Memorial Service Held At Murray For Late President, Franklin D. Roosevelt

Coach Miller Says Several Seem To Be Outstanding

Twenty-eight boys from the area which includes Western Kentucky, Southern Illinois, Southeast Missouri, and Western Tennessee, participated in spring basketball practice at Murray State on April 5 and 6, according to Coach John Miller.

"Several of these boys looked like outstanding players," said Coach Miller, "and the prospects for a good team next year are bright."

The Thoroughbred coach also stated that, although no games have yet been scheduled for next season, there is a possibility that one or two games may be booked with the University of Louisville, which was one of the top-ranking teams in the nation last year.

Tribute to Franklin Delano Roosevelt was paid here April 15 by President James H. Richmond of Murray State College and by Lt. Edward C. Keefe, commanding officer of the Navy Academic Refresher Unit here, in a memorial service held jointly by the college, the navy unit, and Murray churches in the college auditorium.

In a tribute read by Dean W. G. Nash, President Richmond asserted Roosevelt "was the greatest force for good among all leaders of his time". Dr. Richmond, because of ill health, was unable to attend the services.

Richmond said he last visited with Roosevelt on August 30 and at that time the Chief Executive expressed the hope that he would have an opportunity "to visit Kentucky Dam and incidentally our college".

Lieutenant Keefe said "the greatest loss is to the world, for Franklin Roosevelt was of the world."

Phi Mu Alpha Holds Meeting in Recital Hall

Phi Mu Alpha, the men's music fraternity, held a meeting Wednesday night, April 11, in the recital hall of the fine arts building.

Following the program, plans were brought up concerning the organization of the All-American composer's program set for May 15. This program will be composed of instrumental solos, trios, quartets, and vocal selections.

"I think this will be our finest All-American program since the organization of our fraternity," Curtis Hughes, president of Phi Mu Alpha, stated.

The Hon. Simon S. Willis, sixth Republican to fill the office of Governor of Kentucky, will deliver the commencement address for the 22nd graduating class at Murray State College Thursday morning, May 31, at 10 o'clock in the college auditorium. Governor Willis was ill last year and canceled his engagement to give the address, but promised to come at some future date.

Born December 1, 1879, in Lawrence County, Ohio, the son of John H. and Abigail Slaven Willis, Governor Willis obtained his early elementary education in the public schools of that community.

At the age of 10, he removed with his father and mother to South Portsmouth, Ky., where he completed the grades and later took a teacher's course in the private school of Professor Wade. Although he did not go to college, he

Reception Will Be Held In Place Of Annual Alumni Banquet At Murray

$200 In Scholarships To Be Awarded This Year

The executive board of the Alumni Association of Murray State College met Friday night at Collegiate Inn in a supper meeting, and made plans for the annual get-together of graduates and friends of the college, and the entertainment of the senior class.

The board announced that two scholarships, each to be $100, will be awarded to two high school seniors at the meeting that will be held at the Woman's Clubhouse May 30, at 8:30 p.m. These scholarships will make the sixth and seventh that have been awarded by this association. Miss Evelyn Linn, president, conducted the meeting.

A reception will take the place of a banquet this year. This plan resulted from food and transportation limitations. Miss Linn will announce her committee next week.

A committee to revise the constitution in regard to the method of electing officers and the payment of dues, was authorized by the board, and reports of this committee will be heard at the next meeting on May 30 at 3 o'clock p.m. in the office of Dr. J. H. Richmond, president of the college.

The secretary, has received two application blanks for the scholarships. One is from a student of Harold Moody, in Illinois, and the other is a student of Miss Lattie Venable, Union City, Tenn. More applications are expected. The last date of acceptance is May 13.

Officers are to be elected this year, and a committee has been appointed to present a slate of nominees for officers, and representatives from the following classes: '26, '28, '29, '30, '37, '39, '41, '43, '45.

Those present at the meeting were: Miss Evelyn Linn, Miss Laurine Tarry, Miss Kathleen Patterson, Miss Alice Keys, Raymond Story, Guy Billington, and Mrs. George Hart.

He's a Member of The Staff

The enigma of the unknown reporter has been solved. It became so fascinating to the College News staff that some investigation had to be made. Here is what we found:

Letters postmarked Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., written on County Clerk, Union City, Tenn., stationery, and signed "Fats" came so consistently they had to be noticed. We began to count on these news items, even save space for them.

Sometimes they are clippings, with the pertinent information marked in red. Often there is background material jotted down to add a feature to the rewrite. But the point is, the letters always come.

Curiosity getting the best of us, we finally asked Mr. Horton to tell us about Pfc. Robert A. "Fats" Everett. With the cooperation of the records of the registrar, Mr. Horton's best-friend collection, Miss Heron's memories, the 1936 Shield, and the staff's vivid imagination we have Pfc. Everett all figured out.

