THE LISTENING POST

"You may break, you may shatter
The vase if you will;
But the scent of the rose
Will hang round it still."

● I am frequently reminded of this vase whenever I happen to pay a visit to the Illinois Central passenger station. Not, let me add hastily, that there is any odor of roses about it. No, on the contrary, there is no such odor, no such pleasant appeal to the eye. The reason I think of that vase is because the Illinois Central recently repainted the old hulk and made some other needed improvements. However, with all the repainting, with all the improvements, it is still the old passenger station; the same old hulk which is but a memory of bygone glories, the same old inadequate building for the traveling public; still a reflection on a great railroad system which has always been progressive in its policies, and which is failing lamentably in being progressive in this case.

● In past months I have crusaded vainly for a better passenger station. I tried to interest the various civic organizations in this crusade, and I still believe that if such united demands could be made on the Illinois Central we could get some results. Alone I am but a voice crying in the wilderness, and as long as I lift my voice, or my typewriter, alone, the railroad officials will laugh gaily in their beards and do nothing whatever. That much I know. But I am somewhat of a stubborn cuss, and every once in so often I am going to lift my voice and my typewriter in this request and demand for something better in the way of a passenger station.

● I would not deny that recent improvements add something to the building. I still hold, however, that little is done which will really meet the need. That old building needs to be rebuilt almost from the ground up, and in fact, it would be economy for the railroad company to erect a new and modern brick structure there. Patching that old building is merely throwing money away. Without a complete overhaul job it will never be comfortable or convenient for the traveling public, and as long as the Illinois Central continues to care for its customers with such stations so long will the road fall to do much to attract and retain passengers for its trains. The bus company has a better station at almost every place than the local station. Fulton, which has no station at all yet has better accommodations for bus passengers than does the Illinois Central.

● A few months ago local officials gave me a story about the vast improvements that were being made and planned for the station. Well, I held my fire for a time and gave the boys a chance to really improve the place. I did not believe then that much was going to be done, and my expectations were realized. Some improve-

CONGRESS OPPOSES PUBLIC BOND TAX

All Federal Bonds Would Be Subject To Tax

Washington. —A Treasury suggestion for elimination of the present tax exemptions on many federal, state and municipal bonds aroused strong opposition in Congress today.

In search of the $9,000,000,000 in new revenues which President Roosevelt's budget message called for, Treasury experts were reported to have told congressional leaders at a conference recently that from $300,000,000 to $400,000,000 could be added to annual receipts by making all government bonds subject to immediate taxation, regardless of their date of issue.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), a member of the Senate finance committee, said he had heard of this proposal and felt that there was strong opposition to it within the committee that it was unlikely ever to win approval.

"I don't see how it could be done," he told reporters. "It certainly would be unfair to the persons who had purchased the bonds in good faith, believing that they were tax exempt. Of course, if the Treasury wanted to make future issues of bonds taxable, that could be done, but it wouldn't raise very much money for the next three or four years."

Washington. —Plans for mobilizing a powerful Army of 3,600,000—just as a starter—promised victories to come today while on the actual fighting fronts, a great Japanese liner and two Jap bombing planes were smashed by American fighting men.

Before the year is out, secretary of War Stimson told reporters, the Army's present strength in ground and air forces is to be doubled, twice the present number of air combat and armored units will be in the service, and 32 new divisions, many of them motorized, are to be created. The year 1943 will see an additional increase.

A selective service official said that thousands of the new men to be drafted this year would have to come from those who will register Feb. 16, although a million or more could be obtained from present registrants.

While Stimson was thus adding another detail to the blueprint for a global war, word was received that an American submarine in the Far Eastern waters had sunk a 17,000 ton Japanese liner of the fast Yawata class, a vessel believed capable of conversion into an aircraft carrier.

From the Philippines, at the same time, came word that nine Jap bombers attacked Corregidor, the island fortress at the mouth of Manila Bay, only to have two of their numbers shot down, and others damaged by anti-aircraft fire. Ground troops on Batan peninsula were meanwhile doggedly and successfully holding out against Japanese efforts to infiltrate their defense lines.

