FULTON, KY. JULY 24, 1931

Fulton County Fair, Sept. 2-5

The first week in September is the time set for the fair in Fulton this year, just a week later than usual. Preparations are now under way to make the event the best on record.

According to President J. W. Gordon, every effort will be made to give the people four big days and nights of entertainment and pleasure worth while. The racing program will be unusually attractive. The best trotters and pacers in the circuit will be entered with no entry fee for the $1,600.00 in purses. Horse fanciers from far and near are attracted to the Fulton fair to see the races every year, and this year they will be here in even larger numbers. Therefore, every effort will be made to have the best races ever witnessed on the local track.

Owing to the splendid crop conditions in this vicinity this year the agricultural exhibits promise to outclass all former efforts. This department of the fair has always been an attractive feature. Our fertile soil is adapted to growing practically everything, and our farmers believe in diversified crops, a system which has been in vogue for years. The great variety of staple and minor crops displayed in some of the community exhibitions at our fair has caused much favorable comment by visitors as well as home folks. Some of the finest fruit ever displayed here will be on exhibition.

The ladies in charge of Floral Hall are exerting every effort to make this department unusually attractive, an exposition well worth seeing. The ladies, you know, are always on the alert for something new, and they will have many attractive added features, both educational and entertaining. This department is where all the nice jellies, jams, preserves, pickles, cakes, etc., are displayed, as well as everything dear to the heart of the good housewife. A good place to exchange ideas as well as a little gossip on the side.

In recent years the dairy interest has developed in this vicinity, with poultry as a close second. Fine herds of cattle are exhibited and the poultry exhibit has been second to none in this section. Hogs that run around 800 and 900 pounds are exhibited as well as suckling pigs. Fine sheep are also exhibited. This is a wonderful sheep-growing country. Practically every farmer has large numbers.

An exhibit always interesting to the progressive farmer is the displays of farming implements, tools, etc. Our dealers make a specialty of showing and explaining in detail everything new along that line. Special factory representatives attend the fair to give the dealers every possible assistance in showing the various lines to the farmers to get ideas worth while.

Secretary R. H. Wade, who always takes a lively interest in making the people enjoy themselves during the fair, is doing his utmost to make the 1931 meet the best of all and providing entertainment to please everybody.

As usual, the night show will be an added feature. So make arrangements now to attend the Fulton County Fair, September 2, 3, 4 and 5, 1931.

FINE PEACHES FOR SALE

Beginning Wednesday, July 22, I will sell fine peaches for $1.00 per bushel delivered, or 75c per bushel at my orchard.

D. C. NUGENT, PIONEER CITIZEN, DIES AT HOME, WEST OF TOWN.

D. C. Nugent, pioneer citizen of Fulton county, known and loved by many who knew him, died Sunday morning at 10:15 at his county home, west of town. For several days he had been critically ill and the news of his passing, while not unexpected, sent a wave of sadness throughout the town and county. He was 82 years of age.

The funeral and burial took place at four o'clock Monday afternoon at Palestine church, where Mr. Nugent had held membership for many years. Rev. B. J. Russell of Memphis was in charge, while Winstead & Jones were in charge of the burial arrangements.

Mr. Nugent had lived in the Palestine community for the past half century. Born in Murfreesboro, Tenn., in 1849, he was married to Miss Fannie Hewitt 57 years ago, and set up his home in the Palestine neighborhood a few years later. There, in that quiet and lovely countryside he lived out a life filled with richness and of service to his community. Six children were born and reared to maturity in the country home, and of these five still survive. The first break in the family circle came in March, 1928, when Chas. D. Nugent, who was then county judge of Fulton county, passed away in Hickman. Mrs. Nugent survives her husband, and the following children:

A. M. Nugent, cashier of the Farmers Bank of this city; Leslie Nugent, well known planter and business man; Mrs. Margaret Davidson, living west of the city; Mrs. Foster Butner of Roseburg, Oregon; and Mrs. M. J. Brawder of Denver, Colorado. There are thirteen grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

The deceased was a member of the Palestine church for a long period of years, and was ever faithful to his duties as a church member and as a citizen. He was of the old fashioned type, who looked on his word as his bond, and every tribute that was paid him as he was laid to rest in the quiet churchyard at Palestine was richly deserved.

He reared a family that was a credit to him; he gave fully of his time and resources to all worthy projects, and while his passing brings sadness to loved ones and friends, all can rest assured that his life was a rich and well filled one. He put a great deal in life, and no doubt there was a wealth of memory and achievement as he faced the sundown way, after so many years in this world. May his rest be peaceful as he sleeps in quiet Palestine so near the home he loved for so many years.

WRECK VICTIM BURIED

Lindsey Holder, 22, who was killed at Arlington Saturday night in an automobile accident, was buried Monday afternoon. He died of a fractured skull and internal injuries, after his car had crashed into one driven by Talmadge Carter, 18, also of Arlington. Of six who were in the wreck Holder was the only one hurt.

Be careful where you go picnicking or camping. Agriculture may be sick in bed, but poison ivy is still on the job.

Fulton motorists will also do well to remember that the only men who profit from collisions are doctors and repair men.

The Call of the Great Outdoors

Bob Humphreys For Senator

THE PEOPLE'S CANDIDATE

Robert Humphreys, of Mayfield, candidate for State Senator from the First District, composed of Graves, Hickman and Fulton counties, was in the city shaking hands with friends and making new acquaintances. He assured the voters that he was the peoples' candidate and if elected would do his utmost to serve to the very best of his ability. "I am not out making promises which cannot be fulfilled to get your vote," said Mr. Humphreys, "but I believe I know your desires and will be loyal to the trust imposed in me."

This honest, faithful and loyal young Democrat has been tried and not found wanting. He says distinctly that he is not controlled by any one man; that he is the peoples' candidate, and the people of his district will get all the benefits he can possibly secure for them, if elected.

He will appreciate you voting for him on August 1, for Senator.

JONES ONLY FIRST DISTRICT MAN

Princetonian Making a Good Race for Railroad Commissioner.

A. W. Jones, of Princeton, Ky., candidate for Railroad Commissioner, is the only candidate for this office that resides in the First Congressional District. In his ad in this week's paper he calls special attention to this fact, and asks that every First District voter keep this in mind when he goes to the polls on Saturday, August 1st. Mr. Jones has made an active campaign throughout the entire thirty-nine counties that compose the First Railroad District and prospects for his nomination are very bright. His nomination, however, rests upon the shoulders of the First Congressional District and his plea along this line is being given much consideration by the voters of this section.

Mr. Jones is also the only World War Veteran seeking this office and his many buddies throughout the entire district are very optimistic concerning his nomination. This is also the first time that he has ever sought public office, and that we are living in the eventime of the gentle dispensation," says Evangelist Nanney. "If that be true, we know that Jesus is coming soon."

There will be a great deal of preaching along this line of thought during the meeting.

The morning services at 10 o'clock. The evening services at 7:45 sharp.

All churches are invited to co-operate.

SPANISH WAR VETERANS' PICNIC

Ken-Tenn Camp No. 20, United Spanish War Veterans, held its annual picnic on Thursday, July 16, at the farm of H. O. Head (The Beeches), near Union City.

A large number of veterans and their families and friends were in attendance and a bountiful dinner was served, with the principal item on the bill of fare being Mississippi river cat fish, prepared by the Camp chef, Comrade C. E. Mooney, who has no equal in that line.

Of course the good ladies of the Auxiliary furnished pies, cakes and other goodies.

A feature of the occasion was the mustering into honorary membership of the Camp of Hon. Rice A. Pierce, of Union City. This honorary membership was conferred on Comrade Pierce by reason of his service in Forrest's Brigade, Confederate States Army, and also his unselfish support of President McKinley at the time of the War with Spain. Major M. A. Walker, of the Second Tenn. Vol. Inf., acted as Commander of the Camp at the mustering ceremony.

