Kentucky's General Assembly (session) is in session at the Capitol. Governor Combs has asked the members to declare a moratorium on politics during this session and to do more work for the general welfare of Kentucky. His idealism certainly was aided by his request that a number of politicians refrain from politics. It's like calling a convention of addicted bridge players, then asking them to refrain from playing bridge.

OUR GOOD GOVERNOR, of course, was that the makers should indulge in the amount of politics. He wants something done for Kentucky; not just one of the state or one party. His request was that of President Kennedy who said: "Ask not what country can do for you, but what you can do for your country."

President Kennedy also has political views. He is not an idealistic thing; he is a realist. Kennedy pointed out that a few years ago in his prize-winning book, "Profiles in Courage."

OST OF OUR lawmakers in Kentucky are well-seasoned politicians. They are in Frankfort now because they are better politicians than their opponents. They know the old-time tricks—kissing babies, attending public gatherings, side-stepping controversial issues, making sports of promises, being in and out of the legislature, and last, but not least, entering into the political arena that he is a politician from West Kentucky. It is not going to break a leg to something big for East Kentucky. If he did, he would be a politician very long. The of West Kentucky would not that.

at, friends, is what is known as practical politics. In very few terms, it's a matter of getting and holding a governing job. Public service doesn't mean a great deal any more. It is as different from a championship as baseball is from football.

ERE SHOULD BE some good, however, as Governor Combs has suggested, of getting lawmakers bodies, in this other states, to do consider less politicking and a great more work for the general welfare of humanity.

ers could help remedy this situation, if they would. They start working at the present level to make sure that the dates all are high type persons and have a sincere desire to perform public service.

idea that "bigger pay" is more capable men to office is false. If a man has an office only for the pay and he is going to be a poor servant. He can be measured on the same scale as any other who works only "for time and pay day."

UCKY PAYS its legislators a day, including expenses. Such pay is comparable to other states, with great with than Kentucky, pay lawmakers. If our legislative session is to do anything worthwhile, it must be because of pay. It will be because our politicians are thinking first of themselves, second of their political ambitions, and last of any to contribute something worthwhile to humanity.

LEGISLATIVE session has started out as a among political factions. It is a serious lack of united for the common good of Kentucky.

there is a distinct possibility that our state will suffer than benefit, from legislative effort.

can be done about it? A one thing, when there is a worthwhile material on to work, the governor should join the legislature and time as important and while measures could be taken.

Legislators could be sent with pay checks only for work they had worked and sessions they had attended, and paid for political maneuvering.

action might not save a cent of money, but it would save the citizens a lot of unnecessary, politically inspired legislation.

are already suffering from super-abundance of laws, and a serious lack of action needed to improve our nation.

Mrs. Sue Owens has been named chairman of the March of Dimes campaign in Marshall County this year.

Many persons crippled by polio still need hospital care and financial assistance, too. So Mrs. Owens asks Marshall Countians to continue to give liberally to the March of Dimes.

Donations may be taken or mailed to Mrs. Owens, who is a teller at the Bank of Marshall County.

Survey Shows School Pupils Need Polio Shots

The Marshall County Health Department, with the cooperation of all the schools in Marshall County, has just completed a polio survey. The purpose of this survey was to determine the level of protection of the school age group against polio.

First a questionnaire was prepared and a copy given to each child to carry home, and to complete and return to the school, and then the health department.

Total enrollment of all schools in Marshall County is some short of 4,000. Over 3,000 questionnaires were returned.

In the two county high schools 23 per cent of the students have not had any polio shots at all. There are 334 elementary school students who have not had any polio shots, or 18.6 per cent of the high school students in the county who have either had one or two shots, according to Dr. Buttersworth, the health officer. These have little or no protection against polio. Then 25.6 per cent of this same group have had three shots, and only 40.1 per cent are fully protected with all shots.

A total of 28.0 per cent of all county elementary students have little or no protection against polio. This includes those having one, two, or no shots. Twenty per cent of this group are partially protected and only 49.0 per cent are fully protected.

St. Pius X School has the best protection against polio, with only 7 per cent with little or no protection and 33.3 per cent partly protected. A little less than 60 per cent are fully protected.

Benton elementary has a total of 10.4 per cent with no protection and 18.0 per cent with little protection and 63.0 per cent are fully protected.

The Benton High School group showed 12.1 per cent with no shots and a total of 25.3 per cent with little or no protection. This same group has 27.7 per cent with three shots. Only 47.0 per cent is fully protected.