He entered Murray State in September, 1932, and received a B.S. in May, 1936. Here's what the Shield says: "Robert A. — I beg your pardon, Colonel Everett — of Jordan, Ky., and Union City, Tenn., showed his political inclination by taking a B. S. degree in social science. When he was not engaged in talking politics, the Colonel performed his duties as president of the International Relations Club, as president of the Tennessee Club, or as organization editor of the Shield."

Now our wonder-full minds are satisfied. We have found out about "Fats" Everett, the reporter with no by-line. May we thank you, Pfc. Everett, for your interest, loyalty, and "nose for news."

Capt. Rudy Ferguson Asserts Europeans Like American Soldiers

Capt. Rudy Ferguson, a graduate of the University of Kentucky and former state representative from Ballard County, told Murray College students and faculty in chapel here April 18 that in his 22 months overseas he "had never seen a child afraid of an American soldier."

Paying tribute to the courage and stamina of the American soldiers, Captain Ferguson said they were the most popular individuals in Europe.

Ferguson, home on a 45-day furlough, is serving with the Allied Military Government with Infantry Divisions and has seen service in North Africa, Sicily, England, France, Luxembourg, and Germany.

"All of you write just as many letters as you possibly can," Captain Ferguson advised the Murray students. "Next to food, letters are the best things the soldiers can get."

"Berkeley Square" Is Acclaimed As Outstanding Modern Romantic Drama

Sock and Buskin To Give Play May 18

"This love story of a present-day American, who is unceremoniously thrust into the bewigged and powdered life of Eighteenth Century London, and an English girl, who has been dead more than a hundred years before his birth, is, in its poetic, fantastic way, as beautiful a romantic episode as the current theatre offers."

Dean W. G. Nash introduced the speaker in chapel as a man who had always supported the cause of education in Kentucky. Captain Ferguson lauded the efforts of Dr. James H. Richmond, president, and Dr. J. W. Carr, president emeritus, in the development of Murray State College.

Preceding its American debut, "Berkeley Square" although written originally for the American theatre, had been to an extent the toast of London where it played for over a year. At the final performance in London the audience applauded for 20 minutes at the end of the play.

When "Berkeley Square" was brought to America by its star, Leslie Howard, it again received the plaudits of critics and public alike. "Berkeley Square" is the finest play of the season," stated the New York Times. It ran for a year on Broadway and repeated its success on the road the following season. In 1933 Mr. Howard and Heather Angel appeared in the motion picture adaptation of the script. The picture was outstanding and is listed by the critics as one of the ten best for 1933-34. The play has long been a favorite with radio "theatres" and this past winter Ronald Coleman appeared in the latest radio adaptation.

Since its release to amateurs, according to one survey "Berkeley Square" has for at least two years led all other plays in the number of productions by college groups. Sock and Buskin takes pride in presenting this fine play on May 18. While the demands made upon cast and production staff are greater for this play than on those presented previously this year, rehearsals indicate that the play will prove a most interesting experience for the audience. The set, now under construction, along with the planning of the properties, costumes, lighting, sound effects, music, and other aspects, gives some promise of a very artistic production.

Heading the cast is Tim O'Brien as Peter Standish, a man who can live in two worlds at one time — the present day and the eighteenth century, but he forgets that his girl of the present, Marjorie Frant, played by Jane Jones, will not understand about the girl of the past age, Helen Pettigrew, Bobby Berry. Confusing matters still further is the fact that according to history, Peter should have loved Helen's sister, Kate Pettigrew, played by Marjorie Humphreys. Woven into the romantic complications are characters of the present day and those of the other age. Terry Nelson appears as a town buck, Tom Pettigrew; the Lady Anne Pettigrew, a "dragon" sort of person, is played by Lett Watson; the dandified Mr. Throble is characterized by Byron Goode; The Duchess of Devonshire, who exemplifies the elegance of the eighteenth century, is played by Marion Sharborough; Miss Barrymore, a glamor girl of the Duchess' day is played by Sue McKendree; Major Clinton, fresh from the American Revolution, is portrayed by Curtis Hughes; the famous Duke of Cumberland is played by Art Roman; Billy Crossway appears as the American Ambassador; Elaine Mitchell and Helen Gordon make their acting debuts as Wilkins, a pretty maid, and as Mrs. Barwick, elderly housekeeper, respectively.

Keen interest is already being shown in the forthcoming production on part of patrons of the college theatre. Dean Wehling has commented, "I've always liked the play 'Berkeley Square'. I'm so glad it's being done here."

Ensign Wallis Writes of News

A letter written this week from New York to L. J. Horton from Ensign Hawthorne Wallis of the United States Merchant Service, and graduate of Murray State in 1939, said in part:

"Last night when I heard of the news regarding the death of the President I decided that I would collect a number of N. Y. newspapers and send to you . . . At 5:30 p.m. I walked through Times Square and read the bulletins they had posted. They post bulletins since they do not operate the band of running lights on the Times Building because of the brown-out. This band of lights gives a running account of the headlines as they come in. It was in operation for a while a year ago when I was here."