Selection Of Men
With public emphasis heretofore on the production of fabulous quantities of planes, tanks, guns and other fighting equipment, Stimson's announcement furnished a preliminary idea of how the men are to be provided to man and wield them.

The projected 3,600,000-man Army, plus 200,000 or more officers, would give this nation a fighting force substantially stronger than that of Japan, but still far smaller than that of Nazi Germany.

It would include a total of 59 divisions of land troops, many of them fully motorized, together with a minimum of 10 armored divisions, and an air force of 500,000 to 1,000,000 men.

Germany has been credited officially with 260 to 300 divisions of all Army types, and an air force of more than 1,000,000 men. Japan is commonly supposed to have more than 3,000,000 men under arms, but it is expertly estimated that that country is incapable of fully equipping more than 1,800,000 of them.

Henderson Describes Plans For National Automobile Rationing

Washington. —Price Administrator Leon Henderson today described plans to release from 614,000 to 674,000 new cars for sale by dealers under a rationing plan similar to that in operation for tires and tubes.

The plan, he said, has been presented for approval to the Supply Priorities and Allocations Board—soon to be reorganized—but he did not say when it might be put into effect.

Henderson made the statement in testimony before the special House committee investigating the impact of the industrial war effort on small business.

Henderson said that between 850,000 and 900,000 new cars, now frozen by government orders, will be subject to rationing. A share of the 204,000 cars to be produced by the industry during January will be placed in the same category.

Of the January production, Henderson said, the plan contemplates freezing from 130,000 to 140,000 for about a year to provide a stockpile for future needs.

The remainder, he said, will be thrown in with present floor stocks to be rationed to the public, and thus afford some relief to dealers faced with a possible shutdown.

He did not give details of the rationing plan beyond saying that the 5,000 local defense councils throughout the country would determine who should get the vehicles on the basis of actual need.

War Program Threatened With Scrap Iron Shortage In 1942

Washington. —A group of responsible government officials today saw the nation's huge war program threatened in 1942 by a possible shortage of from four to six million tons of scrap steel—the very metal which Japan bought up so avidly here in the pre-war years.

According, they urged an immediate rummage of the nation's vacant lots, backyards and cellars for all available scrap.

In a special memorandum for circulation among administration leaders, these officials asserted that unless scrap collection were stimulated the 1942 production of steel would be smaller than 1941's.

The supply of scrap steel was said to be so low that at New Year's only one month's supply was on hand.

Collection of scrap, both from industry and householders, was advocated on a scale so large as to build up stockpiles of scrap for use not only in 1942 but also next year. Other recommendations were for increases in pig iron-producing facilities, since pig iron is another major necessity in steel making and also for increased capacity of the industry. Supplies of iron ore, however, were regarded as adequate.

The United States last year made a record total of 83,000,000 tons of steel. The government experts figure that, theoretically, the steel industry this year could turn out 89,000,000 tons, but probably would turn out between 82,000,000 and 85,000,000 tons. Last year's output included 44,000,000 tons made out of pig iron and 39,000,000 made out of scrap.

Present steel-producing prospects, the experts believe, will take care of military needs, but if full capacity is not utilized civilian users will feel the pinch.

CREEK FUND WILL BE KEPT INTACT

Chamber Of Commerce Hopes To Get Project Started

At a recent meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce it was decided that the funds raised several months ago for the purpose of doing flood control work on Harris Fork Creek would be kept intact for the time being, with the hope that something might be done in the spring towards getting this project under way. It will be remembered that substantial sum—estimated by public subscription several months ago with a promise that a W. P. A. project could be launched on this. It was estimated that the local cost would be $4,000, and a large part of this sum was raised among business men and property owners. Difficulty was later experienced in getting the W. P. A. to take up the work, and since then the money that was paid in has remained in the local bank.

