County's Polio Drive Tops In State; $4711 Is Gross

Fulton County's polio drive grossed a whopping $4711.60 with WFUL's popular radio auction of the air producing $2828.64 of the total. In spite of the fact that Fulton County had no incidence of new polio cases in 1959 Colonel Charlie Burrow and his efficient corps of workers managed to put Fulton County's drive among the most successful in the State of Kentucky, and population percentage-wise one of the top county's in the Nation.

Of the total money raised the City of Hickman accounted for nearly $900 with a tremendously successful Mother's March in that city together with mountains of items sent to the radio auction to be sold. Hickman's Mothers March accounted for more than $500 of the amount turned in by that community. Total for the Mothers March in the county was $890.39.

This year, as in years past, almost every little community in the county formed voluntary committees to bring in items for the auction as well as to have the ever popular coffee-parties for funds for polio.

The county's drive was spearheaded by Mrs. C. D. Edwards and Mrs. C. H. McDaniel with Mrs. Richard White the City of Hickman chairman. And the "old faithful" workers were on hand each day to assist the good colonel in his pleading, begging and selling activities. Among them were: Mrs. Morgan Omar, who managed the equally successful March of Dimes drive last year; Mrs. Gilson Latta, Mrs. Ralph Cantrell, Mrs. W. L. Holland, Mrs. Horton Baird and a score of others. And assisting Colonel Burrow in the "selling of the air department" were John Stayton and Bill Gray.

A break-down of the receipts for the polio drive is as follows:
Individual gifts ..... $ 23.70
Club gifts ..... 214.00
Schools ..... 67.35
Mother's March ..... 890.39
Sports ..... 194.70
Radio ..... 2,828.64
Road Blocks ..... 416.22
Other Events ..... 76.60

In addition to donating daily and Saturday time to the Fulton County drive, Station WFUL also donated air time for drives in Obion County, Graves County, and Hickman County, which also turned in figures to indicate the most successful drives in recent years.

Many Fulton Citizens Against Low Cost Power; Others Fight To Pass House Bill

Fulton's business and professional people, together with a large segment of private individuals made their wishes known to Governor Combs this week concerning House Bill 415, which would have simplified procedures for cities desiring to purchase private electric facilities for municipal operation. Almost as many persons, many of them retail merchants, opposed passage of the bill as did those favoring passage of the measure, it was reliably learned by the New's editorial staff.

The fight to acquire low cost power for Fulton and other Kentucky cities has been a long and costly experience for private citizens and for the City of Fulton. Having set aside $5000 of the city's funds to have Fulton removed from the TVA freeze the Fulton Power Board has worked unceasingly to put Fulton in a bargaining position so that electric users on the Kentucky side of the border could be in the same position of buying low cost power as are the citizens across the border on the Tennessee side of the twin cities.

Members of the Power Board made several trips to Washington and were successful in removing Fulton from the TVA freeze imposed on some Kentucky cities last year. They were unsuccessful on the State level, however, when interested citizens spent considerable time in Frankfort the past two weeks fighting what has been termed, the most efficient, the most highly organized, the most powerful private utility lobby ever organized in the State of Kentucky.

Failure of the low cost power bill to come out of the Rules Committee killed the measure for this session of the General Assembly. When the House reconvened after the committee had acted on a number of bills, Rep. Joe Treas of Fulton attempted to gain recognition to take the issue up on the House floor and try to bring the bill out of committee.

Speaker Harry King Lowman refused to recognize Treas and other representatives who had worked for the bill. Instead he recognized Rep. Paul Young of Allensville, who made a motion to adjourn. The adjournment motion passed 38-37.

Proponents of the bill needed 51 votes to take the bill from committee. Many supporters conceded it would be a tough job.

The defeat came despite the outspoken endorsement of the bill by Gov. Bert Combs.

Tonight was the deadline for reporting out bills, as they must be read three times in each legislative house before they are voted on. The Legislature will adjourn Friday night.

An attempt was made to force adjournment of the House before the committee completed its work, but the action failed. Gov. Combs made a personal appearance on the floor of the House while the argument over adjournment was going on.

Majority Leader Tom Ray of Fairdale made the motion to recess and the motion carried.

It was at the late session that the fifth attempt to vote out the low-cost power bill was made.

About 75 persons from towns interested in the bill were present for the final vote. Delegations representing Paducah, Fulton, Princeton, Glasgow, London and other towns, and representatives of eight of 10 REAs attended a meeting at noon to discuss strategy.

The bill had the endorsement of the Kentucky Citizens for Low Cost Power, and had been listed as an administration bill by Gov. Combs.

Supporters of the bill felt they had the necessary votes to get it out of committee.

Actions of the committee are not made public, so there was no way of knowing immediately who had voted for or against the bill.

The quick adjournment to night came after a reading of the titles of about 30 bills which the committee had approved.

Cap'n Paul Enjoys Warm Air ... Lift

News Publisher Paul Westpheling (it's Cap'n in the Army, huh) reports that the huge, split-second airlifting of United States troops from America to Puerto Rico is proceeding without a hitch. Captain Westpheling, one of ten Reserve officers selected from the United States Army to handle information and public relations for the maneuver, says that in the first two days only one big cargo plane has encountered any trouble.