Interesting talks were made by Comrades Pierce and Walker, W. E. Hudgins and J. C. Burdick, of Union City, and Rev. C. H. Warren, Fulton, Ky., and also Col. W. C. Watts, Union City.

A rising vote of thanks was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Head for the use of the beautiful grounds.

CITYWIDE MEETING UNDER BIG WATER-PROOF TENT.

Rev. Claude Nanney, well-known evangelist of Memphis, is conducting a revival meeting in a big water-proof tent on Commercial avenue, and hoping to reach out in the lives of the people, bringing them to closer walk with God.

The music is in charge of Mr. Jack Foote, of Memphis, and is a pleasing part of the meeting.

"Most Bible students agree

Brieflets

By the time you have sense enough not to be ashamed of the old folks, you have kids who are ashamed of you.

Another regrettable fact is that Fulton boys of today find it easier to recognize temptation than they do opportunity.

Heredity is what makes a bad boy get all of his bad qualities from his father's side of the house.

If some of the girls around Fulton got back that school-girl complexion they'd have to go in heavy for freckle lotions.

Many of us can remember when a rainy Sunday cut down the church attendance, instead of the number of auto accidents recorded in Monday's newspapers.

There was a time when a "red hot mamma" was one with a broom in her hand bawling you out for tracking mud over her clean kitchen floor.

How many old-timers can remember when a stomachache was cured with a nickel's worth of paragon instead of a $200 appendicitis operation?

No wonder people haven't as much respect for statesmen as they used to have. No matter how big a person is these days, you can silence them by just turning a little knob.

The difference between death and taxes is that death doesn't get worse every time the legislature meets.

When you hear a Fulton man speaking of his wife as "Mother," you can bet your bottom dollar that neither of them will ever be traveling toward Reno for a divorce.

Maybe you, too, have noticed that a flying rumor never has any trouble in finding a landing place.

DAME RUMOR

Its beats all how quickly a rumor can start and how fast it can travel. Go out on the streets of Fulton and set a little gossip going and tomorrow morning try to find someone who hasn't heard it. Yet this community is not different from any other in that respect. No town is too small, and no city too large, for rumors to break speed records.

The old Dame has been the cause of suicides and murders, of bank failures and bankruptcies, of home, church and of school wrecking, and never to anyone's knowledge has she been credited with a well-intentioned deed. She has been fooling people for thousands of years and getting by with it, and there's no reason to think she won't be doing business at the same old stand a thousand years from now. Politicians work overtime, and even in Washington's day she was so active he declared he would rather fight a whole army than one vicious rumor.

The worst enemy of prosperity, the worst enemy of progress, the greatest enemy of happiness and the biggest liar in the world, Dame Rumor has no one to come out and fight for her in the open, but millions support her secretly. And quite often the very best citizens in a community are the ones most often guilty of harboring her. But one real enemy has she—and that is the closed ear. Refusing to listen is the only known way of squelching her, but it takes a pretty strong-willed person to do that. Try turning a deaf ear next time you want to test your will-power. It's your only hope of putting Dame Rumor out of business.

DOCTOR IS GIVEN LIFE TERM FOR DEATH OF WOMAN

Found Guilty of Planning Murder of Witness in Former Trial.

Colleyville, Kan.—One of the most sensational murder cases ever known in Kansas was ended here recently when Dr. S. A. Brainard was found guilty of first degree murder for plotting the death of Mrs. Maude Martin, a witness against him in a previous case in which he was charged with the murder of Mrs. Esther O'Dare Nidiffer.

Doctor Brainard, prominent Colleyville physician and member of the board of education, said the case against him was a frameup. The jury's decision has not entirely quieted the feelings of local citizens in the case. Some believe Doctor Brainard is a cold blooded murderer of the worst kind, while others say he is a much maligned man and the victim of an innocent chain of circumstances. But, regardless of these sentiments, the decision of the jury means he must spend the rest of his natural life at hard labor in the state penitentiary unless by some unforeseen chance attorneys should gain a new trial or reversal.

Mrs. Nidiffer Dies.

The unusual combination of circumstances began when Mrs. Esther O'Dare Nidiffer, 32, died in her room at the Maude Martin home here on September 13, 1930. Her death was reported by Doctor Brainard to have been the result of a ruptured appendix and peritonitis. She had been ill since September 7 and Doctor Brainard had performed an operation late that same day an autopsy was performed, which revealed the fact that an intestine had been cut and the ends tied, and that the appendix was in perfect condition.

Warrants were issued charging Doctor Brainard and Mrs. Maude Martin with the girl's death. Both were arrested and gave bail.

On November 17, when their cases were called in the District court, a severance of the cases was asked and Doctor Brainard's case called for trial. The charges against Mrs. Martin were dropped and she was called to the witness stand to testify as a state's witness against Brainard.

Her evidence was heard and the court adjourned until the following day, when Judge J. W. Holdren declared the case a mistrial, as an attorney was in contempt of court.

There were no new developments until January 6, when Mrs. Martin died of a gunshot wound. Officers investigating the death of Mrs. Martin found that Muriel Sullivan, known as "Billie" Brown, had left town. Neighbors told officers "Billie" had been a frequent visitor at the Martin home.

A purported dying statement from Mrs. Martin, clearing Brainard of the Nidiffer murder, was given to the county attorney by Chief of Police Keeling, who had discovered it in the room where he found Mrs. Martin after she was shot. This allegedly "fake" suicide note said that "I am guilty of Esther's death and Brainard is innocent." It was signed by Mrs. Martin. Officers believed the note a "frameup" and worked on that line.

Muriel Sullivan Arrested.

On January 11 Muriel Sullivan was arrested in Seminole and confessed that she had fired the shot that killed Mrs. Martin. She said Doctor Brainard was the man who "framed" the deal and that she was hired by Paul Jones, as Brainard's agent, to do the job; that she was to receive $100 for it, and had collected only $85, calling them "cheap skates."

Later Jones confessed his part in the shooting of Mrs. Martin and he and Sullivan were given life sentences and Doctor Brainard was put on trial and convicted.

Developments of the trial indicate that possibly others, including another Colleyville attorney, R. F. ("Bon") Hanlon, had a part in the arrangement for the murder of Mrs. Martin. Both Paul Jones and Muriel Sullivan have given such testimony in the trial, and there is a feeling that possibly the entire story has not yet been unfolded.

Wife Says Husband

Treads on Her Heels

Columbus, Ohio.—If Mrs. Edna L. Aurine of Columbus lives for another 30 years, her husband, City Patrolman H. F. Aurine, still will hate her, he said, in a cross petition to her divorce suit, filed in Domestic Relations court here.

Mrs. Aurine, in her petition, charged her policeman husband's chief source of amusement was treading on her heels.

HOLDS DEAD CHILD ON 32-MILE RIDE

Parents Too Poor to Pay for Her Burial.

Wheeling, W. Va.—Spending their last few cents for bus fare, Mr. and Mrs. Clem Gibbons of New Alexandria, near Steubenville, arrived here with Mrs. Gibbons carrying the body of their seven-month-old daughter, Doris Janet.

The child had died suddenly, the parents said, and they had no money to pay for her burial.

When they arrived here, they took the body to a mortuary and said they planned to hold the funeral services at the home of a relative in this city.

Informed that they had violated a state law by bringing the body of their child from Ohio without a permit, they were instructed to return to Steubenville. But they had no money. They would walk back, they said, and started out.

The officials called them back, took up a collection and provided carfare and food so the bereaved couple could return home with their daughter's body.

The Gibbons told authorities they had made the entire trip from New Alexandria to Wheeling by bus, Mrs. Gibbons holding the body of her child tightly to her breast so other passengers would not know it was dead. The distance is 32 miles.

The Jefferson county (Ohio) coroner held that death was due to pneumonia.

Is Given Divorce; Sues "Boarder" as Love Thief

New York.—Gabrielle is a fallen angel now, says Edward Delen. Ever since she fell for James Leone.

