NUMBER THIRTY-NINE

REGIONAL MEETING OF RED CROSS HELD HERE

The place of the American Red Cross in the national defense program was the theme of the regional conference of Red Cross chapter leaders held Tuesday at the First Christian Church in Fulton. Five West Kentucky Counties and two West Tennessee counties were represented. Supt. J. O. Lewis is chairman of the local chapter and presided at the luncheon which was served at noon by ladies of the church.

The meeting began at 10 o'clock and, following the invocation by Rev. L. M. Bratcher, pastor of the Liberty church, Mrs. Anne Byrd Vaughn, field representative, spoke on "The Red Cross in Kentucky Today."

Following luncheon the conference was addressed by John Cate, chairman of the state roll call committee in Tennessee, and G. E. Jones, national representative of the Red Cross, who spoke on "Red Cross Preparedness for National Defense."

The afternoon session was devoted to discussion of special gifts, group enrollment, business enrollment, residence enrollment, rural enrollment, value of workers' meetings, and publicity. Preceding adjournment Mrs. Vaughn gave a brief summary of the subjects covered in the discussion.

Attending the meeting were Red Cross leaders from Paducah, Bardwell, Fulton, Mayfield, Murray, and Hickman, Ky., and the Obion county and Henry County, Tennessee chapters. About 60 delegates were present.

The executive committee of the local chapter will meet next week to make final arrangements for the local roll call which will be held in November.

STATION PLATFORM IS REPAIRED

The Illinois Central system began work on black-topping the platform at the Fulton Passenger station Wednesday, with the work in charge of C. H. Crews, supervisor of bridges and building. This will be a great improvement as it will eliminate dust and mud.

LODGESTON HOMEMAKERS CLUB MET

The October meeting of the Lodgeston Homemakers Club was held Thursday morning, October 10, at half past ten o'clock, in the home of Mrs. C. R. Burnett. The rooms were decorated with miniature summer flowers.

The meeting was called to order by the chairman, Mrs. T. R. Williamson. After the musical exercises were conducted the members responded to roll call by answering the question, "Why is religion or spiritual life essential to our life?"

The first major project lesson, "Meal Planning," was given by the leader, Mrs. Myatt Johnson. The lesson stressed the essential food properties necessary for energy and health found in each day's menu. Also a review of vitamins was given. The minor lesson on "Social Graces" was directed by Mrs. Robert Thompson.

At the close of the study, a Hal-lowe'en entertainment for Thursday night, October 31, was planned and various committees were appointed. The recreation hour, led by Mrs. J. R. Powell, consisted of singing and a game.

A well-planned menu was served to the following members and visitors: Mesdames Henry Walker, Myatt Johnson, J. R. Powell, Charlie Hill, Marvin Inman, H. P. Roberts, T. E. Williamson, T. R. Williamson, H. C. Brown, C. R. Burnett, Herbert Howell and Miss Jeanette Inman, Malcolm Inman, Daise Bonduant, Harold Parham, Lucy Burnett, and Miss Myrtle Burnett.

Jack Martens of Chicago said he was "just having fun" when he ripped a policeman's raincoat and pulled the tail of the cop's horse, but it cost him a $10 fine and eight hours in jail.

District Governor At Lions Club Friday

Chris Russell of Maysville, district governor of the Kentucky District of Lions Clubs, was a guest at the meeting of the Fulton Lions Club last Friday. Mr. Russell is on a tour of all clubs in the district and was introduced by Dr. Russell Rudd, who served on the district cabinet last year. Mr. Russell stated that the growth of Lions Clubs over the state is rapid. There are now forty clubs in Kentucky, almost twice the number in 1939. The district governor said that he expects the number to increase even more next year.

Goadler Johnson Dies At Hickman

Goadler Johnson, retired farmer and prominent in county and state politics in his native state, Kentucky, died Thursday, Oct. 10, at his home in Hickman. He was 54. He had been critically ill since last Sunday and had been in failing health for the past two years, spending much time in the Baptist hospital at Memphis.

At the time of his election as sheriff of Fulton County in 1909, he was 23, the youngest sheriff ever elected in Kentucky. He was re-elected in 1929. He was postmaster at Hickman for more than nine years, receiving his commission in 1914. He was a personal friend of Senator Alben W. Barkley, with whom he worked many years.

Mr. Johnson, born at Hickman, spent his entire life in that community except while attending law school in Louisville. His father, W. C. Johnson, was sheriff of Fulton county for several years. He was a charter member and exalted ruler of the Elks at Fulton, a Mason, member of the Modern Woodmen of America and the Hickman Lions Club and belonged to the First Methodist church.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Kate Johnson; two foster daughters, Mrs. Otis Warlick of Memphis and Miss Florence Smith of Frankfort; a sister, Mrs. W. E. Bondurant of Roswell, N. M.; two half-brothers, Olney and Murray Johnson of Hickman; and his step-mother, Mrs. Cora Johnson of Hickman.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon in Hickman.

I. C. NEWS

The following officials and employees of the Illinois Central System were in Fulton Wednesday: A. U. Given, district traffic agent, Jackson; J. L. Beven, president, Chicago; A. C. Mann, vice president, Chicago; T. K. Williams, superintendent, Water Valley; J. W. Kern, superintendent, Paducah; Herbert Williams, Jr., secretary, Paducah; C. M. Chumley, district engineer, Memphis; T. M. Pittman, division engineer, Water Valley; C. H. Crews, supervisor of bridges and buildings, Water Valley; F. J. Coats, instrument man, Water Valley; and H. M. Copp, engineer, Memphis.

W. H. Street, trainmaster, Blufford, was in Fulton Tuesday night. I. D. Holmes, trainmaster, was in Mayfield Wednesday.

BOB COPELAND TAKES OVER ILLINOIS OIL CO.

Bob Copeland of Bardwell, Ky., who has been engaged in the petroleum business there for the past seven years, has taken over the Illinois Oil Company in this city. He succeeds Herman Sams, who has operated the bulk plant and service of this company in Fulton for the past seven years. Mr. Sams will devote his attention to his farm, located on the Fulton-Mayfield highway.

Glenn Knighton will be in charge of the Illinois Service Station, which is located on Fourth-st opposite the American Legion Cabin. A special offer is made to patrons on opening day this Saturday, as explained in an advertisement on an inside page.

16,404,000 YOUNG MEN REGISTER IN U.S.