A Globemaster from Dover, Delaware, Air Force Base arrived with a feathered propeller. But landed safely. Repair crews quickly replaced the bulky engine.

The Fulton newspaperman said in a telephone conversation from San Juan on Tuesday night that every major communications media in the United States was on hand to cover the maneuvers. Senator Dennis Chavez (D, N. M.), chairman of a Senate defense appropriations subcommittee, is on hand to observe the exercise. He told newsmen he is disturbed about the outdated aircraft the services are forced to use.

"Some were placed in production in 1948—12 years ago. They have already outlived their planned usefulness," he said.

He urged Congress and the Administration to remedy the situation.

Although 20,000 men are taking part, most will stay on the island only two or three days before returning by air. Only small house-keeping ground forces will remain for the two-week exercise that began Monday.

While they are there, the troops will prepare for an air-borne assault on the mythical state of "Tarheel" — which looks very much like North Carolina on briefing maps.

The Air Force's Military Air Transport Service and the Strategic Army Corps are co-operating on the problem of how to defend Tarheel against an imagined attack by the neighboring state of "North Neutria."

Primarily, it is an exercise to test the armed forces mobility to meet attack. No parachute landings are planned, although 8,000 paratroopers from the 101st Airborne Division from Fort Campbell, Ky., make up the major contingent of Strac in the exercise.

-jottings
from Jo's
Note Book

At some time or another everybody ought to get a traffic ticket for failing to observe a stop sign. I got one the other morning after escaping such a fate for high on to 30 years of driving an auto. And after I paid that hard-earned $12.50 I got to thinking that either I've been pretty lucky all these years or maybe I've been a fairly careful driver.

It happened when I was taking the children to school on Tuesday morning. We were having a fine time passing the time of day and anticipating the activities of same, when all of a sudden I saw that familiar red auto behind me and that dome light blinking. I thought the policemen were calling my attention to say good morning, but when I returned their greeting Carmi Page motioned to me to "move over." I did and one of the young'uns said the "jiggs up, mommie," a la television vernacular.

When Carmi came to the car he said "good morning" cheerful enough, but he also said: "Jo, did you know that you didn't stop at that stop sign." I dismissed all the other impediments from my crowded mind about that time and realized that I didn't stop, although I did slow up a bit, but the sign didn't say slow up, it said "stop." So I was handed one of those neat little tickets that said see the Judge sometime on Tuesday and that's when the children thought the affair was serious and funny, too. Which it certainly was, except that to me it was serious because I suddenly realized that the stop sign at the "Y" near the Derby is a real traffic hazard and if I hadn't gotten that warning notice I might someday get into some real trouble.

I dutifully took the ticket to the police department and got squared away there and was cotton-picking glad it just cost $12.50, because they said it could have cost more for a second offense, which I hope there isn't going to be any of.

The amazing thing about getting such a warning, if a little costly, is that from then on you get to looking for them there signs along the way and I am convinced now that Fulton has more stop signs than any place I ever saw. The children call the stop signs around town "$12.50 stop watches," and so right they are.

Well, enough about stop signs. Had a call from Paul on Tuesday night from San Juan and he says that the flowers are blooming, the sun is shining and all's right with the world and the airlift. However, says he, because the weather has been so bad in Kentucky and the troops have been delayed in their exodus to Puerto Rico, he might be delayed another week. That didn't set so well with the three Westphelings in Fulton and R. Paul and Mary Jo think we ought to make a complaint to the commander-in-chief.

Retailers To Get 2% Of Total For Collecting New Sales Tax

Kentucky business men will soon be receiving application forms for permits to do business under the new Retail Sales and Usage Tax enacted by the 1960 Legislature.

Revenue Commissioner William E. Scent said his department expects to begin mailing the permit applications about March 15.

The Department of Revenue is using several mailing lists in its efforts to reach all eligible businessmen. Some 53,000 employers will receive the mailing.

Others aiding in the distribution of the applications are the 110 field men employed by the Revenue Department, and groups of Kentucky wholesalers such as the Wholesale Grocers Association and the Kentucky Association of Tobacco Distributors. A spokesman for the Wholesalers group said he expected about 600 salesmen representing wholesale grocers to be working actively to get their customers signed up under the program.

Commissioner Scent emphasized the important of filling out only one application. He said a number will be assigned to each retailer and duplication of forms might lead to a single retailer receiving more than one number. Ensuring confusion would be difficult for merchant since the retailer must reimburse the retailer and the department credits for amounts paid by him according to his gross sales.

The retailer will withhold, as compensation for collecting the tax, 2% of the total amount collected.

The department is sending out a sheet of instructions for filling the application and urges businessmen to read the instructions carefully. As to who must apply for a permit, the law states: "Every person, firm, partnership or corporation presently engaged or desiring to engage in or conduct a business as a seller within this state shall file with the Department of Revenue an application for a permit; every person, firm, partnership or

South Fulton Boosters To Help Jaycees In Crepe Myrtle Festival

At the regular meeting of the South Fulton Booster Club last Thursday, standing committees were appointed by President Ray Terrell and directed in their functions with stress being made upon the fact that a successful club will depend upon the time and energy each club member and committee is willing to give.