But it's going to be Judgment Day for James when he gets him into court, Delen is certain. A $50,000 judgment will be the price for clipping Gabrielle's wings.

Delen started to get even by asking Supreme Court Justice Townley for an order to arrest Leone.

Gabrielle used to be Delen's wife. He divorced her recently because she flew out of his blue heaven to make heavenly blues for Leone.

He found her in Leone's home with their young daughter, Hortense. It was seven in the morning when he dropped in with his witnesses to discover Gabrielle using a nightgown for her celestial garment.

Gabrielle tried to convince the jury that Leone was just a boarder. But when Leone's own daughter took the stand to testify that her father had confessed he was in love with Gabrielle, the juryman decided that Gabrielle was just a mortal after all.

As soon as the divorce was granted Delen, through his attorney, sued Leone for criminal conversation. Criminal conversation, you know, has nothing at all to do with conversation.

Unless, of course, you talk in your sleep.

Good Deed Brings Rich Reward After 25 Years

St. Paul, Minn.—A good samaritan who performed a friendly act for a stranger 25 years ago has been rewarded with a $10,000 inheritance here.

In 1905 Miss Elizabeth Kennedy of St. Paul, aboard a train on the way to Milwaukee, Wis., volunteered her services to Mrs. Anthony Smith, who had become ill while on her way to her home.

From that act grew a friendship which continued until Mrs. Smith's death three months ago. Miss Kennedy, now Mrs. John Casey, announced the other day that she had been bequeathed $10,000 by Mrs. Smith.

Motorist, Broke, Aided by Benevolent Thieves

Chicago.—With his pay day still some time away, Joseph Tablik was singing the blues as he rode along in his automobile, in Chicago.

As he halted for a traffic light two men jumped on the running board of his car. One of them had a pistol, "give me your money," was his command.

Tablik was sorry, but he explained that he hadn't a penny; he was simply broke.

The bandit had a kind heart, however. Slipping something into Tablik's hand, he remarked, "Here's something to tide you over."

Tablik looked into his hand and found he had been given a quarter.

Better Breakfasts

If you want to start the day feeling as chirpy as the little birds in the branches outside your window, include plenty of fruit in your breakfast, and lots of milk and cream. In the following suggested menu you can have top milk or cream on your cold cereal, there is a sauce made of milk on the sausages and you can have cream in your hot beverage. Most people prefer this variety of ways to just drinking milk or cream. Here's the menu.

1 cup Cantaloupe
Cold Cereal
Sausage Slices in Cream Sauce
Strawberry Jam
Hot Beverage

1 cup cantaloupe is delicious on a hot summer morning, and strawberry jam adds one more fruit. For the main dish make a white sauce of two tablespoons butter, two tablespoons flour, one and one-half cups milk, salt, pepper and one-fourth teaspoon chicken bouillon. Slice the contents of a 6 ounce can of Vienna sausages thin and add to the sauce. Reheat and serve on toast. This will serve six people.

Good Coffee

If you are a lover of coffee and want that for your hot beverage, be sure to select one of the brands that is vacuum packed. These retain all their flavor and aroma, and assure you coffee with a kick. Nothing is flatter than coffee that has been exposed to oxygen, allowing much of the flavor and aroma to escape.

News For Brides

It has long since been proved that canned foods retain their vitamins, since these are destroyed only by heating in the presence of oxygen, and canned foods are all cooked in hermetically sealed cans. But it has remained for Dr. Walter H. Eddy of Teachers College at Columbia University to specify a list of them on which present-day brides can rely to contain adequate amounts of vitamins A, B, C and G for health needs in her honeymoon "canned menu."

Here are the foods upon which Dr. Eddy stated in a recent address before the American Chemical Society that brides can rely: Canned milk, every day. Choice of ten meats: Roast beef, corned beef, tongue, potted meat, chicken, lamb stew, corned beef hash, sausage, veal loaf and chicken a la king.

Choice of seventeen vegetables: Spinach, peas, string beans, tomatoes, tomato juice, wax beans, baked beans, beets, corn, lima beans, sweet potatoes, hominy, carrots, okra, turnip greens, Brussels sprouts and mixed vegetables.

Choice of six fruits: Prunes, peaches, apricots, cherries, plums, apples, apple sauce.

Canned brown bread and spaghetti.

Dessert: Canned plum pudding.

Based on Scientific Tests

The tests upon which these specific recommendations were made were based on rats. The rat experiments lasted for a year, which, Dr. Eddy said, was equivalent to about twenty-five years of human life. All the animals averaged better in weight than those fed on a stock diet, he said.

Piling Up Happiness

Does each year find you wishing and hoping for better things in the future—and regretting lack of accomplishment in the past?

There is one sure way to fill your horn of plenty to the brim with all the good things of life. It entails no sacrifice now. It merely means the forming of a good habit.

Save! That good old formula for success is as true now as when it helped build the fortunes of our pioneer railroad builders, manufacturers and promoters.

Applying it on a small scale in your own way will bring you results in proportion.

Peas Save Expense

PEAS are one of the most popular of vegetables, and they are now available everywhere all year around in cans. They are not only popular, but inexpensive. Here is a dish of meat and peas, for instance, which will serve four people and which can be had most anywhere at a cost of less than fifty cents:

Frankfurters with Parsley Peas: Heat the contents of an 11-ounce can of peas for about three minutes, drain, add one tablespoon butter, and season with salt and pepper to taste. Pour into a shallow baking dish. Grill or fry eight frankfurters (one pound), and place on top of the peas like the spokes of a wheel. Sprinkle with two tablespoons parsley, and reheat in the oven a few minutes. And here is a dish of peas alone which will serve four people at a cost of not more than twelve cents:

English Peas: Add one and one-half tablespoons vinegar, one and one-half tablespoons sugar and two tablespoons crushed fresh mint to the contents of an 11-ounce can of peas, and simmer gently for ten minutes.

Pea Salads
Don't forget, too, that canned peas are excellent in salads and all ready to combine with the other ingredients. Try this:
Potato and Pea Salad: Marinate the peas from a No. 2 can and two cups diced boiled potatoes in French dressing thoroughly. Add one half cup diced pickled beets and one tablespoon chopped onion, and moisten with mayonnaise. Serve in lettuce nests. Serves eight.

Community Building

Bad Sidewalks Reflect

Discredit on Owners

Sidewalks, in a sense, are much like the "one-horse" shay. We never think much about them until the darn things break down.

Many factors may cause a walk to fall into disrepair. A vagrant tree root, for instance, may press against the under side and eventually make the adjacent section of walk look like so much disturbed pie crust. Whatever the cause of failure, a bad walk can be a menace to safety and an eyesore. Hence, walks in disrepair should be repaired or replaced as soon as possible.

In most cases where the municipality calls the owner's attention to his walks, reconstruction with concrete is invariably recommended and, in most instances, required.

During recent years the vogue for color in walks has aroused considerable interest in many localities. New Orleans, as one example, has departed somewhat abruptly from the familiar gray concrete slab.

In several of the business sections tinted concrete has been used in various shades of green and red. For private walks, especially, the idea has good possibilities. The home walks could easily be tinted to harmonize with the surroundings or the color of the house itself. Some interesting colored flagstone effects could also be achieved under the guidance of an ardent sidewalk builder.

Cities of Future to Be

Both Town and Country?

Never again are populations going to live as thickly in the cities as they formerly did. The motor car has settled that. Real estate men long ago saw the trend; and with their customary perspicacity have provided the homesites that the public seeks.

Cities of the future will be enormous in area, almost as large as a small state and will be granted practical autonomy in government. F. H. Collier writes, in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. Under the same municipal control will be communities of varying types, the same public utilities serving all, and the citizens united for the same general purposes in public matters. Cities will control outlying parks and recreation areas, probably thousands of acres in extent.

