THE LISTENING POST

● I rather believe that Bishop Hartman will balance the budget of the First Methodist Church this year—that is, if he keeps up the collection methods he has started for the year. Which brings on the story of how he spoiled my day completely yesterday.

● I am one of Bishop Hartman's back-seat attendants at the night services. I do not attend every Sunday night, because of the fact that I also attend another church of which I am a member about as often as I take in the Bishop's services. Once in happier days I had a good thing on this arrangement. I would tell a new Methodist preacher that I attended my own church now and then, and so when he missed me he would feel certain that I was at the other church. I would tell the Baptist preacher that I had to go to the Methodist Church now and then and he also thought if I happened not be present at his services I was at the Methodist Church. Bishop Hartman broke up this racket, for he checked with the other preacher and for a couple of days I thought the two of them were going to catch me in a falsehood. Since then I more or less alternate with the churches, and I hope Bishop Hartman never realizes that the Baptists now have their services at such an hour that I could attend both services if necessary. I am not going to tell him, and trust that none of my friends will so inform him.

● Anyhow, Sunday afternoon I went to the Baptist Church to hear Woodrow Fuller, a former pastor, and one of my good friends. Woodrow is now an Army flier in training in South Carolina and came home on a brief furlough after suffering a minor injury in an athletic event. While in this section he naturally came to Fulton and occupied the pulpit at the Vesper services of the Baptist Church. It was quite pleasant to see and hear him again, and it seemed a bit odd to see him in the Army uniform. I thoroughly enjoyed the experience and my conscience was not hurting me a bit over missing Bishop Hartman's services. In fact, I did not think of the matter again after leaving the church, a full hour before the Bishop was due to start his services at the nearby Methodist church.

● So came Monday morning, shortly before noon I was working at the job of getting the paper on press when I heard Bishop Hartman come in the door. Usually he stops at the front, but this time he came on back to where I was working and his face was grave and his words were solemn.

● "We missed you last night," he said gravely. "We held a meeting of the official board just after the services and discussed your case in full detail. Several of the board members expressed the belief that you may have attended the Baptist Church, but all of us agreed that you could not hope to get away with such conduct. It is perfectly all right for you to attend other services when and as you see fit, but there is the small matter of the collection. I was named as a committee of one to see about this and I am offering you a chance to do your duty."

● Then, just like a card sharp bringing an ace from where no ace was to be expected, he whipped out a regular Methodist collection plate and thrust it under my nose.

● There was nothing to be done except to put. With reluctance and with mental reservations, I laid a dime in the plate. "This is for the poor," the Bishop said. "I will now go out and buy a drink and a candy bar for my personal use." Off he went and I thought he was gone. Then, after the agony had died to a certain degree, one of the girls in the office brought the dime back to me. The Bishop had left it in the office as he went out, but he had made me suffer the pain of giving it up and so spoiled my entire day.

MARTIN EDUCATOR TELLS LOCAL GROUP OF WAR'S PROBLEMS

Dr. Farrar Talks On Subject Of "Inside Asia" Last Night

Dr. E. L. Farrar, head of the English Department of University of Tennessee Junior College, Martin, was the speaker at the regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce held last night, giving an interesting and thoughtful address on "Inside Asia." Dr. Farrar explained that he was basing his address on the well-known book "Inside Asia" by John Gunther, and the facts which he developed from this book were sobering and challenging.

"It is not going to be easy to defeat Japan," he warned. "The Japs are tough and hard, well disciplined, stoical in all their actions, perfectly willing to die in battle and holding firmly to the belief that in so dying they will be deified. We of this Western world cannot hope to understand this stoicism. It is something which is born with the Japanese, and matter of life and death mean absolutely nothing to him. Not long ago the author of this book was in Tokyo, just as several thousand soldiers were en-training for duty at the front in the Chinese war. They were boarding the train without reluctance; there seemed to be no sadness among those who saw them leaving their homes, although there must have been many fathers and mothers present. On another track in the same station stood another train and from this train were being unloaded hundreds of white boxes. Every person there knew that these boxes contained the ashes of those who had gone to the front earlier, but there seemed to be no interest whatever in this."

