KENTUCKY: --Light Snow and much colder Wednesday. Moderate cold wave. Fresh winds.

THE LISTENING POST

● If the fortunes and misfortunes of war do ultimately sweep Winston Churchill out of office as British Premier it will be a striking demonstration of a democracy at work. What is ahead for the chubby British leader remains to be seen, but it is evident that he is not backing up and is willing to take whatever may be placed on his shoulders. Yesterday he admitted that there was not the proper cooperation between the Royal Air Force and the Army, but he made no apology for what has happened in Singapore. In fact, all he said about that was that fresh and more terrible losses are to be expected in the Far East. It is evident that England has no men and ships and planes to send to that theatre, now that Hitler has managed to throw together a strong high seas fleet and Churchill is determined to meet Hitler in preference to trying to win in the Far East at the same time and thus possibly making an invasion of England possible during the coming months.

● As to the Far East Churchill promises nothing. He does promise that the Royal Air Force will continue to hammer at the German ships which are now in a German port, and he adds with a sort of grim irony that there is one blessing in this procedure. "Here," he said, "when the bombs fall wide of their mark they will fall on German territory and not on French territory." During the past year more than one hundred attacks have been made on these ships in the French port of Brest, and no doubt vast damage was done there, with perhaps some French lives sacrificed.

● Britain is fighting mad all the way through, and this anger has brought on demands for a sweeping housecleaning of the men who head up various defense posts. Churchill flatly refuses to give up any of the powers originally delegated to him. His viewpoint can be easily seen. If he began surrendering rights he could not hope to last very long, nor could he hope to accomplish very much. He told the lawmakers that they could vote him out of office if they so desired, but as long as he remained at the head of the British government he proposed to be in absolute charge of the defense effort. That leaves it squarely up to Parliament. If it is desired that he be thrown out of office Parliament can call for a vote of confidence and if the vote goes against Churchill he will at once resign.

● The dictator states are laughing lustily at this matter, I guess. They believe it is a sign of extreme weakness in Britain. They do not know it, but it is a sign of vast and terrible strength which Germany and Japan can never know. Those criticisms of Churchill are the voice of the people, the aroused people. Such a voice is never heard in Germany, or in any of the totalitarian states. Should such speaking be indulged in by people of those nations the firing squad would be kept busy until all who had thus spoken had been executed. The more efficient way of getting rid of men who have failed—that is, by German standards—is to have a man die by heart failure or to lose his life in an airplane crash. Many men have gone this way in Germany during recent months, and others will go the same way as the Germans begin to fail.

● It will be regrettable if Churchill is thrown out of office, but if that is what the people want in England they can get it. That marks the vast difference between England and Germany. Nothing save overpowering force can get rid of Hitler. As long as the army remains loyal to him nothing the people might do, short of assassination, can have any effect on the German leader. Getting rid of Churchill is a simple matter and if the English people want his scalp they can get it in short order.

House Gives Approval To TVA Measure By Heavy Vote Of 85 10, Without Any Amendments

Bill Is Given First Reading To Senate Afterwards

CURTIN SAYS ALL MUST MOBILIZE FOR AUSTRALIAN BATTLE

Believe Large Scale Attack Is Plan Of Enemy

Sydney, Australia. —Prime Minister John Curtin declared today that "everything we have, everything which belongs to us must now be mobilized" for the battle of Australia, as a result of Singapore's fall.

The attitude of the government is that a Japanese attack on the commonwealth—a large scale attack from air and sea which may break at any moment—has become inevitable.

The full federal cabinet will assemble here tomorrow, and Parliament is due to assemble at Canberra this week.

Secret moves decided upon some weeks ago on the expectation that Singapore might not be held, among them big movements of troops and aircraft, already are being carried out.

Further attempts to procure urgently needed essential materials from the United States and Great Britain are certain to be made by the government.

"No longer is there a time factor in which we can place reliance," said the prime minister. "The battle of Australia demands what the battle of Britain required. We must work and fight as we have never worked and fought before."

ALUMINUM DRIVE GETS OLD GERMAN BOOTS

Pittsfield, Mass. —Shoemaker John Castello believes he was well within his rights in giving the aluminum-for-defense drive committee a pair of aluminum-soled shoes.

When a committee member visited his shop, Castello handed out the boots left by a former member of the German army for repairs twenty-two years ago.

MAYOR AND COUNCIL

City of Fulton 32-10

Upper Branch May Vote On Bill Tomorrow

Frankfort, Ky. —The Kentucky House of Representatives today gave approval by a vote of 85 to 10 to a bill enabling cities of the state to acquire TVA electric current.

