West Kentucky Finance Company

Now Located in the Old First National Bank Building.

The West Kentucky Finance Company, one of Fulton's strong finance corporations, is now comfortably located in the building formerly occupied by the First National Bank, Lake street, they having purchased the remaining assets of the First National Bank, which closed its doors last November.

The money that was paid by the West Kentucky Finance Company for the remaining assets of the closed bank is now in the hands of Ben Sneeden, receiver, who has been working for several months at the task of liquidating the affairs of the bank. Pending instructions from the Comptroller's office in Washington, as to the steps to take, Mr. Sneeden is unable at the present time to state just when the payments to depositors will begin. However, it is not believed that a very long period will elapse before payments are made.

Under the terms of the transaction the finance company becomes the owner of all the assets of the closed bank, including notes and real estate. In other words, the finance company now occupies the same position as the receiver did before the trade was made.

The new owners will at once begin the collection of outstanding notes. There is no intention of entering the banking business. The company will continue to finance the deferred payments on automobiles as before, and will handle the collection of outstanding notes along with the other business.

S. W. Adkins, who has been the general manager and secretary since the organization of the finance company in January, 1926, will continue in the same capacity, and will also continue with the Atkins Insurance Company in the same building. The finance company was capitalized at $50,000 at the beginning, but was increased to $100,000 in 1929. The officers, in addition to Mr. Atkins, are Ira Little, president; Arch Huddleston, vice-president; N. G. Cooke, treasurer. The directors, in addition to the above named men, are Joe Browder, R. H. Wade and Dr. J. C. Scruggs. There has been no change in the officers since the company was organized.

HUMPHREYS EXTENDS THANKS TO VOTERS

To the Democratic Voters of the First Senatorial District:

I am profoundly grateful to the Democratic men and women of the First Senatorial District for the loyal support which they gave me in the primary election last Saturday.

The majority I received was large and impressive, and I feel a deep sense of responsibility to the people of this District. I shall endeavor to the utmost of my ability to measure up to that responsibility by rendering to the people faithful, intelligent and efficient public service while I am a member of the State Senate.

I hope all Democrats throughout this District will forget any differences that may have arisen in the primary campaign and unite to give all Democratic nominees an overwhelming vote in the coming November election.

Again thanking one and all,

Gratefully yours,
ROBERT HUMPHREYS,
Democratic Nominee for State Senator.

Send the Advertiser to a friend one year—only $1.00.

THE SLOW DRIVER

Strange as it may appear, it will be generally conceded by Fulton motorists that the slow driver is as much a menace as the speedy driver on highways that are heavy with traffic. He has, and often exercises, the capacity of tying up traffic. He causes others to dart around his car, and in doing so takes the chances of accident. He delays everybody, is berated by all, and is plainly a common nuisance.

Don't understand this to be a plea for greater speed anywhere and everywhere. It is not. But when a driver can, without danger to himself or others, set such a sensible pace that he will not slow up the line and make it necessary for others going in the same direction to drive around him, then speed is advisable. It is the smart-aleck who seeks to pass everything on the road, regardless of curves, hills or cross-roads, that does the sort of speeding decent drivers despise and denounce.

There is a happy medium between "speeding" and "moping along." It is that which should govern driving on main-traveled roads. If one really avoided accidents by creeping along at a snail's pace, it would be justified. But they do not. In fact, there is far less danger in stepping the speed up a little, where the road is clear ahead, and thus avoid the line that is coming along behind. Practically all states realize this by making an average of 40 miles an hour a safe speed limit. But no road, no matter how smooth, is safe when a speed fiend insists on doing from 60 to 75 miles an hour. The only safe place then for sensible drivers is at home, and the only safe space for the speed fiend is in jail.

DEMONSTRATIONS

Chicken culling and canning demonstrations have been held in seven communities in Fulton county by H. E. Files, poultry specialist from the educational department of Swift & Co. and Miss Henning, Home Demonstration Agent, during the week August 2-8. Mr. Files culled other flocks during forenoon and helped individuals with their poultry problems. Almost 100 per cent of cases investigated where people had been losing chickens proved to be due to worms. Points on why and when to cull, a demonstration on culling and consideration of prevalent chicken diseases were considered by Mr. Files.

Suggestions and inexpensive formulas for getting rid of mites, lice and worms were given. This work is most practical just now, as it is time to cull out the unprofitable hens since they will not pay even though feed is unusually low this fall.

Demonstrations or discussions on chicken diseases were held at Ernest Carver's, McFadden, W. V. Little's, Crutchfield, J. T. Butler's, Boaz Chapel, Tom McMurray's, Jordan, C. L. Drysdale's, Palestine, Sassafras Ridge and Blue Pond school houses.

Fulton County Fair, Sept. 2-5

Catalogues Are Now Ready For Distribution.

The fair catalogue containing the premium list for the Fulton County Fair, September 2, 3, 4, 5, 1931, is now ready for distribution.

From all indications the fair this year promises to outclass all former events. Much work is being done on the grounds to make them inviting and attractive, and every effort will be made to royally entertain visitors who come.

One of the free attractions will be "Rita and Dunn," the world's premier aerialists, who have been acclaimed by both the press and the public to be the greatest, the most daring and the most spectacular high-wire act on exhibition today. Miss Rita is a very beautiful young lady, capable of giving thrilling gyrations, performing her aerial feats at a height of 122 feet high.