Wednesday was registration day for the nation's young men who placed themselves at their country's call for military training, in the first draft registration ever conducted with America at peace. In every community approximately 16,404,000 men, answered a series of eleven questions, signed their names and await the results of a gigantic lottery that will determine which of them must spend a year in military camps. All men between 21 and 35, inclusive, had to register.

Sometime between October 26 and November 2, officials said, the lottery will be held. Numbered slips in opaque capsules piled into a huge gold fish bowl will be drawn. The relationship of the numbers, as drawn, to the numbers on the filing card which the registrant signed will determine the order in which those who registered may be called to military service. 1,871 registered in Fulton county with 565 in Fulton, 798 in Hickman, 294 in Sasafra Ridge, 137 in Cayce, 47 in Crutchfield and 40 at Madrid Bend.

In South Fulton there were 353 who registered.

F. D. E. A. Met In Murray Oct. 11-12

The First District Education Association held its sixth annual meeting at Murray State College Friday and Saturday, Oct. 11-12. J. C. Maddox, principal of Lone Oak High School, was elected as president, succeeding Hickman Baldree, superintendent of Graves County schools.

Teachers of the Fulton City schools attended the meeting. Those present from Fulton were Supt. J. O. Lewis, Lawrence Holland, Miss Mary Royster, Mrs. Trevor Whayne, Mrs. G. B. Butterworth, Miss Mary Martin, Miss Augusta Ray, Mrs. Walter Voelpel, Mrs. Hugh Pigue, Herschel Giles, Uel Killebrew, Mrs. M. C. Payne, Miss Elizabeth Butt, Miss Carolyn Beadles, Miss June Dixon, Miss Fern Snow, Miss Pauline Thompson, Miss Fannie Lee Nix, Miss Lee Ella Lowe, Miss Katherine Williamson, Mr. and Mrs. Yewell Harrison, Mrs. Jessie Lee Fleming, Mrs. Robert Burrow and Miss Ruby Boyd Alexander.

Mr. Harrison, Fulton high school band director, was elected president of the Kentucky Band and Orchestra Association.

SAFETYGRAMS

In spite of all the safety activities throughout the country, in spite of excellent and well-trained traffic police, and in spite of all the educational work that is being done in our schools, we cannot have safe highways without good courts.

All of the safety work that is being done, such as erecting warning signs, carefully issuing licenses building smooth road surfaces, and passing speed laws is ineffective if willful violators know they can "get away with it."

Good laws become useless when the courts fail to back them. There is a tendency in every community to have some influential people with the police department or the courts try to "fix" tickets. This nullifies all the good work the police are doing, and breaks down the morale in the department. The justice of the peace, or even the judge in the court room, instead of helping a community and protecting its citizens, is doing just the opposite.

OBION COUNTY NEWS

The new Obion county court house at Union City will be dedicated Saturday, October 26, according to tentative plans. Senator K. D. McKellar and Congressman Jere Cooper are scheduled to be present for the occasion.

Work has been started on the new armory at Union City, and the building is expected to be completed by December 15.

BULLDOGS HOLD MURRAY TO TIE

The Fulton Bulldogs held the Murray Tigers to a 7-7 deadlock in the annual homecoming game played at Fairfield Park here Thursday night of last week. It was an offensive first half and a defensive second half, with the local team outplaying the visitors, despite the tied score.

Murray received the ball first, as end runs by Poly and Williams and bullet passes from Buchanan to Williams and Fair carried the ball from their own 20-yard line to the Fulton 20, where Williams fumbled and White recovered for Fulton on their own 25-yard line.

Then with McClellan and White carrying the ball, clipped off four first downs for a first and ten on the Murray 39-yard line where Bobby Merryman on a beautiful reverse, went across the goal line untouched, as the Bulldogs blocked to perfection. The extra point was made by a bit of fake as White, holding the ball for Williamson to kick from placement, raised up and shot a bullet pass to Nelms in the end zone. Score Fulton 7, Murray 0.

Both teams threatened again, but only to be thrown back by a good defense. Fulton had just completed a nice pass from White to Nelms, which carried to the Tigers 20-yard line as the half ended. Then again as the game ended the Bulldogs again drove down the field. Two long passes, which shot like bullets from Williamson to Nelms carried to the Murray 30. Once Darter White was almost away for the last white stripe, when he hid out for a sleeper and caught the Murray boys asleep, but he fumbled the ball after having run about 20 yards.

The Bulldogs had a decided advantage over Murray Tigers. They gained 221 net yards from scrimmage, while the Murraymen were picking up only 98. In every quarter, but the last Fulton prevailed in this department, when the Tigers gained 23 yards on the ground to the Bulldogs 20. The Fulton boys passed six times completing four for 82 yards, while the Tigers were completing eight out of 13 for 43 yards. Fulton was penalized 70 yards, while the Tigers of Murray drew only five yards in penalties.

BULLDOGS WILL PLAY CADIZ TODAY

The Fulton Bulldogs will play Trigg county at Cadiz today at 2:30 p. m. Next Friday night at 7:30 the Russellville Panthers will play the Bulldogs at Fairfield Park in the last home game of the season.

FORMAL OPENING OF NEW HOSPITAL

The formal opening of the new Haws-Weaver Hospital on Main St. was held Sunday afternoon with several hundred attending. The new building is complete and modern in every way, with the newest and latest style equipment and furniture.

The first floor is occupied by Dr. Haws, Dr. Weaver, Dr. J. C. Hancock, eye, ear, nose and throat specialist, and Dr. R. E. Bard, dentist. The X-ray and operating rooms are also on the ground floor. The second floor has about 12 hospital rooms, an apartment for Dr. Weaver, resident physician and rooms for the nurses.

South Fulton Will Play Bethel

The South Fulton six-man football team will play the Bethel College freshmen from McKenzie here tonight at 8 o'clock at Southside park. The Young Men's Business Club is sponsoring this game.

A parade will be held at 7 p. m. and leading the parade will be Misses Nell Bizzle, Maybelle Lintz and Mary Ruth Johnson.

The Red Devils have had a successful season and this will probably be their closest contest, as the two teams are about evenly matched.

Youth President Will Speak at Martin

Lloyd Ramer, president of the Memphis Conference Youth Union, will be the principal speaker at the quarterly meeting of the Union City District Youth Union, meeting at the Methodist church in Martin Monday night, October 21. Rev. J. A. Fisher of Jackson, Conference Youth Director, will also speak at this meeting. Special music, including a solo by Miss Melba Jackson, district director, will be a feature of this outstanding program. Recreation will be directed by Miss Florence Elliott of Martin.