The "city" as part of the civic development of the human race is beginning to approach its apex. When complete it will not much resemble the city of earlier and darker ages from which it sprung. It will be much more thoroughly mixed with "country"—rural in urban; and real estate will be dealt in by the square mile where it now is considered in acres and less.

States Making Progress

Oregon, in developing the beauty of its highways, has locked natural springs in fountains made of native materials.

In North Carolina a program of beautification has been preceded by a survey of what is termed the "bill-board rash."

California has planted trees along 600 miles of highway, Oklahoma has planted 40 miles, and extensive programs are under way in Indiana, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Delaware, and Michigan.

In Pennsylvania, unauthorized signs lining the highways are removed in semi-annual cleanups which, on one occasion last year, netted more than 25,000 boards.

Proper Care of Lawns

A new lawn should be helped along in the beginning by weeding it until it becomes thick enough to crowd out the weeds.

If you find bare spots, throw on more seed and keep the grass coming, as it is the best insurance against weeds. Give the lawn liberal re-seeding at least the first season or two after establishing. Re-seed until you have established a good thick turf.

Conditions are not all equally favorable and some retard the growth. We might add that light re-seedings every year will keep a lawn in excellent condition, but if the lawn is neglected several years and weeds get in, it is hard to bring it back.

Factors in Highways

That accessibility by means of the highways should be an important factor in the selection of state parks goes without question. Most of the people who visit these areas will expect to reach them by motor car. Whatever may be the necessary considerations in setting aside the larger park areas, it seems plain enough that many smaller parks, if only of a few acres, can be established immediately adjacent to or conveniently near the roads that are most heavily traveled.—Kansas City Times.

Development Handicap

Roadside attractiveness stimulates sound development and increases land values. I heard recently of a sale of a $150,000 house which was stopped because there was a nearby gasoline station. Sand and gravel operations have stopped residential development within sight of them. More development is stopped through fear of what the neighboring property will do than for any other cause.—Exchange.

MATE'S SEA SENSE OUTWITS FATE AND SAVES TAR'S LIFE

One of Strangest of All Strange Tales of Sea- going Experiences.

San Francisco.—From Houston, Texas, there drifted down to San Francisco by letter recently one of the strangest of all the strange tales of the sea that have floated to a thousand littoral during the ages since the Phenicians dared the storms of Biscay's bay to find the far shores of Britain.

It is a story of what for lack of a better term is known as "sea sense," and of the frenzied argument in a man's mind as to whether he should die or take a chance on living.

The Gulf Pacific freighter Point Reyes had passed through the Panama canal on her way from Pacific coast ports to Houston. Both forward and aft well decks were piled high with lumber up to the level of the bridge deck. As usual, along each side life ropes were stretched to protect those making their way between forecastle or poop and the mid-ship housing.

Just Rolling Easily.

The Point Reyes, having passed the uneasiness of Pedro shoals, was headed a little west or north in water with only the turbulence induced by the northeast trades. With wind and sea almost abeam she rolled naturally and easily. There was nothing jerky about her movements.

It was just after four bells in the first mate's morning watch. Six o'clock in the morning and daylight bursting up over Jamaica to the eastward. Everything seemed perfectly ordinary. A. E. Johnson, the first mate, stepped into the pilot house and turned the switches to douse the side and range lights.

Kept Afloat Easily Enough.

And then something, a hunch, that extraordinary sense that tells a sailor when something is wrong, struck him, as he said, right amidsthips.

He did not wait to diagnose the feeling. He acted. Sliding down the bridge ladder he ran aft to the crew's quarters under the poop. He had a lookout, a quartermaster, and one hand in his watch. These were all on deck.

Rapidly Johnson called the crew roll. One man was missing. Where was he? Why he had just gone forward to relieve the wheel. That was enough for the mate.

Singing out to swing out the after starboard lifeboat, he ran back to the bridge and ordered the wheel hard over starboard, putting the steamer in an opposite direction to her course. He figured that probably six minutes had elapsed, and after that time had passed on the return he stopped the engines.

The boat was lowered, and after it had combed the surface for 20 minutes a faint cry was heard and the missing sailor was hauled out of the ocean.

Just Kept Swimming.

The man, whose name was not even recorded in the scant report to the Houston agents of the line, said that he had stepped over the lifeline because there were two straight lengths of lumber that were easy to walk on.

"There came a sudden lurch," he said, "and I toppled overboard. I sang out and thought the ship would stop, but she kept going. I am a good swimmer, and I kicked off my pants. I had no shoes, of course. In those waters and kept afloat easily enough.

"But when I saw the ship disappearing in the distance I thought to myself: 'Will I dive down and have it all over with, or will I take a chance and keep afloat?' It was a hot argument, but life won out, and I kept afloat, and here I am."

A report was made on the ship's log and the story was told in Houston. Just one of those sea stories, and even Swayne & Holt, the San Francisco agents of the line, did not hear about it until somebody wrote a letter to somebody else.

First Aerial Suicide

Tokyo.—Japan's first aerial suicide occurred recently when Teruo Sudo, twenty-six, smashed the door of an airplane in which he was riding over Ise and leaped several thousand feet to his death.

Theft of Pigmy Auto Quickly Discovered

Topeka, Kan.—A thief made a sad mistake when he stole an Austin automobile here. Within twenty minutes he was in jail. There are only two Austins in town. So when the owner reported his loss police patrols immediately became busy and had an easy search.

They found an Austin, being driven by a lone man, in quick order, and it was the missing one, James Morgan, the driver, was arrested by officers and given free lodging at city expense. He said he was a resident of nowhere.

DEATH IS CHEATED BY HEROIC NURSE

Has Narrow Escape While on Errand of Mercy.

Midland, Ontario.—From Moose Deer Point, in northern Ontario, comes the story of a heroic nurse, who escaped death by a narrow margin while trudging through a blinding snowstorm in an attempt to bring medical aid to a number of sick Indians.

The nurse is Miss Jenn Sandy, a graduate of St. Andrew's hospital here, whose mother and stepfather were drowned several years ago in Georgian bay, and it was in the same body of water that Miss Sandy almost lost her life.

When a call came to Moose Deer Point, where Miss Sandy is on duty, for medical assistance for a family of Indians at Gogama, she at once volunteered and set out afoot for the railway station at McTier, accompanied by John King, mail carrier.

Losing her way in the blinding snowfall the girl crashed through the shallow ice covering one section of Georgian bay, and was only saved by the fact that she was carrying her snowshoes in her hands at the time. With their aid she managed to cling to the edge of the broken ice until King reached her.

With her wet clothing frozen stiff to her body the nurse trudged onward until she reached a fire ranger's cabin, where she spent the night, proceeding next day, and reaching her destination in time to save the afflicted natives from probable death.

Female Finnish Killer Used Unusual Method

Helsingfors.—Further activities of Finland's female Landrau, Anna Vuoristo, have come to light following discovery of her vicious campaign of murder in the family of her fiancé, a program interrupted after she had killed the brother of her fiancé and his housekeeper, and was in the very act of destroying her betrothed as well.

The woman's favorite method was to entice victims with money into a steam bath to be followed by a massage, poison the fumes to render them unconscious, and then dismember and conceal the bodies. Her fiancé, a simple minded, religious fellow, who is a grave digger by trade, protested violently when officers rescued him from his death chamber and arrested the woman.

Now authorities have learned that she had negotiated with several other young men known to have sums of ready cash on promises of great benefits from her treatments. The woman is a farmer's wife. Her disappearance and his request for a search led to discovery of the murders.

Gets 30 Days in Prison and 20 Nights at Home

Covington, Ky.—A sentence of 30 days in jail and 20 nights at home was the penalty imposed upon Alvie Lucas.

Lucas was convicted of a minor offense, and his sentence was 30 days. Then the judge learned that Mrs. Lucas worked at night and the five children depended on her for support.

So Lucas is now required to remain in jail from 7:30 a. m. to 4:00 p. m. and to be at home with the children the remainder of the time.