A secondary subject, Dr. Farrar explained, was "Four Japs a Minute." This means that 4 Japanese are born every minute to join the seventy-two million Japanese now living. "From birth on the Japanese is trained in the belief that the Emperor is the state, is really the Son of Heaven, and thus the Empire achieves the greatest solidarity that is known in all the world. Few people ever see the Emperor, as it is the universal belief that to gaze on this person would mean sudden blindness. When the Emperor travels all his subjects bow until they cannot see him. When he goes to a hotel, for example, he occupies the entire third floor. All

Price Of Food May Be Hiked 25 Per Cent, Federal Agency Says

Washington.—Prices of farm products this year are expected to average about 25 per cent more than those of 1941, the U. S. Department of Agriculture reported today.

The department based its forecast on the influence of these factors: 1. Record high consumer incomes. 2. Continued government purchases for lend-lease shipment. 3. The focusing of consumer attention on food as the output of manufactured civilian goods declines.

Higher Production Forecast The department said these factors were expected to cause price increases despite the record wartime agricultural production goals that have been set. The result of higher prices for a Washington.—An Axis submarine struck at another tanker off the Atlantic coast of the United States today, damaging but failing to add the vessel to the known toll of three ships sunk along the coast in the past six days.

The Navy Department announcement said the 8,206-ton tanker Malay, under charter of the Gulf Oil Company, was attacked early today but was nearing the safety of an Atlantic port tonight and her crew was believed safe. She normally carries a complement of 34 men.

The Navy, which already had come to grips with Axis undersea raiders along the Pacific coast, long has been on the prowl in Atlantic waters. The extent of the deadly game of hide-and-seek between the enemy undersea craft and American planes and vessels along the Atlantic seaboard was hidden behind a veil of censorship to keep information from the foe.

But the spread of known submarine activities—from off Long Island to North Carolina—led to general belief that the Axis had sent its skulking pigboats in considerable numbers to prowl American waters.

And there could be no doubt that the Navy, though grimly silent, had taken up the challenge, and that its swift surface craft, and far-ranging air patrols were engaged in vigorous counter-measures. The results of the warfare may not become known for weeks, or even months. American policy, so far as anti-submarine activities are concerned, is to keep the enemy guessing. No announcement is made when a U-boat is sunk.

Latest announced victim of the submarines was the Standard Oil tanker, Allan Jackson, torpedoed without warning off the North Carolina coast yesterday. The tanker Norwest was sunk Wednesday off Long Island and the tanker Colmbra 100 miles off New York City on Thursday.

In addition, survivors of a sunken Panamanian freighter reached in Eastern Canadian port. Where this unidentified vessel went down was not disclosed. It, too, may have been sunk in coastal waters. For warfare on submarines in coastal waters, the Navy has built a fleet of swift chasers armed with depth bombs, light guns and torpedoes. Other principal weapons against them, aside from heavier surface craft, are bombing planes and blimps. The latter have proved particularly useful in spotting submerged U-boats.

Conditions At State Institutions Are Improved, Frost Asserts

Frankfort, Ky.—"Loyal, sympathetic, unified co-operation" of State Welfare Department employees has brought more efficient work, improved conditions at state institutions and permitted an increase in prisoners' paroles," Welfare Commissioner W. A. Frost said today.

"When I assumed the responsibility of the commission of the department December 30, 1940," Frost told Gov. Keen Johnson in a report for 1941, "I found a disorganized, unco-operative group of employees."

"There were petty jealousies and factional disturbances. Confusion reigned to a very large degree, seemingly because employees were unable to determine just from whom they were to receive instructions. Lack of leadership left them without guidance."

"So far as I am able to determine at the present time, these conditions have vanished."

Frost became commissioner after Miss Margaret Well Leitchfield, was ousted as head of the department. Elimination of work duplications, Frost said, had resulted in a reduction of twenty-five employees. He reported "marked improvement" in the management of state hospitals and prisoners and in equipment and buildings. Among the improvements, he continued, were more modern treatment of hospital inmates, increased training of personnel and repair and construction of buildings.

In addition, he said, "Special attention has been given to the improvement of the probation and parole setup.

"We now have forty parole officers who, in the main, are men of high intelligence and are doing a splendid piece of work."

"Notable progress has been made in supervision of parolees. . . Parolees are reporting more promptly and there has developed a very wholesome relationship between the parolee and the supervising officer."

"As a result of this increase in efficiency, we have been able to increase the number paroled. There were 1,643 paroled from the penitentiary at Eddyville and the reformatory at La Grange and the women's prison during the biennial period ended June 30, 1939, whereas 2,262 were paroled from these same institutions during the two-year period ending June 30, 1941."

"Despite this large increase in the number paroled, there has been only a slight increase in the number returned as parole violators. In the last two years, Frost added, there have been "no major accidents or disturbances in the penal institutions." In addition, he said, the total population of prisons in Kentucky was 300 less than in 1939.