Feeling that it was best to retain the money as long as any chance is seen for the project, directors of the Chamber of Commerce voted to follow this plan, and it was stated that the money would be repaid in full if it is ever definitely seen that no hope exists for the work being done.

BOB KING GOES TO U. S. NAVY

The following appeared in the Beaumont, Texas Journal with a picture of Bob King:

"Robert W. King, who has made a name for himself as baritone of exceptional talent here in the last few years, leaves Friday to fight for Uncle Sam, serving with the Navy."

"O. G. Parks, director of Esquire's and Westminster Presbyterian Church choir, in which King has served as soloist, rates his voice as one of the finest among Beaumonters. He has also taken prominent roles in Beaumont Light Opera Company Productions."

"King moved to Beaumont from Fulton, Kentucky and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil King of that city. He has been employed with the Sun Oil Company, making his home in the 1500 block of Broadway."

"He is stationed for further instructions at Houston, Texas."

WAR AT A GLANCE

IN WASHINGTON—Senate talks of criminal prosecutions after report on waste in war production; committee says U. S. pursuits are no better than good training planes. Army to be doubled this year, with 3,600,000 men under arms; armored force and air forces to be doubled. Both Houses approve daylight saving bill.

THE FAR EAST—U. S. sub sinks Jap liner, probably converted into aircraft or transport. Corregidor's gunners shoot down two Jap planes. MacArthur's lines still holding firm. Australians, saved for emergency, at last go into action in Malaya. Dutch Indies' confidence rises as Wavell arrives. Japs bomb Dutch air and naval base at Ambona. Chinese say only ten thousand escaped from Jap army of seventy thousand that attacked Changsha.

THE OTHER FRONT—Russians north of Moscow push halfway to Latvia; Red troops reported breaking into defenses of Kharkov; Russians land on Sea of Azov west of Taganrog. British in Libya push deeper into forts around Halfaya; Axis air attacks on main front stepped up. Tanker reported sunk within sight of Long Island.

AT RIO—Welles urges Latin American nations to abandon neutrality and drive out Axis agents; Argentina still firmly opposed.

TREASURY DEPT. SUSPENDS FIVE FILM EXECUTIVES

Company Had Long Been Under Federal Investigation

New York. —The Treasury Department in a sudden move Tuesday ordered suspended from office and barred from company premises five executives of General Aniline & Film Corporation, long under investigation for possible German influences.

In addition, the order forbids any company officials or employees from communicating with the suspended men without prior written consent of a Treasury representative.

Although Treasury agents had been in virtual control of the company's operations since early last December, the blow struck without warning, and executive said, and without immediate explanation.

The men suspended were Rudolph Hutz, a director; Hans Alcklein, a vice president and former director; William H. Von Rath, vice president and former secretary, and director; F. W. von Meister, plant manager at Johnson City, N. Y., and Leopold Eckler, assistant vice president and plant manager of the Agfa-Ansco division at Binghamton, N. Y.

CABINET SHIFTS ANTICIPATED BY LONDONERS

Beaverbrook May Get Post In Washington

London. —A reshuffle of the British Cabinet as a result of criticisms over war management and changes in Ministerial assignments were described as imminent today in Parliamentary circles.

It was stated that announcements might even precede the return to London of Prime Minister Churchill from his conferences in Washington with President Roosevelt.

Some informants said the changes likely would involve appointment of a new Minister of Supply, not because of dissatisfaction with Lord Beaverbrook, who now holds the post, but because he is expected

Washington. —A committee reported charging that government inefficiency and private selfishness have seriously retarded American production gave immediate rise in the Senate today to demands that those responsible be punished.

Senators Vandenberg (R-Mich.), and Norris (Ind.-Neb.), were among the first to interrupt Chairman Truman as he summarized the findings to ask whether criminal or other punitive action could not be taken against those guilty of the "gross inefficiency" which the committee said it found.