A special committee was appointed to lay the ground work for one of the larger projects and a called meeting is to be held on March 24, to give the project a big send-off.

The club voted, at the invitation of the Jaycees, to enter into their Crepe Myrtle festival and a committee of seven was appointed to work with the Jaycees and to also work with Mayor Milton Counce's special committee.

Does Your School System Fail to Prepare Students For Higher Education? If so, make Yourself Heard

"It is apparent that much is wrong with education that money alone cannot cure. It is obvious that if we are to have a first-rate school system, we must greatly improve our school administration."

These are the words reported by a Kentucky Committee on Education in the House of Representatives last week. The particulars in the bill of indictment make up the most scathing chapter ever written in the literature of public education in Kentucky and we add our own comments by saying, "it's about time."

There has been a disturbing tendency among informed citizens in the past to discuss the inadequacies of our school administrators in hush-hush tones. As a matter of fact we have seen people less afraid to condemn motherhood than they were to castigate the operations of domineering school superintendents.

We have long had our reservation about the operation of school systems around us and we urge you to read the following views of Dr. Thomas D. Clark, head of the Department of History at the University of Kentucky to see how your school system measures up to required standards. If, after you read Dr. Clark's views, you find that your school administration is guilty of these indictments we think you ought to let your opinions be known for the sake of your child and for the sake of education in Kentucky. Here are Dr. Clark's views:

1. Generally, Kentucky students are anxious to accept advanced training. So many of them have such poor backgrounds that they never reach the point where they can demonstrate a capacity to take advanced training.

2. There is a good number of students who are well trained, and well motivated. Back of these students are good teachers, and one can predict year in and year out that students from schools which employ these teachers will send us a good product.

3. The great horde of students who come to us is hopelessly unprepared. They have read nothing, and cannot read understandingly. This is one of two serious handicaps of Kentucky which confront Kentucky students. Reading in this sense means comprehension of what the student reads.

4. Thousands of our students come from homes which have no books. The schools they attend have poor libraries. They go out into life with almost no appreciation of genuine learning as revealed in the great volume of world literature. Unhappily, both teacher and pupil are fed on the pap of textbooks. They never venture deeper into the intellectual waters.

5. Too much of our education is geared to the local provincial standards of value, which are without perspective or association with the bigger world in which the student lives. This is clearly evident in speech forms, lack of ability to speak the mother language correctly, the horrible accenting of words and syllables, lack of an adequate vocabulary, and lack of ability to express oneself.

If many of the students who come to us had a bright idea, they would be so badly handicapped in the use of the English language that they could not express it.

6. Far too many students graduate from our high schools who are hopelessly incapable of writing an intelligible communication of any sort. If a business depended upon the rhetoric of the average high-school graduate it would soon be so badly confused for lack of communication that it would go bankrupt correcting mistakes.

One of the horrifying experiences of the college instructor is the monotonous refrain from students that they never had to take an idea, do simple research, organize it, and then present it in clear English form. This is the sin of our schools. We rape our mother language.

7. Living as we do in the world, not in the State of Kentucky, we are allowing one generation after another to escape the necessary training in languages which will make us communicative with other people.

8. We commit academic mayhem every year. We allow students to assume that because they graduate from an accredited high school that they are prepared to go on for further training at either the college or special vocational level.

When the newspapers carry stories of the abnormally large numbers of students who have been placed on probation, one must not jump to the conclusion that colleges have raised their standards appreciably.

This is the wasteful but necessary sorting-out process which must take place if we are to maintain any respectable standards in this age where the clamor is ever for excellence.

This is a brutal and senseless process which can be stopped only by a tightening-up of standards from the primary grades upward. Good teaching and proper emphasis at an earlier stage would save hundreds of students who quickly fall by the way-side.

If there is a college or school in this state which is willing to accept less than a good and valid standard of quality work, then in this age it is undeserving of public support. This is true also for the secondary schools.

9. The grievous fault of our wasteful system of selection lies not in the fact that so many students, including some worthy ones, drop out, but rather in the fact that so many of them are "late bloomers" and do not find themselves until they are ready to graduate from colleges. Almost nowhere are we challenging adequately the bright student, and encouraging early enough the potentially good student.

10. The frame of reference of the modern student is phenomenally greater than was that of his grandfather. This, however, has actually little or no bearing on our situation. The demands made on the modern student are greater than those made on his grandfather, most important of these being physical survival.

Even if there were no question of survival in a physical sense, there are still the questions of solving the problems of civilization in a period of revolution.

11. In the area of content, the average school student has only a confused and smattering knowledge of any subject. For instance, if there is any one subject which every student should be able to discuss intelligently, it is American history. Yet the average high-school student has only the vaguest notions of even the fundamental developments in our history.

Discuss with him some of the fundamental facts involving either the constitution or the founding of the government itself. It is really marvelous that we have done as well in the democratic system of government as we have when our people know so little about its fundamentals.

