frequent bearing of children, also for the expectant mother, to prepare the system for the coming of baby and making its advent easy and almost painless, there is no medicine quite so good as "Favorite Prescription." It can do no harm in any condition of the system. It is a most potent invigorating tonic and strengthening nervine nicely adapted to woman's delicate system by a physician of large experience in the treatment of woman's peculiar ailments.

Dr. Pierce's medicine is sold by letter free of charge. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y.

Not Wrong, But Difficult.

Emmanuel Lasker, the chess expert, was discussing in New York the ethics of a certain style of play.

"Well," he ended, laughing, "I suppose it is all right, but it is not quite, eh? It is like the subject discussed in the debating society."

"Is it wrong?"—that was the subject of debate—"It is wrong to cheat a lawyer?"

"The decision after three hours' argument was: 'Not wrong, but too difficult to pay for the trouble.'"

CHAPTER VIII.

THE amber wine fell in a little wavering stream from his upraised glass on to the tablecloth below. He leaned back in his chair and gazed at his three guests with a fatuous smile. The girl in blue, with the dazzling fair hair and wonderful complexion, steadied his hand and exchanged a meaning look with the man who sat opposite. Surely the poor fool was ready for the plucking? But madame, who sat beside her, frowned upon them both. She had seen things which had puzzled her. She signed to them to wait.

She leaned over and flashed her great black eyes upon him.

"Monsieur enjoys himself like this every night in Paris?"

A soft, a very seductive, voice. The women who envied her success compared it to the purring of a cat. Men as a rule found no fault with it, especially those who heard it for the first time.

Duncombe set down his glass, now almost empty. He looked from the stain on the tablecloth into the eyes of madame, and again she thought them very unlike the eyes of a drunken man.

"Why not? It's the one city in the world to enjoy oneself in. Half past 4, and here we are as jolly as yesterday. Chucked out of everywhere in London at half past 12. Time, gentlemen, please! And out go the lights. Jove, I wonder what they'd think of this at the Continental! Let's—let's have another bottle."

The fair-haired girl—Flossie to her friends, Mlle. Mermillion until they had been introduced—whispered in his ear. He shook his head vaguely. She had her arm round his neck. He removed it gently.

"We'll have another here first anyhow," he declared. "Hi, garçon! Ring the bell, there's a good chap, monsieur—dash it, I've forgotten your name! No, don't move. I'll do it myself."

He rose and staggered toward the door.

"The bell isn't that way, monsieur," madame exclaimed. "It is to the right, Louis, quick!"

M. Louis sprang to his feet. There was a queer grating little sound, followed by a sharp click. Duncombe had swung round and faced them. He had turned the key in the door and was calmly pocketing it.

M. Louis did not move. The hand which held that small, shining revolver was certainly not the hand of a drunken man.

"They all three looked at him in wonder—madame, M. Louis and Mlle. Flossie. The dark eyebrows of madame almost met, and her eyes were full of the promise of evil things. M. Louis, covering back from that steadily pointed revolver, was white with the inherited cowardice of the degenerate. Flossie, who had drunk more wine than any of them, was trying to look as though it were a joke. Duncombe, with his disordered evening clothes, his stained shirt front and errant tie, was master of the situation. He came and stood a few feet away from them. His blundering French accent and slow choice of words had departed. He spoke to them without hesitation, and his French was almost as good as their own.

"I want you to keep your places," he said, "and listen to me for a few minutes. I can assure you I am neither mad nor drunk. I have a few questions to ask you, and if your answers are satisfactory you may yet find my acquaintance as profitable as though I had been the pigeon I seemed. Keep your seat, M. le Baron."

M. Louis, who had half risen, sat down again hastily. They all watched him from their places around the table. "It was madame whom he addressed more directly—madame, with the jet black hair and golden earrings, the pale cheeks and scarlet lips.

"I invited you into a private room here," he said, "because what I have to say to you three is between ourselves alone. You came, I presume, because I promised to be profitable. All that I want from you is information, and for that I am willing to pay."

M. Louis interposed. He stroked his little black mustache with a much-battered hand. With the other he gestured.

"Monsieur talks reasonably," he declared. "but why all this mystery? Why this feigned drunkenness? Why the show of arms? If we can help monsieur, it is an affair of pleasure, and if he chooses to make a present to these ladies in return, why, no doubt they will be charmed. Me, I presume, he has no intention to insult. Permit me, monsieur."