Wallis bought every newspaper he could find which had information in regard to Roosevelt. He said he would mail the papers as soon as he could pick up the follow-up stories. He said, "I thought these would be an outstanding example of certain things I was supposed to learn in class."

Roosevelt

"First in war, first in peace, first in the hearts of his countrymen," might well be said again in regard to our President, the late Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

This thought is expressed by the magnitude of the funeral procession to the White House and by the sense of loss and mourning felt by the people of the United States, and by the closing of business houses in his honor. As commander-in-chief of our armed forces, our president has been under tremendous strain for the last term of his service to the American people. The greatness of our late president is demonstrated by the way he filled out his occupational questionnaire stating that he was employed by the people of the United States.

Doing much by his excellent sense of humor to keep the big three powers in harmony he truly has had a tremendous influence for good on the future of the world. A great statesman, a great friend of the common man of America, one who has probably done more for the laboring class than any one else in history. He was honored by the people of America by being elected to the third and fourth terms as president. Truly a great man in the history of the world.

—Richerson.

President's Death Shocks Campus

By Nelson Williams

At 4:35 p.m. Eastern wartime, April 12, 1945, the president of the United States died of a cerebral hemorrhage.

Of course, we didn't want to believe that he was dead, but when the sound of the bugle taps was heard and we saw the Stars and Stripes at half mast everyone knew in his heart that President Roosevelt was dead.

The president's death was a great loss to everyone, but his death was felt most by our own Dr. James H. Richmond.

Dr. Richmond has known the president for the last 25 years. He was his campaign manager in 1932 in the state of Kentucky — not as a politician but because he believed in Roosevelt as a man and in his philosophy of government. Dr. Richmond has been present at five or six group and personal conferences with the president, including one at Hyde Park where, along with other leading educators, plans were discussed to grant federal aid to education. The president gave Dr. Richmond a personally inscribed etching on which were the words: "For my friend, James H. Richmond, from Franklin D. Roosevelt." He also treasures highly three or four personal letters from the president.

The last time Dr. Richmond saw the president personally was August, 1944.

"He is my friend, my personal friend," said Dr. Richmond. "He died when victory in Europe was in sight."

Small Town—Small Talk

Obviously from the drab expressions on the faces of some of the boys and girls on the campus, they're pretty bored on week-ends in Murray. Sometimes their remarks give the impression that everyone is from some vast city and can't see how small town people have survived so long.

Just last Sunday we heard some character say that this community was all right for kids who were used to the country. We asked where his home was. That same old, familiar answer came back.

"Well I live in Podunk Jump, but it's just right across the river from Big City."

We're convinced it couldn't possibly be less than a hundred miles. People like this are those habitual grippers. Most of us are alike everywhere, no matter where we are.

But the thing that is most disgusting is to hear these constant complainers. They give themselves away because they're the people who have always found nothing to do. Those who are from the larger towns are the ones who have the most fun. They kinda like this life of ours and you can tell them a mile away. They're usually laughing and talking about a picnic that just ended too soon or talking for Murray because they're grateful to be in such a place and not to be in London or Berlin or some vast metropolis that the other fellow might prefer. Nothing is as bad as it seems — not even Murray.

—Alsbrook.

Yep, We Want To Rest!

"Just six more weeks 'till vacation!" That is what we hear over and over now that the weeks of the last quarter of school slip by.

Though we've had fun this year meeting new people and learning to get along with eight other suite mates, the name "home" doesn't sound bad at all.

Perhaps for some of us, traveling seems an exciting way to spend the summer, and then again many industrious souls may not even take a holiday, but find a job they like.

But confidentially we just want to lead a life of leisure at home — eating and sleeping and perhaps playing a game of tennis now and then. Frankly we can't think of a better way to spend a vacation.

—Austin.

Radio Jumble

By Lucrezia Douglas

"The private lives of—Dixie Hog Finner — broadcasting studio in Memphis, Tenn." "For dessert bring on a platter of those luscious—wonderful ivory suds." This is something resembling the mixture I get when I am trying to get one of my favorite radio programs of popular music played by a nationally known orchestra leader and I am able to get the station without any interference. By the time I get my program, the music has stopped and some announcer is telling me to use this or that (I am already using it) and that I need such and such a thing (which I have no use for whatever).

Ah! He has stopped—"And now for your enjoyment, the popular 'My Dreams Are Getting Better All the Time.' I settle back in my chair to relax when a Mexican interrupts to talk about I know not what.

I twist the dial again and hear: "a dream, I never dreamed he'd ever say 'hello.' Maybe tonight—it will be worth your while to switch to our tobacco." A yank at the dial. "Want speedy headache relief?" WHERE is that program? By this time I'm getting desperate.