Mr. Ramer, a ministerial student of Lambuth College, is considered one of the best young speakers in the Memphis Conference. He is now serving his second year as president and will have a timely message for the young people of this district. Rev. Fisher is also an able speaker and will bring a brief message to the Union.

One of the largest crowds ever to attend a district Union meeting is expected at Martin Monday night. Every minister in the district is urged to attend this Youth meeting.

PAUL DURBIN PASSES BAR EXAMINATION

Paul James Durbin of Fulton was among eighty young attorneys who passed the Kentucky bar examinations last June, and admitted to practice by the Court of Appeals this week.

Henry White Roberts, Jr., and Roy Tooms of Clinton were also among those passing.

FULTON HOSPITAL

Smith Bolin is improving after an operation.

Mrs. Sam Brown and sons are getting along fine.

Mrs. Juanita Rash was dismissed Saturday.

Bonnie Ruth Ross underwent a tonsil operation Monday and has been dismissed.

Mrs. Lowell Weatherspoon and baby were dismissed Sunday.

Joe Davis underwent a minor operation last week-end and has been dismissed.

Hugh Edd Henry has been dismissed.

UNION LADIES' AID TO MEET

Members of the Ladies' Aid and Missionary Society of Union Church will hold their monthly meeting Wednesday, October 23, at the home of Mrs. Daise Bonduant at Cayce, beginning at 10:30 a. m.

Visitors are welcome to attend this meeting.

COTTON GINNING REPORT

Census report, according to a recent release by the Department of Commerce, shows that 817 bales of cotton were ginned in Fulton County from the crop of 1940 prior to October 1, as compared with 3479 bales for the crop of 1939.

To celebrate her eighty-fifth birthday, Miss Ella Hooper of Parkton, Md., took an airplane ride over the town.

The function of one member of a club in Reidsville, S. C., is to object to every proposal, regardless of its merit, lest the club adopt it too hastily.

PERSHING CLASS TO BE INITIATED

Arrangements are being made to initiate a John J. Pershing class in local Elks club on Nov. 18, according to an announcement by F. A. Homra, Exalted Ruler of the Fulton Elks Lodge.

General Pershing, last surviving Commander of the World War, has been a member of the Elks order for many years. Initiation of this class is a part of the general defense program which has been started by leaders of the Order.

I. C. SUPERVISOR DIED TUESDAY NIGHT

T. E. Downard, about 55 years of age, supervisor of bridges and building for the Illinois Central System, Paducah, died suddenly in Princeton at eleven o'clock on Tuesday night. Apparently his death was the result of a heart attack.

Mr. Downard is well known among Illinois Central employees in Fulton.

Mr. T. A. Parham spent last Thursday and Friday in Chicago.

WEATHER AND THE WAR

Not only England, but a large part of the whole world, is speculating on what effect the coming of bad weather may have on German bombing raids. It has been generally believed that the storms and fogs soon to be prevalent over the English channel will serve to hamper the German attacks.

It has been observed, however, that in some instances in recent weeks successful German air raids have been made in spite of heavy clouds and rain. British bombers have also inflicted much damage on the Germans at times when the weather was apparently unfavorable.

There is little likelihood that bombing raids by either side will be discontinued except temporarily because of bad weather, but it will be difficult to do more than attempt to reach objectives thru blind flying and drop bombs pretty much at random. Thus any damage done will likely be at the expenditure of an enormous amount of bombs in comparison with the results obtained, and hitting important military bases will be largely accidental.

Because storms travel mostly from west to east, the British will have a considerable advantage, as the weather England has one day will generally prevail over Germany about 24 hours later. No weather forecasts are given out in England, so the Germans will have little information as to what to expect until they run into it.

On the whole, England expects to get much relief from the fogs and mists which prevail from about October until March, and these are hopefully awaited.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN AMERICAN BUSINESS

By John Craddock
BUSINESS—Thumb-nail report: Business—Good, though spotty; Industrial activity — High, rising, and steady; Profits—Uncertain.

Weigh these brief items thoughtfully and you can see the trend developing in the current "billions-for-defense-but-no-war" millionaires" situation. The steel rate moved up another 1.6 points, to reach 94.2 per cent of capacity, highest level since last December's terrific boom. Commodity prices held strong. Commercial loans of Federal Reserve banks rose $55,000,000, indicating that business men are willing to enlarge commitments in expectation of a continued high rate of activity.

But, contrarily, the profit picture is pretty drab. The stock market tells the story: although industrial activity is higher than in 1937, stock prices are 40 per cent lower. That means that, while business generally is satisfied that the defense program assures a steady flow of high activity for months—even years—it is having to adjust itself to a new situation with respect to profits, mainly because the direct costs of doing business, tax-wise and otherwise, are going up and up and up.

WASHINGTON — Contrary to earlier expectations that agencies like WPA would curtail activities as the defense program spurred general industrial work, it now appears the latter will, instead, give the WPA a new lease on life. Its payroll now covering about 1,718,000 persons, has remained pretty much unchanged since early summer, but now the agency is busying itself with projects like airport and rifle range construction, and armory rehabilitation, and expects to play an important part in military road and bridge building. More appropriation?

The treasury has ruled that salaries paid to employees while they are absent in military service or serving the government "in other ways" for a "nominal" compensation, are deductible from gross income in computing federal income taxes, either personal or corporate. Similar allowance was made during the 1914-18 war.

COUNTY CO-OPERATION—Although leading political scientists recognize that U. S. counties are too small and could be governed more efficiently and economically if several sparsely settled counties were consolidated into a single large one, most state constitutions prohibit such a move. The answer, according to the National Consumers Tax Commission, is "functional" consolidation in which two or more counties cooperate in the joint administration of various services—road building, public health, flood control or other functions in which they have a mutual concern. The benefits are shown, the NCTC says, by the experience of four Virginia counties which, by consolidating their four county almshouses and one city almshouse into a single district institution, effected a saving of 20 per cent per inmate in the first year—and at the same time gave the inmates better care.