"I miss," Vandenberg observed, "the final personification and identification of somebody who ought to be demoted or put in jail." He asked what happened when individual responsibility for improper administration of the defense program was determined.

"He usually gets a promotion," Truman told him wryly. The committee said there was failure to expand production of many vitally needed war materials, such as copper, lead, zinc, and aluminum.

That the armaments program was handicapped by unnecessary strikes, though of late there had been less of this obstruction.

"That the automobile industry was permitted to build new plant facilities for defense manufacture, using government funds, instead of converting existing facilities to defense production, thus leaving the industry free to continue automobile production at the highest level since 1929."

The report said, "The OPM's mistake of commission have been legion; and its mistakes of omission have been even greater." In presenting the committee's report, Truman told the Senate that Nelson's authority "should be very broad."

"Even so," he added, "it will not be completely effective unless the Office of Production Management is reorganized in order to correct the evils previously referred to."

Washington. —The Senate defense investigating committee charged today that American war production had been hampered seriously by months of official bungling, labor selfishness and management greed.

In a report covering its studies during last year the committee ac-

Five Million Fighting Men, 15 Million War Workers Now Seen

Washington. —Sidney Hillman hinted broadly today that 5,000,000 men is the projected strength of the new United States Army now being built.

The associate director general of the Office of Production Management mentioned the figure indirectly during the discussion of the war production labor problem which he prepared for the annual meeting of the United States Conference of Mayors.

Hillman reported that 5,000,000 workers were engaged in war production at the end of 1941.

"By the end of 1942," he went on, "we must add at least 10,000,000 others—probably more—to their ranks, making a total of more than 15,000,000."

"To mobilize a labor force three times the projected size of our new Army," he declared, "isn't going to be easy."

Hillman said the nation "must train many more women workers to take the places of men called to the armed services." He also asserted that full use would have to be made of the existing labor supply, and that the present program of pre-employment training be greatly accelerated and expanded.

"You and I know," he said, "that the conversion from civilian to war purposes is going to cause many dislocations for workers, for business men, for whole industries and for whole communities. There will be unavoidable temporary unemployment. No one group alone must be allowed to bear the brunt of the economic readjustments that will be necessary. The war effort is a national effort. We all have a stake in it. The cost should therefore be borne, not alone by the two or three million most directly affected or by their towns and cities, but by the whole national community."

Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

THE BEGINNING OF A NEW STORY?

One-man control of the procurement and production of American armaments was so much wished for that even before the President's order specifying Donald M. Nelson's responsibilities exactly has been drafted speculation is afoot to the effect that Mr. Nelson will also head a Supreme Allied Supply Council. We have to work fast, but we still have to do one thing at a time.

And if Mr. Nelson is to write his own ticket, as the White House says if he is prepared to shake up the whole machinery of our war production if necessary, as he himself indicated yesterday, then he has an immense immediate task.
The integration that the war effort has needed at Washington cannot be achieved by a wave of the hand.
Then must come what Mr. Roosevelt describes as "direction of the production program . . . general supervision over all production agencies." That promises a job so immense that it is impossible to think of it in ordinary terms. Its dimensions are so vast that it is impossible to say whether this or that individual is qualified for it.
It has no precedent in any American executive's experience, for it completely dwarfs the affairs of the largest private corporation.

Mr. Nelson has made an excellent record in Washington. The reorganization of late last summer which made him the key figure in the Office of Production Management was greeted with satisfaction because of his elevation, and as a step forward even by those who had been hoping Mr. Roosevelt would go farther toward centralization of responsibility.

Moreover, Mr. Nelson's public utterances have revealed an awareness of realities of the production job contrasting sharply with such easy optimism as Jesse Jones, for example, revealed this week in the matter of synthetic rubber. Mr.
Nelson has not hesitated to say that "Hitler is going to win this war, unless we deny ourselves everything we can possibly deny ourselves" and "just ahead of us are the hardest years we have been through since Valley Forge."