Adoption of the substitute TVA enabling bill prepared by members of Gov. Keen Johnson's administration and making the measure ready for Senate action came after two House members had spoken for it and none had debated against the controversial bill.

The measure was passed without amendments after Reps. Harry Lowman of Boyd county and W. W. Crouch of Crittenden county, both Democrats, had spoken in behalf of the legislation.

Crouch told the House that he had lived in Tennessee for seven years during the development of the TVA and that he could assure members who had not made up their minds on the issue that they could vote for the measure "without qualms."

The TVA, he declared, was not the "bogeyman or scarecrow" it had been pictured by some opponents of the bill.

Votes against the bill were cast by seven Democrats and three Republicans.

The 85 votes favoring the bill were cast by 68 Democrats and 20 Republicans.

Shortly after the House had approved the TVA bill it was given a favorable report and first reading in the Senate, making it possible to vote there Thursday on the measure.

Arguments over the controversial measure began after House Democratic Floor Leader Henry Ward had obtained by voice vote consent to adopt the substitute bill as an amendment to the original measure.

Prevent Amendment: House members said that move prevented any amendment being made to the substitute. It was prepared by Ward and other administration leaders and contained clauses designed to meet some of the opposition to the original measure.

Representative Lowman stressed in his argument that the substitute bill provided that municipal systems operating with TVA current must pay to the state, the counties, municipalities and other taxing districts the equivalent of taxes that a privately owned utility would pay.

Enemy Alien Vanguard Is Taken From Many Points In California

San Francisco. —Hundreds of enemy aliens, the vanguard of many thousands yet to be moved, were cleared from California's key military and industrial areas over the week-end.

They were residents of sixty-nine restricted zones for which the Government had set an evacuation deadline of last midnight.

Federal authorities, searching the areas for possible stragglers, said the removal was without incident. Any enemy aliens found in the zones now will be subject to internment until the end of the war.

Even as the first exodus was being completed, Government men looked to Washington for guidance in carrying out further orders for the removal of thousands of other aliens from prohibited zones in California February 24.

Tom C. Clark, western co-ordinator of Enemy Alien Control left for Washington after indicating that the Army and Navy were not satisfied with measures taken so far. He said a modified kind of material law, permitting the removal of scores of thousands of aliens and many of their American-born children, might be adopted to clear California, Washington and Oregon Coastal areas of persons considered undesirable by the Army and Navy.

"The biggest danger from alien Japanese is their espionage menace—What they might see and hear and pass on to others to do our enemies the most good," Clark said.

"For that reason, I believe alien Japanese and possibly many American-born Japanese should be located in some centralized area, perhaps in California, but well away from where they see what is going on."

Will Weed Out Men Who Might Be Unfit

Fort Knox, Ky. —Through laboratory tests the armored force is going to find the right man to fight in Uncle Sam's tanks and the right man for the Army.

Weeding out prospective tank crew members who might prove physically or emotionally unfit in combat will be the work of the armored force medical research and experimental laboratory, on which construction will be started immediately. Plans were prepared by Colonel A. W. Keener, armored force surgeon, after consultation with Maj. Gen. Jacob L. Devers, chief of armored force.

There tankers, at the rate of about 200 a day, will be put through tests ranging all the way from answering psychologist's questions to driving tanks over live land mines, just to see how they react to battle conditions.

The land mines, it was explained by Col. Keener will not carry the usual tank-destroying charge of explosive, but graduated charge that will give the crews the effect of being on the receiving end of artillery fire.

Rigorous physical tests to determine the effects of fatigue, will be given in the laboratory. In a special chamber tanks will be subjected to temperatures ranging from desert heat to well below zero, while reactions of the crew are noted.

Tanks will be taken into the field, "buttoned up" as in combat and the effects on the crews of the noise and concussion of firing the guns tabulated. Then the tanks will run over land mines to jolt it about a bit, and if the crew members go through it all without batting an eyelash, the chances are they're not neurotics, or not likely to get hysterical when the real shooting starts.

LANDIS HEARS O. C. D. CALLED "SORRY JOKE"

Washington. —Civilian Defense Director James M. Landis declared in Senate Appropriations Committee testimony made public today that he favored limiting the national physical fitness program to men about to enter the Army and production workers, with entertainment aspects eliminated.

Landis made this assertion during hearings on a $100,000,000 civilian defense appropriation. Committee members told him that O. C. D. activities and appointments had caused a falling off of public support for the war effort.

O. C. D. Called Joke "It (O. C. D.) appears as a sorry joke in the eyes of the plain people of this country," Senator McKellar (D., Tenn.), asserted during questioning of Landis.