BITS O' BUSINESS—E. R. Stettinius, head of industrial materials for Defense commission, says supplies of manganese now estimated as adequate for more than two years' need, and tin stocks equivalent to year's supply—both vital war materials. . . . Nation's railroads are expected to purchase close to 100,000 new freight cars within the next 12 months. . . . Retail sales gains have not been so pronounced in last fortnight as during August and early September, but October is expected to wind up with an "index" as 100 based on the 1923-25 average. . . . Note on problems of converting auto manufacturing plants for defense goods production: scarcely 10 per cent of a typical auto plant's tools and machinery is "adaptable" to military goods production, even airplane motors. . . . Private industrial construction contracts let during September totaled $63,306,000—almost triple the volume for that month in 1939 and higher than for any single month in recent years.

RUBBER ANALYSIS — War's spread has greatly deepened concern over our rubber supply problem, with 96 per cent of our natural rubber having to come through Far East trouble zone. The problem may be eased by boosting production of synthetic rubbers here, but that takes precious time. In the most succinct sum-up to date, John L. Collyer, president of the B. F. Goodrich company, told the famed Sales executives club in New York that 18 months would be required to build and start operating one 35,000-ton synthetic plant—and that this "time lag" must be weighed before assuming that the synthetic type offers an immediate safeguard against possible shortage of natural rubber. He analyzed the nation's rubber position as "four months' supply here, three months' afloat, three months' supply of finished goods on hand—grand total of 10 months' supply," which could be stretched a couple months by greater use of reclaimed rubber. He said his company's view was that free competition should be the prime factor in the government's plans to create essential "standby" facilities for synthetic production.

THINGS TO WATCH FOR—Two new ideas in paints: One, for hospital and children's rooms, has chlorine or iodine mixed in and kills germs, molds and yeast; another to be "starred" in a movie, renders floors invisible to the camera and thus makes actors appear to be walking on air.

After 35 years of service, a threshing machine owned by the Osborne brothers of Meador, Ky., still runs satisfactorily.

Alex Cizaski of Seattle, Wash., slipped away, clad only in a night shirt and blanket, when he became terrified by glimpses of gleaming instruments to be used for his operation.

A divorce was granted Mrs. Helen Howard of Belmont, Mass., when she asserted she couldn't sleep because of her husband's efforts to "get into psychic communication with his ancestors."

Money Talks

By Frederick Stamm, Economist

UNIVERSITY OF LOUISVILLE

What to do with surplus farm crops is still one of America's great, if not greatest, problems.

Although farmers have cut production of many crops, surpluses of staple commodities are still accumulating at a rate which is likely to bring further subsidized consumption (free food and textile cards) and increased government control over agricultural markets and exports. The government-owned Surplus Commodities Corporation is expected to have at the end of the present season around 11,700,000 bales of cotton, 300,000,000 bushels of wheat and 500,000,000 bushels of corn on hand. This represents approximately a year's production of cotton, a half year's production of wheat and a quarter year's production of corn. The Surplus Commodities Corporation will have an investment of about $1,250,000,000 in these crops.

Many factors have contributed to this situation: The world economic depression followed by extremely nationalistic attitudes on the part of European governments; the increased production of South American agricultural areas; and the shrinkage of our farm exports due to the European blockades.

Practically every agricultural country is plagued by farm surpluses. Each one is attempting to sell its excess in the same markets with the result that prices have been driven to a low level.

Now what is the outlook for the remainder of 1940 and 1941? Rather dark, I believe. Our own increase in industrial production will absorb only a small part of the surplus. Europe is still at war and likely will be during 1941—with the blockade being tightened. Even after the war South America, Australia and Canada, as well as the U. S., will be seeking European markets for their surplus crops. As a result, the only way we can materially reduce our farm surplus is through more free food cards and greatly subsidized exports—a decent stop-gap method but certainly not good enough as a permanent policy.

I predict that it will take a long time to work out this surplus commodities problem.

Pedestrians have a definite responsibility for their own safety and the safety of others.

Two of every five persons killed in motor vehicle accidents are pedestrians. In cities, pedestrians have numbered 61 per cent of all persons killed in traffic accidents. I know of one community where only five deaths occurred in the last six years, and only five were pedestrians, and all of them were over sixty years of age.

It is not always the automobile driver's fault. Pedestrians sometimes are very careless about crossing the street at intersections and intentionally neglect to carry out their part of the program.

They must be convinced that the program of pedestrian control is for their protection, and they should co-operate by complying with all the rules and regulations.

An Arch Starcher

A VISITING archdeacon of the Episcopal church was the guest of a southern household. He would remain over the week-end and on Sunday hold services for the local parish. So his hostess sent his vestments off with the family laundry after explaining to her colored wash-woman that the owner of the garments was a dignitary of importance. On the following morning she was summoned to the telephone. At the other end of the line was the laundress. "Miss Harrison," she asked, "do de archangel want his shroud starched?" (American News Features, Inc.)

ECONOMIC HIGHLIGHTS

It was inevitable that the recent meeting between Hitler and Mussolini at Brenner Pass should have been immediately followed by reports that the Axis has completed plans for invading England this fall or winter, bad weather notwithstanding. To some neutral military experts, this is almost incredible—it would involve the greatest and most far-reaching risks that Hitler has as yet taken. Despite that, however, there is at least one sound reason for believing that the reports may prove true. That reason is two-fold: famine and disease, two of the most deadly of the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse.

No one knows exactly how serious the food situation is in Hitler-occupied Europe. But it is known that the conquered countries have been systematically gutted of their food reserves, in order that the German Army and the German people can be fed. The fine dairy herds of Denmark, products of centuries of development, have been slaughtered for beef. Already the people of Holland, Belgium, France and elsewhere have felt the pinch, as basic foods, notably fats, become more scarce. Germany, because of her seizures, is better off than most, but even there the people exist on a bare subsistence basis.

Great wars have always brought the threat of famine, and sometimes the actuality. But it is a reasonable supposition that this war, different as it is from its predecessors in so many ways, may be the precursor of greater hunger than the modern world has known. In the past, nations, when embarking on the great adventure that is war, have usually been fat, prosperous, well-fed. But the Germans, long before war began last September, were living on short rations. And the wars of the past were usually fought by professional armies, at least at the beginning, and military life was but one phase of the life of the nation. In the present case, Germany, and to a lesser extent Italy, have been following a war economy for many years—everything, men and material alike, has been dedicated to preparing for conflict. Production of food has necessarily been held to the lowest possible minimum—substitutes of little nutritional value have long been employed. It is not unnatural that serious diseases have been growing in both number and intensity for many moons in Germany and Italy.