The country will await the specifications of the new setup with high hope that the story of confusion, duplication of effort, division of responsibility, saving of facts, in the production organization is soon to be ended and a story begun altogether worthy of the American industrial genius and the cause for which we are fighting. —Courier-Journal.

ments were made, but the station is still the inadequate, uncomfortable station it was before. My idea now is that unless some concentrated demand is made the station will remain as is.

● Yet I believe that the various civil organizations here could see that a better station is given Fulton. I firmly believe that if many citizens and organizations would thoroughly and completely bombard Supt. Sharkey at Water Valley with requests for a better station some improvement would be given us in the near future. I believe this is the only way we will ever get the job done.

● I suggest that every citizen who is interested in the matter pay the station a visit, day or night and then write Supt. Sharkey and tell him what is needed, and point out the defects of the present station. Enough of this sort of stuff will at least draw some attention to the situation.

SPEED SOUGHT IN SETTLING SMALL CLAIMS

President Asks Congress To Delegate Powers

Washington, —President Roosevelt proposed today a simplified procedure to save time and money in handling voluminous claims against the Government and in authorizing construction and maintenance of bridges over navigable waters.

He suggested in a message to Congress that the Secretary of War be authorized to pass on applications for construction of bridges affecting navigation, since the War Department already has jurisdiction over navigable waters and the department must approve locations and plans for bridges as it is.

Currently, Congress must pass a bill authorizing each bridge.

Points to High Cost
The Chief Executive questioned in another message the wisdom of the present procedure in enacting claims bills, pointing out that it costs almost $200 to pass a single measure whereas some bills call for payments of considerably less than $200.

He proposed that executive departments and independent establishments be authorized to adjust and determine tort claims up to $1,000, with review by the Attorney General of awards exceeding $500. He suggested Federal district courts be given jurisdiction over claims of this type up to $7,500,
with a right of appeal to the Court of Claims.

caused government agencies of slow-reaucratic red tape" and declared:

1. That after two years of frantic effort America has too few planes to allow adequate flying time for its pilots and that many of them are "mediocre."

2. That dollar-a-year men on loan from industry were actually lobbyists for their former employers and should be eliminated.

3. That the automobile industry had been allowed to continue civilian production virtually uncheck-conversion to military production even attempted.

4. That a concerted effort should be made to use all the facilities of small manufacturers in defense

the war could be won if proper re-

LIEUT. E. E. MOUNT
WHO LEAVES TOMORROW,
HONORED AT DINNER

Lieutenant E. E. Mount, who has served as superintendent of the Sunday School Department at the Baptist church for the past four years and who is leaving tomorrow for training at Camp Lee, Virginia, was the guest of honor at a farewell dinner given last night in the church basement. Approximately one hundred guests assembled, including officers and teachers of the entire Sunday school.

The dining room in its patriotic decorations was never more beautiful. Long tables, covered with white cloths, were tastefully arranged and down the center of these were candles in red, white and blue colors. Interspersed with the candles were flowers also in patriotic colors and a number of flags were placed about the room.

Rev. E. A. Autrey, pastor of the church, acted as toastmaster after the guests had saluted the flag and repeated the Pledge of Allegiance as they entered the dining room.

The first number on the program was a solo, "God Bless America" by E. P. Garrett, accompanied at the piano by Miss Mignon Wright. As encore he sang "Strong Hearted Men." Lieut. Mount then gave a very touching farewell address, to which response was given by the following department representatives: W. E. Flippo, who is succeeding Mr. Mount as superintendent of the entire department for the remainder of this year; Guy Duley, superintendent of the adult department; Marvin Sanders, superintendent of the young people's department; Jimmy Mullennix, superintendent of the intermediate department; Mrs. J. A. Hemphill, superintendent of Junior; Mrs. Charles Gregory, superintendent of the beginners; Mrs. John Reeks, superintendent of the primary department; J. O. Lewis, representing the Senior Board of Deacons; Hugh Rushton, representing the Junior Board of Deacons; and Clifford Hamlett, representing the Baptist Training Union. Each of these expressed their regret in losing Mr. Mount's services in all church activities.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Frey, who will leave shortly to make their home in Spartanburg, South Carolina, were also recognized. Mrs. Frey being a teacher. The closing prayer was then led by Marvin Sanders.