The American Legion will name their "Favored Person" of the year at a meeting Thursday night. Last year Mrs. Morgan Omar was honored for her work with the Polio Drive.

All this snow has made bill collecting sorta difficult. Raymond Williams of the I. C. freight office, I understand, plans to wait till the spring thaw to collect one bill - for rent to the I. C. from a woman whose outdoor "water closet" is located on railroad property.

Opened up a Georgetown College envelope one day recently expecting a news release to be inside and to my surprise there was a sheet of college stationery, with nary a word written thereon. Wonder what they intended to send?

Did you know that railroad payday is no longer the 15th and 30th of each month? Since the divisions were changed about several months ago, paydays each month on the I. C. here have been the 12th and 20-something-the-other.

Did you know that 1963 is the time now set for Fulton to get dial telephones? They were first scheduled, I believe, for 1957, but were postponed.

The Fulton Fire Department was called out twice last Wednesday afternoon. The first call was to the Siegel factory when a small fire broke out in a rest room. The fire was quickly put out and no damage was reported. The second call was to Browder's Mill, when a truck caught fire.

The Fulton Jaycees will meet tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 at the club room for their regular meeting.

The Regional Board of the Jaycees will meet at Kentucky Dam Village on March 26-27.

The local Jaycee members have been invited to attend a regional board meeting of the Tennessee Jaycees at Paris Landing State

Social Security Information Told

"Help us to help you," is the advice of Charles M. Whitaker, Manager of the Paducah Social Security District Office. This advice is for persons planning to retire soon and apply for social security benefits. "We can get that first check to you a lot sooner if you bring the necessary proofs with you when you come in to file a claim for benefits," Whitaker stated.

Mr. Whitaker pointed out that many people retire early in the year and come to the social security office to file claims for benefits, these claims can be completed much faster when required proofs are presented at the time of filing. A telephone call to the social security office before retirement may save time by insuring that all evidence can be furnished promptly.

Generally, a claimant for monthly benefits must establish his age. This may be done with a birth certificate or some other record that is old and reliable. Also, evidence of the claimant's earnings for 1950 is necessary. A copy of Form W-2, Withholding Statement, for 1950 is acceptable for the income that was earned as an employee. The self-employed person should bring a copy of his 1950 income tax return, including the Schedule C or F which shows self-employment income, and the cancelled check or money order stub to show that the tax has been paid.

"Bring your proofs with you," Mr. Whitaker stressed, "for prompt payment of your first social security check." The Paducah Social Security Office is located at 529 Broadway.

Diary of Doin's

(Items gathered along Fulton's merryway for your pleasure and your scrapbook)

The patter of little feet is much in evidence this week around the Hefley and Reed homes on Fourth Street and Second Street with the arrival of Lt. Colonel and Mrs. William (Billy) P. Reed and their two sons, Billy and Hunt. The colonel and his nice family arrived in Fulton Saturday and will spend about ten days here with his mother, Bettie Louise Reed and his sister, Betty Ann Hefley and family.

The Reeds are enroute from Offutt Air Force Base, Nebraska to England for a three-year tour of duty. He is with the Strategic Air Command.

Lucky people, these attractive Reeds, Billy and Phoebe. An interesting three years ahead for them. And we know they'll enjoy every minute. In the Reed family, this is a case of "history repeating itself", because not so many years ago, other members of the family, Colonel Jim and Ginny Isbell and their two children, Reed and little Jim lived within twelve miles of the village near London where Billy and Phoebe will live. Colonel Isbell is also with the Air Force. How nice it will be for the Reeds to see old friends of the Isbells in England. The Isbells are now stationed at Anchorage, Alaska.

Our best wishes go along with Billy and Phoebe for a wonderful three years' stay in England. (My! How we envy them.)

Incidentally, while talking with Billy a day or so ago we learned that the mere eight inch snowfall in Fulton seemed insignificant to the thirty inch snows they experienced most all winter in Nebraska. Heres hoping the fog in London is not measured by inches!

Also comes news to us of another interesting trip for some former Fultonians. Nell and H. L. Brandon. The Brandon family are returning early next month from Guatemala City, Guatemala where H. L. is employed with the California Oil Company. They will visit with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Leland Adams for a few days and will leave the two children, Darryl and Kim in Fulton for a visit while they go to Europe for a nice vacation trip.

Mrs. George Doyle and Mrs. Tom LeMaster of Batesville, Miss. spent the weekend here with Mrs. Frank Beadles and Mrs. Harvey Caldwell.

Linda Stokes was the guest of honor at a party Friday from 3 to 4:30 at the Park Terrace, the occasion being her sixth birthday. She is the daughter of Mr. and

Miss Sandra Williams attended the Ice Follies in Memphis Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Morgan were honored at a buffet dinner at the Park Terrace Saturday night. Attending were employees of Ferry-Morse Company. Mr. and Mrs. Morgan will be leaving soon for California, where Mr. Morgan has been transferred with the Ferry-Morse.

Mrs. Maxine Griffin, home demonstration agent of Hickman County, was guest speaker at the March meeting of the Garden Department of the Woman's Club Friday at 2:30.

