NUMBER THIRTY-TWO

KEN-TENN EXPOSITION WAS REAL SUCCESS

The first annual Ken-Tenn Exposition, sponsored under the auspices of the Young Men's Business Club of Fulton, drew good crowds day and night, and was a real success, directors announced this week. The 4-H Club show and Farm Bureau Picnic were well carried out and enjoyed under the auspices of the Fulton County Farm Bureau.

Many entries were received in the boys' 4-H Club Fat Hog and Cattle show and sale, and in the girls' 4-H exhibits. A fine lot of poultry was entered in the poultry division, and the dairy cattle show attracted wide interest. It is significant that interest in these branches of farming has increased in this area in recent years, and it is the plan of the Young Men's Business Club to build the exposition into an annual affair. It is hoped, however, next year to include community booths from the surrounding territory, awarding handsome premiums to winners in this division.

Burnette Farms, Jim Brundige Enter Winners

In the dairy cattle show held at the Ken-Tenn Exposition Friday and Saturday, Burnette Farms entered the grand champions in the grade heifers and cows division, and in the purebred and registered heifers and cows group. FULTON SCHOOLS OPEN SEPTEMBER 9

The Fulton, Kentucky, City Schools will open on Monday, September 9. There will be a meeting of the white teachers at the High School building at nine o'clock. At 10:30 Superintendent Lewis will meet with the faculty of Milton Schools. At each of these meetings aims and objectives for the coming year will be discussed. There will be four new members among the teachers this year. Miss Ruby Boyd Alexander will serve as substitute teacher for Miss Mary Katherine Bondurant who has a year's leave of absence to complete her Master's degree.

Miss June Dixon, a native of Dawson Springs, Kentucky, and a graduate of Murray College in 1940, will teach English and music at the Junior High School. Miss Augusta Ray, a graduate of Murray, with two year's experience, will succeed Miss Sullivan as teacher of Home Science and English. Mr. Herschel Giles, a graduate of Centre and five year's experience as teacher and coach, will succeed Mr. Carter.

The students will go to their respective schools to enroll at 1:00 P. M. on September 9. The teachers will also give instructions in regard to books and details of the work at the time. Parents are asked to come with their children if they so desire. They are especially invited to do so if their child is entering the Fulton Schools for the first time.

The P. T. A.'s are arranging for a final round-up of all children who will enter the first grade. Parents of such children are urged to take them to the Clinic when it is finally announced, since it will be necessary for all children to be vaccinated for smallpox before they will be eligible to remain in school. Children who will be six years of age by December 1 will be eligible to enter.

The janitors are now engaged in preparing the buildings for the opening of school. Frank Merryman is installing three fire escapes at Carr Institute. When this work is complete, all the requirements made by the State Bureau of Fire Prevention and Safety will have been met.

The High School will change to the hour period this year, and the day will consist of six periods instead of seven. Each period will have one part used for study and the other for recitation. The fourth period will be divided by the noon period.

Mrs. Chester Binkley will be in charge of the cafeteria again this year. She will not be ready to serve lunches until Wednesday. School will be dismissed at noon on Tuesday, September 10, and Wednesday, September 11, will be the first full day of school.

Mr. Giles will arrive August 29, and will have everything ready for football practice on Monday, Sept. 2. It will be necessary to have two practice periods daily until the opening of school in order to get the boys ready for the opening game with Martin on September 13.

Students above sixteen years of age who desire to secure NYA scholarships should register with Superintendent Lewis at once.

SCOUTS WILL GO ON WEEK END TRIP

On Saturday night about twenty-five members of the local Boy Scout troop and their Scoutmaster, William Henry Edwards, will leave on a sight-seeing trip to several famous places in Kentucky. They plan to go directly to Harrodsburg and on their return trip they will visit Mammoth Cave, Lincoln's birthplace. The old Kentucky Home and several other places of interest.

NEARLY 2500 DRIVERS LICENSES SOLD SO FAR

Applications for drivers licenses are 850 behind those of last year, according to Justin Attebery, circuit court clerk of Fulton county. To date a total of 2,493 licenses have been applied for, while a total of 3,343 were placed last year.