Frost also pointed to an increase in old age pensions.

On December 1, 1941, he said, 59,637 persons were receiving monthly assistance totaling $545,841, an average of $9.15 a person, compared with 45,198 persons and total payments of $391,674, an average of $8.67, two years before.

M. E. CONFERENCE HERE TOMORROW

Paris District Superintendent Robert A. Clark of the Methodist church will convene the First Quarterly Conference in the First Methodist church Wednesday following the mid-week service. Concerning this quarterly check-up the pastor stated, "It is our custom to have every report properly presented and by the person responsible for the report. Let us have every statistical report ready, every check written and every man in his place. We have had 100 per. reports and almost 100 per. attendance during our past business sessions, and this Quarterly Conference will prove no exception. A District Superintendent reviews the work of the quarter, investigating every phase of the work, even down to the Cradle Roll. This church never appears in better light than when such minute investigation is made. If the public had knowledge of what transpires in a Methodist Quarterly Conference held by the District Superintendent, their respect for an appreciation of the Methodist church will be heightened."

1200 MEN FROM WAKE ISLAND NOW IN JAPAN

Second Group Of Prisoners To Be Interned

Tokyo.—More than 1200 American naval men, Marines and workmen from Wake Island, the second group of United States prisoners of war to reach Japan, arrived Sunday at Yokohama. Authorities here declined to disclose either their destination or immediate plans for taking care of them.

The first group of prisoners, consisting of 421 men, most of them from Guam, was sent for internment to camps near Tadotsu, on the island sea coast of Skikoku Island southwest of Kobe and Asaka.

The prisoners were said to include Commander Winfield Scott Cunningham, described as commander of the U. S. forces on Wake Island, and Nathan Daniel, civilian contractor in charge of workmen engaged on defense projects.

Cunningham, who is from Wisconsin, was in command of the Wake post only 25 days, it was said. He arrived from Honolulu Nov. 23, and Wake was taken Dec. 22.

WAR DEMANDS SPEED OUTPUT OF SOFT COAL

Washington.—Coal production is reflecting wartime fuel needs.

The Bureau of Mines and the Bituminous Coal Division reported today that the output of soft coal totaled 10,925,000 tons during the week ended January 10 to equal the high levels prior to the holiday season.

Production during the week ended January 3 totaled 9,800,000 tons. The tonnage for the week ended January 11 last year was 10,143,000.

Production of Pennsylvania anthracite lagged behind the pre-holiday rate. There were 827,000 tons mined during the week ended January 10 as compared with 728,000 tons the week ended January 3; 4088,000 tons the week ended December 27, and 1,005,000 tons the week ended December 20.

British Arrest Burma's Premier For Conspiring With Japanese

London.—The British have arrested Premier U Saw of Burma for conspiring with the Japanese.

A brief announcement from No. 10 Downing Street, official residence of Prime Minister Churchill, indicated the British may have nipped an attempt by the bland, skirt-wearing Burmese premier to stage a coup d'etat and deliver the Far Eastern bastion with its 14,000,000 people into the hands of the Japanese.

Contract With Japs Admitted

U. Saw departed from Britain in a huff early in November after what he called a "blunt" interview with Churchill over dominion status for his country.

"From reports received about U. Saw's movements after his good will mission to this country it has come to the knowledge of His Majesty's Government that he has been in contact with Japanese authorities since the outbreak of the Japanese war," the British announcement said.

"This fact has been confirmed by his own admission," the statement added. "His Majesty's Government accordingly has been compelled to detain him and it will not be possible to permit him to return to Burma."

..Last Reported In Lisbon The statement did not say where U. Saw was arrested or where his contact with the Japanese took place.

(Saw went from London to Washington and was in Hawaii on his way home when the Japanese started the war. He last was reported in Lisbon.)

U. Saw, whose exact age is unknown, brought presents for Churchill on his London visit, but upon departing said: "When I get back to Burma I shall have to say that Britain has nothing to give you, in which case."

Burma, formerly a province of the India empire, as constituted since the annexation of Upper Burma in 1886, comprises the British territory of Upper and Lower Burma, the extensive native states known as the Federated Shan States, and Karen, as well as several tracts of unadministered territory in the more remote parts.

DEFENSE DEFICIENCIES

(From The Kansas City Star)
The view of defense production carried by the Senate Investigating Committee is in good part the view held by the public virtually from the start of the defense program. In this connection we must emphasize the word "defense" as opposed to "war," for it is production under the first rather than the second with which the committee almost wholly deals.