Terry-Norman P-TA met Thursday afternoon at 2:30 at the school. A Civil Defense and Health program was presented.

Ladies Day was held at the Fulton Country Club Tuesday. Following a pot-luck luncheon games of bridge were enjoyed during the afternoon.

Mrs. Edward Bugg and daughter, Janet, spent last Thursday in Fulton with her aunt, Mrs. Leland Jewell.

The Drama and Literature Department of the Woman's Club met Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. at the club home.

"One Act" by Max Hart was reviewed by Mrs. James White.

Mrs. Max Cummings of Fulton attended the funeral of Mrs. Charlie Sevier in Jackson Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Sevier, a former Fulton resident, died in Jackson Saturday evening about 5:30.

Mrs. Pete Green is expecting her daughter, Mrs. Nick Nichols and daughter, Teresa, of Lansing, Mich., down for a visit in April.

Mrs. Leland Adams is expecting her daughter, Nell, and her family from Guatemala City, Guatemala, sometime next month. From here Nell and her husband will go to Europe for a vacation trip and while they are away their children will remain in Fulton with their grandparents.

The Annie Armstrong Circle met Monday night in the home of Mrs. Jewell Adams for a pot-luck supper. Following the delicious meal, an interesting program was presented by Mrs. Pete Green, program chairman.

Annual Easter Seal Campaign-March 21

The 1960 Easter Seal Campaign will begin Monday, March 21, and continue through Easter Sunday, April 17.

Contributions to the annual appeal by the Kentucky Society for Crippled Children helps provide a varied program of care and treatment for children crippled by many causes.

This year approximately 500,000 letters containing seals will be mailed to residents in all of Kentucky's 120 counties. In addition to the mail appeal, volunteer workers throughout the state plan to hold special events to raise funds for support of the society's program.

Fulton High School News

By Janice Davis

Last week the Nurses Club met and Mrs. Gerry Braswell, county health nurse, gave a talk on dope addiction. With some elaboration, she repeated this for the entire student body Wednesday.

Mrs. Braswell said this is definitely a disease just like any other and is prevalent among teen-agers today. There is no specific reason why this is so; it may be started for 'kicks' or possibly because of an emotional problem resulting from unhappy home. Whatever the cause, something must be done to help dope addicts and a prerequisite for help is understanding.

Three cheers: we got our senior pictures; now all we have to do is autograph them and give them to friends and relatives as a sure sign of approaching graduation.

Possibly because of the snow, the aptitude test was called off last week and will be rescheduled for sometime in the future.

The freshmen and sophomores took a reading test last week.

Things are looking up in Miss Mary Martin's international relations class. We had a silent newsreel on current events recently. It was produced by the Paducah Sun-Democrat. Miss Martin read a paragraph or so on each picture from a pamphlet supplied with the filmstrip.

The most important occurrence (or so we seniors think) has been the arrival of the copies of "Quit Your Kidding" and the try-outs Tuesday. The 'all important' cast will make their first appearance in this column next week. The play will be sometime in April and will be directed by Mrs. Catherine Bennett, English teacher.

If anyone asks you for some white coal, would you know what they wanted. After the students in international relations read in their texts that it was important in Switzerland, Miss Martin finally told them that it was . . . water!

Snow Has Not Damaged Crops

The heavy snowfall lately has not damaged crops any in Fulton County, according to County Agent Roy Watts, but has added nitrogen and perhaps some potash to the soil, and should get the small grain and pastures off to a good start.

The only damage that the snow has done is that extra feed has been needed for livestock, and the continued long cold spell has caused loss of weight and condition to the livestock.

Down on the Farm

With JIM PRYOR
Agricultural Agent, Illinois Central Railroad

If you want high yields, you must have good stands of grass and legumes and these good stands only come from high quality seed. When buying seed, have you ever looked at the seed tag? Do you consider price a major factor when making a seed purchase? These are important questions and all too often play an important roll in arm seeding.

The seed tag tells at a glance the purity, germination, inert matter, hard seed, weed seed as well as the price. It is impossible to judge seed by looking into the bag. You will be able to find some impurities and maybe weed seed, but you cannot tell the percentage of germination. Testing is the only way to know exactly the quality seed you are buying. Let's take a case where a prospective seed buyer was bargain hunting for his pasture seed. He finds a lot of seed in the store that was 10 cents per pound cheaper and the seed tag said only 3 noxious weed seed per ounce. That doesn't seem like too many and besides they could be cut out with a hoe as they came up. Well, look into the case a little farther and see. With 3 noxious weed seed per ounce would be 48 per pound and with a seeding of 20 pounds seed per acre would mean that there would be 960 noxious weed seed planted on every acre of this new pasture. All this for a saving of $2.00 per acre.

Some farmers for convenience, like to buy seed from their neighbors. Certainly it is nice to be neighborly, but to protect yourself, send a sample to the seed testing laboratory. Another way to help insure better quality is to re-clean the seed before sowing.

Buying weed free seed will keep you from reinfesting fields with weeds and noxious plants. By selecting approved varieties you will get better stands, thus higher yields more production per cow or sheep and in the end increased profits.