Parity Applications To Be Ready Soon

Corn and cotton parity applications for 1940 will be ready in the next few days, J. B. McGehee announced this week. The final check up ends August 31 for this year's program. Heretofore the closing period has been October 31, but this year the time limit will be two months shorter which will reduce the period to earn payments. This probably will mean about one-third reduction in the amount of total payments received by farmers this year, in comparison with last year's payments.

The following payments were received by farmers in Fulton county during 1939:

Wheat, $5,366.36.
Cotton, $61,608.11.
Corn, $35,342.62.
Soil Conservation, $162,941.89.
Total Parity and Soil Conservation payments combined, $265,258.98.

MAYFIELD BALL CLUB SUES WALLACE SHOWS

A claim for $210.00 was placed against the Wallace Bros. Shows while they were in Fulton, by the Mayfield Baseball Club. Sheriff Henry served the papers here Saturday night, and cash bond for $250.00 was put up until the case will be tried in Fulton at the September term of circuit court.

The charges were made by W. L. Harrington and W. H. Creason, representing the Mayfield ball club. It is contended that the shows broke a contract with the club by which they were to show in Mayfield the week of April 1-6.

GOLDEN RULE GOOD RULE FOR AUTO DRIVERS

School Days are here again—"Dear Old Golden Rule Days" which mean extra careful driving for motorists who value the life of a child. Back-to-School brings many excited youngsters to the streets—many of them making their first trip to school and are ignorant of the dangers of traffic and extra driving caution is necessary for motorists wherever small children are apt to be.

School-child auto accidents are decreasing—thanks to careful driving and safety education in the schools, but the number of them is still cause for extreme consideration and, while it does not seem possible to eliminate them entirely, it is possible to eliminate those due to carelessness in driving and this phase of the problem is strictly up to the motorists of America.

Care and caution should be the watchwords for drivers now. The usual vigilance exercised in the school months of the year may have been allowed to lapse during the vacation period because of absence of children on the streets. Now we have them with us again. Let us renew our vigilance. Accidents involving adults are serious enough, but an accident involving a child is horrible. Don't let yourself be a party to one. Drive carefully, cautiously, courteously.

RAILROADS PREPARE

Efficient transportation facilities are a vital factor in national defense, and the railroads of the country recently have been placing large orders for new equipment, with a view to meeting any demands which may be made upon them in connection with the preparedness program.

More new freight cars were placed in service during the first six months of this year than in any similar period since 1930. The placing of orders for 3,000 box cars by a single railroad, the Illinois Central, has just been announced by its president, J. L. Beven. It is expected that deliveries of these 25 miles of cars will be completed around the first of the year at a cost of $9,375,000.

The cars will be built at four separate plants—1,000 at East Chicago, Ind.; 1,000 at Bessemer, Ala.; 500 at St. Louis, and 500 at Mt. Vernon in southern Illinois—thus distributing the employment over a wide area. Including this purchase, the Illinois Central will have added 11,662 new freight cars in four years.

Railroads of the country now have about 20,000 new freight cars on order, or nearly twice as many as were on order a year ago. They also installed 180 new locomotives during the six months ended June 30, on which date 124 more were on order. Thus, in the field of transportation, at least, we are getting prepared to meet any emergency.

Long before the Christian era there was a city on its site called Ki, and it has been known at different times as Chung-tu, Yen-shan Fu, Yen-king, and even once as Nanking, which is now the name of the later capital far to the southward.

Coming down to the Middle Ages, Peiping was called Khanbalik, or Cambaluc, when it first became known to Europeans in the 13th century, shortly after its capture and rebuilding by the conqueror Kublai Khan, founder of the Mongol dynasty in China. In the following century the Ming dynasty came to power and the city was first called Peiping, according to some authorities, the name later changed to Peking.

HAYES-TILDEN CONTEST

Sixty-four years ago, there occurred the most bitter and long drawn out political contest the United States has ever experienced, when a dispute arose over counting the electoral votes for Rutherford B. Hayes and Samuel J. Tilden, candidates for president.