He drew a card from a small gold case and presented it to Duncombe, who accepted it with a little bow.

"I invited you into a private room here," he continued. "If I can aid you in any way I am entirely at your service, but I require first of all that in addressing us you recognize my position as a French nobleman; who accuses himself in this place as you, monsieur, also do, and also that you unlock that door."

Duncombe smiled quietly.

"Monsieur le Baron," he said. "I think that we are very well as we are—secure from interruption. I have sent others here on this same mission, and they did not succeed. Both of these ladies, I believe, have been approached for the information I desire, and they have thought well to withhold it. I have set my heart upon success this time, and I wish to secure at least the opportunity of being heard."

M. Louis shrugged his shoulders.

"There are secrets," he murmured; "affairs of honor."

Duncombe interrupted him.

"M. Louis," he said, "I am not so young as I look, and I have lived in Paris. I know that this café for all its outward smartness bears perhaps the worst reputation in Europe. I have heard of you three many times—the 'Trinity from Hell,' they call you sometimes, I think. You see, I know where I am and the risk I run. Even this little room has its secrets—a murder or two, I believe, and other things—secrets which I don't suppose there is gold enough in France to buy. Well, I don't want to buy them. You can go your way so far as I am concerned. There is only one thing I want to know from you, and for that I offer you—the ladies, of course, I mean—5,000 francs each."

"Five thousand francs?" madame murmured.

Mlle. Flossie said nothing, but her eyes shone.

"The question, monsieur?"

"What has become of Mlle. Phyllis Poynton, the young English lady?"

The eyes of madame seemed to narrow for a moment. M. Louis lit a cigarette with fingers which shook a little, and the fair face of Mlle. Flossie was suddenly white. Then they all three looked at one another.

"Do you know whom monsieur may mean?"

"Not I!"

"An English girl! There are none come here."

"Mlle. Poynton! It is a name unheard of."

The young Englishman smiled upon them grimly.

"Madame," he said, "you have in your satchel—don't move, if you please—a roll of French notes—indeed you must not move—very cleverly abstracted from my pocket by my charming young companion, Mlle. Flossie here. Now, I have at least half a dozen friends in the café below whom I could summon here by touching that bell, and the identification of those notes would be a perfectly simple matter. Shall I do it, or will you earn another roll by giving me the information I seek?"

Madame leaned forward and whispered in the man's ear. M. Louis nodded.

"Tell him," Mlle. Flossie murmured tremulously. "Monsieur will not break faith with us. He will not let it be known from whence he gained the knowledge."

"Agreed!" the young Englishman declared. "Go on."

Madame held up her hand.

"I," she said, "will tell monsieur what we know."

She rose to her feet and leaned over the table. The blue black sequins on her dress glittered and shone in the dull light. Her figure was superb, her neck and bosom a flawless white. The Englishman, however, was unmoved. His keen, gray eyes were fixed upon her, but the revolver remained in his right hand. From downstairs they could hear the music of violins, the rattle of glasses, the hum of voices and laughter. Madame frowned slightly as she marked the young Englishman's alertness. She was used to victims, and his imperturbability annoyed her.

"I want you to keep your places," he said, "and listen to me for a few minutes. I can assure you I am neither mad nor drunk. I have a few questions to ask you, and if your answers are satisfactory you may yet find my acquaintance as profitable as though I had been the pigeon I seemed. Keep your seat, M. le Baron."

chic! She spent money, and M. Alfred, the director, kept always a table for her. As time went on we began to feel the mystery. We asked ourselves for what purpose does she come here? For what, indeed!

"One night M. Alfred, who was always besieged with questions about her, took too much wine. I have seen that happen with him but once—since that time never. He told us about mademoiselle. She made some inquiries, and M. Alfred was able to tell her his whereabouts. After that he scarcely expected to see her again, but the next night she was here also.

"Then M. Alfred learned more. Mademoiselle was in a small way an artist, and she had conceived the idea of painting a picture of the café—an early morning picture of effects, monsieur understands. There was to be the morning sunlight streaming across the supper tables, the faces of all of us aged and haggard. M. Louis here without doubt a very child of the devil! Oh, a very moral picture, monsieur! It was to convert us all. M. Alfred declared that he would arrange to have it here on exhibition, and we should all mend our ways. Monsieur knew perhaps that the young lady was an artist?"