Another of the free attractions will be that of the Four Hamilton Troupe, premier athletes, who will feature the world's champion barrel jumper, leaper and acrobat performer, who will thrill everyone with his forward somersault thrown out of a barrel 20 feet high. They will also feature a buck-dance on a high pedestal only 16 inches square; will introduce a young lady who has surprising strength, ability and form, and show you a clown that's a real one and can make you laugh. There will also be many other acts well worth the price of admission to the fair grounds.

Each day at 4 o'clock there will be a balloon ascension by Prof. Walter Raub, America's most famous balloon stunt worker, whose services the fair association has been fortunate in securing. His stunts include five and six consecutive parachute leaps on one ascent. He carries up a number of parachutes with him and drops a distance of about 6,000 feet from one parachute at a time on his way to the earth. He also performs various acrobatic stunts from the balloon. "Cecilia and Frank" will thrill you, make you laugh and thoroughly keep you entertained for a period each day also.

The Madcoy-Fleming Carnival Shows have been secured for the 1931 fair, and they are some highly recommended as being one of the cleanest and most entertaining carnivals now in operation. This is their first appearance here, and they will open with the fair and close each night at midnight.

The races will be exceptionally good, in that the number of race horses to be entered will double the number heretofore entered.

The Fair Association is also featuring the different 4-H Clubs and many prizes will be awarded in this connection.

The splendid agricultural, dairy, farming implements, cattle, poultry and many other exhibits to be displayed will be of unusual interest this year and will prove invaluable to the farmer.

Always an interesting place is the Floral Hall, in charge of Mrs. Laura Browder, president of the Floral Hall department for eighteen years, and who has faithfully served the community each year, with her assistants, in her capable management of this hall. Mrs. Browder will announce that the booths will be very beautifully decorated and will contain such an abundance of good things to eat and see as will make your mouth water. In addition to prize jellies, fruits, cakes, pies, bread, vegetables, handwork, paintings, and the many other things exhibited in Floral Hall, there will be a new feature, that of the daily home-grown cut flower show in the hall each day.

Then the baby show will be held on Thursday at 1 o'clock, and there will be four prizes awarded, first and second for the boy baby, and first and second for the girl baby, all under one year old.

DELICIOUS PEACHES

The editor was the recipient of a nice basket of peaches this week from our friend, Hunter Whitesell. They were delicious for eating and unusually good for canning. He has an ad in today's paper quoting prices 50c and 75c per bushel.

Any observant person can tell you that the happiest small boy in this or any other community is usually the one with the dirtiest look on his face.

DRUM AND BUGLE CORPS CHOOSE THEIR OFFICERS

The Drum and Bugle Corps of the American Legion, Post No. 72, met in regular session last Friday night at the Chamber of Commerce and elected the following officers to serve for the years 1931-32: M. K. Chowing, president; Cecil Weatherspoon, vice-president and business manager; L. T. Bugg, secretary and treasurer; A. B. Roberts, drum major; R. T. Hamlett, head bugler; Dudley Meacham, head drummer.

They also voted to attend the Labor Day celebration at Paducah on Labor Day and participate in the parade and other activities of the day.

MRS. MURRAY PASSES AWAY

Mrs. Lily Murray passed away Sunday at 2:10 p. m., at her home in Riceville, aged 45 years. The funeral service was held Tuesday at 9 a. m., at her late home, conducted by Mr. Gattlefinger, of the Catholic church of Hickman, and burial followed in Palestine cemetery, in charge of the Fulton Undertaking Co.

The deceased is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Murray, one brother, T. L. Murray, one son and one daughter, and a host of friends. For many years she had lingered and suffered great pain, and everything for her relief and restoration to health, but all in vain, and her loved ones are bowed in grief over her departure.

DR. C. O. GINGLES PASSES AWAY

Another Fulton home was filled with sorrow this week when the sad news was received by Mr. Guy L. Gingles announcing the death of his brother, Dr. C. O. Gingles, which occurred Sunday, in the hospital at Cherokee, Okla.

The remains were shipped to Murray, Tuesday, and after funeral services were held, laid to rest in the family burying lot. Mr. and Mrs. Gingles met the family and corpse at Memphis and accompanied them to Murray.

A wide circle of friends sincerely sympathize with Mr. Gingles in the loss of his brother.

Brieflets

It doesn't take the average Fulton young man long to find out that two can live as cheaply as one, but soon gets tired of paying for it.

Whatever other sorrows Eve suffered, she was never taunted by Adam's reference to his mother's cooking.

When the second man appeared on earth his rights were cut in half. Now divide yours by the total population and that will explain everything.

President Hoover's proposal to suspend debt payments is nothing new. Some people around Fulton have been doing it for years.

It takes all kinds of people to make a world, but our part of the globe seems to be overstocked with some varieties.

The only way to convict a woman in a trial jury is to try her before she can get to a beauty parlor.

A lot of Fulton fathers are raising the deuce today because their boys are as bad as they were when they were boys.

Some folks borrow trouble just for the purpose of lending it to other people.

About all the average Fulton girl puts away for a rainy day now is a package of love letters.

If Al Capone is guilty of all the things that have been blamed on him, he's the fellow who struck Billy Patterson.

If the government keeps up its war on the gangsters it won't be long before the machine-gun manufacturers will begin feeling the depression.

Most any Fulton husband can have the last word if he will make it "Yes."

All of our taxation problems can be summed up in one little cry: "Tax the other fellow!"

It is now possible to broadcast a heart-beat, and maybe some day we will know if all these songs about broken hearts are just a lot of bunk.