Girl Coughs Up Peanut; Well After Long Illness

Evansville, Ind.—Ill for ten weeks from a lung infection which puzzled physicians, six-year-old Jo Hinkle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Uel Hinkle, coughed up a peanut and recovered. The child had been ill ever since she choked on peanut candy, December 22. Repeated X-ray examinations failed to reveal the peanut kernel.

Shoes Too Small, So Man Is Held for Trial

Pittsburgh.—George Hamm, thirty-five, is no Cinderella and so he faces court trial on charges of stealing a pair of shoes. Hamm, arraigned in police court, protested he had bought the shoes.

"Try them on," the court ordered. They were too small for Hamm. He was held for court.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL TRAVEL BARGAINS

In keeping with the present era of bargains, J. V. Lanigan, Passenger Traffic Manager of the Illinois Central System, today announced the slashing of fares between all points on the 7,000 mile railroad.

The reductions constitute 70 per cent cuts for travel in chair cars and coaches, and 50 per cent in Pullman and parlor cars and bring the cost of rail travel to one cent and slightly less than two cents for the respective types of transportation. August 7th and 8th are the travel bargain dates, with return limit of August 17th.

Travel, always an invaluable adjunct to business, will be greatly stimulated in the 14 states served by the road, Mr. Lanigan believes.

"We tried this once before," Mr. Lanigan stated today, "and various trade associations reported considerable increase in business directly traceable to the travel bargains, and the public generally appreciated the opportunity to travel on these low fares."

Mr. Lanigan also pointed out that these mid-summer travel bargain days are timely in the planning of vacation trips and family visits at tremendous savings.

MINER EN ROUTE TO CLAIM BRIDE DIES IN STORM

Fortune Within His Grasp After Years of Toil in Western Canada.

Winnipeg.—The tragic story of a Danish miner, who, with fortune within his grasp after years of toil in the Canadian west, met death at the outset of his journey to claim a bride, is unfolded in the prosaic pages of Constable D. T. Cook's report to headquarters of the Manitoba provincial police here.

The miner was Ongrad Gurley, a worker in the Central Manitoba mines, who for years has hoarded his earnings, until they represented a sum on which he could live, frugally, in his native land.

Trudges in Cold.
Relinquishing his post, he set out on a 40-mile trek for Great Falls, where he was to take a train for the East, en route to Denmark. His high boots filled with water and slush, however, he trudged through the treacherous muskeg, and, after "mushing"

Found the Miner in a Dying Condition.

28 miles, as he trudged through, his arms frozen to the elbows, and his legs to the knees, through exposure to the icy weather.

Three hours later Michael Gilleran, patrolman for the Manitoba Power company, while making his rounds of inspection, found the miner in a dying condition. Gilleran administered what aid he could, but Gurley was beyond human help. With feeble gestures he indicated a photograph of his bride-to-be, which he carried in an inside pocket, and Gilleran extracted it and held it before the Dane's eyes until he died.

The patrolman built a small shack over the body to protect it from wolves and then, from the nearest telephone post, notified the provincial police.

Rescue Trip an Epic.

The story of Constable Cook's journey to retrieve the body is in itself an epic of hardship and endurance. Cook traveled on snowshoes, accompanied by six men, pulling a toboggan, over a trail impeded by stumps, new fallen snow and, in many places, by unfrozen muskeg.

Seven miles from their starting point they found three men huddled in a shack, one with both legs frozen to the knees, his companions having carried him a mile and a half to shelter.

The toboggan party carried the disabled man back to Great Falls and then took up Cook's trail, finally finding Gurley's body and retrieving it. Their journey, only 72 miles in all, consumed a total of six days.

City Jail Sold for $2

When Found Too Small
Logia, Mich.—For $2 the city has sold its jail.

The two-cell lockup, out of use for 20 years, was dismantled and the iron bars sold for junk. The rest of it was converted into kindling.

City prisoners have been housed in the county jail since the lockup became too small to meet demands.

Youths Sentenced to Go to Church for 6 Months

Rensselaer, N. Y.—Regular church attendance for six months was the sentence meted out to three youths arrested with three girl companions in what they said was their clubhouse. In addition, City Court Judge Walter H. Keenholts gave them suspended jail sentences of six months each.

Farmer Wakes Up; Finds He Broke Leg in Bed

Birmingham, Ala.—The leg of Arthur Richardson, Adger (Ala.) farmer, was broken while he was asleep in bed, but he doesn't know how it happened. He awoke, attempted to turn over, and discovered there was a clean fracture of the leg above the knee.

Red Cloud, Neb.—A crash of glass—and James Hagman looked into the dazed face of a hawk that had crashed through the windshield of his automobile. It flew away.

Snake Eats Birds in Cage, Can't Escape

Santa Cruz, Calif.—A huge bull snake had an exclusive meal of two valuable canaries, but it cost him his life.

The reptile crawled into a cage in which the prize canaries were kept by Mrs. Elsie Engle. Two of the birds were swallowed and the snake made himself a prisoner thereby. It was not able to digest the birds quickly enough, and when it tried to leave the cage it could not squeeze through. The snake was killed when discovered.

USES BAYONET TO KILL SWEETHEART

Youth Didn't Want Anybody Else to Have Her.

New York.—Michael Basso, eighteen, courted Grace De Matters, sixteen, for two years. Michael, tall and sleney; Grace, growing into charming womanhood, with a quick wit and fire blazing in the black pools that were her eyes. There was the roseate path of a boy and a girl.

And then Michael was found guilty of stealing an automobile. The court suspended sentence, but Grace's sentence, handed down by her parents, never was suspended. It decreed that Grace and Michael no longer could keep company.

So Grace and Michael, like girls and boys of other days, resorted to the clandestine rendezvous. As a sequel Michael had walked into the Morrisania avenue police station and told detectives that he had run his sweetheart through with a bayonet.

Little Grace was found on the sidewalk in front of Michael's home with two wounds near her heart. She died in an ambulance.

Michael explained to police:

"I was so crazy about her. I didn't want anyone else to have her. Late, when I had dates with her, her uncle or cousins would come around. When I met her tonight I had that bayonet hidden on me. She made a move like she was calling her father or somebody. I was afraid; I couldn't let her go . . . and that's all there is in it."

Michael's brother, Lewis, is seventeen and a naval milliaman. He owns the bayonet.

Boyhood Love of Mate Cited in Divorce Suit

New York.—Her husband, Frank L. Billingham, fifty-two-year-old teacher, confessed to her that Mrs. Lulu Crawford was his boyhood sweetheart—and he's still just a boy at heart—Mrs. Maude Billingham charged in Brooklyn Supreme court here.

She declared that though Mrs. Crawford still has a perfectly legal husband, Billingham has taken to spending week-ends and other recess periods there.

Asking Justice Cropsey for temporary alimony of $75 a week pending a separation suit, she cited that her husband earns $5,700 a year.

"He told me he was in love with Mrs. Crawford and was very miserable and unhappy," Mrs. Billingham charged.

The teacher's absence from home became more and more marked and finally permanent, she alleged. Thanksgiving day about 18 persons were gathered for a turkey dinner, but Billingham failed to show up. It was stated.

The party drove to Mrs. Crawford's home, it was related, and found Billingham's car parked before the curb.

Billingham denied all charges and filed supporting denials signed by Mrs. Crawford and her husband, Edward.

Court Holds Baby Lived, but It Never Breathed

Lincoln, Neb.—Because her baby's heart beat, although the child never breathed, Mrs. Pauline Stuetz, of this city, will receive all her husband's estate, $20,000, in damages against a construction firm in whose employ he was killed.

A court held that, since the baby's heart beat 20 minutes, it lived and inherited half the estate of its father. This half reverted to the mother when the heartbeats ceased.

A state law provides that a widow who has not been the mother of a living child is entitled to only half her husband's estate, so the man's parents sought the other half.