"My dreams are getting better all the time." The end of the song and the man telling me about a free trial offer of something. Three minutes of this and once again I hear a melody. It isn't one of my favorites so naturally I hear all of it.

"And now an old time favorite, 'Melancholy Baby!' If it is not one thing it is another. The voice blares and then recedes to a low hum until I can hardly distinguish one word from another. This and the jumble goes on and on until at last I hear a voice saying clearly—"And so ends the fifteen minutes of music for your listening pleasure." I start turning the dial to click it off, and the last thing I hear is "the real secret of this coffee—it makes your hands so smooth and soft."

Happenings at Swann Dorm

By Shirley Stanton

"I'm getting married in a month and am not going to finish school," declares one of our mates on the north wing. Everyone rushes up to the person giving out with the lecture to find she is relating her future. Yes! A wave of fortune-telling has invaded the dorm, and everyone knows what the future holds for her. Some of the girls would be quite willing for theirs to come true.

In the south wing, however, it is not just in the future . . . for Cynthia Berry surprised many of her friends by returning as Mrs. Jimmy Turner April 18, for a visit.

A house meeting was held Monday night, April 16, to discuss tentative plans for a party for the new sailors in the near future. A few other business matters were also considered.

Running into each other's rooms and peering into closets, girls have been squealing with delight over new spring hats and dresses. The familiar moan of the onlooker is "I don't have a thing new," but the next day you see her and she certainly isn't in an old rag!

Sun bathing is still continuing when the weather permits but several of the girls are complaining of their tans fading out. They are hoping to see more sun in the next few weeks.

Disciple Center Is Attractive

By Mary V. Austin

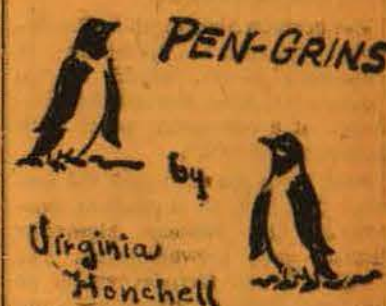

The 2-story white frame house on Fifteenth street across from the liberal arts building is the "Disciple Center," a home for housing ministerial students and their families of the Christian Church.

The Rev. Arthur J. Russell, associate secretary and director of the Christian churches of Kentucky and regional worker of West Kentucky, had the inspiration for such a center. It was largely through his efforts that the building on Fifteenth street was purchased, December 1, 1944. Mr. Russell, who lives at 1305 Poplar, Murray, has his offices in the Disciple Center.

Mrs. John W. Reeves is student director. Mrs. Reeves, the wife of Chaplain Reeves who is now in Germany, welcomes all college students to the center. Her office is also in the building.

Five apartments are available to ministerial students and their families, in addition to the number of single rooms for unmarried ministers.

Probably the most inspirational room in the house is the prayer room, designed in a miniature chapel fashion. Facing the door is the altar above which is a sterling silver cross. On each side of the altar, white candles burn in silver candelabra. A small organ, chairs, and a communion service are also possessions of the "Casey at the Bat" would never have been written if Thayer had witnessed the hilarious and vigorous baseball games on the campus at nights lately. After seeing the glamorous co-eds yelling when Mr. Prindle swings a south-paw or when Morey makes it to first base, the author would have thrown away the first draft and written about something mightily thrilling—"Morey at the Bat," perhaps.

FA vs. USN

The outlook was dreary for the MUSIC NINE THAT night. The score stood five to three, while the Navy led the fight. And so, when Crossway died, at first, and Oldham did so too. A sickly silence fell and Barrett yelled "You too!"

A straggling few picked up their horns and left in deep despair. But Prindle and McNeilly still held the crowd there. They thought, if only Morey could but get a whack at that. They'd put up even money now, with Morey at the bat.

There was ease in Morey's manner as he strode up to his place; "Pop" applauded when he saw the smile on Morey's face. And when in answer to the cheers, he grinned and tipped his hat, each stranger on the campus knew 'twas Morey at the bat.

All co-eds' eyes were on him as he rubbed his hands with dirt. And those co-eds applauded when he wiped them on his shirt. Then while the Navy pitcher ground the ball into his hip, "Just watch me!" gleamed in Morey's eye. A sneer curled Morey's lip.

Oh, somewhere in this Murrayland the sun is shining bright. The band plays in the barracks and all their hearts are light. In shipstore, boys are laughing and here and there they shout. But there's no joy in the FA. Mighty Morey has struck OUT!

JOURNAL PRAISES CAPTAIN HOUSTON

Murray Student Lauded For Surgical Work Done in World War

An article appearing in the April 11 issue of "The Christian Evangelist," a weekly publication of the Disciples of Christ, mentioned the fine work being done by the doctors in every theater of war. Written by Lt. Vincal M. Paxton, of the Army Nurse Corps, it praised especially Capt. Hal E. Houston, brain specialist, of the European Theater.

