MAN CALLS HIS CHILDREN IN TO SEE WIFE SLAIN

Orders Her to Pray for Sins, Then Shoots, Gives Up to Police.

New York—In the presence of the family, a clergymen's wife shot her husband to death in the parlor of their large home on Firth Avenue early today. The man, who was described as a sheltered, loving husband and father, fell dead at the sight of the woman who for years has been the center of his life.

The daughter of the family, who was in the room at the time, saw her mother collapse with a sob as the man's body slumped to the floor. She then ran furiously to the parlor where her father lay on the floor. The woman, who was described by friends as a kind and gentle soul, said she had prayed for sins but had never been able to pray to the God she had known.

She then shot her husband in the head and turned the gun on herself, but was stopped by the family's pastor, who had been called by a neighbor.

Let's apply this great economic test to the situation in this town: Our business men have invested—and continue to invest—their money in stocks of goods brought here to your very door to meet your daily needs.

Through the pages of this paper they advise you of their ability to serve this community. All of us know that they deserve our patronage. And remember, the more you trade with them the more funds they can invest in larger stocks and new lines.

Guiding Your Children

Bad habits lead children astray. Good habits guide them safely into the path of character, uprightness and independence.

You can start them right by teaching them to save money. Set them an example by saving yourself. Make them admire thrift. Once started, the saving habit helps to form other good habits. It provides experience for them in handling their own funds. This start in the right direction is but a simple step. Bring children to the bank when you start them to school.

In Case of Emergency

When you want a thing in a hurry you rush to a local store and get it. But do you realize that the existence of our stores depends upon continued business.

If every person in the community were to use motion only for emergencies many places might be in a constant state of business by doing off your trading at home. It will be possible to serve you as well as the entire community.

Parents of 18 Children

Ten Living, Adopt Eight

Mrs. S. L. H. White of this city and her husband are the parents of 18 children. Of these, 10 are living, and eight are adopted children. The parents have many friends in the city, and are much esteemed for their goodness and charity. The family is divided into four groups of five children each, and is a strong example to the world that children can be raised without them as used to be thought.