Disease, of course, is the ever-present ally of famine—and disease, once it gets the upper hand, becomes plague. Plague, according to the international grapevine that mysteriously brings news past the iron-clad European censorship, has already come to Poland. And plague respects no boundaries. The lack of soap in Europe is a factor here—dirt provides the finest possible breeding place for any kind of disease.

Europe has never been completely self-contained—it must import. Today there is almost no commerce between the old world and the new, save for that which is controlled by Britain. The British fleet is carrying on the blockade effectively, and is prepared to extend it—as, for example, to Spain—if necessary. If Britain were to fall, the great Axis' merchant marine could again go to the four corners of the world, to come home laden with all that the people of Europe now lack. So long as Britain survives, the Axis will be able to obtain almost nothing outside the gutted land it dominates. If Hitler does attempt an "all-out" blow against England soon, this will be one of the principal reasons for it.

There are some who believe that the possibility of famine points to the way that the dictator's grip on Europe may finally be loosened. A hungry people, they reason, will revolt against their masters—there is little choice between suicide and starvation. But there is another side to this. As Alan Gregg writes in the Yale Review, "There are varieties of starvation. Reduce abruptly all forms of food after an adequate diet, and you will be strong enough to riot for food; gradually reduce to zero some essential of your diet, and you will finally be too weakened to protest with energy." So famine in captured nations might actually play into Hitler's hand by lessening the ability of the conquered peoples to effectively protest.

It is not expected that there will be widespread famine this winter. It is considered almost a certainty that it will come in grave form next winter, however, if the war is still going on then, and Britain still rules the waves. Few experts dare anticipate what Europe will be like if the war lasts four of five years, as some military authorities think it may. The people would be literally decimated—victims of war who never saw a battle, and never heard the wail of a bullet.

Some in this country would help the conquered peoples with food and other necessities. But Britain has so far refused to pass relief ships through the blockade, on the very reasonable theory that the dictators would seize their cargoes once they were delivered. Europe will not get much help from us.

COUNTY AGENT

The end of the year is approaching, tenants are making plans for another year; owners are making plans for tenants for another year, and the time is at hand where trades and agreements will be made between the landlord and tenant.

The County Extension Office has received samples of lease agreements prepared by the Bureau of Agriculture Economics, Washington, and any landlord or tenant in Fulton County who is interested can get some valuable information on these agreements.

The office also has sample forms of leases and can secure additional for our landlords and tenants to sign, should they want them. If all tenants and landlords had assigned written leases or crop agreements as to what each one was to furnish and benefits each were to receive, it would eliminate a lot of controversy later on in the year.

Any person interested in these agreements or leases is invited to come to the County Agent's Office and look these samples over.

Poultry

1941 Poultry Calendars are in the County Agent's office for the use of those interested in completing records on their poultry flock. The Poultry Calendars began October 1 and ends September 30, 1941. Calendars completed in 1940 show a good profit made in poultry.

You do not know whether you are making or losing in your poultry game unless you keep records.

Rats

A County - Wide Rat-Killing campaign is to be announced soon from the County Agent's office. We will announce to you the plan and the date within the next few days, and we would like for each farmer or business man to take part in this rat-killing campaign.

Mr. and Mrs. Ras Barovich of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., settled a dispute over the naming of their twins, arising from different political views by naming one boy Wendell Delano and the other Franklin Willkie.

A Dallas woman, suing for a divorce, said she didn't mind paying her husband five dollars a week for room and board, but she objected to paying for gas used when she ran errands in the family automobile. She won her case.

After walking a mile for a gallon of gas for his stalled auto, George Zimmerman of Superior, Wis., put the fuel in the tank of a car belonging to someone else.

Joe Stern of Roanoke, Va., has saved motorists over $30 in fines. He drops nickels into parking meters, which are about to run over-time, and leaves a card explaining what he has done. Only five have failed to return his coin.

To have a stray 22 caliber bullet which lodged at the base of his skull removed, Arthur Boivert of Lowell, Mass., walked four miles to a hospital.

"What you Americans call 'the gag,' no?"

FOREIGN VISITORS in America find it hard to believe scenes like this. They think such things are deliberately arranged to impress them. They cannot believe it happens every day in every state in the Union.

Well, it is something you won't see anywhere in the world except in America. For only in America does the working man enjoy a standard of living that permits so many employees to roll up to their jobs on the wheels of their own automobiles!

What our foreign visitors fail to understand is that in America people go up as prices go down. For we're quick to reflect improved conditions, quick to step up to better living when lowered prices make it possible for us to do so.

Take electric service. Each year America enjoys a rapidly increasing number of the good things electric service buys. This is possible because rates have been reduced to about 50% of what they were ten or twelve years ago.

And because, with our modern rates, the dollar buys twice as much electricity as it used to, millions of people can escape from the humdrum drudgery of housework, are free to enjoy more leisure time, can taste to the full the joys of better living.

We of the electric industry have worked hard to free the factory worker from manual labor, and homemakers from hard work—to put such things as easy washing, cool ironing, good lighting within the reach of every family.

We pledge ourselves to continue our work of bringing to you the means of better living at lower cost.

DEATHS

MRS. REBECCA SMITH
Mrs. Rebecca Myrick Smith, age 85, died Tuesday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. L. Jones on Eddings street, following a short illness. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock from the Methodist church in Dresden, conducted by Rev. H. W. Davis and Rev. W. H. Saxon. Burial was in Pleasant Hill cemetery in charge of W. W. Jones & Sons.

Palbearers were Dr. J. L. Jones, W. L. Carter, Lee Brasfield, A. C. Hughes, Joan Lloyd Jones and Tom Duke.

Mrs. Smith was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Myrick, some of the first settlers of Weakley County, and she was born Dec. 17, 1854, near Dresden. She was married to Neal Smith and to this union eight children were born. Her husband and four children preceded her in death. For several years she has made her home with Mrs. Jones.

Surviving her are four daughters, Mrs. Jones and Mrs. W. L. Carter, both of Fulton, Mrs. Allison Hughes of Dickson, Tenn., and Mrs. Rufus Duke of Memphis. She also leaves eight grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

She was a member of the Methodist Church.

A. B. GOODIN

A. B. Goodin of Memphis died Thursday, Oct. 10, in the St. Joseph Hospital in Memphis. The body was brought to Fulton for burial Saturday and short services were held at Fairview cemetery.