The first step in the success of a good pasture is having enough moisture and plant food for the young pasture. You can't do much about the moisture, however a soil test will tell you what plant food the new crop will need. Then if you have prepared the soil well and selected the variety best suited for your location, you have made a fine start toward a productive pasture or crop.

Be a wise buyer - look at the seed tag, which tells the true story of the seed you are about to make a part of your farm.

Was Clyde McCoy Born In Fulton.... Tell Us

Recently in the Courier-Journal appeared the following AP feature concerning Clyde McCoy, famous band leader, who is making a comeback in the big time. The story said that McCoy was born in Fulton, yet a check of many old-time residents fails to reveal any of his relatives or friends. Was Clyde McCoy born in Fulton... you tell us, if you know. Here's the story that appeared in the Courier-Journal.

Louisville—It was back in the middle 1920's that Clyde McCoy walked into a Louisville dime store and bought a copy of "Sugar Blues." And it was in the old Walnut Theater that he first played his own arrangements of the tune that caught the public's fancy in the 1930's and since has topped the 5,000,000 sales mark.

But McCoy's Louisville connections go back even earlier.

A native of Fulton, Ky., McCoy spent his childhood days in Ashland and came to Louisville while he was still in his teens. He was attending Louisville Male High School in 1922 when he joined Walter Davidson's Louisville Loons, a group that provided accompaniment for the silent films shown at the old Walnut. (Davidson became musical director of WHAS in the early 1930's.) Two current staff members of WHAS played with McCoy during the 1920's. Guy Horne, a WHAS engineer, was with McCoy in the Louisville Loons. Ted Grubb, WHAS music librarian, was with McCoy after he formed his own band and was playing at Inn Logola. He later played at the Madrid, which had been opened by orchestra leader Jan Garber.

Incidentally, McCoy returned to the Madrid for a two-week stand in 1946, and stopped all attendance records, including the Saturday-night-reservation record which had been held by Henry Busse.

New York—With a tailgate trombone almost as big as he was tall, the 9-year-old boy strutted around town with the Loyal Temperance Legion playing "The Brewer's Big Horses Can't Run Over Me."

The year was 1912. The place, Ashland, Ky. The boy, Clyde McCoy.

From that beginning, McCoy—a self-taught musician—rose to become a household word in the 1930's. He caught the public's fancy one day when he played "Sugar Blues" on a trumpet using a fluttering mute in a way to produce a wah-wah sound.

His recording of "Sugar Blues" topped the 5,000,000 mark in sales. And by the time America entered World War II, he was firmly entrenched among the top leaders of American big-name bands.

He Kept Busy

The big bands declined after the war, and so did McCoy. While he never went into complete retirement, he spent most of his time in do-it-yourself charity work and in the business world—as a stockholder of Denver and Mississippi oil companies, as public-relations man for one of the oil firms, as owner of a hamburger drive-in and a flower shop in Memphis, as a music publisher, and as part-owner of a dry-cleaning business.

McCoy did well in these enterprises, but won't discuss money except to say, "I've got $2,000,000—one million in my wife, Maxine, and the other million is in my good health."

Since McCoy is well off, why his return to night clubs?

"I'd see different people on television, many of them from my time, and I wanted to try for the big time again. Some people say I'm making a comeback, but I like to think that I'm having a continuation. There's a great interest in Dixieland (jazz). It's part of Americana. To my way of thinking, Dixieland is not corn—Jack Teagarden, Louis Armstrong are not corn. It's not dated, any more than a 15-year-old Rolls Royce.

"Anyhow, Maxine and I like to get into the car and drive around the country, playing different places and meeting different people. I like to keep busy. My mother used to say there's more people rust out than wear out."

Guernsey Cow Makes High Record

PETERBOROUGH, N. H. - A registered Guernsey cow, Willow Wilde's Willorene, owned by Burnette and Hixson, Fulton, has completed an official production record, according to the American Guernsey Cattle Club here.

This record was for 10,998 pounds of milk and 572 pounds of fat. "Willorene" was a seven-year-old and was milked two times daily for 305 days while on test.

This official production record was supervised by the University of Kentucky.

Mad chemist goes berserk in Fulton High chemistry lab. Mike Walker looks very absorbed in his experiments.

By Mike Walker

Did you ever try to work a chemistry experiment? Well, believe me, it's not very easy.

First I suggest that you thoroughly study the experiment for at least ten or fifteen seconds. Having full understanding of the problem, we can now assemble all the necessary materials: two or three boxes of matches; the chemicals; a pair of old rubber gloves (the older the better); an assortment of beakers, bottles, and flasks; some glass tubing; a couple dozen test tubes; a fire extinguisher; and an alcohol lamp. Be careful to use only a wood alcohol lamp. Be careful to use only wood alcohol in this lamp—but if none is available, use the highest proof Kentucky bourbon you can find in the cabinet.

Light the lamp and hold a .22 caliber bullet, lead end up, in the yellow cone of the flame. When a small hole appears in the ceiling above the lab, you know the lamp has reached the proper temperature.