The question was flashed suddenly upon him as though the intention was to take him by surprise. Duncombe, however, remained unmoved.

"I am here, madame, to ask, not to answer, questions," he said. "Will you kindly proceed? I am greatly interested."

Madame put her hand to her throat for a moment as though to loosen her necklace. She had not the appearance of being greatly in love with her questioner.

"There came a night," she continued, "when mademoiselle broke through her rule. A man came in and sat at her table. His name was the Vicomte D'Aubard, and he was known to most of us, though to the young lady he appeared to be a stranger. They talked earnestly for an hour or more. When she left, he accompanied her."

The Englishman had grown paler. Madame said it and smiled. Her lover perhaps! It was good to make him suffer.

"Flossie here," she continued, "was outside and saw them depart. They drove off together in the vicomte's coupe. They were apparently on the best of terms. Since then we have not seen her again, or the vicomte. Monsieur knows now as much as we know."

"And how long ago is that?" Duncombe asked quietly.

"A week tonight," madame replied.

Duncombe laid down a roll of notes upon the table.

"I wish," he said, "to prove to you that I am in earnest. I am therefore going to pay you the amount I promised, although I am perfectly well aware that the story of madame is false."

"Monsieur!"

"As I remarked," he repeated, "false. Now listen to me. I want to tempt one of you. I don't care which, to break through this thieves' compact of yours. I have paid a thousand francs for lies. I will pay 10,000 francs for truth. Ten thousand francs for the present whereabouts of Mlle. Phyllis Poynton."

Mlle. Flossie looked up at him quickly; then she glanced furtively at madame, and the flash of madame's eyes was like lightning upon blue steel. Duncombe moved toward the door.

"I will pay the bill downstairs," he said. "Good night. Think over what I have said. Ten thousand francs!"

M. Louis stood up and bowed stiffly. Mlle. Flossie ventured to throw him a kiss. Madame smiled inscrutably.

The door closed. They heard him go downstairs. Madame picked up his card and read aloud:

"Sir George Duncombe, Risley Hall, Norfolk. Grand Hotel, Paris."

"If one could only," madame murmured, "tell him the truth, collect the money—and—"

"And," Flossie murmured, half fearfully.

M. le Baron smiled.

GIVEN SEVEN DAYS TO TEAR UP TRACK

First Street Operations Will Be Commenced Soon

City Electrical Inspector Notifies Superintendent of Lighting Plant To Ground Wires.

PUBLIC WORKS BOARD MEETS

No response being made by Superintendent A. H. Egan, of the Louisville division of the Illinois Central railroad, to the repeated requests of City Engineer Washington that arrangements be made to take up the tracks on First street in order that the reconstruction of that street may go ahead, the board of public works yesterday afternoon in postponed session served notice on J. T. Donovan, agent for the railroad, to have the tracks removed within seven days from date of notice. Failing to follow this notice, the city will order the Memphis Asphalt and Paving company to proceed with the work of reconstruction.

The Memphis Asphalt and Paving company has been ready to resume reconstruction operations for several weeks, but the failure of the railroad to remove the tracks has made it impossible. The board of public works, three weeks ago instructed City Engineer Washington to arrange a conference with Superintendent Egan to see whether the operations of reconstruction could be so planned that the business interests along the river front would not be seriously inconvenienced by stopping traffic on the First street branch. Superintendent Egan promised a conference but has not yet seen Mr. Washington.

Now the board of public works will wait no longer and gave the railroad only seven days to begin and finish the removing of the tracks. The city solicitor was asked to serve the notice on the railroad and will look into the legal rights of the city to remove the tracks should the railroad fail to do so.

Must Ground Wires.
City Electrical Inspector McPherson notified Superintendent Keebler of the city lighting plant, that he would require the city to ground all the reels on the electric arc poles. The reels are used to raise and lower the lights, and Inspector McPherson thinks that not to have them grounded would be dangerous to pedestrians, who might come in contact with them. Superintendent Keebler, however, thinks that the reels are safer as they are, and as it would cost $1 a pole to ground the poles, a saving of $200 could be effected for the city by not carrying out Inspector McPherson's suggestion. Mr. McPherson has not formally notified the board of public works of his decision but probably will do so in the regular meeting next Tuesday afternoon.

Superintendent Keebler was instructed to ship a machine back to the Ft. Wayne, Ind., factory for rewinding, which when accomplished will make the machine worth $3,000. It practically is useless now. The cost of rewinding with freight will be $600.