Mr. Goodin, Illinois Central railroad employe, lived in Fulton for many years and is well known here.

MRS. IDA COLLINS

Mrs. Ida Collins, wife of Joe Collins, died Sunday afternoon at five o'clock at her home on the Union City highway. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at Shady Grove Church. Burial in charge of Hornbeak Funeral Home, was in the church cemetery.

She is survived by her husband, two sons and two daughters, all of Detroit.

BUSINESS MEN OVER FORTY IN DANGER

In Europe many strong young men are being killed in war these days, but in America the heavy toll is among men in their forties, fifties and early sixties. Every day newspapers tell us of leaders in America's business and professional life who are suddenly stricken down in the prime of their usefulness.

Interviewed as to the cause of this high mortality, Dr. John E. Gorrell, administrator at the Battle Creek Sanitarium, stated: "American business and professional are wrecking havoc among these men of forty and more. They are dying altogether too soon, just when their families, their communities and their nation need them most."

Asked to name the chief physical enemies that are so effectually attacking business and professional men today, he pointed out that heart disease, high blood pressure and arterial disease, kidney disease, nervous disorders, cancer and gastro-intestinal troubles, are the worst enemies of America's men of responsibility and leadership. He stressed the point that most of these are not germ-caused diseases; they fall into the classification of "degenerative diseases."

"We moderns know how to control germ-caused diseases; typhoid, scarlet fever, diphtheria, smallpox and tuberculosis," continued Dr. Gorrell. "But the degenerative diseases which come about because of the age of the individual plus wrong living habits, too much work, strain, stress, too little rest and relaxation, are the troubles which are mowing down so many of our valuable people forty years of age and more."

Medical authorities state that the greatest enemy of all is heart disease and it is peculiarly the affliction of business and professional men. It takes 266 out of each 100,000 of our population each year, while the next most lethal disease, cancer, takes only 111. In other words, heart disease kills about 350,000 people in America each year, and cancer kills 150,000 of whom 65,000 are men. To prevent this high mortality, and to ward off his physical enemies, the man 40-60 should have a thorough physical examination at least twice a year.

$200,000,000 FOR WHAT???

That group of politicians whose principal aim in life seems to be to socialize electric power industry of the United States, has a new idea concerning Bonneville and Grand Coulee dams in the Pacific Northwest, two of the links in the Federal Government's great multi-billion-dollar power web to cover the nation.

Bonneville (Grand Coulee is not yet finished) has not been accepted with open arms by local taxpayers. Revenue from sale of power has been far under the forecasts. It was originally expected that industries and communities would literally fight each other to sign contracts for purchase of the power. Actual experience has been the opposite. Industries have come slowly to the Bonneville area. Municipalities have shown a strong disinclination to go into debt to acquire transmission lines to furnish a service they have long enjoyed from private enterprise, merely to use the juice provided by the nation's taxpayers—in fact, not a single large community has as yet voted "yes" for public power.

Hence the new proposal, which takes the form of a bill introduced in both houses of Congress to ac-usually force private companies out of existence. This bill would authorize the Bonneville Administrator to issue $200,000,000 worth of government guaranteed bonds for financing acquisitions made by Bonneville and Grand Coulee, which would be put under the control of a single agency. In other words, the Administrator could spend this money (which would be added to the present staggering public debt) for buying out existing private utilities, whether the public or local communities liked it or not. And don't forget—those bonds would be an indebtedness against the whole country, not just against the area which Bonneville and Grand Coulee can serve.

In other words, the anti-private enterprise politicians seem determined to go to any length to force socialized power down the throats of the people—and to spend any amount of public money necessary to gain their end. The latest disguise for the expansion of their plan is to urge more public power dams in the name of national defense and security. Just ordinary observation should riddle that argument. If any selection of the country is dependent on two or three great dams for electric service, a half-dozen bombs accurately aimed, could destroy their power supply for an indefinite period. Private utilities, by contrast, usually depend on a large number of smaller generating plants well scattered about their states. If this country ever is attacked, nothing could play into the hands of an enemy better than to have all the power generating facilities located in plain sight at a few points along the great and easily-followed rivers.

Can a majority of the people be fooled when every nickel of public money should be applied to real national defense, instead of to purposes that discourage and cripple an existing essential industry and distract attention from the real problems and emergencies this country faces?

FORMULA FOR SUCCESS

A recent issue of Fortune carries a long illustrated story concerning Safeway Stores, Inc.—which is one of the biggest food grocery chains of the country.

This company, says Fortune, has "a simple formula for success: it behaves as if it were operated for the benefit of its producers, employees and consumers."

The result is that housewives have come to look on Safeway as an excellent place to buy their groceries—that producers look on it as a stable and fair-dealing market—and that its employees regard it as a great outfit for which to work, which offers the ambitious and the able every chance for advancement.

This company happens to be a run. The "gyp" in any business is soon found out—and when that happens, it isn't long until there is a "for lease" sign on his door.

American retailing, like other American industry, makes no pre-learning, still developing, still intense of being perfect. It is still novating. What American retailing has done is to give all of us better service than was ever known before. And American retailing's ambition is to do a still better job in the future.

"It Looked Like I Would Never Find A Medicine To Help Me," Says Mrs. Cartwright. Strongly Praises Retonga.

Of thousands of grateful public endorsements given Retonga, by well-known men and women, none is more remarkable nor expresses more gratitude perhaps than that of Mrs. W. M. Cartwright, of Route 1, Cobb, Ky., who gratefully gives this purely vegetable stomachic medicine her public endorsement so others suffering as she did may know about it.

"I suffered several years from sluggish elimination, and insufficient flow of gastric juices in the stomach and with the consequent distresses of indigestion, headaches, dizziness, muscular pains and sleeplessness," states Mrs. Cartwright. "The little food I forced myself to swallow caused indigestion, I had to take harsh laxatives daily for constipation, and I lost much weight and strength."

"Retonga promptly relieved me after all other medicines I tried had failed. Its laxative effect was mild and satisfying, and the pains in my muscles are relieved. I sleep sound every night now, I eat heartily and so have regained fifteen pounds and am much stronger. I feel that I can hardly praise Retonga enough."

Retonga is a purely vegetable stomachic medicine, intended to increase the flow of gastric juices in the stomach and help nature remove toxic wastes from the bowels. Genuine Retonga may be obtained at DeMyer Drug Co. Adv.