Of Dr. Houston she wrote: "Our brain surgeon, Captain Hal E. Houston seems to have been born for just such a service. He has far more endurance than his tall slight figure would lead one to believe he possesses. His soft slow southern voice and his deliberate way of moving about does much to allay the anxiety of his patients. They trust him implicitly. When he says, 'Hold still, I'm going to have to hurt you a little,' during a painful dressing, the patient is helped to do what he must."

Capt. Houston, a Murray State grad, was a surgeon at Keys-Houston Clinic before induction.

Excerpts From Keefe's Tribute To Late President

Printed below are excerpts from the address delivered at the memorial service in the college auditorium on April 15 by Lt. Edward C. Keefe, in commemoration of the late Franklin Delano Roosevelt:

"We of the Navy can feel our loss as especially acute, for this man loved our Navy, gloried in its proud tradition and valorous deeds, and strove that it become the potent force for democracy and freedom that it is today. But our loss, and the Navy's loss is not the greatest one. In the ultimate sense, the greatest loss belongs to the world, yes, even to those nations against whom we bear arms, for Franklin D. Roosevelt was of the world, his greatness transcended national barriers . . .

"But if I know the kind of man we all believe Franklin Delano Roosevelt to have been, I believe that he would be unsatisfied with merely tears for a memorial. I believe that we should erect not a memorial of stone and mortar, nor yet a carving on the face of some mountain side, but that we should erect a two-fold memorial: A memorial in our hearts, and a memorial in our deeds. This man lived and worked, yes, even died, that the world might live in peace . . . We can erect no more beautiful memorial than to use our franchise and electoral right to see that democracy is preserved in this country and that democracy becomes a reality in fact to the oppressed people of the world. We can erect no better memorial than to dedicate our lives toward the improvement of the life of our fellow men in all parts of the world. Those are the things that were important to Franklin Roosevelt in his life on this earth and those are the things that are important to him today. How insignificant any other memorial would be compared to the realization of this man's goals."

The tribute from Dr. Richmond, who was unable to attend the service due to his health, concluded as follows:

"In the thirty-eight verse of the Third Chapter of Second Samuel, you will find these words: 'Know ye not that there is a prince and a great man fallen this day in Israel?' Roosevelt has fallen; and yet he is not dead. His great services to his country and to the world will not be forgotten; and the mighty works that he did will do much toward bringing about a happier and better world."

Holley Visits On Murray Campus

Bertrand Holley, who received the B. A. degree from Murray State College in March, 1944, visited on the campus Saturday, April 7. He is principal of the Bloomfield, Mo. High School.

During his senior year at Murray he was president of the Student Org. He was also active in the Commerce Club and El Nopal.

Excerpts From Richmond's Tribute To Late President

A tribute to the late Franklin Delano Roosevelt from Dr. James H. Richmond, president of Murray College, was read at the memorial service in the college auditorium on April 15. It read, in part:

"I knew Franklin D. Roosevelt, had the very great privilege of talking with him on many different occasions. He was modest, affable and sincere. One soon forgot that he was talking to the President; one had the feeling that he was visiting with a thoughtful, sympathetic and gracious friend. The last time I saw him was on August 30, of last year, when I had the good fortune to visit with him for over an hour, in his office in the White House. He talked about many things, and listened courteously to what I had to say . . . I had the pleasure of telling him what he had not heard until that time: that the Kentucky Dam at Gilbertsville, was completed and that, just three or four days before, the generators had started to produce electricity for this great area. He was delighted at this news, and intensely interested. He expressed the hope that he might visit the Kentucky Dam and, incidentally, visit our college, and stand on this platform and appear before our people. He had an intense and abiding interest in the common man, and all their problems were his problems; and their hopes were his hopes."

The tribute from Dr. Richmond, who was unable to attend the service due to his health, concluded as follows:

"In the thirty-eight verse of the Third Chapter of Second Samuel, you will find these words: 'Know ye not that there is a prince and a great man fallen this day in Israel?' Roosevelt has fallen; and yet he is not dead. His great services to his country and to the world will not be forgotten; and the mighty works that he did will do much toward bringing about a happier and better world."

Born when the South was yet young, the L & N—now "The Old Reliable"—has survived a destructive Civil War, the reconstruction period and the passing of three generations of men both great and small.

For 95 years it has been an energizing bloodstream to the South's expanding agriculture, industry, commerce and social growth. Now, as ever, its interests are inseparably linked with the South's highest welfare and fruitful development.

With almost 5,000 miles of self-maintained steel highways and a half billion dollar investment, it daily reflects its faith in the South and the quality of its people, by still further expansion of territory, facilities and service.

It aids mightily in the present war and looks hopefully to peace when, as Private Builder and Public Servant, it will continue to work cooperatively and constructively to make a more livable and prosperous South.

It wants to be friendly, neighborly and helpful and hopes for such acceptance.