The old-time Fulton boy who serenaded his girl with a guitar now has a son who serenades her with a motor horn.

Maybe what we really need in this country is to take the politician out of politics.

THE GREATEST VALUE EVER BUILT INTO A FORD CAR

The Beautiful
Ford Tudor Sedan

$490

(F. O. B. Detroit, plus freight and delivery.
Bumpers and spare tire extra at low cost.)

WHEN you buy a Ford car today, you buy what is unquestionably the greatest value in the history of the Ford Motor Company. Never before has so much beauty, comfort, safety and performance been offered at such a low price.

The low price of the Ford is something to think about because it means an immediate saving of many dollars — always an important consideration. But far more significant than price alone is what you get for that price. When high quality is combined with low price, you may justly take pride in having found a most satisfactory purchase.

See the Ford — ride in it — learn something about the value that is built into every part. The more you know about it, the more certain you will be that it is the car for you. It is literally true that when you "get the facts you will get a Ford."

Piling Up

Does each year find you wishing and hoping for better things in the future—and regretting lack of accomplishment in the past?

There is one sure way to fill your horn of plenty to the brim with all the good things of life. It entails no sacrifice now. It merely means the forming of a good habit.

Save! That good old formula for success is as true now as when it helped build the fortunes of our pioneer railroad builders, manufacturers and promoters.

Applying it on a small scale in your own way will bring you results in proportion.

GETTING BUSINESS GLOOM BEHIND US

By ROME C. STEPHENSON
President American Bankers Association

R. C. STEPHENSON

THERE is such a thing as over-staying a depression just as there is of over-staying a boom. Over-confidence makes the great majority miss the turn in a boom, and under-confidence makes them miss it in a depression. A leading New York banker was asked recently when he could tell that a turn for the better had come. "About three months after it has happened," he candidly replied.

There is more significance in that remark than appears on the surface. As more and more manufacturers and business men realize that the turn has already come and that they are over-staying the time to adopt constructive policies, they begin cautiously to press their selling campaigns, to speed up their production, to enlarge their working forces and increase their commitments for supplies. It is the gathering weight of their influences that finally raises the pressure of confidence to the dynamic power of recovery.

The surest way to bring the nation out of the business depression is to raise the pressure of public confidence to the point of becoming such a dynamic force. It has invariably been the push of that force which has started recovery in the past, and it is the gathering power of this force which will start recovery from this present depression. It is a favorable sign of the times that there seems to be general agreement that the bottom of the depression has been reached and all eyes are peeled and looking ahead for the first indications that the turn for the better is in sight. Who knows but what the first thing we know we will find ourselves looking backward instead of forward as we realize that the turn has already come. It is a rough and rocky road that runs across the bottom of the valley of business depression, and most of us are too busy steering the old Ford from bump to bump to be able to take in all the scenery. So who knows but what some important changes in the landscape are already taking place.

BANKERS FAVOR GRADUAL CHANGE

National Commission Believes
Local Sentiment Should Govern
Evolution in Methods of Conducting Banking.

IF substantial changes are to be brought about in branch banking in the United States they should originate within the states rather than from Washington on inter-state lines as proposed in "trade areas" branch banking plans, a recent report of the Economic Policy Commission of the American Bankers Association declares. Such changes, it adds, "should develop by evolutionary rather than revolutionary stages."

"The extension of branch banking through state action would mean that states not now permitting state banks to have branches or else closely restricting them, would individually liberalize their laws as an expression of changing local desires and conditions, and this doubtless would insure a deliberate, evolutionary process," the report says. "The other method, that is, through Federal action, would mean a sweeping change for the country as a whole, for legislation granting branch banking powers to national banks in all states, regardless of local sentiment, would, of course, induce equivalent branch banking enactments in every state in the Union not now permitting or really wanting state banks to have branches, in order to keep them on a competitive equality."

Upholds State Privileges
"We find some bankers who feel that a proper stimulus to the development of branch banking would be given by the Federal Government taking the initiative through granting broader privileges within state lines to national banks than they now enjoy. It is argued that state governments could then follow suit as to state banks and that in this way a more progressive branch banking attitude might be promoted by the national banks taking the lead. While we do not deny that there may be some merit in this view as to some specific localities, we stand firm nevertheless on the principle that no such grant of powers to national banks should cross state lines, or exceed the privileges that state legislatures could and would grant to their state banks. "Moreover we believe that if the choice between these two possible courses of extending branch banking were put up to bankers they would be generally opposed to any forcible imposition of branch banking on the states through the medium of the national bank system. We believe it would be preferable for any change to come about through the more gradual and democratic method of the states granting their banks branch banking powers state by state where, if, and as local conditions and sentiment might be ready for a change."

Vitamins Are "It"

THE fact that canned foods retain a greater proportion of their vitamins than foods cooked in open containers and exposed to oxygen by the ordinary home methods has been fully demonstrated by many great scientists. But what are vitamins? Vitamins are "it"—that great and significant word first used in its modern meaning by the writer, Elmer Glynn.

"It" a Definite Thing
When you say that an actress or a reigning beauty has "it" you have paid her the highest compliment contained in our modern vocabulary. "It" is that which motivates and inspires. "It" is that without which there can be no growth, success or even life. There is nothing like "it," and there is no substitute for it.