Police Asked to Settle Chinese Love Tangle

Reno, Nev.—Reno police officials have been asked to settle a Chinese love triangle by persuading Ruth Chun, wife of Tom Chun, to forget Albert Gee, with whom Chun says his wife is infatuated, and return to her husband. Gee and Chun fought over Mrs. Chun in San Francisco after Chun came from Hawaii to regain his wife. She told officers, however, that she desires to obtain a Reno divorce then marry Gee.

Bandits Steal Teeth

Peabody, Mass.—Two youths held up and robbed William Mahoney, stealing his wallet, which was empty, his keys, and his false teeth.

When the pair he accused were later arrested Mahoney's troubles didn't end. Police are holding his teeth for evidence.

A HELP TO HAM

HAM has always been a popular meat in this country. So much of it is consumed, in fact, that dietitians have made a special study of what to serve with it in order to make it more digestible. For ham is a good food, rich in proteins, and if you like to eat a lot of it, because of its vigorous flavor, they want to be sure that your digestive apparatus can take care of it.

Of recent years, the porker, if he enjoys being eaten, has found himself indebted to Hawaii. A combination, not only delectable but dietetically correct has been found in ham with Hawaiian pineapple. This fruit is blessed with a digestive enzyme called bromelain which acts powerfully on protein foods, and makes them easier to digest. That is the reason why pineapple is served so often nowadays with protein rich foods such as ham, pork, lamb chops, beef steak and other meats. Here are two recipes for its use with ham and pork.

Hawaiian Style: Put slices of cold, boiled ham over bottom of shallow baking pan, one slice for each person to be served. On each slice put a slice of canned Hawaiian pineapple. In the hole of each slice force two ripe olives and then hide them by putting one tablespoon brown sugar over each hole. Place under broiler and brown well.

Pork Chops with Grilled Pineapple: Fry one and one-half pounds pork chops as usual, and remove to a hot platter. Meanwhile drain one 13-ounce can of sliced Hawaiian pineapple, place the slices on the broiler rack and brown under flame until golden on both sides. Place on a platter with the chops. This recipe will serve six people, and so plentiful is canned Hawaiian pineapple this year that the price is lower than usual, and a housewife should be able to serve it anywhere in this country at a cost of not more than seventy cents. And that's not the only economy. Every experienced housewife will be sure to save the syrup drained from the can to use in her cold summer drinks.

"I'm glad we have a Telephone again"

A number of people who gave up their telephones during the stress of the past twelve months have told us that this proved to be false economy and they have had their service restored.

Those who have not had their service reinstalled, and those who may be hesitating about having a telephone of their own, are reminded that telephone service is no longer regarded as an expense, but is considered a necessary home convenience and economy.

No other money you spend can bring you more actual value. Thousands of telephone subscribers know the truth of this. They do not consider their telephone statement as a "bill," but rather as a reminder of pleasanter living and broadened opportunities.

Those who have previously enjoyed telephone service appreciate it more than ever; new subscribers wonder how they ever did without it.

Telephone service costs so little and the advantages are so many that it really doesn't pay to try to do without it.

Gold of Conquistadores

SOMETIMES nature laughs at those who seek metals in the ground to make them rich, and ignore the bounty of the earth which, with a little care, is constantly renewing itself, to produce wealth for patient cultivators of the soil, and foods for millions.

So it was with those sons of Spain who came to the new world for gold, and who, when they failed to find it, went home in disgust neglecting the unrivaled opportunities for riches through colonization. The Conquistadores wanted to get rich quick, and when they didn't, many of them pulled up baby pine-apples because they had grown to love the luscious tropical fruit which they could not get in their own country, and went home to try and grow that fruit under glass, as it does not grow easily in a temperate climate.

Had they remained there and seized this priceless opportunity, today's thriving pineapple industry might have been theirs. For a ripe pineapple is a luscious fruit, and today's Hawaiian pineapple industry puts that ripe pineapple into a can, so that it will reach its millions of devotees with all of its natural fruit sugar, its vitamins, its flavor and its unusual appetite producing taste.

The Taste's The Thing

Have you ever noticed that "more" taste about pineapple? That, as you eat it, you feel somehow as though you could keep on eating it? Pineapple is a powerful aid to digestion and helps one to take care of rich protein foods. That's because pineapple contains bromelain. This fact makes this golden fruit an excellent accompaniment to meats. It's the bromelain in the pineapple served with meats which aids in the digestion of them, besides adding a tang and a taste to them that everyone likes.

And now one may have all the pineapple one wants. Increased production in the Hawaiian Islands has not only made available a great deal more pineapple than in previous years, but the price of this tropical fruit has been lowered so that the housewife may use it as lavishly as she pleases, with meats, to make cakes, griddle cakes, waffles, decorative gelatin salads and desserts, frozen and otherwise, or she may serve the golden wheel of pineapple swimming in a delicious syrup, nicely chilled, for an extra "ritzy" dessert in every sense but price.

Here are some interesting ways of serving pineapple with meat, and some frozen desserts.

Pineapple With Meat

Pineapple Meat Cakes: Add one slightly beaten egg to one pound of chopped round steak, and mix well. Add one and one-fourth teaspoons salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, one cup crushed pineapple and one-half cup crumbs. Form into round, flat cakes and pan broil in a hot skillet. Makes eighteen medium cakes.

Southern Fried Chicken with Pineapple Wheels: Drain syrup from a No. 2½ can sliced Hawaiian pineapple. Add a two-inch stick of cinnamon. Boil three minutes, then add pineapple slices and set aside until cool. Drain and chill. Fry enough chicken for eight in the usual Southern fashion and pile in the center of a large silver platter. Around the chicken arrange a border of eight lettuce leaves, using deep cup-shaped leaves. Place a pineapple wheel in each and make a rosette of mayonnaise in the center of each. Serves eight, and provides both the meat course and the salad.

Pineapple Desserts

Pineapple and Banana Ice Cream: Scald together three cups evaporated milk, six cups thin cream, two and two-thirds cups sugar, and cook. Add one No. 2 can crushed Hawaiian pineapple and one cup mashed banana pulp, and freeze. Serves twenty-four.

Pineapple Cherry Bavarian: Soak two tablespoons gelatin in one-half cup cold water. Heat to boiling the juice from one 8-ounce bottle green mint cherries, one and one-half cups crushed pineapple, one-third cup sugar, one tablespoon lemon juice and pour over gelatin, stirring until dissolved. Color a light green and cool. When starting to set, add cherries cut in pieces and one cup whipped cream and pour into individual molds to harden. Unmold and garnish with whipped cream and bits of angelica. Serves eight.

Improved Uniform International Sunday School Lesson

(By REV. H. F. FULTON, D. D., Minister of the First Baptist Church, Fulton, Mo.)

Lesson for July 26

CHRISTIANITY SPREAD BY PERSECUTION.

LESSON TEXT—Acts 7:54-59, 11:19-21; 1 Pet. 4:12-19.
GOLDEN TEXT—Fear none of those things which shall afflict the body, for the soul is more precious than the body, which shall be destroyed, but the soul cannot be destroyed. (Matthew 10:28)

PRIMARY TOPIC—The Gospel Spread by Persecution.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Christianity Spread by Persecution.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Nations of the Early Church.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Results of Persecution.

Christianity is a life, a "way." Because it is the life of God expressing itself through men, it is indestructible. Its genius is to prosper through opposition. "The blood of the martyrs is the seed of the church." Prosperity may ruin the church, but persecution never.

1. Stephen Stoned (Acts 7:54-59). In Stephen's Christ and wrought miracles in confirmation thereof. This aroused violent opposition on the part of the synagogue officials. Not being able to meet the wisdom as Stephen spoke by the Holy Spirit, they stirred up the people against him. They arrested him and brought him before the council. They accused him of blasphemy and employed false witnesses against him. They could not silence him by argument before the council so they decided to do so by violence.