Survey Shows School Pupils Need Polio Shots

The Marshall County Health Department, with the cooperation of all the schools in Marshall County, has just completed a polio survey. The purpose of this survey was to determine the level of protection of the school age group against polio. First a questionnaire was prepared and a copy given to each child to carry home, and to complete and return to the school and then the health department. Total enrollment of all schools in Marshall County is some short of 4,000. Over 3,00 questionnaires were returned. In the two county high schools 23 per cent of the students have not had any polio shots at all. There are 334 elementary school students who have not had any polio shots, or 18.6 per cent. There is another 11.2 per cent of the high school students in the county who have either had one or two shots, according to Dr. Butterworth, the health officer. These have little or no protection against polio. Then 25.6 per cent of this same group have had three shots, and only 40.1 per cent are fully protected with all shots. A total of 28.0 per cent of all county elementary students have little or no protection against polio. This includes those having one, two, or no shots. Twenty-three per cent of this group are partially protected and only 49.0 per cent are fully protected. St. Pius X School has the best protection against polio, with only 7 per cent with little or no protection and 33.3 per cent fully protected. A little less than 60 per cent are fully protected. Benton elementary has a total of 10.4 per cent with no protection and 18.0 per cent with little protection and 63.0 per cent are fully protected. Telephone Talk

Lee Curry

THIS TIME of year you're probably busy with all sorts of new projects, for this is the time we start living up to all our New Year's resolutions! One resolution that's a pleasure to keep is one that I made this year — to keep in touch with old friends! There's really nothing like a Long Distance telephone call to make you "feel good all over" ... and spread happiness at both ends of the line.

MAKE SOMEONE HAPPY
CALL LONG DISTANCE

SHOPPING TO BE DONE? And you can't leave home? Just pick up your phone! Today, more and more busy homemakers are shopping by phone. In fact, latest Bell System studies show that four out of five women purchase goods or services by phone at one time or another! So next time bad weather ... housework ... whatever keeps you at home ... just pick up your phone and go shopping!

DID-YOU-KNOW-DEPARTMENT: About 40 per cent of overseas telephone calls are with Pan-American countries; about 30 per cent with Pacific, and 25 per cent with European countries.

MR. BUSINESSMAN: Are you forgetting one of your most important Public Relations tools? It's your telephone! For example, the entire sales staff of a Midwestern tire distributor periodically calls customers to see if they have any complaints or suggestions on how service may be improved.

ANOTHER EXAMPLE is a Southern nurseryman who phones his customers after every delivery to make sure they are completely satisfied with their purchases.

Blonde, blue-eyed Mrs. Emily Terrall, of St. Helens, Oregon, is the new "Mrs. United States Savings Bonds of 1962." As a Treasury volunteer Goodwill Ambassador, she will for the nation during the coming year in the promotion of Savings Bonds. The 37-year-old housewife won the title from among 51 state contestants for the "Mrs. America" title in competition just closed at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where she appeared as "Mrs. Oregon."

Uncle Ned ... From Dogtown

Dear Mister Editor:

I was mighty upset to get your note from that school teacher complaining about my spelling. I have always taken a heap of pride in the fact that I am right broadminded about this spelling business.

I figger a feller that can't spell a word but one way is not only pretty ignorant but he ain't got much imagination.

I recollect when I was a boy our teacher told us about this feller Sir Walter Raleigh that come over from England and discovered North Carolina. He never signed his name the same way twice in a row. Sometimes he spelled it Raleigh, then he would spell it Rawley, then he signed his last will and testament "Walter Rolly."

Now there, Mister Editor, was a feller with imagination. One of the great troubles with education today is that we git in a rut and stay there, like spelling a word the same way all the time.

Back in my time we didn't have nothing but one-room, one-teacher schools. The parents bring wood to the school yard in wagon lengths and us boys had to split it up and put it in a pot-bellied stove. But they was one thing we did have and that was imagination, especial in spelling. I'm mighty sorry this school teacher can't git a little more flexible in this field.

And speaking of imagination, it's beginning to look like the White House was a little short in this department. When the new lady Treasurer of the U. S. got in office, she favored printing our paper money in different colors. Fer instance, a five printed in red would not be mistook for a ten printed in yellow.

The White House turned it down, and now I see by the papers where mail on the subject is running four to one fer the change.

I was discussing this item with my old lady and she is strong fer this new color scheme. She allowed as how they'd never git any colors fer money that would clash with the outfit she was wearing. That's just like a woman, Mister Editor.

They say wimmen control three-fourths of all the money in the United States, and I reckon this is the only country in the world where men git their picture on the money and the wimmen git their hands on it.

The fellers at the country store Saturday night was talking about these items and Ed Doolittle allowed as how all wimmen was unreasonable in money matters. He said if a husband and wife had a joint checking account, it was never overdrawed by the wife, just underdeposited by the husband. I didn't say nothing on account of not knowing nothing about wimmen, nothing fer shore, that is.

Yours truly,
Uncle Ned

Whereas, The Marshall County Board of Education desires to pay tribute to his memory.

Now Therefore be it Resolved, By a unanimous agreement, that as a mark of respect to the memory of Howard D. Dunigan, who for sixteen years served as a teacher in the Marshall County Schools, that the members of this Board of Education again express their profound sorrow for the untimely taking of a teacher who was loyal to his students, co-workers and friends, noble in soul and whose memory is enshrined in the hearts of all those who knew him, and

Be it further Resolved, That as a token of our esteem, a copy of these resolutions be spread on the minute book of the Marshall County Board of Education; a copy be furnished to the Tribune

Picture of Health

BY DR. H. N. SCHWINGER

The first of the year is always the best time to think seriously about weight problems. The holiday season with all of its temptations to overeating is gone, and the time for New Year's resolutions is upon us.