Miss Fellers Elected President Of W.A.A.

Student Org News

By Tim O'Brien

The run-off election between Johnny Reagan and Billy Crossway for the post of sophomore representative was held and Crossway was the victor. This completes the roster of next year's Student Organization with the exception of the freshmen representatives who will be elected at the first chapel next fall.

At the last meeting held Tuesday, April 17, 1945, three topics were discussed: first, the ordering of the Outstanding Senior awards; second, the selecting of the editor and business manager of next year's Shield; and third the possibility of having a street dance some Wednesday evening during the month of May.

Any sophomore or junior that would be interested in heading the Shield staff next year should apply to any member of the Student Org. before next Tuesday at 6 p.m. They will be selected that night at the regular meeting.

The street dance would be held in front of the administration building between 8:30 and 8:30 p.m. and the music would be supplied by the old faithful "Juke Box".

Miss Beth Broach Is Chosen As Vice-President

Miss Anna Merle Fellers, Paducah, was elected president of the Women's Athletic Association Thursday night, April 12.

In their first executive meeting since the adoption of a new constitution, members of the Murray WAA formally elected officers for the college year 1945-1946. The meeting, held at 8 p.m. in the Health Building, was attended by Miss Carrie Allison, sponsor, and Mrs. James A. French, supervisor.

Following parliamentary procedure, with Miss Allison and Mrs. French presiding until the election of the club president, these officers were chosen: Miss Fellers, president; Miss Beth Broach, Murray, vice-president; Miss Mary Anna Huie, Murray, secretary; Miss Patty Sue Clopton, Rector, Ark., treasurer; Miss Ernestine Goodgion, Clinton, chairman of awards, with Miss Helen Hogan, Lowes, as assistant chairman; Martha Strayhorn, reporter.

Before the election of officers, an open-forum discussion was held concerning the laws and by-laws of the new constitution and the significance of their adoption with regard to women's athletic organizations in other colleges in the state. Effective methods of correspondence with these other organizations were discussed and special consideration was given to this point in electing the club's secretary, Miss Huie.

An explanation was made concerning a more efficient method of recording scores both for team sports and individual sports, and a card-index system of all members was established so that an accurate record of hours spent in athletics might be kept.

In previous years, it has been the custom of the club to allow credit toward awards for work in team sports only. Under the new system set up by Mrs. French, supervisor of athletic activities, credit will be given for work in individual games, including badminton, paddle tennis, ping-pong, tennis, and swimming. Twelve hours' participation in any one of these activities will be equal to 20 points toward an award.

A statement of the club's financial standing was read by Miss Allison and the slight surplus in the treasury was eagerly approved by all members present, who then engaged in lively debate as to the most satisfactory method of disposing of it. Amid slight confusion, it was voted to have a picnic at the beginning of the softball season, followed by a banquet at the end of the year.

Club members, divided into two teams captained by Miss Beth Broach, Murray, and Miss Ernestine Goodgion, Clinton, will continue playing volleyball for approximately two more weeks. At the end of that time, softball teams will be chosen and the regular Thursday night meetings will be devoted to that sport.

The final program in a series on "Global Citizenship" was presented at the April meeting of the AAUW.

The program was in charge of the education committee under the chairmanship of Dean Ella Wehling. Miss Mary Lassiter, Dr. Racine Spicer, Miss Ethelyn Johnston, Miss Beatrice Frye, and Miss Alice Keys, also members of the education committee, assisted Miss Wehling in the discussion of various phases of Russian home life, history, education, industry, and government.

Plans were made for the "National Convention Without Travel" of the AAUW which will be held by all local chapters all over the United States on May 29.

The Murray branch will meet at noon on that day in the home of Mrs. A. M. Wolfson. Miss Caroline Wingo was appointed chairman of a special hospitality committee to assist Mrs. Wolfson.

On May 8 the annual AAUW picnic will be held in the city park. Mrs. Max Carman and her committee will have charge of this meeting.

The club had as its visitors Miss Elise Long, manager of the National Hotel, and Miss Ruth Hooper, director of the Nurse Training Unit at the Mason Hospital. Miss Long is a graduate of the University of Texas and Miss Hooper of Peabody College.

Underwood Is Coach Of Colts For Track Season

Johnny Underwood, star thoroughbred halfback from Newman, Ill., has been chosen track coach for the Training School Colts. The high school regional track and field meet will be held in Cutchin Stadium Friday, March 11.

There are about 15 or 16 boys out and about half of them have had track experience. So the prospects are not too bright or too dim," said Underwood.

Murray High, defending regional champion and runner-up at the state meet, will build its team around Tom Covington, who was high-point man in last year's contest.

Tilghman, co-favorite with Murray High, has about 45 boys out with, about six returning lettermen, including Tony Dallas.

Other teams that may come include Fulton, Hopkinsville, and Mayfield, according to Preston Holland, Murray High coach and representative of the state track committee.