"Vitamins," that scientist, Dr. E. F. Kohnman wrote recently, "are as real as sugar and salt. Although they have not yet been isolated in pure form, as is the case with sugar and salt, they are as undeniable as sunshine and fresh air. They are as definite to the chemist as if they could be held in the hand in a pure crystalline or other identifiable form."

In Case of Emergency

When you want a thing in a hurry you rush to a local store and get it. But do you realize that the existence of our stores depends upon continued business.

If every person in this community were to use the stores only for emergencies there would soon be no more places to satisfy those urgent needs.

You should do your part towards keeping local business alive and in a constant state of betterment by doing all your trading at home. It will be profitable to you as well as to the entire community.

He Kills Girl, Self, Wounds Rescuer

Sacramento, Calif.—As she ran screaming for help from a room, Dixie Brownson was shot to death in the Hotel Lindy here by A. Sanzol of Susanville, who then killed himself. Walter Goodwin, hotel porter, who was rescuing the woman's rescue when he heard her cries, was shot twice in the face and in the hand.

CHARM IS LUCKY, BUT LUCK IS BAD

Rabbit's Foot Spells Misfortune for Herman.

San Francisco.—If Herman Moore, twenty, ever erects a statue to symbolize the apothecosis of hard luck, it will be a stone rabbit's foot surmounted by a bow of erpe.

Two years ago a friend gave Moore a rabbit's foot for luck. The first day he carried it Moore's wife ran off with another man. Moore pursued the couple to Marysville, trounced his rival, and brought his rambling helpmate home again. Just for luck Moore gave the rabbit's foot another rub.

The day that happened his wife left home again, taking his money and most of his clothing. Disgusted with life, but still loyal to his rabbit's foot, Moore decided to become a robber. He dared pneumonia to sit in a damp alley and watch a crap game all evening through the crack in a window at 2525 Lincoln way. At midnight, when the pickings looked good, he gave his rabbit's foot a rub, stepped up and robbed John Denning, the winner of the game. The total loot proved to be just—$5.

Moore's wife's departure had left him suitless, and $5 was not enough to replace the loss. So—Moore stole a suit. He transferred the rabbit's foot to the pocket of the acquired clothing and stood for a moment at the corner of Fulton and La Playa streets trying to make up his mind what to do next. Just for luck—he rubbed the rabbit's foot.

Along came Mrs. A. A. Lynburner, 886 Fortieth avenue, recognized the suit as one that should have been in her closet, and called a policeman. With his hand still on the rabbit's foot, Moore denied that he was a thief. The policeman searched the pockets and found in one of them a letter addressed to Mrs. Lynburner, enclosing the case against Moore. He started Moore toward the city prison.

Just before they entered the hall of justice Moore took something out of his pocket, laid it carefully on the sidewalk and stamped on it. It was a rabbit's foot. He is now in jail charged with burglary, holdup and a number of other things, with his faith in women and rabbit's feet gone forever.

Drug Addict Doomed to Die for Brutal Murder

Hull, Quebec.—Austin Cassidy, drug addict and gunman, who at the age of twenty-eight had a police record 10 years long, will pay with his life for the murder of Bert Marshall, young Ottawa athlete.

Maintaining an air of sullen bravado, Cassidy spat contemptuously on the courtroom floor as Justice Loranger passed the death sentence. The bench remarked that Cassidy at least was being given time to repent for his crime, whereas Marshall had been hurled into eternity without a moment's warning.

"I am sorry," His Lordship commented. "The not," Cassidy snarled, interrupting him.

"So much the worse, my poor friend, if you are not," Justice Loranger resumed. "I pity you from the bottom of my heart."

Marshall was shot to death here some weeks ago after a trivial altercation following a collision between two motor cars. Cassidy served several prison terms, having first appeared in court when only twelve years of age. The jury before which he was tried returned a conviction after only 15 minutes' deliberation.

Mouse Puts Woman in Hospital With Injuries

Yakima, Wash.—"A mouse! It's going your way!"

A scream, a rattle of furniture, crash of glass, and Mrs. Fred Schell went to a hospital to have her wounds treated.

The trouble started when Pauline, Mrs. Schell's daughter, accidentally drove a mouse from its hiding place behind the kitchen stove. The animal dodged a lusty swing of a stove poker and headed straight for Mrs. Schell. She jumped from a low kitchen chair to the top of the table, which tipped and sent her crashing through the kitchen window. A badly cut arm resulted.

Laborer Walks Home

After Fall; Then Dies

Truro, England.—Marshall Yelland, forty-two-year-old laborer, fell 60 feet down a clay shaft, climbed 60 feet up a 90-foot ladder to the surface, walked a quarter of a mile home and died the next day. Yelland was working at the Goonvean china clay works near here when the accident occurred, but he refused all assistance, including an offer to be driven home, fearing it would alarm his wife.

EATING OUTDOORS

IF you have ever traded dry meat sandwiches with a genial Alpine guide over the hospitality of the Swiss hospice; if you have rested on the earthen stoop of a white-washed cottage somewhere in Ireland and eaten bread and tea; lingered over a French dinner "au Bois" with artichokes served in hot butter sauce and a wine of ancient vintage; or put away "hot dogs," say, at the old county fair—we needn't waste a paragraph on the luxury of eating outdoors.

It's altogether "what to do." The next question, then, is—how to do it. Foods for outdoor refreshment differ widely according to the occasion. There are motor trips, picnics, hikes, camping, porch lunches, garden parties and so on. Thus there are correct foods for each occasion. For one would as soon wear khaki knickerbockers to a garden party, as to take chilled gelatin salad on a hike.