1. Stephen looking into heaven (v. 55). Instead of looking about upon his murderers in their raging fury he looked up to heaven. This was the secret of his calmness.

2. He saw the glory of God (v. 55). A vision of God's glory only can be seen by those who are loyal to him even unto death.

3. He saw Jesus at the right hand of God (v. 55, 56). The fact that Jesus was standing showed his actual interest in the sufferings of his faithful witness.

4. Cast out of the city and stoned (v. 58, 59).

5. His prayer (v. 60). He knelt down and cried with a loud voice, "Lord, lay not this sin to their charge." How like the prayer of Jesus on the cross!

6. He fell asleep (v. 60). The Christian's death is only a sleep.

II. Persecution of the Church at Jerusalem (Acts 8:1-4).

1. The ringleader (v. 1, 3). As a member of the Sanhedrin Saul had cast his vote against Stephen. He perhaps was the Sanhedrin representative to guide and direct in the execution. Saul's consenting to Stephen's death shows that he was not taking part himself, but directing the activities.

2. The disciples scattered (v. 1). The stoning of Stephen had so aroused the passions of savage men that they proceeded to wreak vengeance upon the Christians who, as a result, were scattered abroad.

3. Preaching the Word (v. 4). Though forced out of Jerusalem, they did not go out in a panic, but went "everywhere preaching."

III. Preaching the Lord Jesus at Antioch (Acts 11:19-21).

In the providence of God a new missionary center was now being prepared. With the conversion of Saul and his commission as the apostle to the Gentiles, a new center was needed. Antioch was well suited as that center, for it was the natural door to the Graeco-Roman world. The persecution at Jerusalem sent the disciples as far as Antioch.

1. Preaching to Jews only (v. 19). In this they followed the example of Christ. They had not yet come to realize the universality of the gospel. Even thus limited, they were used in carrying out the divine purpose.

2. Preaching to the Greeks (v. 20). The disciples who had come from Africa and Cyprus were of broader sympathy than those of Palestine, and they courageously crossed the line preaching the Lord Jesus to the Greeks.

3. The hand of the Lord upon them (v. 21). Perhaps the Holy Spirit was poured out anew as at Pentecost. Their ministry was accompanied by the divine blessing. Many believed on the Lord through their ministry.

IV. Rejoicing in Persecutions (1 Peter 4:12-19).

Fiery trials are to be expected by the disciples of Christ. The world hated Christ and put Him to death. To be reproached and hated for Christ's sake is a badge of honor, and those who may be called upon thus to suffer should rejoice.

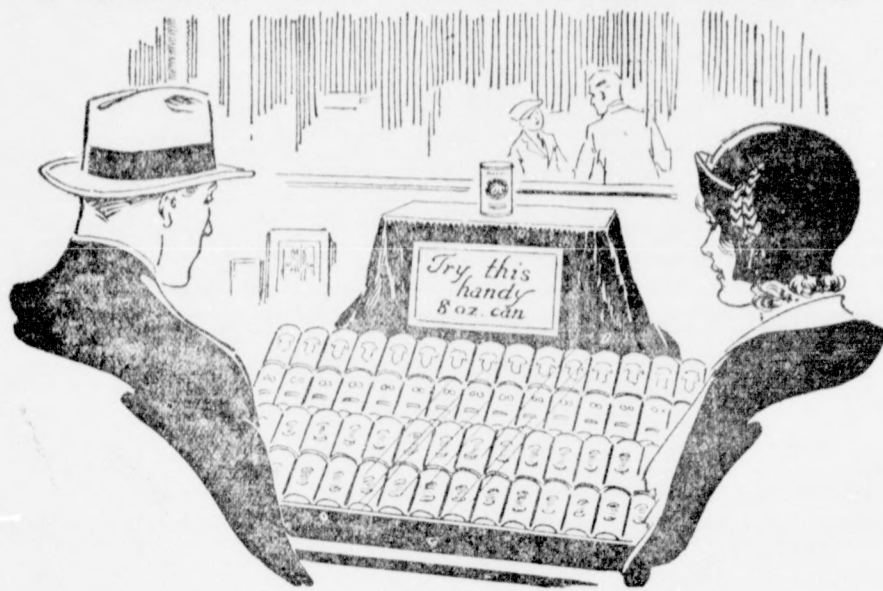

Christ Wins at Last

No matter what the obstacles, Christ wins at last. No matter what the delays and disappointments, Christ triumphs in the end. In spite of suffering and loss and repeated defeats Christ is the eternal conqueror. Lord we believe! But we need a lot of help!—Charles E. Jefferson.

FOODS IN SMALL CANS

A RECENT survey revealed the fact that an amazing number of different products are now processed and put up in those convenient 8-ounce cans which contain just enough to content two people, or the contents of which can even be consumed by one hungry person alone.

These small individual cans have proved a boon to the cities where storage space is at a premium. When one realizes that 57 per cent of our population now lives in cities, as compared with 40 per cent in 1900, one understands the reason for their popularity.

The season of summer holidays is fast approaching. For the sake of these holidayer maids and couples without children, nearly a hundred different packs of fruits and vegetables are now put up in these small cans.

Here's the List

The fruits include apple sauce, apricots (plain and peeled), blackberries (including a fancy grade), cherries (Royal Anne, black ring, red pitted and black), cranberry sauce, figs (including a California variety), fruit cocktail, fruits for salad, fruit salad, grapefruit, grapes (seedless), loganberries (including a fancy pack), olives (ripe), peaches (diced, halves and sliced), pears (Bartlett and dried), pineapple (crushed, tidbits and juice), plums (green gage), prunes (fancy purple, fresh Oregon and stewed), raspberries (fired and black, including a fancy red pack), rhubarb and strawberries (including a fancy pack).

The vegetables are artichoke hearts, asparagus (cut tips, dainty salad points, large tips, mammoth tips, medium tips, natural green cuts and small tips), beans (cut refuges, cut stringless, cut with green lima, lima, medium green lima, New England style, oven baked and red kidney), beets (diced and sliced), Brussels sprouts, carrots (diced), carrots and peas, corn (Country Gentleman, fancy Crosby, golden bantam, golden bantam crushed, golden cream, kernelless, popping white and whole grain), kraut, mushrooms, peas (garden, run of garden, sweet garden and sweet wrinkled), sauerkraut, spinach, succotash (golden bantam corn, white corn and with green lima), tomatoes (plain and sauce), turnips (diced), vegetables (mixed and far salad) and vegetable soup.

Other products are brown bread, macaroni, molasses (Barbados), spaghetti (plain and prepared) and shrimp. There are probably several more which were missed in the survey, but many good recipes have been evolved from the above.

Some Fruit Recipes

Here are some easy recipes, for instance, which are easy to prepare and will serve from two to four.

Raspberry Cream: Soak two teaspoons gelatin in two tablespoons cold water five minutes. Bring the contents of an 8-ounce can of raspberries, three tablespoons sugar and two tablespoons lemon juice to boiling, pour over gelatin and stir until dissolved. Cool. When about to jelly, fold in one-half cup heavy cream. A can of the new heating cream which has just been put on the market can be used if you have no refrigerating facilities.

Blackberry Cobbler: Heat the contents of one 8-ounce can of blackberries to boiling, add one tablespoon of flour mixed with one teaspoon of sugar, and cook till slightly thick. Add one teaspoon of lemon juice and one teaspoon of butter, and stir into a buttered baking dish. Cut rich baking powder biscuit dough in tiny rounds and lay over the top. Bake in a hot oven, 450°, for fifteen minutes.

Simplifying Picnics

PICNICS that are picnics — to prepare as well as to enjoy — are in sight this summer with the advent of prepared canned sandwich spreads which will not only prove a contribution to picnic provender, but will give their planners more hours in which to enjoy them, since the labor of preparation is reduced to a minimum.