WAYLON RAYBURN

announces for

COUNTY ATTORNEY CALLOWAY COUNTY

TO THE CITIZENS OF CALLOWAY COUNTY

During ordinary times the average citizen is far more conscious of his local or County Government than he is of any other Government under which he lives, because it touches his life and activity at almost every turn. In a war period, however, such as we are experiencing at present, the National Government overshadows State and County Governments in that it touches the life of every individual in such an intimate and vital way.

Yet, even during a period such as we are experiencing at present, people can't afford to be unconcerned about their County Government and particularly about the men they elect to the various County Offices who are charged with the responsibility of administering their County Government.

One of the most important offices in your County Government is that of County Attorney. This is true for many reasons so obvious and well known that it is unnecessary to enumerate them. With this thought in mind, I have the honor and pleasure of offering myself as a candidate for the office of County Attorney and submit for your consideration the following qualifications.

I received the A. B. degree from Murray State College in June, 1930. In the summer of 1931, I enrolled in the Law School of the University of Kentucky, but due to circumstances beyond my control, I was unable to continue in Law School and during the following years I taught school, going back to the University for summer work as often as possible and, thus, finished the requirements for the Masters degree in 1941. My work forced me to move to Louisville in 1940 and I immediately enrolled in the Jefferson School of Law and finished the course in 1943. I passed the State Bar Examination in June 1943, and began the practice of Law immediately upon the receipt of my license.

It is my good fortune to know and count as my personal friend most every person in Calloway County, and I believe most every citizen in the County knows me; but to those who do not, and in fact to every voter, I extend an invitation and urge that you inquire as to my personal fitness, legal qualifications and etc. to fill the office of your Attorney, and if you find me qualified and personally fitted, I earnestly and sincerely solicit your vote and support. And if you honor me with election, I shall ever be grateful and shall bring to the office all the ability, energy, enthusiasm and integrity that I possess and constantly strive to give you competent and efficient legal service.

Respectfully submitted,

WAYLON RAYBURN

DORMISTORY

By VIOLET BLACKWELL

Was it Al Capone who said "Be versatile"? Or maybe it was Brigham Young who said "Above all, don't be monotonous." The idea's the same. When in a rut, go to the Hut. Free ad. To be taken up in toast and coca colas.

Greyhound really drew the lucky ticket this week. Veda Hal-lam, accompanied by her ladies-in-waiting M. Crouch, B. Harris, and L. Jones, went to Fairfield, Ill. for the ride, you know. Barbara was in charge of umbrellas. Veda supervised the checking of the baggage, and Maxine went along for entertainment purposes. All because Al said, "Be versatile!"

Joyce Griffin and Ann McNeile took the matter seriously too. Their line is dancing. Joyce leads through the first chorus, then Ann takes over till the part that goes "but then when they turn the lights down low, I'm beginning"—then Joyce leads again. It's unique anyway. But we decided on "versatile" didn't we?

The affection with which Jewell Thomas guards her "fly" is touching—but the snake in suites 301, 2, 3, 4 is the hardest to swallow.

Jane Hudson's hero has been promoted to Corporal! Not many can boast of such these days. His name is Zach, short for Zachariah, and when he was injured while playing basketball on Guadalcanal recently, Hudson sent him the Purple Heart. That's what I said, be versatile.

Martha Moody's new car made a big hit on the campus. It's so round, so firm, so fully packed. It

LT. G. B. LILLIE GETS AIR MEDAL

Former Murray Student Receives Award For Meritorious Achievement

WITH THE 12TH AAF B-25 GROUP IN THE MEDITERRANEAN THEATRE—2nd Lt. Green B. Lillie of Brookport, Ill., who is serving as a bombardier with the 12th Air Force B-25 medium bombardment group in the Mediterranean theatre, has been awarded the Air Medal for meritorious achievement in aerial flight.

The occasion for winning the award was an attack upon an enemy supply dump at Mirabello, Italy, which resulted in the damage of large quantities of military supplies and other military installations.

He has been with his unit four months and recently chalked up his 25th combat mission in the Billy Mitchell bomber. Lieutenant Lillie's unit is one of the 12th Air Force Mitchell groups engaged in the Battle of Brenner Pass. Railroad bridges, embankments and yards along the vital supply and communications artery feeding the northern Italian front are under constant and heavy attack by the Mitchells. Despite fierce enemy resistance, the Pass is gradually becoming paralyzed and the flow of enemy supplies seriously interrupted.

Lieutenant Lillie was a student at Murray State College before he entered the service August 28, 1941.

His mother is Mrs. Anna H. Lillie of Brookport, Ill.

Three Students To Aid Revivals

Three students of Murray State, Imogene McCord, Dorothy Brizendine, and Rebecca Jean Fisher, ex-44, have been chosen to serve on the revival teams made up of Baptist students from the various campuses of Kentucky.