Throughout the evening patriotic music was furnished by the Sunday school orchestra, which is directed by Mrs. Walter Voelpel.

AMERICAN LEGION
AUXILIARY MEETING

Yesterday afternoon the American Legion Auxiliary held its first meeting of the new year with Mrs. William H. Atkins at her home on Green street, when assistant hostess was Mrs. Sam Winston. The meeting opened with the regular form by the president, Mrs. A. B. Roberts.

During the business session Mrs.

H. B. Houston, who was chairman of the committee on Christmas gifts to the poor, reported that the Auxiliary helped two poor families of Fulton at Christmas. She reported also that the group sent five gifts to the Child Welfare Toy Shop at the Veteran's Hospital in Outwood, Ky., and that gifts and greetings were sent to all Fulton boys who were in military training at that time.

It was decided that poppies for the annual sale in May will be ordered February 1st. It was also decided that the Auxiliary will sponsor the Victory Book Drive to collect books for boys in service, in the city of Fulton.

That concluded the business and the meeting was turned over to Mrs. R. C. Joyner who conducted a recreation period. Games of bingo were enjoyed with Mrs. S. M. DeMyer winning the prize. The hostesses served a salad plate following the games to the eight members attending.

The next meeting of the Auxiliary will be held on the second Thursday of February with Mrs. T. B. Neely and Mrs. Earl Taylor. Mrs. Sam Winston will be the leader of the program at this meeting.

BUNCO CLUB WITH
MRS. MARION SHARPE

The Thursday Bunco club was entertained yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Marion Sharpe at her home in Pearl Village. Present were all members of the club and two visitors—Mrs. L. M. Robertson and Mrs. Joe Hall.

Following the series of bunco games the bunco prize, a pair of vases, was presented to Mrs. W. I. Shupe. Mrs. Joe Maxwell was winner of the consolation prize which was lingerie. Mrs. A. McGee won high score prize, also lingerie. The club's booby prize, a relish dish, was presented to Mrs. Sharpe and Mrs. Hall won second high prize, a pyrex dish.

Mrs. Sharpe served cold drinks at the conclusion of the games.

The club will meet next Thursday afternoon with Mrs. A. McGee at her home on Second street. At this meeting a pot-luck luncheon will be enjoyed at one o'clock.

CLUB LAST NIGHT
WITH MRS. MATTHEWS

Mrs. Dewitt Matthews was hostess to her bridge club last night when she entertained in the home of Mrs. Hal Kizer on Pearl street. Three tables were arranged for the games and the guest list included eleven members of the club and one visitor—Mrs. J. C. Goode.

Miss Lily B. Allen was the winner of high score prize which was defense stamps. Mrs. Goode was also presented defense stamps and Mrs. Kizer won the bridge-bingo prize.

After the games of contract Mrs. Matthews took her guests to Evans Drug store where they were served a dessert course.

Mrs. I. M. Jones will be hostess to the club next week at her home on Central Avenue.

BRIDE-ELECT IS HONORED AT PARTY

Another in the series of pre-nuptial parties honoring Miss Sara Owen, who will be married on January 23 to Paul Hayes of Buffalo, New York, was the delightful party given last evening by Mrs. Vernon Owen at her home on Second street.

The evening was spent in playing hearts and three tables of guests participated in the games. Miss Augusta Ray was the prize winner and received costume jewelry. The honoree was also presented a lovely gift from the hostess.

For the occasion, the honor guest wore an attractive formal of white net.