The alcohol lamp having been properly prepared, we can now collect the chemicals necessary for this experiment. Because our lab is lacking of a vast supply of chemicals, we'll have to make ### some substitutions.

A teaspoonful of some teacher's favorite toothpaste will supply the proper chlorophyll. A few old pencil leads from Mr. Robertson's drawing class will provide the carbon. A small bone stolen from Coach Thomas' dog will liberate enough calcium. One or two candy bars from Mr. Martin's office desk will supply the necessary carbohydrates, and a few match heads will provide enough sulfur and phosphorus. Other common chemicals like praseodymium, technetium, ytterbium, and dysprosium may be found in the lab.

Mix the chemicals called for in part one of the experiment in one beaker and the chemicals called for in the second part in another beaker. Pour the contents of both beakers into a test tube and heat until the glass melts. Notice the vigorous reaction and peculiar smell.

The main part of the experiment now being completed, open the windows and test the substance running around the lab table for radioactivity, etc. Now, what have we proved? - Nothing??? Oh well, you know the old saying: "If at first you don't, you just don't."

Plant Life

At Ferry-Morse Seed Company in Fulton

BY MARTHA JANE WEAKS

Have you neglected your little feathered friends during this cold and snow seige? Have you caused them to hunt endlessly for some morsel but to no avail? Well - - - gulp! I'm afraid I did until someone told that the birds were starving for something to eat. I had not given the matter much thought until someone told me about the situation. Of course the birds could not find food with the ground covered with snow! So along with many others in Fulton, our family has been putting out crumbs and bird seed. Indeed, many in our office have been buying Ferry-Morse bird seed for that specific reason.

We are glad to welcome Mary Starks who is back with us. She has had a recent appointment with Mr. Stork. Now that Randall Glen has safely arrived (December 15 to be exact), she is a working woman again.

It seems that Helen Bowers has a bright smile for everyone, and you can be sure that she has that right! She has a new granddaughter born last week.

And YES SIR!!! It finally happened. Kenneth Alexander, Jr. has a new son, born Sunday, March 13. He kept saying that it was going to be a boy and by Crackety! It was. Congratulations on your first-born Ken!

Carolyn Vaden was all smiles last week because her husband, A/1c James M. Vaden was home on a five day leave. He is stationed at Mitchell Air Force Base at Hempstead, New York.

Amy Lynne Vaden, daughter of Carolyn and James, celebrated her fourth birthday on March 10.

Mr. J. A. Hodges, grandfather of June Mosley, has been ill in Obion County Hospital in a rather serious condition. But were glad to say that he's doing much better and is at home on Route 2, Hickman, Ky. June's husband, Eddie Mosley, has also been ill with the flu.

Helen Dunn's mother, Mrs. C. C. Maxfield, of Centralia, Ill., spent last weekend with Helen and her family.

As you know, the public library is housed in the club house of the Woman's Club. Along with costly repairs each year, the club also pays the librarian's salary. Monies for these are provided through occasional money making projects. Thanks again for your support.

Last week Clarence (Skipper) Chapman went back to Oscoda, Michigan, after being with us for several weeks as a machinist on the bagging machines. He was given an Old Spice shaving set as a going away present. Oh yes, he took his wife back with him.

Talk about talking, here is a boy that can really talk. Billy Owens who goes to school at Palmersville won the 4-H Speaking Contest held at Dresden, Tenn. There were 22 contestants, ranging in ages from 8 to 4. That is good talking Billy, keep at it. Billy is in the 6th grade and is the son of Gene Owens, machinist in Dept. 2709. Hadn't you noticed that big smile Gene has been wearing? Now, you know why and you can't blame him.

Thanks to whoever was responsible for that new heading for our news column this past week. It really is nice and I like it.

Sherry Milstead celebrated her 13th birthday on March 10. Her mother, Mary Nell, of Dept. 2707 baked her a big nice cake and fixed supper for Sherry and two of her friends, Sylvia Carden and Nancy Treas. Many more happy birthdays to you, Sherry.

Here is a piece that appeared in the Martin paper about some of our folks. The head lines went something like this, "Six Uninjured As Car Turns Over." Six women escaped injury in an auto accident March 1, when their car turned over near the last bridge in the bottoms on the Martin-Fulton Highway. The women were Gloria Brannon, the driver, Carol Crowder both of Sharon; Mrs. Jack Burkett of Martin; and Maxine Bryant, Mrs. Frances Irby and Martha Powell, all of Milan. According to the report the accident occurred when Miss Brannon lost control of the car as it swerved. It ran off the levee and overturned. The windshield of the car, a 1956 Chevrolet, was broken and some damage was done to the doors. The accident occurred about 5 o'clock. All six women are employed at the Ferry-Morse Plant in Fulton. Carol Crowder works in the office, Gloria is a telephone operator, Maxine and Mrs. Jack Burkett are in Dept. 2707. We know Mrs. Burkett as Kathryn, Frances and Martha are in Dept. 2708. Later reports were that Frances Irby had some injured ribs and had to have them tapped.