There are to be three teams of four students each. The teams have a business manager, devotional leader, chorister, and pianist. The students will spend their summer, beginning about June 7, in revival work in Baptist Churches of Kentucky.

Classes Suspended In Memory Of F. D. Roosevelt

Classes at Murray State College were suspended from Friday, April 13, until Monday, April 16, to respect the memory of the late President and Commander in Chief, Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

President Richmond urged the faculty and students of the college "to engage in serious thought and prayer, remembering the heroic life, work and ideals of the great Christian and humanitarian, and to ask God's blessings on our new leader, Harry S. Truman."

Date slips multiplied during the last days of the group of sailors who just left. But, as always, there is a new bunch. Ordway is giving a party for them tonight. Success can be measured by the number of couples on the campus Sunday afternoon.

Sun baths continue in the cow pasture of Ordway when it doesn't rain. Doty Fanelli gets the prize. She looks like Ghandi's granddaughter.

New Programs Are Needed For Veterans, Getty Says

Church Secretary Is Speaker in Chapel

Dr. Walter Getty, executive secretary of the Camp and Church Activities, Wartime Service Commission of the USA Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia, Penn., spoke in chapel Wednesday, April 11, on "The Homecoming Soldier." He was introduced by the Rev. Samuel McKee, pastor of the Murray Presbyterian Church.

"We're going to need new tools, new techniques, new programs for the days ahead," Getty said. "Education and the church are facing great challenges in preparing for these returning veterans."

The speaker said the boys coming back from the war would not want to be paraded, classed as "Exhibit A," or classified as problems.

"Above all we must show the spirit of friendliness and understanding to all who return," Dr. Getty asserted.

Explaining that the post-war world would witness tremendous advances in scientific, technical, and industrial matters, the lecturer said the veterans would need guidance and opportunities for jobs.

The challenge of such doctrines as "might makes right," humanism, militarism, and materialism must be faced, he said.

"We are going to have a chance to see whether we are going to join a great world-wide organization for maintaining peace," Getty said.

Churchill-McDaniel

SPECIALISTS VISIT REGIONAL LIBRARY

Miss Elizabeth Earle and Miss Mary Louise Rothrock Inspect Murray Facilities

Miss Elizabeth Earle, extension librarian of the Library Extension Division of Frankfort, visited the Regional Library April 12 and 13, getting acquainted with the work and discussing the problems. Miss Mary Louise Rothrock, library specialist on the staff of the training division of the Tennessee Valley Authority in Knoxville, was here April 17 and 18. She helped make plans for the continuation of the progress of the library here on the campus.

Since it has been established, the library has received many requests for books, pamphlets, and information on varied subjects. Recently, a man whose son was reported missing in action in a raid over Florisford, Austria, wrote to the librarian asking her to send an atlas that had a map of Liambach and Florisford, Austria, in it. His son's plane left the formation at Liambach and was seen no more. None of the maps have shown either of the two cities.

A-S Jess Hahn is now stationed in Shoemaker, Calif. His former address was at Bainbridge, Md.

attended the normal school, took the examination and became a school teacher.

Before he was 20, he was named principal of Springville graded school. Governor Willis devoted much of his time to studying law and on November 11, 1901, he was admitted to practice before the Kentucky Bar. He also engaged in reportorial and editorial work, writing news for the Portsmouth, Ohio, Tribune and editorials for the Greenup County Gazette.

This young lawyer—at the age of 22—opened a law office in Ashland, a city where he later remained an attorney, judge, and citizen. In his first political race—as a candidate for city attorney—Governor Willis was defeated in 1915, but 13 years later he was elected to a 4-year term as City Solicitor of Ashland.

Governor Willis is a Knight Templar and Shriner of the Masonic fraternity and a member of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks. He is a member of the Boyd County, Kentucky State, and American Bar Associations and was for five years a member of the State Board of Bar Examiners. ## WORK PROGRESSES ON BUILDINGS FOR AG DEPARTMENT

Brooder House And Farm Shop Being Built

"Work is progressing nicely on the new building just north of the college campus on the Carr tract of land," according to Prof. A. Carman in a statement to the College News this week.

A farm shop building 40 x 60 feet is to have power equipment to aid the farmers in repairing their farm machinery. There will be equipment for welding, forging, and for woodwork. It will be possible for the farmers to be under the instruction of a vocational instructor employed by the vocational department.

Adjoining the farm shop building is a 30 x 30-foot brooder house for producing pullets as well as broilers. There is to be a 20 x 30-foot poultry dressing room with equipment for killing, scalding, and machines for picking the chickens. This dressing room will be used for preparing poultry for the college dining hall. The buildings are to include sanitary features such as a septic tank and hot and cold water. The buildings are being constructed with cinder blocks.

Mr. Carman stated that the orchards were to be sprayed, beginning Friday, April 20.