Late in the evening, the hostess served a delicious party plate to the following guests, the honoree, Mrs. Milton Exum, Mrs. Enoch Milner, Miss Ruth Graham, Miss Polly Owen, Miss Ann Godfrey, Miss Almida Huddleston, Miss Helen King, Miss Augusta Ray, Miss Carolyn Beadles, Miss Ruby Boyd Alexander and Miss Martha Moore.

ADMINISTRATION
BILL OPPOSED IN STATE HOUSE

Frankfort, Ky. —An administration-sponsored bill met concerted opposition for the first time of the 1942 session in the Kentucky House of Representatives today but the measure—limiting collection on state warrants—finally won approval, 72 to 14.

Along with two other bills approved by unanimous votes, it was sent to the Senate for final legislative action.

Other Measures

The other measures would empower the Governor to appoint special police to guard war-needed industrial plants, approved, 84 to 0, and extend the period in which rural electric cooperatives may pay off their bonds from the present 20 to 25, passed, 86 to 0. The rural electric extension was proposed to conform with federal regulations.

In a brief session, the Senate meantime gave second reading to the administration's $57,000,000 budget bill for 1942-44 and Lieut. Gov. Rhodes K. Myers predicted it would go through unamended and without a dissenting vote when called up tomorrow for third reading and final passage.

The measure passed the House Monday, 90, to 4, the first legislation approved by either chamber since the General Assembly convened last week.

Deficiency Bill
The House also received the Senate-approved $700,000 deficiency bill providing appropriations for the remainder of the present fiscal year which ends June 30.

WILL BE INCREASES
IN CORPORATE TAXES
TO HELP WAR BILL

New York. —Senator Walter F. George (D-Ga.), Tuesday said he felt certain there would be increases in corporate taxes to help pay the war bill but warned that income taxes on those in the middle brackets might lower their morale and slow production.

Senator George, chairman of the Senate finance committee, told the National Retail Dry Goods Association convention the price control bill now in Congress would not be entirely effective in preventing a trend toward inflation.

"Whether there will be an increase in excess profit taxes or surtaxes, I don't know," he said, "but I think it more likely the increase will come in the surtaxes."

He said there may be some increase in individual income taxes and added:

"We should remember that increased taxes against persons in the higher brackets may cripple them but will not destroy them under our democratic form of government."

MAYORS URGED NOT TO REDUCE
ANY CITY TAXES

Washington. — Don't reduce city taxes, Chairman Marriner S. Eccles of the Federal Reserve Board urged the United States Conference of Mayors Tuesday, even though the war boom in business may make present levies yield more revenue than needed.

If cities reduce taxes, he explained, they will nullify the efforts of the federal government to forestall inflation by increasing federal taxes.

Eccles advised the mayors to use any excess revenue for retiring their public debts or to invest it in federal securities "and help win the war."

PAPER RIDICULES
PLAN TO PUNISH NATIVE QUISLINGS

London. —Under the caption "First Catch Your Shark," a cartoon in the London Daily Star today twitted the inter-Allied conference which pledged punishment of native quislings in occupied lands and their Nazi and Fascist conquerors.

The cartoon depicted the conferees as fishermen in a boat angling for a giant swastika while they read a book entitled "How to Cook Sharks."

The editorial said Commandos, fighter pilots and munition workers, "who know what we are up against" were not impressed by the unreality of passing sentences upon persons not present.

"We have to catch our hares before we can cook them, and at this stage the quarry is having much too much the best of it," said The Star.

PRISONER, CALLED
ART GENIUS, HOPES TO DRAW PARDON

St. Paul, Minn. —Minnesota's Pardon Board members pondered today whether to give the world a possible art genius or keep a convict.

The problem arose over the case of Edward Flute, 20, St. Paul, who studied commercial art by correspondence after being sentenced to a term of up to ten years in the reformatory for slugging and robbing a taxicab driver of $5 in 1937.

He wants a parole. In support of his petition, a school official, C. L. Bartholomew, told the court that Flute's work is "up to professional standards" and, he added, "I think he is a genius."

A Minneapolis man has offered to help Flute through college if he is paroled.