Foods That "Belong"

Here is a brief classification. Welcome foods for a motor trip are compactly-packed sandwiches, package cakes, thermos jars of fruit juice; on a picnic, generously cut sandwiches, covered jars of delicious salads, fruits, fruit juices, deviled eggs and delicious cakes; for hikes and camping, ready-sliced loaves of bread, sandwich spreads, bacon and frankfurters to broil, and fruit juices; for porch lunches and garden parties, open-faced sandwiches or canapés, hors d'oeuvres, fruit cocktails, chilled salads, delicious cakes and after-dinner candies. Incidentally, here is a new stunt for hikers who like to cook on a tin can stove. Did you ever hear of one? A No. 3 tin can will make a sufficiently large stove, or you can use a lard bucket. Cut a four-inch square out of the side at the upper edge. Near the bottom, on the opposite side cut another square hole, one and one-half inches. Turn the can upside down on the ground and build a fire in it. The large opening is used for refueling and the smoke comes out of the little hole. The top of the stand becomes hot for frying bacon, eggs, pancakes, or to set a saucepan on.

Some "Outdoor" Recipes

A Motor Trip Sandwich—Piquant Ham Sandwich: Spread between buttered bread the contents of a small can of deviled ham, one teaspoon chopped mustard pickles, one tablespoon chopped walnuts and one tablespoon mayonnaise.

A Picnic Fruit Punch—Coffee Punch: Mix one cup strong coffee, one cup orange juice and one cup grapefruit juice (reserve the fruit for salads). Add one cup maple syrup and chill. Just before serving add one quart of gingerale and two cups of heavy cream, if desired. The cream may be omitted. This makes almost three quarts of punch.

VILLAGE GRIPPED BY TERROR AFTER BRUTAL HANGINGS

Maniac Reported at Large
After Third Person Gets Death Threat.

Smithville, Ontario.—A reign of terror has gripped this village and the surrounding countryside, following two mysterious deaths by hanging within three weeks, and the consequent rumor that a homicidal maniac may be at large in the district.

The two victims are Albert Limburner, a middle-aged farmer, and Percy Royal Grant, twelve, adopted son of Mr. and Mrs. James Lampman. Both were found hanging from trees, only a short distance apart; and in each case the noose about the throat was tied in the same, peculiar knot.

Limburner's death was set down as suicide, but doubt was cast on this theory when Percy Grant met a similar fate. No possible motive for "suicide" could be assigned in the boy's case and moreover, police say that it would have been almost impossible for him to climb the tree from which he was found hanging, unassisted.

He Was Found Hanging.

Boy's Life Threatened.

The wave of terror is intensified by a threat of death, said to have been made over the telephone to John Czick, fifteen, the night of Percy Grant's death.

After the boy had been reported missing for several hours, Czick telephoned police to say that during the afternoon he had heard a rifle or revolver shot, followed by a scream. Later in the evening, Czick declares he was summoned to the telephone, over which a gruff voice announced:

"I heard everything you said, and you'll be the next."

James Lampman, foster father of the boy, declares himself certain that Percy was murdered and has pledged himself to spend his last cent, if necessary, to unravel the mystery.

"He had the happiest, sunniest disposition possible," Lampman declares. "Suicide is a thing he would never have thought of. And he could not have tied such a knot as formed that noose. And he couldn't have climbed the tree alone. It was a giant pine, and a provincial constable and I tried to climb it, but neither of us could, without assistance."

Boy's Neck Broken.

Police state that the boy's neck was broken, indicating that he had fallen a considerable distance, and had not been strangled to death. There were no wounds or other marks of violence on his body, but police believe that the shot John Czick heard might have been fired by the slayer in order to terrify the boy and to prevent him from fleeing.

Police are still investigating the two cases, as well as the threat supposedly made to Czick; and in the meantime, farm houses through that district are closely guarded at night against further ravages by a homicidal marauder.

Baby Swallows Spool; Breathes Through Hole

Bottineau, N. D.—Another use has been found for the hole in a spool. Besides allowing the spool to turn when on a sewing machine, the hole can admit air to a baby's lungs when swallowed.

Five-month-old Baby Ryan proved this when he swallowed a spool this week. For several hours until the baby was brought here from his father's farm he was able to breathe through the hole in the spool. He recovered.

A Modern Problem

It was Jonathan Swift who commended so highly the man who "could make two blades of corn grow where only one grew before," saying that he "would deserve better of mankind, and do himself more essential service to his country, than the whole race of politicians put together."

If that writer were commenting on corn in modern times, he would have to change his saying. There is plenty of corn for everyone now, and the problem has become one of selection—how to supply everyone with the best corn, the kind of corn they like.

A Modern Solution

This problem has been solved in the modern manner by means of science and machinery. First, manufacturers made all the corn anyone wants available at any time by means of canning it in the familiar cream style, and now they are making equally widely available the new whole-kernel canned corn, which you can't distinguish in taste or appearance from fresh corn on the cob.

Here is a recipe for the use of these big meaty kernels that is delicious:

Corn and Walnut Loaf: Drain one No. 2 can of whole grain corn and run through food chopper. Add one-half cup chopped walnuts (vacuum packed walnuts are always available in cans), two beaten eggs, one-half cup milk and one-half cup crumbs. Season with salt and pepper. Pour into a buttered baking dish and bake for forty-five minutes in a moderate 375° oven. Serve with tomato sauce. Serves four or five.