Variety of Spreads

There should be a variety of sandwiches at all picnics in order to appeal to the tastes of everyone, and these sandwich spreads were planned with that provision in mind. They include a ham, a tongue, a liver and a mixed meat spread which covers a wide range of tastes. The liver spread, for instance, suggests pâté de foie gras in its succulence, and every one of them is delicious and delicately prepared with these spreads is simplicity itself. Just slice your bread, open the cans, and smear them on, thick for the youngsters, and with a little more restraint for the older members of the party. They can be varied, if you like, with a little mayonnaise and chopped sweet pickle, but you will find that they are most acceptable just as they come from the can.

The cans in which these now spreads are put contain three and a half ounces each, so that, with a little practice you can forecast just how many you will need. And think of the time saved which you can put in enjoying yourself now that picnics have been simplified.

Baked Beans For Brazen

THIS summer while Junior is away in the country, you expect him to grow at least an inch and come back brown and brawny with clear eyes and rosy cheeks. It takes a he-boy to eat enough food to grow that coveted inch, and it takes he-food to make a boy brawny. They do it with beans in the United States Army, so here are a couple of bean recipes in which sufficient energy is stored away for some good long hikes, several swims, and a lot of running.

Baked Beans with Sausages: Chop one small onion fine, dice one small green pepper, add to the contents of a No. 2 can of tomatoes with one teaspoon sugar and salt and pepper to taste. Cook gently ten minutes, add the contents of a one pound twelve-ounce can of New England oven-baked beans and pour into a buttered flat shallow baking dish. Arrange twelve pork sausages over the top and place in a hot oven. When sausages brown on top, turn over, reduce heat, and cook slowly forty-five minutes to an hour. Serves six.

Help our Merchants to help YOU

EVERYBODY will agree that a man succeeds and prospers only when he spends LESS money than he receives in a given period of time.

Let's apply this great economic test to the situation in this town: Our business men have invested—and continue to invest—their money in stocks of goods brought here to your very door to meet your daily needs.

Through the pages of this paper they advise you of their ability to serve this community. All of us know that they deserve our patronage. And remember, the more you trade with them the more funds they can invest in larger stocks and new lines.

TAKE A VACATION

There isn't a single person around Fulton so hard hit financially that he can't afford to take a vacation. By that we don't mean that everyone can afford a long, costly trip that includes high-priced hotels and bathing beaches, expensive golf courses and all that. For happily there are many ways of spending a vacation that doesn't mean a wild expenditure of money.

If you do nothing more than go for a week's visit with friends and relatives in a neighboring town it will be worth far more than it costs. It may mean a slight temporary loss of finances as a result of not being on the job, but it will put you in shape to be physically fit for the job longer than you will be if you don't rest up. So in the long run it really proves a good investment.

Take the family away for a week, no matter if it's only out of sight of home. Give them a change of scenery; give them a chance to talk to people they don't talk to every day. Take along a fishing pole or two, for there's no more restful way on earth to spend a little time. Then when you get back home notice the difference in the way everybody in the family settles down to normal tasks. It makes a whole of a difference, one little week spent away from home. It also makes you appreciate your home more, once you have gotten back to it. Don't get the idea that you can't afford not to take one.

4-H CAMP NEWS

The Purchase 4-H Club Camp began its activities at the Fulton fair grounds Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, with 147 boys and girls, and 12 county and home agents and local leaders, making a total enrollment of 158 campers.

G. J. McKinney, field agent in club work, from the University of Kentucky, is in charge of the camp.

G. J. Worms, Y. M. C. A. representative, has charge of 4-H development and athletics.

Miss Sadie Wilgus, home agent of Calloway county, and Miss Anna Culton, of the University of Kentucky, are in charge of classes on etiquette and personal hygiene.

R. Y. Cravens, of the University of Kentucky, is in charge of the handicraft for boys and Miss Culton is teaching home craft to the girls.

Miss Gladys Kimbrough, of Ball Bros., is giving some very interesting lessons on canning. These lessons will be given each afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Miss Susan Gregory, of the University of Kentucky, will supervise the singing and entertainment for the week.

The enrollment by counties is as follows: Fulton 38, McCracken 30, Marshall 28, Hickman 19, Graves 18 and Calloway 14.

This is one of the largest 4-H camps ever held in West Kentucky, and will no doubt be the best. Visitors are welcome at all times and especially at the evening vespers services and entertainment. Rev. C. B. Cloyd will have charge of the vespers for Tuesday evening, Graves will furnish vespers and entertainment Wednesday evening, and Calloway county will furnish the program Thursday evening, which will be music by the Music Department of the Murray State Teachers' College, and the address by Rev. J. O. Enns, pastor of the Methodist church.

About the only time the Fulton girl in love wants to make herself plain is when she is writing a letter.

Another trouble with the country is that too many people are trying to ride to prosperity on rubber tires.

Willinoham Bridge

The Sunday School and Christian Endeavor Society of Union had a picnic at the church Saturday.

Our pastor, Miss Letie Clement, attended the picnic and spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Sugg, Sr.

Mr. Sam Lovelace, of Union City, Tenn., ate dinner with Mrs. Lucy Burnett and family Sunday and attended church at Union Sunday afternoon.

Miss Letie Clement, being called to preach a funeral at 11 o'clock, filled her appointment at Union at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

Walter Stallins and Paul Douglas Sams are attending the 4-H Club camp at Fulton fair grounds this week.

Mrs. Willie Jeffress is on the sick list.

Mrs. Tom Sams and daughter, Dorothy, spent Friday with Mrs. Coston Sams.

Mrs. Laura Scott and son, Verlie, of Riceville, visited Mr. and Mrs. Willie Barham Sunday.

Several people of this community attended the funeral of Mr. Dave Nugent at Palestine Monday afternoon.

Miss Letie Clement ate dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Stallins and family Sunday.

The Ladies' Aid and Missionary Society of Union will meet with Mrs. Hayden Donoho Wednesday.

Mr. Carlos French and Miss Mary Alice Starks, of Tennessee, were quietly married at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Lewis on July 11, in the presence of a few friends and relatives, Esquire T. W. Stallins officiating.

Mr. Alvin Herring and family, of Oklahoma, visited relatives of this community last week.

Had Use for the Ten

A South Carolina negro sent a message to an acquaintance in North Carolina, reading: "Sam, I heard you is dead. If you is, telegram me. If you ain't send me $10."
The recipient, who had about recovered from recent gunshot wounds, wired back: "I is dead. Your ten will be applied to a coffin."

There's a Difference

"How was the fishing?"
"Plenty of it and very good."
"How many'd you catch?"
"None."
"Thought you said the fishing was good?"
"It was, but the catching was rotten."

Dad and Uncle Miss a Date

Your hens good layers?
Baker (fresh from town)—Toppling! They haven't laid a bad egg yet!—London Posing Show.

Cash

and Carry

If you could only take your market basket on your arm, go to the light and power plant and, by the cash-and-carry system of merchandising, obtain enough kilowatthours to supply your electrical needs for a few days or a week, your bills for domestic electricity could be reduced 80 per cent.

The reason is that it costs about four times as much to deliver a kilo-watthour of electricity to the switch on your walls as it costs to make it in the power house.

The electrical industry is constantly trying to find ways and means of reducing the cost of distribution.

Reduction of this cost will be reflected in rates, which means reduced cost to the consumer and a constantly increasing ability to use electric service economically.

A Touring Basso

WILFRED GLENN, basso, has just returned from Europe where he was heard in the leading capitals as soloist and in the quartet made up of himself, Lewis James, tenor; James Melton, tenor; and Elliott Shaw, baritone. As a member of the General Motors Quartet, and as a soloist, Glenn will be heard Monday nights on the radio during the summer months. Glenn's rendition of such continuously popular numbers as "Old Man River," "Old Black Joe" and in humorous songs has given him an enthusiastic air audience. He and his organization frequently have been heard on concert tours of the United States with Will Rogers and other leading entertainers. The block print is the work of L. L. Balcum, well known New York artist.