Our sympathy to Percy M. Veatch on the death of his grandfather, Mr. Luther Veatch of Crutchfield who died in the Fulton Hospital on March 8. Mr. Veatch was 80.

Martha House got a nice welcome when she reported back to work after being absent for 2 weeks.

Those on the sick list are Rex Ruddle, Sam Jackson and Mary Jefferies, all of Dept. 2709.

Joyce Wilford and husband, Harry Gene, took supper with Frances Chon and husband, Dick, on Sunday night. Joyce and Frances work in Dept. 2708.

Also from Dept. 2708 comes this news. Erma Clark is back at her desk after being off sick a couple of days.

Mable McAllister's father, Mr. Will Puckett of Water Valley under went surgery in the Baptist Hospital at Paducah. Mable, we hope your day will soon be home and well again.

Frances Yates and husband, Lawrence, attended the Ice Follies in Memphis Sunday. Frances says this was her first time for the Ice Follies, but it sure wasn't going to be her last.

Now some more from Dept. 2707. The women all brought potluck to work on Monday and invited the men who didn't go home for dinner to eat with us. We really had a very nice dinner and everyone seemed to enjoy it. We should do that more often.

Geraldine Merryman's son, Robert, has entered the army and is stationed at Fort Knox for his basic training. Robert graduated from the Fulton High School two years ago this spring.

Gayle Kimble celebrated his 11th birthday Sunday with a birthday dinner at his home. Guest were Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Williams of Palmersville, Mrs. Bertie Taylor of Dresden, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Finney and Terry of Martin, Mr. Jerry Jones of Chicago, Mr. Henry Ray of Dresden. Gayle received several nice gifts.

Gayle is the son of Garrett and Montez Kimble.

Happy birthday and many happy returns of the day to Lendal Pittman on the 16th. Lendal is a machinist in Dept. 2707. To John Cruce on the 10th. John is Mary's husband. To N. B. Wheeler on the 5th. He is Pansy's husband, and to Calvin DeFrees's wife, Laura, on the 9th. Pansy, Mary and Calvin are in Dept. 2708.

Ruby Nell Lawrence of Dept. 2708 had a surprise Sunday afternoon when her son, Jimmie, and family came to visit.

Frances Cohn of 2708 has a sick father-in-law in the Fulton Hospital, Mr. Walter Cohn of Beeler-ton.

Mr. Sam Jackson has been admitted to the Hillview Hospital.

News of Dept. 2707 - Marella Rhodes visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Adams were in Murray Sunday.

We regret losing Cynthia Ferguson of our office. She is moving to Louisville soon, where she will join her husband.

Linda Haman visited her mother, Mrs. Mamie Midyett of Cuba Sunday.

HOW ARE THINGS WITH RADIO THESE DAYS?

Fine! Thank You! With More People Listening To RADIO Than Are Watching Television!

"MORE LISTENING THAN LOOKING"

says Sindlinger in the August 10, 1959 issue of BROADCASTING - - The Businessweekly of Television and Radio. The following article appeared on page 52:

HEYDAY FOR RADIO: Its total audience now outnumbers tv's . . .

Radio's audience exceeded that of television during the last three weeks of July for the first time in two years, according to a report released last week.

Sindlinger & Co., business analysts of Ridley Park, Pa., stated that a three-week trend beginning during the week ending July 9 shows that 79.4 million Americans 12 years and older listened to the radio, whereas 78.6 million persons watched tv during the same period.

During the week ending July 16 daily radio listening was attributed to 79.1 million people and daily tv viewing to 77.9 million.

During the week ending July 23 radio reached 79.3 million listeners while tv was seen by 77.1 million.

Sindlinger said that the last time radio listening surpassed tv viewing was in 1957, just before the release of pre-1948 movies to television. Radio listenership was also higher during one week of the 1956 political conventions.

Albert E. Sindlinger, president of the firm, stated that radio entertainment usually increases in popularity during the summer months, with the high point coming at the end of August, but in 1958 it did not outdistance tv. The pre-1948 films "supported" tv last summer, according to Mr. Sindlinger.

It's fantastic, this telephoning from overseas. Paul's voice was so clear as if he were talking in the other room, except that it was a little expensive talking than what he would do around town. We were amused at the telephone operator's Latin accent and when Mary Jo answered the phone she jumped sky-high because she knew it was her daddy calling and said she: "The telephone operator is Spanish." Paul said he missed all of you and us, but I'm sure he said that a little sheepishly, seeing as how he was enjoying such warm weather and we were so everlasting cold around Fulton.

STUBBLEFIELD

reached trial. Special Judge Alex Humprey granted a motion for a summary judgment in favor of Stubblefield on the contention of his attorneys that Gregory waited too long to protest.

In his first term Stubblefield has won favorable attention by his work as a member of the House Agriculture Committee.

He was influential in the passage of legislation favorable to tobacco growers and in the adoption of the TVA self-financing bill.

So far there is no announced opposition to Stubblefield in the Democratic primary.

Gregory has been mentioned as a possibility to attempt a comeback, but he has not yet decided whether to do so.

State Rep. Fred Morgan of McCracken County has also been mentioned as a possible candidate for the post.