This Is A Small Measure of Roosevelt's Service to Our People:

Under Roosevelt, Farm Income has nearly doubled. Farm Mortgage interest charges are 40 per cent less than in 1928. Soil Conservation program has saved 30,000,000 acres. Farm loans have increased the net worth of borrowers 37 per cent. One-fourth of all farms now have access to electricity.

Under Roosevelt, total non-agricultural employment is 9,000,000 greater than 7 years ago. Weekly Payrolls are $113,000,000 greater than they were 7 years ago. Wage earners have benefited by laws enacted granting unemployment compensation, old age insurance and assistance to needy blind and dependent children. Wage and Hour Act has reduced hours and increased pay of millions of workers. Collective bargaining has brought a decrease of industrial disputes.

Under Roosevelt, National Income increased from $40,000,000,000 in 1932 to $69,500,000,000 in 1939. Employment increased from 37.5 million in 1932 to 45.3 million in 1939. Loans totaling $5,000,000,000 have been made to aid banks. Government purchases of $6,000,000,000 helped every kind of business.

Under Roosevelt, 20,000,000 depositors benefited by RFC loans to banks. Loans have been made to 1,500,000 farmers; 150,000 stockmen, 20,000 disaster sufferers and to 200,000 families for purchasing electrical appliances. Federal Housing Administration has enabled 600,000 families to build or finance homes.

Under Roosevelt in the last 7 years, public works programs have produced $18,000,000,000 worth of public properties and services. WPA has built 450,000 miles of roads; 93,000 bridges; 88,000 public buildings; 12,000 miles of water lines. WPA served 386,000,000 lunches to undernourished children. PWA financed work since 1933 has constituted 70 per cent of all educational construction. PWA has accounted for more than $3,200,000,000 in orders for materials.

Under Roosevelt, the U. S. Navy, destroyed under Republican administrations, has become the most powerful in the world. The Army, which had been reduced and neglected, is being brought up to an authorized strength of 500,000 officers and men. Air forces already increased can now expand easily to a strength of 50,000 planes. When defense program is complete the United States will have a two ocean Navy or 733 fighting ships.

FROM FIREPLACE TO HEATERS

When I was caught in a storm not long ago in the Mammoth Cave National Park, I sought refuge for the night in an old deserted church. There I found among other remnants of former times a Wilson heater. In the silent watches of the night when I tried to sleep on the floor, I began to connect that old stove with a whole cycle of changes in the heating of houses.

Forty years ago it was practically impossible to find in most rural sections any other way of heating a house except with the open fireplace. That was the style we had inherited. It was always necessary to get out in the worst weather and cut more. Practically all of the heat went up the chimney, however poetic the open fire may have been. One side, at least, was warm when the open fireplace was in its heyday. Backlog, firestick, andirons, taking up the ashes, cooking on the fire, wood ashes for lye and soap-making—all of these were tied in with the big open fireplace.

By degrees came heaters, but for many years they had to fight their way. They were called unhealthful, because they heated the air of the room too much. The fact that they consumed much less wood was in their favor, but it is hard to give up old things. Stove-wood is so much smaller that it does not take so much strength to carry a load of it as to wrestle with a huge backstick. The wood for the stove is likely to be sawed and not chopped at the woodpile, thus depriving the household of the useful chips. And the fire cannot be seen, an objection I have heard often. I recall how much some people rejoiced that they had stoves with insulating doors, through which the light could shine. Besides, there was the Franklin stove, which with a little manipulation could be a stove or a grate. Just in recent years I visited in an old-fashioned house where a Franklin stove was still being used, a pretty, fair substitute for the open fireplace. One of the objections to a stove is that tobacco-chewing loses most of its zest with one.

Some of the stoves that we had in the early days were cast-iron things that could produce a lot of heat but could rarely warm six feet away. We used to crowd around the stove at school, not to keep warm so much as to break ranks and be less formal than we were in our seats. There may be colder places than the old one-room school at Fidelity, but in a half century I have not found them. The two cast-iron stoves roared like furnaces, but winter crept right up to them. We boys dragged in piles of dead saplings and larger wood to replenish the fires, taking turns about in the mornings to build the first fires. We did not die from the exposure for tight houses were unknown then. Besides, we were wrapped up in several layers of winter clothing, so much so that we perspired freely when we played Dare Base or Wolf Over the River. Then in the cold room we sat, developing a cold that most people regarded as the normal accompaniment of winter.

Stoves are still doing their work well and will long continue to do so, but I fear the old fireplace is a passing institution that few of the younger generation will remember as we do. Dream pictures in the burning coals will have to be sought elsewhere; boys' energies will have to be directed to something else besides bringing in heavy backlogs.

FULGHAM NEWS

Last Sunday's singing convention was a big success. People came from near and far and there was a very large crowd. The junior class made approximately $49 on their stand.

The seniors received their class rings last week. They are very proud of them.

The Fulgham softball team was defeated by the Central team by a score of 7-2. The game was played on Central's diamond. Two buses carried the students of Fulgham to the game.

Mr. Gardner of Fulton visited our school last week and made individual pictures which are expected soon.

Basketball practice has begun again. All of the boys are working hard to make a good team. Everyone is looking forward to the first game which is to be played next month.

Miss Mayzelle Gossum, commercial teacher of Fulgham High, has been absent due to illness.

Francis Armbruster, who has been absent for quite a while due to illness, is back in school again.

The typing class is learning all about their machines now. "It's almost as hard as typing itself," say most of the students.

P. T. A. meets every third Thursday night. Everyone is invited to attend.

The junior class is busy selling candy, chewing gum, etc., which was left over from the singing.

ENON NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Laymond Bard spent Sunday with Mrs. Vada Bard and Miss Hattie Hampton.

Those attending the singing convention at Fulgham Sunday were Miss Ruth Hampton, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar McMorris and family, Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Cook and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Smith and Mrs. Herbert Howell.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Underwood had as their Sunday guests, Mrs. Lou Hicks and James Thomas Johnson of Clinton.

Miss Mignon Platt spent Sunday afternoon with Miss Margie Wilkerson.

Mrs. Herbert Howell spent Monday with Mrs. Fannie Powell and Mrs. J. R. Powell.

Mrs. George Sams is visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Smith after several weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Lou's Sams of Bardwell.