Consequently it may be hoped at least that the conditions outlined in the committee's report are largely water over the dam. The committee, for example, recommended a thorough reorganization of OPM and centralization of responsibility for war production. But before the committee report could be made this identical step already had been taken by the President through the appointment of Donald Nelson.

As to the general conclusion of the committee, headed by Senator Truman of Missouri, there can be wide agreement. The conclusion is that the defense effort was far short of what it should have been. This was known or certainly believed and repeatedly charged over a period of 18 months. Evidence bearing on various phases of the deficiency was put out from time to time by the committee itself last year, including some changes of convicence to put up construction costs.

It was all to the good, both the public criticism and the committee's investigation. The committee's work no doubt served as a prod to production and reminder of possibly distasteful relations later. As to blame, the committee distributes it liberally among officials at Washington, labor and management.

The public should be included as well; for virtually the entire nation was off guard and measurably indifferent. We were not at war and were hoping we might not be. Perhaps in a broad way officials were moving as fast as public sentiment would permit. The committee charges, for example, that the motor car industry was "allowed" to go on with the usual or more than usual production for the greater part of 1941. But imagine the storm of public indignation if an order forbidding sales of cars and looking to virtually complete stoppage of production had been issued a year ago, six months ago or even three months ago.

In short, it took the war to wake us up. The committee's report may do something further to the same end. Yet it must be admitted that in spots the report is too sweeping in its condemnation. Whether we now have or soon can get the combat planes we need, for instance, is a matter for experts only. Certainly the unqualified negative statement of the committee is open to question. That goes also for its wholesale indictment of dollar-a-year men as selfish job-busters and incompetent defense officials. Such extreme statements tend to discredit the committee's report. Aside from them it may be taken as a needed and helpful piece of work.

operations had dwindled to fighting of a desultory nature, chiefly between patrols.

Enemy Planes Active
Enemy planes were active in reconnaissance flights, forecasting a renewal of the assaults which have forced the outnumbered defenders slowly back to the rugged 25-mile long neck of land north of Corregidor fortress. Official observers here felt sure the foe would attack again.

The picture of harsh military rule imposed by the Japanese on the Filipinos in the occupied areas of the main island of Luzon was rounded out in the War Department morning communique which said the Filipinos were being summarily deprived of transportation and equipment. Farmers have been evicted from their homes by the invaders and forced into labor groups, MacArthur reported, while harvested crops and food stores have been seized.

floors above the level are at once cleared of all guests, for it would be unthinkable that any mortal should be above the Emperor."

Dr. Farrar gave one statement from the book which is not generally known. "Japanese," he said, "are 95 per cent. literate. That may explain why there is so much need for glasses among the Japanese. They read and study so much that they abuse their eyes in early youth and must wear glasses for the remainder of their lives."

"I see no way of defeating Japan by ordinary means," Dr. Farrar said. "With their utter detachment regarding death ordinary warfare holds no terror for them. They have great skill in the cruel art of war, and it will require something in the way of utter extermination to overcome them."

After the address Dr. Farrar asked for questions and an interesting period followed with various men asking about certain phases of Japanese character and life. Dr. Farrar's address was one of many good ones which the Chamber of Commerce has heard in recent months, and was thoroughly enjoyed by about 30 members.

LOTTE MOON GROUP MEETING

The Baptist Woman's Missionary Union's Lotte Moon Circle met last night at the home of Mrs. Walter Voepel on Vine street with Mrs. Voepel and Mrs. James Warren, hostesses.

The meeting opened with the group repeating the Lord's Prayer in unison. A lengthy business session was presided over by the president, Mrs. Voepel, during which time the roll was called and the minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary Mrs. Russell Radd. At the conclusion of the business the meeting was turned over to Miss Mignon Wright who gave an interesting stewardship program. Mrs. E. A. Autrey dismissed the meeting in prayer.

The sixteen members and three visitors, Mrs. Autrey, Mrs. V. R. Odom and Mrs. Tillman Adams, one member, Miss Mary Anderson, were taken by the hostesses to Evans Drug Store where they were served hot chocolate and wafers.

Mrs. Norman Frey, who left Fulton this morning to make her home in Spartanburg, South Carolina, was presented a lovely gift from the circle.