Tilden, Democrat, had 184 undisputed electoral votes, while Hayes, Republican, had 165. But duplicate returns were made from Florida, South Carolina, Louisiana and Oregon, with 20 electoral votes certified by conflicting state authorities. In order to win the election, Tilden needed only one of the disputed votes, while Hayes needed them all, 185 being necessary to a choice. Finally, after much wrangling, Congress passed a special act, creating an electoral commission, composed of members of the Senate, House and the Supreme Court, 15 in all, to decide the issue. By a strict party vote 8 to 7, all 20 of the contested electoral votes were given to Hayes, and he was declared elected.

Party feeling ran high and even threats of another civil war were heard, but calmer counsel prevailed, Tilden himself advising his adherents to accept the finding of the commission, which was approved by Congress in a joint session on March 2, 1877, and Hayes became president.

Mrs. K. C. Rollins of Cedar Rapids, Ia., paid her third traffic fine of the month by sitting out the jail sentence.

Washington Snapshots

by JAMES PRESTON

As America's industries are faced with necessity of producing for national defense, a new plan of attack is being shaped up against them in Washington.

It is reminiscent of the effort made a year ago to convince the people that manufacturers wanted war because of the profits in it. That effort died in its youth since it was easy for the Average American to understand that manufacturers don't want to get into a business which may be profitable today but which will disappear tomorrow. That's war business.

But now, with the nation rearming, manufacturers are being called upon to produce for national defense despite their preference for peaceful pursuits. Yet despite their willingness to cooperate they are being dalled "saboteurs."

JUST HUMANS

By GENE CARR

The Daredevil—"Slip Me Y'Autograph, Will Yer?"

The group from which such charges emanate makes an interesting lineup of bed-fellows: John Lewis of the CIO, about three newspaper columnists who are friendly to administration leftists, the Communists' newspaper, the Daily Worker, and similar others.

At least one of these apparently seek to take advantage of the difficulty of explaining a word much heard in connection with the pending tax bill—"amortization." That word is as simple as it can be, although it sounds impressive to talk about "amortizing plants built for national defense."

One of the best current explanations is this:

A manufacturing industry does not, as some seem to believe operate on money put up by a few millionaires. Instead, it uses the savings of millions of ordinary people who lend (invest) their savings in the hope of getting a return on them.

Industries now are being asked, for example, to spend $100,000 of these savings to build a plant and buy the machines needed to make high explosives. While there is a market for these explosives, the industry will pay regular taxes amounting to nearly 21 per cent of its income plus special taxes on excess profits running up to 40 per cent or more.

When the need for high explosives ends, the plant and machinery will be worthless. All industry asks is the right to recover the cost of the plant and machinery while they are useful.

In short, the bad word "amortization" means simply "recovery of costs" and it does not, as John Lewis says, mean "immunity from proper taxation."

A man who is trying to do a job was never encouraged by snipers. Industry has enough to do without having to defend itself against such baseless charges as these, say many national-defense minded in Washington.

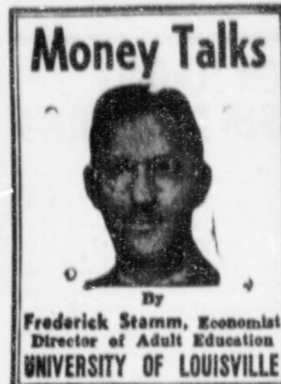

It is whispered privately in dark places that there is a reason behind all this attack. The American people, it is said, have been led to believe that the skies soon will be swarming with 50,000 airplanes. But it will be months if not years before there are that many.

When the people become aware of the facts, it is said, they will wonder whose fault it is. The backers of the new assault hope industry will be blamed.

Incidentally, there are enough facturers are granted an 8 per cent profit on their government business, farmers should be assured an 8 per cent profit on theirs.

The truth is, of course, that manufacturers are not "guaranteed" an 8 per cent profit. They are told that if they make more than 8 per cent the money will be taken away from them.

The tobacco auctioneer's chants were heard last week in the flue-cured markets of Florida and Georgia. The prospects for high prices were clouded because of a good crop (estimated at 675,000,000 pounds), a large carry-over from last year, and a very poor export outlook.