Japanese Step Up Heavy Attack On Bataan Front—Refugee Camp Is Bombed By Japanese Force

Not Possible To Get Bombers To General MacArthur

BOB WHITE REELECTED PRESIDENT OF LOCAL CHAMBER COMMERCE

Will Serve As President For Second Year

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce held yesterday afternoon Bob White was re-elected president of the organization for another year. R. E. Sanford was named vice president, Joe D. Davis secretary and Mrs. Mary Boyd, assistant secretary.

At the meeting plans were made for the membership campaign and President White stated that he hoped to get some action on the creek work within the next few months. At a later date, when work has advanced farther on the new school building, it is believed that considerable labor will be available for work on the creek, and Mr. White will confer with George Goodman, state director of the W. P. A. over possibilities of using some of this labor on the creek project. The board of education has also purchased a concrete mixer for use on the school building and this machine will be available for use on other project.

PROBE URGED IN SHIP FIRE

Washington. —Forecasting Administration opposition to the move, Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.), prepared to lay before the Senate tomorrow a resolution authorizing the Senate Naval Affairs Committee to make an independent investigation of the fire which swept the French liner Normandie, now known as the U. S. S. Lafayette, in New York harbor a week ago.

The Navy announced Saturday that a court of inquiry was being conducted, but Vandenberg said that was all the more reason why Congress should determine whether sabotage or "criminal carelessness" caused the disaster.

Twin Sift Seen

He contended the Navy was responsible for protection of the ship and should not be the only agency to decide whether its responsibility was fully discharged.

Agreeing with this point, Chairman Walsh (D. Mass.), said that if the Senate approved the Vandenberg resolution the Naval Committee would study the inquiry court's report while it was conducting its own investigation.

Support for the Vandenberg proposal was voiced by two other committee members, Senator Tydings (D., Md.), and Bone (D., Wash.).

Physical Standards Are Reduced In Order To Draw More Men

Washington. —The army lowered physical standards today to make available for military service a larger ratio of new draft registrants and also thousands of men who already have been given deferred classifications.

Materially reducing dental and eyesight requirements, the new standards were forwarded to local draft boards with instructions to reconsider the classification of all men deferred because of too few teeth or poor eyes.

Heretofore a minimum of six masticating and six incisor teeth has been required. Under the new regulations any man able to eat army food, using either false or natural teeth, is made subject to a draft call for service in any branch of the army.

Men with defective eyesight which can be substantially corrected by glasses—whether they now have glasses or not—were made eligible for general military service in all noncombatant branches.

"More than 20 per cent of the men rejected for physical disability under the old army standards were turned down because of defective teeth," an announcement by selective service headquarters said. "The new ruling, therefore, is expected to permit reclassification as Class 1-A, or available for full military service, of many men now deferred because of defective teeth, who, heretofore, would have failed to qualify for such classification."

EVERY BATTLE LOST IN THE AIR

There is a certain thrill in seeing a battleship go proudly down the ways, but the thrill expires when we likewise see what happens to battleships unlucky enough to be smothered by bombers. Our tremendous appropriations for capital ships would be far more comforting if we could hold honestly to the belief that they spelled victory, but there is nothing in recent developments to indicate that they can.

Everything that has happened from the scorching of Poland to the disaster at Pearl Harbor and the knockout to the British Asiatic fleet has laid emphasis on the fact that without air support the battleship has become the air hunter's prey. Consequently most Americans are hoping and praying that this government will not let the fixed ideas of old Navy men turn our energies into battleship building, except as secondary to our increase in air power.

Our history in the air has been sad ever since the brass hats threw the late General Mitchell on the scrap heap for his strong advocacy of an independent air arm. The fact that he proved the ability of planes to sing a battleship (the actually sank one in demonstration) never registered with the garbaging old gentlemen who wear Uncle Sam's stars. They deliberately played the air arm down, bolstered the old line Army and Navy up. Now in this crisis we are forced to see ships destroyed, bases wrecked and captured, men needlessly slaughtered, all because of that one thing—lack of air power. It isn't an alibi that defending forces are putting up. It is the literal truth. It has happened in every major engagement the United Nations have fought and lost, and they have lost practically all of them. The enemy was too potent in the air.

The rest of the East may go down and remain in the enemy's hands until we make ourselves the master in the air. If there is any way of diverting Navy dollars to the construction of planes and aircraft carriers, it ought to be done and now. And in the doing the government must move to get men in charge of air production and air fighting that know their game and are not trying to read the lessons written in obsolete books. —Sun-Democrat.