H. M. Cunningham, contractor and dealer in building material, has offered to sell the city sewer pipe at the same price it can be bought anywhere, and in as small quantities as the city desires. This arrangement would allow the city to get wholesale prices on small quantities. His offer will be accepted after investigation as to the quality of his pipe.

The request to extend Jackson street to Twenty-fifth street was referred, with maps drawn by City Engineer Washington, to the general council. The street would cross private property part of the distance. The board of public works recommended to the council that $5,000 insurance be taken out on the market house.

City Solicitor James Campbell, Jr., gave the board his opinion on holding Contractor Bridges responsible for all damages done to the streets by digging the sewers. His opinion was filed for future use if the board determines to charge the cost of certain repairing to the contractor. Street Inspector Elliott was instructed to sell a horse and buy a mule for the street department. Broadway between Eighteenth and Nineteenth streets is built partly on private property and with the building of the new car line over that street, Mr. Washington will make arrangements for the drains and widening the street.

President Wilhelm and Secretary Taylor were present in the meeting yesterday afternoon.

LARGE AUDIENCE GREETED BISHOP

The Rt. Rev. Charles F. Woodcock at Grace Church

Popularity of Prelate in Paducah increased by His Sermon Last Night.

"SUCCESS" IS FULLY DEFINED

An especially large week-night congregation greeted Bishop Charles E. Woodcock, of Louisville, last evening at Grace Episcopal church. Bishop Woodcock's personality and power as a preacher have received distinct recognition in Paducah since his first visit and his congregations always include many outside of his own people. Always eloquent and forcible, he spoke with especial power last night and his distinctive style that commands and holds the attention without an effort of the will, was never more strongly in evidence. From the moment he advanced to the front of the chancel and stated his text without any preamble, until his close without an "in conclusion," he gave forth the impression of the injunction of the Apostle Paul to the early Christians to train as did the runners. In the Olympic games, he is girt for the race, every undue weight is laid aside. A trained athlete, every word, sentence and thought is sent with a precision and force straight from the shoulder. They hit, but one does not dodge, rather they force you to stand up and "take it like a man."

From the text "Be it unto thee even as thou wilt" Bishop Woodcock gave a sermon replete with the inspiration, power and promise of Christianity, a message of good cheer to all "spent runners." "Success of life" and "success in life" were placed in juxtaposition and the difference plainly shown. Each sentence was terse, epigrammatic, and was a thought alone, as: "Not what I get out of life but what I put into it, should be the desire. We are more responsible for success of life than success in life. To fail of life is as great a sin as any of the Decalogue. Some are richer in what they have refused to have than others in all their accumulations. Not so much depends on what you have as what you are doing with what you have. The greatest tragedy of human character is human cowardice. The greatest triumph of human character is human trustworthiness. It is a disgrace when a man is simply content to be imperfect. A self-limitation that is a defect is when one is content to be the thing that stops. You never know the fighting blood in a man until he has had repeated failures. The weak man uses his failures as stumbling blocks. The strong man uses his failures as stepping stones. Put yourself on record as standing for something. One of the greatest temptations that comes to men today is to be satisfied with himself when he averages as well as other men. God as oftentimes measures us by our aspirations as by our attainments. I would give ten years of my life if I could once see the whole goodness of any man living. Never in life, though, have I despaired of any man, however sinful he may seem. God sees all the time this possibility of man's goodness, hence, his patience."

At the close of the sermon Bishop Woodcock administered the rite of confirmation to a class of eleven persons. His address to them was a strong admonition to a "practical consecration" of their time, talents and life.

After the service Bishop Woodcock held an informal reception in the parish house, as it was his only opportunity to see and meet his friends. He arrived at 6 o'clock last evening from Louisville and left today for Fulton, where he holds service tonight. He will return probably next month to dedicate the memorial font and baptistry that is being placed in Grace church, but was not completed in time to consecrate last night.

TWO HONDURAS TOWNS CAPTURED BY NICARAGUA

Mobile, Ala., April 10.—Selba and Puerto Cortez, Honduras, have fallen and are now in the hands of the Nicaraguan army and a new regime is to be established along the entire coast. Ceiba surrendered in the evening of April 3, and is now in command of Commander-in-Chief Jose Estrada and Gen. Manuel Bonilla, Nicaraguan army, the latter in charge of the revolutionary army, which seems to be in conjunction with the Nicaraguan forces. Advice to this effect were brought to this port today by officers and passengers of the steamer Colombia of the United Fruit company's fleet, arriving from Ceiba, having left there April 4.