Better Breakfasts

PERHAPS you are particularly so—early in the morning. And possibly you are a bit proud of being difficult to please.

You would like to breakfast at an interesting table, cheerful with sunshine and flowers, and have placed before you berries from your own, or neighboring bushes, grilled fish from far Norway or the blue Pacific, preserves of quince such as delighted ancient Greek and Roman emperors.

Not so difficult. Nor do you demand too much, in this age of convenience. There are new and inexpensive table linens of rough weave for breakfast settings. Choose one of sunny quality which gives a mellow charm to the table; and place your bowl of flowers or compote of fruit at one side of the table, instead of in the center, for a change.

Foods from far and near have come in your market-basket, and they are at their best in this dietetic and delightful menu:

Ready-to-Eat Cereal With Fresh
Red Raspberries
Grilled Sardines
Toast
Hot Beverage

Grilled Sardines: Sauté the contents of two 3½-ounce cans of sardines gently in their own oil. Spread six slices of toast very thinly with prepared mustard. Lay on the sardines and garnish with slices of lemon. This serves six persons.

THE MACHINE AGE APPLIED TO CRIME

Methods Employed by Criminals Demand New Police Methods, Bankers Association Official Declares.

USE by criminals of modern technological developments such as automobiles, machine guns and airplanes have given them advantages which old-fashioned local and disconnected police systems are powerless to combat and the situation demands the broader modern protection of State police systems, James E. Baum, deputy manager American Bankers Association in charge of its crime investigating department, declares in the protective section of the American Bankers Association Journal.

"The Association's Protective Committee has repeatedly urged the advantages of extending state police systems beyond the nine eastern States which have enjoyed this protection for many years," Mr. Baum says. "The time has passed when we can safely rely upon the disconnected and often-times ineffective methods of local and county police. The advent of automobiles and better roads, to say nothing of machine guns and airplanes, demands the same wide latitude in authority and field of operation be given the police no less than the criminal."

Statewide Police Plans Best He quotes a Kansas judge as saying that "our system of sheriffs and constables was not designed to meet present-day conditions. As a system of law enforcement, it is as out of date as old common-law pleading, both evolved about the same time. The semi-military, highly trained State police officer owing allegiance only to State laws, is the most effective agency for order yet brought forth."

"Every year the robbery experience of banks in the nine States having State police proves the merits and urgent need of State-wide police protection," says Mr. Baum. "Last year, for example, there were 38 bank holdups in Connecticut, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island and West Virginia where State police forces are operated," he continues. "Although this total is exceptionally high due to an unprecedented number of robberies in New Jersey and Pennsylvania, it is little more than half the number of daylight bank robberies suffered in 1930 in Illinois alone. Furthermore, this total of 38 robberies in the nine eastern States was exceeded in California, where there were 42 bank holdups, and in Ohio where banks suffered 40 similar attacks."

Holdups Fewer Under New Plan "If we extend the comparison of the robbery experience in these States enjoying State-wide police protection to the record in eight central and far western States, we find a total of 304 bank holdups in the latter group. The odds, therefore, continue to be not less than 8 to 1 against the banks in these western States, where they are denied the speedy, coordinated action of State police and their modern means of transportation and communication. The same comparison holds true of the farmers' losses through robberies of livestock, poultry, produce, etc."

Moreover, these State police forces invariably yield an operating profit in the amount of fines collected and the value of stolen property recovered. Bankers interested in cutting down the cost of robbery insurance might well consider this job of extending State police systems as a timely, co-operative service to be undertaken alongside the farmers."

BANK EMPLOYEES SENT TO SCHOOL

Modern Scientific Financial and Management Methods Taught Throughout Country.

THE American Institute of Banking Section of the American Bankers Association conducts 223 chapters, or local banking schools in as many cities throughout the country. One large city chapter has almost 6,000 students, who are combining formal theoretical and practical banking studies with their daily working experience and other places have these schools with a thousand to two thousand students. In addition there are fifty study groups in small communities with some 6,000 enrollments. All told over 42,000 bank people are taking these courses—not only clerks, but junior officers and even senior officers in some of the more advanced work.

The work of the institute has been declared to be "a dynamic economic force, pouring into banking a broadening, deepening stream of better qualified bankers than could be developed merely by the daily workings of banking itself," and it has been suggested that every bank worker should be compelled to combine institute courses with his work. A good many banks now make it a part of the contract of employment that an employee shall undertake to render himself proficient and trustworthy in banking by taking institute work and others make successful progress in this educational aspect of banking a pre-requisite to promotion. Plans are being developed to make the benefits of banking education through this organization more generally available in the rural districts.

BANDIT ESCAPES GUNFIRE BY DIVE INTO A CHIMNEY

Wedge in Smoky Chute, Firemen Wreck Wall to Get Fugitive Out.

Chicago.—By the time this tale is told there should be no doubt as to how the pork chops of Mrs. Jessie Burkes, browned goldenly in the skillet were—as she put it—"Jes' absolutely ruined."

And while it is true that about two dozen pistol shots figured in the "ruination" and that the police and fire departments certainly did their duty, there seems to have been something like inspiration in Mrs. Burke's own explanation—more meaningful than she realized—that "a whole lot of smoke coming down the chimney" was the main cause of her misfortune.

Held Up Detective. At about the time Mrs. Burkes, in her kitchen at 1238 W. Fourteenth street, was turning her chops for the first time, Detective Kenneth Ehey, in front of 1244 W. Fourteenth street, saw two dusky bandits attempt to hold up his partner, Detective Edward Hazzard, a few paces ahead of him.