ANNIE ARMSTRONG MEETING LAST NIGHT

The Annie Armstrong Circle of the Baptist Woman's Missionary Union held its meeting last night when Miss Sara Linton and Mrs. John Alred were hostesses in the home of Mrs. Alred on Fourth street. The meeting was opened at 7:30 o'clock with a prayer by Mrs. Otis Bizzle.

Mrs. Atilla Hemphill, stewardship chairman, had charge of the program read from the book, "This World Goods." After she had given a very interesting discussion of that topic, Mrs. Leon Hutchins, president of the circle, held the business session and was assisted by Mrs. Jack Speight, the secretary. Mrs. Hugh Rushton, treasurer. Thirteen members answered the roll call. Two visitors, Mrs. Earl Taylor, who is retiring president of the Union, and Mrs. Atkins, were also present.

At the conclusion of the business Mrs. Taylor closed the meeting with a prayer. During the social hour the hostesses served refreshments.

World Government Crusade

Charles Henry Davis, "The Fighting Quaker Patriot", displays his famous silken portrait of George Washington. Elizabeth Deutsch, beautiful refugee from Vienna, is saluting the First President. Picture to right is of Davis in forensic action, a platform dynamo despite his advanced years. Mr. Davis is the inspirational force behind organizations which for nearly half a century have fought for closer relationships between the United States and Great Britain as the main road to international peace.

THE new World Government is functioning and will announce its formula for winning the war and securing a permanent world peace at a luncheon rally to be held shortly in New York City.

To this campaign Charles Henry Davis, crusader extraordinary of Bass River, Cape Cod, Mass., is devoting the powers of organization and education developed in a lifetime career in engineering and public affairs. He is founder-trustee of the movement, with Prof. Irving Fisher as honorary chairman.

The platform of the World Government Foundation is enunciated in these terms:

1. Peoples, savage or civilized, have never lived together save under some form of Government.
2. All Governments exist by their successful organization and use of spiritual, intellectual and physical forces of mankind.
3. A Government losing control of these forces falls.
4. Village, Town, City, County, Provincial, and State Governments do not ask the abandonment of the other Governments or the "National Government."

ment for them to exist, for each is supported by and dependent on the very existence of the others, as they will be under a World Government.

5. Lack of Government means chaos in its territory—hence World chaos and its wars throughout the ages.

6. The World without a Government has always been and always will be at war until there is a World Government in control of the spiritual, intellectual and physical forces needed for its existence.

Mr. Davis believes that the United States of America and the British Empire should come together under one flag emblematic of both the Union Jack and the Thirteen Stripes with the gold star of Bethlehem and Almighty God denoting unity and peace everlasting.

The flag is illustrated under the Washington portrait. Without the star, the flag is the same as that under which Gen. Washington took command of the Continental Army.

SPORT TALK

After a shattering and humiliating defeat in Clinton Friday night, the Bulldogs yesterday in a effort to reform their shattered defense and also to polish up their offense in preparation for a game tonight in Cayce. Cayce was the first team to play the Bulldogs this year and the Tigers were turned back with a seven or eight point defeat. Cayce since then has improved, and while it was hoped the Bulldogs would be vastly improved by this time the showing in Clinton Friday night did not reveal any improvement. Clinton, while showing a pretty good team, was not very impressive, for the Red Devils missed almost as many shots as did the Bulldogs. They did show the fastest attack the Bulldogs have faced the season, but the Bulldogs have only themselves to blame for the 22-10 defeat. In the early part of the game the local team had many scoring chances which were thrown away and managed to score only 3 points in the entire first half. The defense cracked wide open, allowing Clinton's fast breaking team to drive into the basket with hardly any opposition. It was the worst game the Bulldogs had played all season, not excepting the game against Murray. In that game the Bulldogs showed no ability in hitting the basket, but the defense did hold Murray to 17 points. In the Clinton game the offense was bad and the defense was worse. Coach Giles is hoping that the boys got all their bad playing done Friday night and that the Cayce game may find the team on top of its game. However, Coach Wallis has been priming his team for this game and Cayce play-

The exciting, different dessert— sizzling fruit

for only

Here's a new way to "dress up" canned fruit—and make it look and taste like a very "special" dessert. Serve it tonight—it's easy as a-b-c to prepare.

10¢
a portion

SIZZLING FRUIT
1 (No. 2½) can pear halves;
¼ teaspoon each of ground ginger, cloves, and cinnamon (whole spices may be used also)
½ cup KARO (red label)
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 (No. 2½) can peach halves, drained
1 (No. 2½) can ling cherries, drained

Pour syrup from canned pears into saucepan. Add spices, KARO and lemon juice. Cook about 5 minutes. Add whole pieces of fruit; heat again, but do not boil. Remove from heat, and serve hot or chilled. Makes 8 large servings.