One of the principal reasons for the large increase in domestic stocks is the sharp drop in British purchases. Exports to the United Kingdom during the past year totaled only 97,000,000 pounds as compared with normal exports of around 200,000,000 pounds. The British Government, in order to conserve its purchasing power in the U. S., has placed a virtual embargo on this product. Great Britain needs wheat, corn and meat products to feed her people and tanks, airplanes, and munitions of all kinds rather than amounts of tobacco.

The British blockade is also hurting the export of tobacco to other European nations. This is indicated by the drop in exports to these nations from 362,000,000 pounds in 1938 to 252,000,000 pounds in 1939.

American stocks of flue-cured tobacco on July 1 were estimated at around one and a half billion pounds. The British tobacco manufacturers had an option on 161,881,000 pounds held by the Commodity Credit Corporation. So you see the British should supply all their needs without purchasing one pound of this year's crop.

Growers of flue-cured tobacco should be heartened to hear that the Commodity Credit Corporation is establishing a loan and purchase program for the 1940 crop. It is their intention to stabilize the price around last year's average of 15c a pound. This will temporarily relieve the situation. But the only hope for stability over a long period of time is the opening up of world markets to the American tobacco farmer.

Every community regardless of its size, should have a thorough accident investigation system in its enforcement agency—preferably in the police department.

Proper regulation of local traffic can be accomplished only when we know where the accidents occur and what hazard exist. Effective traffic regulation follows good accident investigation and accident reporting.

If an unusually large number of accidents occurs at a certain corner in any community, a study should be made to learn the exact causes of accidents, and such measures as the erection of stop and go signals or of arterial warning signs should be taken to eliminate them.

Avoid undue physical exertion.

THERE lives in a certain western city a gentleman who wears the emphonic name of Mr. Cave-Brown-Cave. Whosoever addresses him formally is expected to use the full name and both the hyphens. On one occasion, when he found himself in another city, he took steps temporarily to engage a valet whose name was Home.

When master and man met for the first time Home addressed his employer as "Mr. Cave." "For your information, Home," coldly responded the new boss, "my name is Cave-Brown-Cave, by which I prefer to be addressed." "And mine," retorted the valet, "is Home-Sweet-Home." (American News Features, Inc.)

Kentucky State Fair Opens September 7

A show within a show, within a show, within a show, is the way Gertrude Stein would say it. And that is exactly what the flower show at the Kentucky State Fair, to be held from September 7th through the 14th, will be.

On Sunday, September 7th, there will be one of the largest and most gorgeous Dahlia Shows ever to be seen at the fair. This will be a preliminary to the National Midwest Show to be held later. In addition here will be a cut flower display and the Kentucky Nurserymen will exhibit additional plants and flowers. This complete show will be terminated on Monday night and on Tuesday the Garden Clubs of Kentucky will sponsor additional displays.

On Thursday the Dahlia Sweepstakes will be held. These flowers will come from fifteen of the Southern States, flower show officials pointed out. This is a show no dahlia lover should miss.

Another of the features of the plant and flower exhibit this year will be the displays by the Homemakers of Kentucky under the direction of officials of the University of Kentucky, and, according to advance entries, the flower show at the fair this year will be the largest ever to be held.

But of course the flower show is only one of the many Sunday features in the new great State Fair. There will be an exciting exhibition of thrill and danger by Flash Williams and his gang of death defying auto drivers at the race track. There will be an all-day dog show, which will be in the 400 class, and at night, the Flying X Rodeo will present a rip-roaring wild western rodeo that you will remember for years to come. The new Midway will have a hundred new rides, shows and other attractions and Ted Fio Rito and his stage, screen and radio orchestra will play for outdoor dancing, just to mention a few of the many attractions in store for the visitor at the State Fair this year.

REA ALLOTS $1,250,000 TO TENN. FOR ELECTRIFICATION

Over 7,000 Rural Homes To Get Current By Projects Now Underway

The Rural Electrification Administration has made allotments totaling $1,250,000 in Tennessee since July 1, 1940, for the purpose of extending rural electric service to agricultural areas, according to M. M. Johns, U-T Agricultural Extension Rural Electrification engineer.