So Detective Ehey laughed heartily and fired a couple of shots over the bandits' heads. They fled in opposite directions, Hazzard pursuing one, Ehey the other.

Hazzard chased his man about two blocks, firing now and then, until the fugitive yelled a proposition.

"If you-all quits shootin' I'll quit runnin'," he offered.

"Sold," said Hazzard, who was running short of ammunition.

So he took his prisoner, who gave the name of Mitchell Washington Hamilton, and then joined Ehey in the chase of the other. Hamilton volunteered to show the way.

"I'll take you gents right to his door," said Hamilton. And he led them to a flat at 1230 W. Fourteenth street, with the card pinned on it reading, "Mr. Charles Benjamin Jones."

Dives Through Window. Ehey smashed the door.

Inside was Mr. Jones, stripped to the waist, searching himself for bullet holes, using two mirrors. Mr. Jones, went through the window head first—although the window was not open.

He then went through a maze of corridors and stairways to the roof, across other roofs, to the roof of the building where Mrs. Burkes—and now we're getting back to the pork chops—was turning them again.

Mr. Jones, urged on by bullets from the rear, and perhaps lured ahead by the aroma of pork chops, went down the chimney head foremost as far as possible.

Of course that cut off the draft and spoiled the chops and Mrs. Burkes screamed her famous theory about "a whole lot of smoke."

"Never mind, lady," said Ehey. "We'll pull him out."

However, it was the fire department that did that—first tearing out a sufficient amount of masonry.

"I'm shot in three places an' I'm dyin'," Mr. Jones stated.

But he was wrong twice.

Tiger Whips Python in Terrific Jungle Fight

Bombay.—Kings of their kind, tigers and pythons rarely do battle, but when they do it's a good one.

Such a titanic encounter occurred at Johore recently. When the teller of the tale arrived on the scene he found a huge python, just killed, on the edge of a clearing. The ground was beaten flat, while the tiger's fur was every where.

The snake measured 28 feet 9 inches and the skin was disfigured all over by the marks of tiger claws. Its body was left where it lay, but later the tiger dragged it some 200 yards into the jungle and ate half of it.

CONVICT WAR HERO WINS HIS FREEDOM*Army Record Gains a Parole From Governor.

Montgomery, Ala.—Sam Keith, convicted slayer, who escaped prison to join the army, fought overseas in the World War and returned as a captain has gone home to Carrabelle, Fla. with a parole in his pocket.

He was convicted of the slaying in Geneva county, Alabama, in 1912 and drew a sentence of 25 years imprisonment. He escaped from the state penitentiary in 1917, about the time the United States declared war on Germany, and enlisted in the army as a private.

Distinguished service at the front brought him promotion from the ranks to a captaincy.

After the war he went to Carrabelle, went into business and married. Fellow townsmen held him in high regard.

In the summer of 1925 he was recognized as an escaped convict and was returned to the Alabama prison.

Gov. Bibb Graves issued the parole after studying Keith's war record and nature of testimony on which he was convicted.

Keith always maintained he was innocent. Records of his trial disclosed he and two other men were serving as judges at a high school debate. They retired to an anteroom to make their decision. A shot was heard in the room soon after they entered it and the crowd that surged in found one of the judges fatally wounded.

Keith claimed a pistol dropped from the man's pocket, struck the floor and was fired, sending a bullet into his body.

Dog Dies Bringing Aid to Drunk Lying in Alley

Winchester, Va.—Yelping and pawing at his master's door in a cold drizzling rain, a fox terrier attracted the attention of his owner and several other men and led them to an intoxicated man he had found lying in a muddy alley some distance away.

The man was carried to a nearby house, refreshed with hot coffee and a warming fire and saved. However, fate was not so kind to the little dog for in a short time he dropped dead from the effects of exposure and prolonged watching and crying for some one to aid the stranger who was down and out.

The story was related by Walter E. Hunsberry, prominent business man who said his dog Trixie yelped, barked and pawed so incessantly at the door of his home about 3 a. m. that he finally got up to investigate. Leading his master through the backyard to the alley, the terrier disclosed the cause of his apparent worry.

Mr. Hunsberry, with the aid of neighbors, took the man to a nearby building, where he was revived and put to bed, after his mud and rain-soaked clothing had been removed.

Trixie, shivering from cold and drenched with rain, tripped along lightly with his master to the Hunsberry home and lay down as if to rest. A moment later he gasped and expired just as his master was praising him.

Modern David Kills*Man in Store Holdup

Seattle, Wash.—Irving Staab, seventeen, high school student, assumed the role of a modern David here recently and killed an alleged grocery store bandit. Staab and two friends entered the grocery store while a hold-up was in progress. They ran into the street and picked up stones. When the bandit emerged, Staab threw his stones with such accuracy that one struck Dan Bunker in the forehead. Bunker's two companions escaped.

Flaming Jack Rabbit*Starts Fire in Grain

Santa Barbara, Calif.—A stiff breeze and a flaming jack rabbit combined to spread a fire near here recently that destroyed 600 acres of wheat before it was put out.

A jack rabbit was trapped in some burning brush. The frightened animal ran into a nearby grain field with its fur on fire. The rabbit rolled in the dry grain in an effort to extinguish the flames and ignited the grain. The wind fanned the fire until 600 acres of grain and brush land was burned.

Lesson for August 16

SOWING AND REAPING
(Temperance Lesson.)