CARPENTERS STANDING TOGETHER IN DEMANDS.

Although no word has come from the contractors, members of the carpenters' union, which number about 100, claim that they are standing together, and they expect to secure the increase of 2½ cents an hour May 1, when the contract expires. There is considerable work to be done, and the officers of the union say the statement made that "conservative members of the union" are inclined to reduce their demands, emanated from an outside source.

YATES FOR SUPREME BENCH.

Ex-Governor Urged by Friends to Succeed Justice Wilkins.

Springfield, Ill., April 10.—Friends of Richard Yates are seeking to bring him out as a candidate for the supreme bench to fill the vacancy caused by the recent death of Justice

Jacob W. Wilkin, of Danville. Since the senatorship campaign last year the former governor has been engaged in the practice of law in Springfield, which is in the third district, as is Jacksonville, his old home. Regarding the supreme bench position, he has made no response to the overtures of his friends, but it is generally rumored that if he becomes a candidate he would have little difficulty in securing the nomination. It is probable that a special election to fill the third district vacancy will be called by Governor Deneen in June.

Danville, Ill., April 10.—At a meeting of the Vermillion County Bar association today, Circuit Judge Morton W. Thompson was indorsed as the successor of the late Supreme Justice Jacob W. Wilkins. The indorsement was almost unanimous on the part of the Republican members of the bar, only one favoring Judge Dunn of Charleston. George T. Buckingham, who had been mentioned for the office, declared he did not desire it. John R. Thompson, of Chicago, was present in the interest of his brother.

LIVES BY RULE

WIDOW WHO GOT "WANT AD" HUSBAND THREES OF HIM.

His Soul Too Sensitive and Demand for Blue, Not Yellow Bedsprad the Last Straw.

New York, April 10.—The rules for Mrs. Alice Campe, by J. Edward Campe, her husband for two years, were one of the principal exhibits produced by her attorneys when her suit for separation came up today in the supreme court before Justice Leventritt.

Campe is a shirt manufacturer in Franklin street. Mrs. Campe is dark haired and black eyed. She owns to being 40 when she met Campe in 1905 through the medium of a newspaper personal setting forth the yearnings of a "cultured, attractive widow" to meet a "gentleman of wealth and refinement."

Campe was the person whose qualifications seemed to fill the requirements of the widow's "ad" most nearly, and on March 6, 1905, she became Mrs. Campe—to repent it ever since, she says.

Some of the rules for married life laid down by Campe on condition that he marry her were:

Keep your temper.
Control yourself.
Half your troubles in life are imaginary.

Live within your income.
Wedding presents—All presents sent or given personally to the bride belong to her. All presents, cash, checks, etc., sent to or given personally to the groom belong to him and him alone.

Stepchildren over age—Husband does not have to support them, neither does he have to let them live in his house with him, use his rooms, house, board or laundry without his consent and permission.

The husband is the one to decide how much he can afford to spend weekly, monthly and yearly, and what he thinks he can make each year.

His wife cannot make him live over or up to what he thinks he can make.

The Best Dressed Man.

Of course, the best dressed man in the world is the English gentleman. If you enter the royal inclosure at Newmarket or visit the lawn at Goodwood on the day of a classic race; if you attend a fashionable orchid or horse show when some great personage presides, you will hardly see any one dressed otherwise than perfectly. But take the hurrying passengers in the city on the street cars, trains or buses; go freely among the men in the street, and you will share the conviction I have arrived at—namely, that the American is in general dressed more stylishly and in better fitting and better cut clothes.—Derrick's Trade Report.

Everything in this newspaper is reading matter—especially the advertisements.

Wise Old Smith.

Smith, Brown and Jones went to dine with Robinson the other night. On the way Smith said to his companions: "Oh, I say, beware of our host's wine."

As the result of this hint Brown and Jones took no wine, but they were surprised to see Smith imbibing freely. On the way home they said to him: "What was the matter with Robinson's wine that you advised us not to take any?"

"Nothing the matter with the quality," said Smith coolly, "but I knew from experience that the quantity would be rather deficient—not enough to go round as all, you understand."—London Tit Bits.

It isn't always the people who follow you most that are your best friends.