Four separate allotments have been received as follows: Holston River, Electric Cooperative, serving Hawkins and Hamblen counties, $440,000 to acquire and build 310 miles of rural electric line to serve 2,905 members; Appalachian Electric Cooperative, $519,000 to acquire and build 320 miles of rural electric line to serve 2,507 consumers; Loudon county Electric Membership Cooperative $225,000 to build 226 miles of line to serve 1,301 members in Blount, Loudon, Monroe, Roane and McMinn counties; and Carroll County Electric Cooperative, $66,000 to build sixty miles of rural electric line to serve 386 farm consumers.

The REA has agreed to spend six million dollars in Tennessee for rural electrification development during the present fiscal year, Johns says. This will mean that around 32,000 additional farms will receive electricity during the coming year. At the present time, only about 35,000 or 13 percent of the 273,000 farms in the State have service. The National average is one out of every 4 homes or 25 percent.

Surveys will be conducted in every county in the State under the guidance of the Tennessee Agricultural Extension Service and REA, with the TVA cooperating. Johns urges every farmer in Tennessee who is interested in receiving electricity to contact his county agent at once and file his name for service.

SILO SIMPKINS SAYS

Treat your land right—seed cover crops now.

Cutting waste to the minimum is an aid to maximum profits.

An acre of top soil at home is worth millions in the river.

Quality crops, soil conservation, and fertility maintenance are the basis of a stable and prosperous agriculture.

Seven thousand rural homes in Tennessee will get electricity from rural lines which have recently been authorized.

Over-cropping beyond market demand not only wastes labor and exhaust soil fertility, but adds to the woe of ruinous prices.

Close - growing, green - manure crops in the rotation add organic matter to the soil, which increases its power to retain moisture and decreases soil losses.

Seventy-two thousand rural boys and girls in Tennessee are enrolled in 4-H clubs to study better farm and home practices under the supervision of county farm and home agents.

Poultry not only provides food for the family, but is a source of cash income on many successful farms. Proper housing is an important step to poultry profits. If you need a better house, ask your county agent for a copy of Publication 132, "The Tennessee Poultry House," or write the U-T Agricultural Extension Service, Knoxville.

Squirrel Season

Now that the squirrel season is in full swing, reports drifting into the Division of Game and Fish offices here indicate that squirrels are plentiful only where plenty of food is to be found. Large numbers of the hunters have reported taking the limit (6 squirrels per day).

Word was received recently by Major James Brown, Director of the Division of Game and Fish, from the Department of the Interior, Washington, D. C., that there would be no change in the dove season for Kentucky this year. That means that the DOVE season will open on September 1 and close October 31. With the squirrel season open now, the dove season opening September 1, the migratory waterfowl season opening on October 16 and closing December 14 and the quail and rabbit season opening November 24 and ending January 9, the hunters in Kentucky will have a continuous variety of game to hunt from now until January 9, 1941.

The daily bag limit on doves is 12 with the possession limit lowered to one day's bag limit or 12. The shooting hours on the dove are from sunrise to sunset.

Charles H. Green and his son, farmers of Leicester, England, were fined $80 for not plowing two fields.

Hugh Smith Dies Sunday In Union City

Hugh Smith, 66, owner of the Fulton Coca-Cola Bottling Company, died Sunday afternoon at his home in Union City after a long illness. Mr. Smith had been in ill health for the past few years, but was able to continue in active management of his business until a few weeks ago when he became ill. Funeral services were conducted Monday afternoon, St. James Episcopal church in Union City by the pastor, Rev. George W. Goodson. Burial was in East View Cemetery, Union City.

Active pallbearers were the managers of his Coca-Cola bottling plants, Pete Pitzer, Union City; R. E. Sanford, Fulton; Truman Bondurant, Hickman; Bill Neal, Martin; R. E. Switzer, Dyersburg; and Bob Alexander, Union City.

Surviving Mr. Smith are his wife, Mrs. Laura Long Smith; one brother, R. L. Smith of Memphis; one sister, Mrs. J. E. Cowhig of Washington, D. C.; and several nieces and nephews.

Mr. Smith was born at La Grange, Ga., later moving to Meridian, Miss., where he lived for a number of years and was connected with a railroad. In 1910 he moved to Union City and bought the Coca-Cola manufacturing franchise for Union City, Martin, Dyersburg, Hickman and Fulton.