If you really are interested in reducing and intend including this among your New Year's resolutions, a few guiding principles might serve to go along with what your doctor says, after examining you, about your own reducing regime.

1. Forget the idea that excess poundage is a problem of metabolism rather than diet. This is an easy excuse for giving up on a diet. But the truth is that metabolic variations are usually slight enough to be controlled by a simple control of food intake.

2. Depend on your doctor for any reducing medicines. Those bought over the counter ($100 million a year) nearly always prove to be worthless or even dangerous.

3. As for food itself, give up only what you know is foolish; eat a little of all the rest. For energy, eat a ham and egg or all-meat breakfast.

4. What will you do with your new slim self? To give up eating excess food and the wrong food, you have to have a goal. What will your goal be? Health, looks, youth, freedom of movement, ease in clothes—some target you know is worthwhile.

Food-Family-Friends

BY SUNSHINE COLLEY

The new year starts with a new column for me. I hope in writing about food to give recipes, plans for meals and discuss "food comes you." In writing about family, its our relationship with our families, how food, shelter, clothing, money, color, affects our families. Families are important, but so are friends. Who are our friends? What is it to be a friend?

Now for a recipe, one that will fit into your new year's resolution — What about Waldorf salad?

Dice apples, celery, and nuts. Mix together with a small amount of salad dressing. This salad goes well with steak, gravy, mashed potatoes, green beans and hot biscuits. For dessert a baked custard would be fine. Some of us have apples, celery and nuts left over from the holidays and this salad would be a good way to use them up.

Have you thought about counting calories to help control your weight, to gain or to lose? We have a leaflet on calories or contact the Health Department.

What can you do to make a member of your family happy? The Homemakers are studying simple construction of clothing.

When they make a new cotton dress they should be happy and proud. If they make a new dress for their daughter, the little girl will be happy. Anyone interested in these lessons on making a cotton dress should contact a Homemaker or our Extension Office. We would like to have clothing groups start over the county or we can give you individual lesson sheets.

Another thing for our homes will be the making of wool rugs, both braided and hooked. Miss Marion Bartlett, University of Kentucky, will give a lesson on Monday, Jan. 15, at the Community Building. It is for anyone interested in making rugs. Bring all your old woolen pieces and your sewing equipment to the meeting at 9:30 Monday, Jan. 15. Call our Extension Office for more information.

Have you ordered your seed catalogues? It's so much fun to look at the beautiful pictures of fruits, vegetables and flowers.

On the sick list recently at the Baptist Hospital in Paducah were Mrs. Myrtle Byrd, of Rt. 3, Coy Lee, of Rt. 5, Charles E. Reid, of the county; Walter Griggs, of Calvert City at Lourdes; and Mrs. John C. Cross, of the county of at Lourdes.

Through Our Bifocals

BY WOODSON CROSS

The recent weather was a bit of a disappointment, but it didn't seem to bother the lawmakers.

It might have been a bit of a disappointment, but the lawmakers were kept warm with a good fire.

Money, as usual, was a topic for the lawmakers. They said they would get plenty of money, but not much of it.

DOWN HERE IN WEST VIRGINIA, we are about to have more of that "giveaway" money. Or maybe it'll be some of the old tax money returned to us.

We're going to have a shelter for the homeless. And we're going to have a shelter for the homeless.

Well, more underhanded, more of that "giveaway" money, more of that "giveaway" money, more of that "giveaway" money.

Of course, if fallow fields become as popular as the "giveaway" money, we'll have a problem.

BACK IN WORLD WAR I, the politicians had a different idea. They thought they were going to give us a "giveaway" money.

The Kaiser and his henchmen were going to give us a "giveaway" money. They thought they were going to give us a "giveaway" money.

Man, we were fooled. The politicians made it look like a "giveaway" money. But we were fooled.

Now, the politicians are back. They're going to give us a "giveaway" money. They thought they were going to give us a "giveaway" money.

THE COLD WAVE, however, is not the only thing that's bothering the politicians. They're also worried about the "giveaway" money.

An Iowa farmer, who has been a politician for many years, said he was worried about the "giveaway" money. He thought they were going to give us a "giveaway" money.

"I'd be glad to give you a "giveaway" money," he said. "But my car's broke down. You'll have to come and get it. WHAT?" cried the farmer.

AND DID YOU hear that? The politicians are back. They're going to give us a "giveaway" money. They thought they were going to give us a "giveaway" money.

Three meals a day, a new car, a new house, a new job, a new life—why shouldn't I be rich?" he shouted.

PARTING THOUGHT—If you can't hear a pin drop, there is something wrong with your hearing. Select your hearing.

Mrs. Chas. Walters' Father Is Buried

Survivors, besides Mrs. Walters, include another daughter, Mrs. Maurine Fredenburg, 2 grandchildren, 4 great-grandchildren, and two nephews. Mr. Walters died several years ago.