LESSON TEXT—Galatians 6:1-10.
GOLDEN TEXT—He that sows to himself shall also reap.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Obeying the Law.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Obeying the Law.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Sowing and Reaping (Effects of Alcohol).

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Sowing and Reaping (Effects of Alcohol).

In chapters three and four Paul presented in a masterful way the heart of Christianity; namely, that justification is by faith in the atoning work of Christ rather than by the works of the law. In chapters five and six he made practical application of the doctrine to the affairs of life. Gracious justification by faith is the dynamic for right living. Those who are freely justified in Christ will manifest the fact by the following conduct:

I. Restore the Sinning Brother (v. 1).

1. Who he is. "The one overtaken in a fault." The idea expressed by the word "fault" is not to minimize the sin, but to show the suddenness of the temptation. One's spirituality is shown by his willingness to help in such a case.

2. What is to be done. He is to be "restored." Restore is a surgical term which means the placing back of a dislocated member to its normal place. Christians are members of the body of Christ. Therefore, the sinning of a brother should as really give us pain as the dislocation of a member of our body.

3. How it is to be done. "In a spirit of meekness." Harshness has no place in the life of a Christian. The fruit of the Spirit is love, meekness, etc. The believer must show his right to claim the life in the heavens by stooping down to help the brother crippled and beset in the dirt of earth.

4. The incentive. "Lest thou also be tempted." No one is immune from temptation. The surest way to be fortified against temptation is to go sympathetically to the rescue of the fallen.

II. Bear One Another's Burdens (v. 2).

Many are the burdens of life: burdens of weakness, temptations of a fallen nature, sorrow, suffering, and sin. Some have more temptations than others. Since believers are inseparably bound together, the strong should bear the infirmities of the weak. Christ is the supreme burden bearer. When we bear one another's burdens, we fulfill the law of Christ. Many have inherited the appetite for intoxicating liquors, and the spirit of burden bearing will move us to make our utmost endeavor to remove far away the temptation to strong drink.

III. Bear Our Own Burdens (vv. 3-5).

There are burdens which can be borne alone by the individual. Personal responsibility cannot be escaped. In a most real sense every man lives his life alone. Helpful as is sympathy, human and divine, greatly as we need the helping hand of our brother, the individual must live his own life. The law of God which is in harmony with the law which controls the individual declares, "The soul that sinneth it shall die."

IV. Support Teachers of God's Word (vv. 6-8).

It is incumbent upon those who are taught in God's Word to give of their means for the support of the teacher. To repudiate this obligation is to mock God (v. 7), for God has ordained that they who preach the gospel shall live of the gospel (1 Cor. 9:14). The declaration, "Whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap," sets forth a law which operates in all spheres of life.

V. Be Earnest in Well Doing (v. 9).

The harvest is sure. Sow good seed and patiently wait for the reward. The same unfailing law which eventuates in a harvest of corruption to those who sow to the flesh will bring life everlasting to those who sow to the Spirit.

VI. Work for the Good of All Men (v. 10).

The believer in Christ who realizes his freedom will have sympathies and interests as wide as the race. While especially endeavoring to help those in sin, he will be reaching out to all men. He will be seeking to win them to Christ. This obligation to work for the good of all men applies in such matters as the abolition of the manufacture and sale of alcoholic beverages.

The Righteous

The righteous are as trees of life; the fruits of their piety and charity, their instructions, reproofs, examples, and prayers, their interest in heaven and their influence on earth are like the fruits of that tree, precious and useful, contributing to the support and nourishment of the spiritual life in many.—Matthew Henry.

When Learning Is Useful
Education is useful, but if it ignores God it is destructive.—Babson.

Frozen Salmon and Celery: Soften one tablespoon gelatin in four tablespoons cold water, dissolve over boiling water and add two tablespoons vinegar, one-half teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon paprika, one cup diced celery and one cup diced green pepper. Carefully fork in the contents of one tall can of salmon, pack in the refrigerator tray or in a fish mold, and let chill for two hours. Do not freeze too long, or the celery will freeze solid.

HIGH COST OF WAR

The United States sank $70,000,000 in the Nitro, W. Va., product during wartimes. This war baby was expected to do wonders in winning the war, but the armistice came too soon to permit it accomplishing what was intended. The project immediately became a liability, and recently the entire plant was sold to a private corporation for $250,000. For this sum it obtained houses, industrial buildings and everything going to make a small city. At the fall of the auctioneer's hammer the American people lost $69,750,000. Possibly they are well rid of the outfit even at that price. But it certainly goes to show the waste and extravagance, the folly and futility of war. It is almost inconceivable that civilized people, after the experience of the European war, ever again will resort to armed might and brute strength to settle quarrels. But they probably will.

Dad needs a Vacation, too...

Mother is busy planning her vacation—the children's holidays must be decided upon—but how can dad get away from business? If there was some way he could keep in touch with the office for a few minutes each day, he, too, could enjoy a well-earned rest.

The answer is the telephone, which gives quick and inexpensive voice contact with the office wherever you choose to go. By arranging to call the office at a particular time, you may be sure your manager pro tem will be at the telephone to report the day's activities and receive instructions. This enables you to use cheaper Station-to-Station service without risk of not finding your manager in.

Join mother and the children in having a holiday this summer, while dependable telephone service enables you to keep informed about your business or to call your friends at home. The operator wherever you go will gladly tell you about the cost of calls to your office—just ask for "Long Distance."