KARO adds extra food value as well as extra flavor. It's rich in Dextrose, food-energy sugar.

ers, students and citizens are all hoping for a Tiger victory. A victory over the Bulldogs would make Cayce folks forget many of the lost games that are behind them, and the Tigers are going to be working hard for this victory. Winning will not be easy for the Bulldogs; they will have to show more than they did in Clinton.

Some big changes have been made necessary in the Bulldogs schedule for the next few games. Originally the team was scheduled to play South Fulton in the Tennessee gym Friday night, and Mayfield was to come to Science Hall next Tuesday night. Due to some difficulties the South Fulton School has had with the West Tennessee Conference the games between the two local schools have been cancelled. This corner is informed that no city series will be played this year, and this leaves Friday night blank on the local schedule.

Then, when it was known that Fulton was to play in the charity tournament in Mayfield on Monday night of next week, with a game scheduled for Mayfield here on the following night, it was necessary to make additional changes, as Coach Giles did not want to play on two straight nights. Mayfield was not able to play here on Friday night—the South Fulton date—and so the game has been set for Thursday night of this week. Playing in the charity tournament on Monday night will be a handicap for all the teams, as most of the players more or less break training over the week-end, and it is not possible to have any practice sessions on the day before the game. It is likely that Coach Giles will drill his boys on Saturday of this week and also order them to remain in training over the week-end.

Calvert City, the team which faces the Bulldogs in this game, is one of the strongest in West Kentucky. The team has lost only one game, that being to Metropolis, one of the great teams of Southern Illinois. The team has won over all West Kentucky opposition, and must rule a favorite over the Bulldogs in this game at Mayfield. However, the boys are not giving them anything in advance, saying that they will have to earn all they get.

Three games will be played in the Mayfield gym Monday night, with the Fulton-Calvert City game starting at 9:30. Admission this year will be 50 cents.

GERMANS WELL FIXED NOW WITH MILITARY NEEDS

Survey Shows Production Of Minerals Is High

Washington.—A close balance between Germany, on the one hand, and the United States and Britain on the other, in current production of minerals vital for war making, was reported Sunday by the Bureau of Mines.

Describing the Reich as "surprisingly well supplied with minerals for essential military needs," a bureau survey said it "now controls enormous resources of iron ore, manganese, and coal capable of supporting an iron and steel industry that can compete with that of Great Britain and the United States."

The German Continental sphere of domination, including Italy, produced 44 per cent of the world's pig iron in 1940, it was added, and mined 47 per cent of the world's total coal output.

The report said that in the case of aluminum and magnesium, the metals essential to manufacture of airplanes and incendiary bombs, Germany was reported to have out-produced the United States, Great Britain and Canada up to 1941 but added "by the end of 1941, it was expected that the combined aluminum output of the three Allied countries would pull ahead of German-dominated nations, and that the Allies' 1941 figures would be nearly doubled by the end of 1942."

The report expressed confidence that American and British output of magnesium now equalled German production, and that American output alone by 1943 would be more than four times Germany's expanded 1941 production.

The German petroleum problem, the bureau said, appears to be largely one of rationing and administration and "Germany appears to be in no immediate danger of the failure of her military machine for lack of gasoline and lubricants."

Now is the time to subscribe for the Leader.

GREEN AND LEWIS UNITY MOVEMENT IS NOW REPORTED

New Group To Be Headed By Meany, Paper Says

New York.—The New York Times said Sunday night that John L. Lewis, former head of the C. I. O., and William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, had agreed upon a unified labor movement to be headed by George Meany, secretary-treasurer of the A. F. of L., as president.

Under the program for unity the Times said, Mr. Green would be retired at his full salary of $20,000 a year for life. Mr. Meany's salary would be the same as Mr. Green's, and Philip Murray, now president of the C. I. O., would be asked to accept the $18,000 post of secretary-treasurer.

Murray Not Consulted
The paper declared the principal obstacle remaining was that Mr. Murray had not been consulted on any part of the proposal. Mr. Lewis taking the initiative without informing Mr. Murray in advance.

Mr. Lewis sent identical letters to Mr. Green and Mr. Murray Saturday, proposing the resumption of formal peace negotiations, but apparently left Mr. Murray unaware of "unofficial conversations" carried on last week by Mr. Lewis and Daniel J. Tobin, A. F. of L. vice president, the story said.