Mrs. T. H. Howell spent Monday afternoon with Mrs. Clint Howell. Mrs. Mettie Guyn spent Tuesday with Mesdames T. H. and Herbert Howell.

PALESTINE NEWS

THE PRICELESS INGREDIENT

WHEAT LOANS

TOTAL $191,701

Commodity Credit Corporation loans totaling $191,701 had been made to 606 wheat growers in Kentucky up to Oct. 1, the State Office of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration announces. Growers stored 256,021 bushels of wheat in warehouses in Lexington, Louisville, Hopkinsville, Elkton, Bowling Green, Franklin, Henderson, Pembroke, Sturgis, Owensboro and Russellville.

The closing date for making loans on the 1940 wheat crop is December 31, 1940, and loan rates for Kentucky No. 1 soft red winter wheat range from 75 to 80 cents a bushel on grain stored in approved warehouses.

Virtually all Kentucky farmers who received loans on the 1939 crop repaid their loans and removed the wheat from storage, realizing a profit by selling the wheat on an improved spring market.

Mrs. Grace Harvey and daughter, Sheila, spent Sunday in Fulton.

may affect the heart

Gas trapped in the stomach or gut may act like a hair trigger on the heart. At the first sign of distress, smart men and women should get out their bottles of KIDANS. No laxative but made of the fastest-acting medicine known for acid indigestion. If the FIRST DOSE doesn't prove itself as better, return bottle to us and receive DOUBLE MONEY BACK.

KIDNEY STAGNATION IS WORSE THAN CONSTIPATION!

Because We Treat Constipation at The Onset, While We Neglect Our Kidneys Indefinitely

No other organ in your body is of more importance than your kidneys. For in your kidneys there are nine million tubes which must work day and night to filter the fluids and keep the system free from wastes, acids, poisons which, if permitted to remain, may cause serious kidney and bladder troubles.

It is no wonder then that Nature often calls for help to clean out the kidneys. So if you are troubled with Getting-Up-Nights, Leg Pains, Backache, Nervous Headache, Dizziness or Loss of Energy, due to functional kidney disorders, try KIDANS, the famous kidney remedy, which aids Nature to flush out the kidneys, to filter all wastes, to prevent kidney stagnation.

KIDANS is Safe and Reliable. Thousands report entire satisfaction. Taken according to directions, KIDANS will give splendid results. Try KIDANS. Buy it at our Special Price Offer on two boxes. Use one box. If not satisfied, return unopened box and GET YOUR MONEY BACK.

If your local druggist cannot supply you, send $1.00 to The Kidans Company, Atlanta, Georgia, for two full-size boxes on a money-back guarantee.

Crusoe Knew What He Wanted . . . and he got it!

One of the most persistent advertisers in the history of success was Robinson Crusoe. He knew what he wanted—a ship—so he put up an ad for one. He flung up a shirt on a pole, at the top of his island. That, in the language of the sea, was plain to every seafaring man.

The circulation was small, there was no other medium but Crusoe kept at it, despite the fact that he got no inquiries for a long time. He changed his copy, as one garment after another was frayed, and in the end he got what he wanted.

Crusoe used the best medium at his disposal. The best in the KEN-TENN territory is THE FULTON COUNTY NEWS. It goes direct to the people people to whom you wish to tell your story. Use these columns persistently and you are bound to obtain results.

The successful business man knows that he must consistently link Advertising with good merchandising. The firm that fails to advertise is adopting false economy, for the business goes where it is invited. Failure to advertise regularly is the biggest expense on your books.

He's Prepared to do his Part!

The thought of preparedness is not new to Bell Telephone workers. In fact, the South's and the nation's vast telephone system is what it is today mainly because preparedness is one of the fundamental principles of the Bell System's policy.

Telephone people are constantly at war with the elements, fire, flood and hurricane. They are prepared in advance to meet the emergency whenever and wherever danger strikes.

Rapidly changing industrial demands—shifting populations—quick expansions in some places and contractions at others—ever-changing problems of supply and demand, are conditions under which all telephone people are accustomed to working.

Years of experience in anticipating, planning for and meeting these exacting demands strengthen the confidence of telephone workers in their ability to provide for the needs of the South and the nation under any conditions that may arise.

100,000 KENTUCKY FARMERS
RECEIVE AAA MATERIALS

Approximately 100,000 Kentucky farmers received phosphate fertilizer, for treating soil conserving crops and liming materials, supplied in place of cash payments by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, for use in the 1940 Agricultural Conservation Program.

Of this number, 94,000 received phosphates for use on pastures and on other grasses and legumes and 9,000 received lime. Phosphate was supplied to aid the farmers in meeting soil-building goals in every county of the state, while the lime went to farmers in 26 counties where farmers encountered difficulties in getting the liming materials, which represents approximately 10 percent of the liming materials used by Kentucky farmers in the 1940 program.

Of the total 99,400 tons of phosphate supplied to Kentucky farmers by the AAA, 57,946 tons was triple superphosphate and 41,454 tons was 20 percent material.

Miss Tommie Nell Gates left Monday for a visit with relatives and friends in Memphis, Jackson, Miss., and New Orleans.

Miss Catherine Murphy has returned home from Mayfield where she was employed in nursing for several months.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Roberts of Union City, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Brady, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Johnson and Mrs. Lila Hastings spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Ed Roberts near Water Valley.

SILO SIMPKINS SAYS

Never let a pig have a birthday, if you want it to turn a profit.

Farmers who get the most grazing from crimson clover, seed in August on a well-firmed seedbed.

Barley as a livestock feed is worth about 80 percent as much as corn, pound for pound. It should be ground for hogs.

Don't expect many eggs from hens that are half famished from lack of water and kept in a hot, poorly ventilated house.

One way to save on farm expenses is to have a business large enough to provide employment for the labor force throughout the year.

Influence a neighbor to use lime and phosphate on his pastures and hay crops and you make a friend for both yourself and these soil amendments.

A fall garden is good table insurance. Timely suggestions may be found in Publication 225, "Culture of New Fall Vegetables." Copies can be obtained from county farm and home agents or by writing the U-T Agricultural Extension Service, Knoxville.

In the United States nearly one-half of the cultivated land is in clean cultivation and row crops, but in France and England, countries with longer agricultural experience, only a little more than one-fourth of the cultivated soils are in clean cultivation.

If an eleventh commandment had been written, it might have read: "If any shall fail in their stewardship of the Earth, their