Mr. Smith was noted for his philanthropy, and his devotion to advancement of public and civic affairs. He was a member of the St. James Episcopal Church. He was a York and Scottish Rite Mason, a Shriner, an Elk, and was a member of the Union City Chamber of Commerce and Rotary Club.

ARMY RECRUITING

While the conscription bill is being debated in Congress, the Army is making an unusual drive for volunteer enlistments, including an innovation in the form of traveling recruiting offices. These are composed of a truck and trailer for each recruiting party, which moves from town to town seeking recruits.

The first of these parties began work in Georgia a few days ago, but a total of 18 is contemplated, making two recruiting offices on wheels for each of the nine army corps areas. Since the beginning of an intensive campaign for recruits on May 16, about 85,000 enlistments were obtained in the first three months, by far the largest percentage according to population coming from the South.

Enlistments made during this period were for three years, the pay for recruits being $21 a month, with food, lodging and clothing furnished by the government. In the matter of pay, the Army has been at a disadvantage in obtaining recruits, as Navy pay begins at $30, with better opportunities for advancement than are afforded enlisted soldiers. It is believed that a new law may place the military services on a more nearly equal footing with respect to pay.

There is no doubt, however, that some compulsory service plan will be adopted, as it must be if the national defense program is to be carried out as proposed.

CROSSING ACCIDENT FATALITIES INCREASE

The need for exercising increased care in approaching and passing over highway-railroad grade crossings is urged by the Safety Section of the Association of American Railroads.

In the first six months of 1940, according to reports received by the Safety Section, 884 persons lost their lives and 2,181 persons were injured in highway-railroad grade crossing accidents. This was the greatest number of fatalities in any corresponding period since 1931, in the first half of which there were 921 fatalities.

The total number of fatalities in the first six months of 1940 was an increase of 204 compared with the same period in 1939 and an increase of 188 compared with the same period in 1938.

Increases in railroad revenues, 1932 to 1939, were due to an increase in service performed, not to higher rates, because the average passenger revenue per mile in 1932 was 2.21¢ and in 1939 only 1.87¢, while freight revenues per ton-mile last year were .093¢ as against 1.04¢ in 1932.

Enough power to supply 100,000 average homes or a city of more than 400,000 population annually was used by the Illinois Central electric suburban service in Chicago last year.

P. K. Willson of Birkbeck, DeWitt County, Illinois, celebrated his 83rd birthday by shipping two carloads of steers to the Chicago market over the Illinois Central System, which railroad he has used as a livestock shipper for 52 years and to which he has paid more than $14,000 in freight charges.

Ralph Willard of Rochester, N. H., is serving a three-month sentence in the House of Correction because he "tickled the feet of a minor without her consent."

Amateurs Here's Your Chance For Radio Fame

A call has been issued for amateur musicians by the management of the Bisbee Tent Theatre, which comes to Fulton next Monday for three days, and anyone wishing to try out for radio performance should contact Mr. Bisbee.

In their search for amateur musicians and singers, arrangements have been made with this traveling theatre, for personal appearances and recordings.

These recordings are made on an electrical system, one record being given to each amateur artist, and one being sent to the broadcasting company. It may mean a good radio engagement for some one, so if you can play any instrument or sing, this is your opportunity for a try out.

Of the remnant of Confederate soldiers still living only a few are physically able to attend this year's reunion.

Information Wanted

About the year 1839 William Ellis and his wife, Joanna Ellis, moved from Aurora, Indiana to Hickman County, Kentucky, in that part which is now Fulton County. Land records indicate that they lived on the S. W. quarter of Sec. 8, Tsp. 1, Range 4 W. They probably brought with them a son, William Ellis Jr., son of a former wife of William Ellis, also a daughter, Caroline. In 1849 Caroline married Edward Douglas. In 1850 Douglas died. In 1851 the family moved to Texas and there Caroline married again. Descendants of William and Joanna are anxious to perfect their family tree, especially anxious to get any possible information about William's first wife, whose maiden name is supposed to have been Betsey Province.
